STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in height,—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel-silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twenty inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with FLORIDA STAND, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuettes, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the Iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

Dr. Revjere of Logansville, Ga., won the consent of Miss Octavia Nash, who lived ten miles away, and obtained a marriage license. At the same time his rival, John Jackson, procured a license, and the doctor's fears being excited he mounted his horse, as did Jackson, and it was a race for the lady's house. Reviere reached there five minutes ahead, and after the ceremony had been performed it was revealed that Miss Octavia had promised to marry both men, and named the same day and hour. A Gentle Stimulant

Is imparted to the kidneys and bladder by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is most useful in overcoming torpidity of these organs. Besides infusing more activity into them, this excellent tonic endows them with additional vigor, and enables them the better to undergo the wear and tear of the discharging function imposed upon them by nature. Moreover, as they are the channel for the escape of certain impurities from the blood, increases their usefulness by strengthening and healthfully stimulating them. In certain morbid conditions of these important organs, they fall into a sluggish state, which is the usual precursor of disease. What then can be of greater service than a medicine which impels them to greater activity when slothful? No maladies are more perilous than those which affect the kidneys, and a medicine which averts the peril should be highly esteemed.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. All druggists sell them.

—"What is the first thing you would do, Jones, if you were stung by a hornet?" asked Smith, who had been reading an article on the treatment of stings. "Howl," replied Jones, solemnly. And the conversation abruptly ended.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good commonsense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from biliousness, headache, constipation, and all liver troubles. These little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any other pill in use. Forty in a vial. One a dose. Price 25 cents.

—Mabel (to her grandpa)—"And can you really remember Daniel Webster?" Grandpa—"Yes, little one; you see I am a good deal older than you are." Mabel—"How much older must I grow before I shall be able to remember him?"

For more than forty year Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been successfully prescribed in cases of consumption. This medicine always affords great relief in pulmonary diseases. Ask your druggist for it.

—"I'll make you dance!" cried an irate mother pursuing her erring son, slipper in hand. "Then," remarked the youngster, "we shall have a bawl."

A clear skin adds to the beauty of a fine face, and often lends a charm to homeliness. To beautify your complexion, you should purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a tonic and alterative medicine, it has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

—A little four-year-old Rochester girl, whose parents were devout people, astonished her mother Sunday night by repeating her evening prayer with a variation. Closing with "If I should die before I wake," then waiting a moment, she added, "What a rumpus that would make."

Of Interest to Athletes.

James Robinson, trainer of athletes at Harvard and Princeton colleges, writes from Princeton, Jan. 24th, 1885. "For cuts, bruises, strains, rheumatism and colds, I always use Allcock's Porous Plasters for myself and pupils. Never have known them to fail in over one hundred cases. They strengthen the muscles and give instant relief. They are the only external remedy used by our athletes."

—A medical authority says "persons have been bitten by mad dogs and have not gone mad." And then, again, some persons get mad on being bitten by a dog that is not mad. The rule works both ways.

My Family Doctor

For the last two years has been Sulphur Bitters, and until I began using them in may family, we had more or less sickness, and our doctor's bill has been very large. Since we began their use, we have had no doctor to pay, and three dollars invested in Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—E. Khott, Postmaster, Waverly, Iowa.

Facts About Whiskey.

It is fact, that, by eminent professional authority, it is established that Whiskey is a medicine; that in all Medical Colleges it is taught that alcohol is a prime factor in its practice; that there is not a Hospital, Curative Institution or Infirmary in the country, in which whiskey is not employed in the treatment of disease; that nine-tenths of all the Physicians of the country prescribe whiskey in their practice; that statistics will show that one-sixth of all liquors consumed in the country are dispensed by Druggists or Physicians; that nearly all the whiskey so consumed, until a recent period, has contained poisonous ingredients, such as fusel oil, vitriol, catechu, etc., as is shown by analyses in sufficient quantities to poison the system; that the fatal dose of fusel oil, is stated by Rabuteau to be 1.4 to 1.6 ounces; that thousands to-day are suffering from so-called diseases, whose blood is vitiated and impoverished by the poisons of impure liquors, manifested in blotch, pimple, eruption, burning veins, inflammations and running ulcers; that the cause of Dyspepsia or Indigestion is a weakened stomach, and that the only thing that will strengthen its functions is a stimulant, and that stimulant will cure; that in all Malarial Districts the inhabitants depend entirely for exemption from the poisonous influence upon whiskey; that the only cure for Consumption has been proven to be pure whiskey; that distinguished chemists have discovered that there is no food value to Beef Tea; that distinguished chemists have discovered that Cod Liver Oil does not feed the tissues, but forms degenerated fat; that the only sure and abiding strength which Old Age receives is a medical treatment with pure whiskey; that women, from the peculiar character of their organism, frequently need pure whiskey stimulant, and with them it is indispensible; that the cause of Habitual Drunkenness or Inebriety is the poison in the system from impure liquors causing an uncontrollable craving, similar to that of opium or nicotine; that for years whiskey, owing to its relation to and extensive use in Medical Practice, has been the subject of thorough analysis by scientists, chemists, druggists and doctors to discover a process to extract the fusel oil; that this process has positively been discovered by The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., and that their Duffy's pure malt whiskey is the only absolutely pure and unadulterated in the market to-day; that it has been analyzed by the most eminent scientists and chemists of the world, and not a trace of fusel oil, or other poison, can be found in it.

Strongest and Best!

The Only medicine I ever found that helped me at all is Aromatic Cordial. It has cured my back and rheumatism since I took it.—EDWIN SEARS, Providence, town, Mass.

A professor in a medical college once said to his class "put your hand in a vice, turn the screw until the pain is all you can bear, and that's rheumatism; turn the screw once more, and that's neuralgia—and continued, the medical profession knows no cure for either." That was before the discovery of ATHLOPHOROS which does and will cry out in ecstatic sentiment, the medical cure both rheumatism and neuralgia, and many physicians use it regularly and have told me that they can prescribe nothing else so effective.

Many persons have tried so many so-called remedies, without benefit, that they have no faith to try more, but it is worth your while to try Athlophoros, if you have any doubts as to its value write for names of parties in your own State who have been cured by its use.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed,

DRIVING AS AN ART.

A Horseman's Criticism of the Incompetent Men who Handle Reins.

"Jump in here," was the hearty greeting given from a light wagon by a reporter's horse-dealing friend as he pulled up in Harlem lane. "Jump in here and I'll show you how fast a horse can go that's got a record. The reporter took a seat in the top wagon, and the horse jogged at a comfortable gait up the avenue.

"I'm exercising this brute for a customer of mine who has gone abroad," continued the horseman. "He gave a rippin' price for him at some country fair last summer because he had a record of 2:50. I can't say he never trotted it, but I'll bet or swear he's reformed or thinks it wicked to do it again."

The well-filled thoroughfare caused the reporter to remark that the business of driving was enlarging yearly.

"That's so," said the horseman, "and I don't know of any other line where safety of life and limb is concerned that allows the employment of so many inexperienced, incapable persons. You'll see them at all times in the road and in the streets in charge of public and private vehicles who have discovered that there is no food value to Beef Tea; that distinguished chemists have discovered that Cod Liver Oil does not feed the tissues, but forms degenerated fat; that the only sure and abiding strength which Old Age receives is a medical treatment with pure whiskey; that women, from the peculiar character of their organism, frequently need pure whiskey stimulant, and with them it is indispensible; that the cause of Habitual Drunkenness or Inebriety is the poison in the system from impure liquors causing an uncontrollable craving, similar to that of opium or nicotine; that for years whiskey, owing to its relation to and extensive use in Medical Practice, has been the subject of thorough analysis by scientists, chemists, druggists and doctors to discover a process to extract the fusel oil; that this process has positively been discovered by The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., and that their Duffy's pure malt whiskey is the only absolutely pure and unadulterated in the market to-day; that it has been analyzed by the most eminent scientists and chemists of the world, and not a trace of fusel oil, or other poison, can be found in it.

"Now look at this fancy affair alongside of us," said he, pointing to a light-stepping, nervous bay team before an elegant carriage and driven by a man gorgeously clad in livery; "do you know that money wouldn't hire me to ride in a closed rig like that with such a driver? too much style, too little sense. That fellow has been told to sit up straight and stiff so that his toggery can be seen, and to imitate some foreign nonsense in holding elbows close to his ribs and his lines up near to his chin. He has the reins in the one hand and the whip in the other; now suppose one of them nice horses should stumble or slip, he might get a bad scratch or sprain, for there's no pull on him to recover his bit. Then again, if a spirited team like that should take fright and want to run, what control over it has a man in that position? Why, before he could gather his lines and get himself into shape, such a pair of horses could make from three to five jumps, and that's where the luck would have to come in.

"It seems to me that people who are bright enough to make wealth and direct workmen should have better judgment in selecting drivers. Of course there are many expert drivers in the employment of our best families; they get good pay, know their business, and are allowed to manage it. The trouble with many private drivers is that they have to put up with low wages and perform mixed duties as that. First-class men will not submit to such terms; tip-top American drivers kick at wearing livery duds at any price. Driving ought to at least come under the head of skilled labor; some of these days I believe you'll see a bureau established requiring an official test of a driver's fitness. Men who have charge of boats and boilers are all under some sort of supervision; an engineer of course has to be skillful and intelligent, but his charge allows him many guides to go by. A gauge shows him the pressure of steam, an unusual sound in the movement of machinery notifies him that something must be examined or corrected. A horse needs comparatively as much careful watching as a boat or boiler, and when he is in charge of the carriage load as by the boat load. As it is now, anybody, boy or man, can rattle through the streets with a single or double team at the risk of making paragraphs for you chaps. Why, sir, there are hundreds of men driving horses every day in this city—and especially Sundays—who couldn't adjust a double or single harness in any emergency. You've often noticed when a horse has fallen and has to be unbuckled to rise or pull the shafts out of his way, good-natured cartmen, bystanders, or policemen have had to do the business. Speaking of harness, if I had my way I'd have an authorized harness inspection for all public service where the wear and tear are severer than safety could be provided for by such a system.

"Employers who lack horse knowledge are often deceived by the drivers who assume the qualifications. Here is a case: A nice old gentleman living near me, who keeps a private coupe and has a fairish lump of a horse, stopped me the other day and called my attention to his animal.

"'My driver,' said he'says he's spavinded.' I looked at the beast and saw no evidence. 'Where is he spavinded? I asked of the driver. 'In his foreleg,' said he, pointing with his whip. Well, I explained to the old gentleman that horses didn't get spavined in their forelegs, and I didn't embrace the opportunity for a swap. So you see there's some virtue in a horseman.

"How can a safe private driver be selected? Well, city and western stage drivers are a good line of men to draw from; almost any of them with a fair reputation for sobriety would fill the bill. They are accustomed to close and fast driving and are familiar with all details of harness and wagons in case anything needs looking after.

"Colored men? Oh, yes, there are lots of good darkey drivers; they like horses and horses take to them with a fondness. Some of them are apt, however, to delight in show and will make a free-going team do more work than a white man will. Unless he's bossed pretty sharp our colored brother will often use up a good horse about as quick as—well, about as quick as a lady driver will."—N. Y. Tribune.

A negro minstrel in New York named McNish, received a terrible shock lately from putting his hand on a window-guard accidentally charged with electricity. It looks as if Providence were at last taking cognizance of the quality of the average minstrel's jokes.—Chicago Tribune.

A Valuable Recruit.

Mr. Oliver Pillsbury seems to have settled down as a president of an insurance company under the odious insurance law he so deprecated in a pointed letter which was published and circulated in Georgia, or in some state where an attempt was made to enact the New Hampshire law. Whether Mr. Pillsbury's views upon the subject of recent legislation in New Hampshire have undergone a change, or whether the projectors of the new company did not feel like going it alone without the help of the Ex-Insurance Commissioner, is not stated. Mr. Pillsbury leaves his office in the state house for a cosy berth in an insurance office, where he will have abundant opportunity to combat the theories advanced in his famous letter upon the valued policy law, and demonstrate the advantage it has proved to the state in spite of the predicted disaster contained in his epistle, which at the time carried so much gratification to the men in other states who considered New Hampshire as "in an exceeding bad way."

Gladstone on Deck Again.

The Salisbury ministry sustained a crushing defeat in the British house of commons, Jan. 26th, most of the Parnellites voting with the liberals. It was supposed that Gladstone would be "sent for" by the queen, to form a cabinet to succeed the tory ministry.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Jan. 26th.

Mr. William Carroll is wintering a very promising three-years-old stallion at John Lucas' place. His name is Mambrino Dart, and he was sired by Mambrino Wilkes. Mr. Carroll, the owner, has shown him several times this winter, and it is said he can easily "show a thirty clip." There are several other fine horses wintering here.

George W. Webber has made extensive repairs upon his house on the Cape Neddick road. It is rumored that he will shortly have somebody else in charge of the premises indoors.

Moses French has built this winter two cottages at Concordville and one at Union Bluff.

It is reported that a hunting party of Portsmouth policemen visited York last week, and treated a valuable hunting dog owned in York so well that when they were leaving he insisted on going with them, and jumping into one of the sleighs entirely of his own accord, covered himself with the robe. The owner was obliged to go to the city for him the next day.

Marcellus Perkins has made a large addition to the Sea View house, at the east end of York beach, the upper story of which contains twenty-two rooms; below is the kitchen and other convenient rooms.

A serious accident happened in a field of the town farm of York on Thursday afternoon. A young man who was amusing himself by "coasting" ran into a quite young boy, who had just been capsized, knocking out five of the boys teeth, and breaking his lower jaw.

Andrew R. Webber is the pioneer of the ice business of York. The following amounts of ice were cut during the last cold weather by Messrs. Preble and Webber on Preble's pond, under contracts with Charles D. Preble; For Marcellus Perkins, Sea View house, 400 cakes; for Moses French, Union Bluff, 900; Charles A. Grant, Sea Cottage, 310; Henry Evans, Hotel Bartlett, 1,000. A cake is twenty-two inches square, and what was cut here was fourteen inches thick. Mr. Preble is filling the ice houses of the Garrison house; and Mr. Webber is filling his private ice house, from which he sells during the heated terms, putting in 600 tons. VIATOR.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Jan. 25th.

A horse belonging to Henry Moulton of North Kittery got cast in his stall at the Foreside one day last week, while Mr. Moulton was at his work on the navy yard, and before he was found he had torn the skin completely off one side of his head, lacerating the flesh with one of his hind feet (which got caught over the halter) so badly that the jawbone was bare. It is thought the horse cannot recover to be useful.

Rev. H. C. Munson of Portland, grand worthy chief templar of the grand lodge of Maine, Independent Order of Good Templars, has accepted a call to preach at the Universalist church in Livermore Falls. Mr. Munson formerly preached at the Universalist church in South Berwick.

Mr. Robert Amee of North Kittery gave a wedding party at his house on Saturday evening, the 16th inst., when a bountiful oyster supper with all the fixings was served a la mode. About forty persons were present, and all had a pleasant time until a late hour; departing, they wished the happy couple many pleasant returns of their wedding day.

The funeral services of Mr. Fabyan P. Drake occurred on Wednesday last, prayers being said at his late home in North Kittery at 9:30 o'clock A. M. The body was carried to his native town, North Hampton, N. H., for burial.

Mrs. E. C. Cook and daughter, who were visiting friends here last week, returned to their home in Hampton, N. H., on Friday last.

There seems to be considerable said in one of our local papers about the grocery peddler of Kittery. They evidently "have him on the list" and think "he never would be missed."

The steam ferry project is again being agitated for all it is worth—on paper—and we opine that is all it will ever amount to. With one of the hardest rivers in the country to navigate, making it necessary to have strong, expensive boats built in order to be safe, and not business enough to warrant a support of such an uncertainty, it seems a foolhardy adventure for any one to risk money in it. What the people of Kittery and Kittery Point want is free bridges, and we understand that an effort will be made at the next town-meeting by residents at the Point to make that bridge free. An old farmer with a pair of frisky steers would feel much safer on dry land than in a gondola on this river.

Greece has replied to the second note from the powers, again refusing to disarm.

Turkey has issued a circular to the powers in which it points out the strained political situation is unbearable. It says that Turkey, though not to blame for this state of affairs, is compelled to maintain a huge army on a war footing at a ruinous expense, which will empty her treasury unless the powers effect a speedy settlement of the question.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

FIRE IN KITTERY.

The fire at Kittery Point, Me., on the evening of the 25th inst., the light of which gave rise in this city to the rumor that the Pepperell house had burned, was at the Elder Rowell place, so-called, formerly owned by the late Rev. J. H. Rowell, situated on the Spruce Creek road, and now owned by G. W. Blaisdell, who lived there. Most of the furniture was saved in a damaged state. Total loss about $1500, with $800 insurance. The fire started in the ell or the hennery. Mr. Blaisdell formerly conducted a hennery in this city, on the site of the old ropewalk on the southerly side of the south millpond.

It is stated that the Rockingham house will be opened on Monday next. Mr. Jones is to start for Florida soon after the house is opened, and is to spend several weeks in rest in the land of alleged sunshine and growing oranges.

The above item was published in the Chronicle of Wednesday morning, with "Friday" in place of "Monday." It was written "Monday," expressly to contradict the statement previously made in other local papers that the hotel was to be opened on Friday; but it was set up "Friday," and the error escaped the notice of the proof reader. The writer was pretty mad when he saw it in print.

The new officers of Washington Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, were installed on Tuesday evening of this week by Past High Priest Charles W. Norton, a collation being served in the banquet hall at the close of the ceremonies. The list of officers was announced some time ago, when the election was had.

Mr. Edward Kimball of Kittery fell overboard from the steamer Mystic on Wednesday forenoon, the 27th inst., as she was nearing her landing in this city. A life-buoy was thrown to him, and he was picked up after being ten or fifteen minutes in the water.

Mr. Conn on Wednesday received from Vermont by express a small lot of extra nice and fat young turkeys; there are not many of them, and an early call will be necessary to secure one.

At a musical and literary entertainment given at Memorial church in Washington recently, Mrs. Martha Hichborn, wife of Constructer Philip Hichborn, U. S. N., sang "Berdie's Ball," and also in a duet.

There is a rumor floating about that a prominent business man and manufacturer of this city is to be boycotted by the Knights of Labor at some future time, when the organization gets ready to declare the boycott.

LADIES' DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The following is the 64th annual report of the Ladies' Domestic Missionary Society of the South Parish:

Our record for 1885 commences with a festival. A donation or "pound" party having been proposed for the Old Ladies' Home, on the afternoon of Jan. 1st a large number of our members repaired thither carrying packages of groceries and other articles, and two pounds of silver dollars. A very sociable reunion was held, and a large quantity of good things left to make the new year a "happy" one for the inmates.

The annual meeting was held Jan. 7th, forty members being present. The report of the secretary was read and accepted. The officers for the year were elected, viz.: Mrs. Day, Mrs. Meneum, Mrs. Miller and Miss Webster directresses, and Miss S. H. Foster secretary and treasurer. It was voted that fifty dollars be sent to Mr. Morrison for his mission-at a time. Littleton, N. H., forty dol-

The [illegible] se Home for Children, and alarm [illegible] to make our pastor a life-[illegible] New Hampshire Unitari-[illegible] The subject of giving [illegible] academy was again discussed, [illegible] as we could not arrive at any definite conclusion it was decided to write to the president of the New Hampshire Educational society for information. At the meeting of Feb. 4th a letter from him was read, in which he stated that no such institution was self-supporting, and an effort was about being made to raise fifteen thousand dollars for a permanent fund. It was voted to pledge the society for fifty dollars toward such a fund. We have not been called on to redeem the pledge, nor do we know anything of the present condition of the school.

In February a call was made through the columns of the Cape Ann Advertiser for help for the suffering families of shipwrecked fishermen in Gloucester. We responded by sending all the clothing we had on hand, about thirty-five dollars' worth. It was acknowledged in a pleasant letter by Procter Bros., and said to be just what was needed.

In April the annual contribution for the American Unitarian association was taken up in our church, and being unusually small, we added twenty-five dollars to it. This is the first time we have contributed to the association, and we hope it will not be necessary to do so again, as we feel that we are working in the same line, and can see more immediately the results of our donation when given to some feeble parish with which we are acquainted.

In July ten dollars were sent to Kristofer Jansen to aid in rebuilding his church in Minneapolis. Those who read the Christian Register will remember that he is doing a good work among his countrymen, the Norwegians, in Minnesota, and that his church was destroyed by a cyclone about two years ago. About the same time twenty-five dollars were given through Mr. DeNormandie toward paying for the education of a deceased clergyman's daughter. Another application was received this month from Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, pastor of All Soul's church, Chicago. He is editor of Unity, and addressed a circular letter to all the subscribers of the paper, soliciting help to build a church and dwelling house combined (a church home as he calls it) on a plan of his own as represented in a sermon on Church Architecture in the paper of June 20th. As there were three flourishing churches of our denomination in Chicago, we hesitated about rendering assistance, but on consulting with the secretary of the American Unitarian association, we learned that the church would be a mile or two from any other, in a new and growing part of the city, and we sent twenty-five dollars.

In August we gave as usual the same sum to the Sea Side Home for invalid children.

During the autumn aid was rendered we have had fewer calls than usual, and in all cases where there was ability to make them, we have given the material rather than the finished garment.

Our meetings, which have been held weekly during the winter, and monthly in the summer, though never large have been eminently social and pleasant, sometimes varied by readings of letters from our friends abroad, or from the recipients of our charities, or some interesting article on the leading topics of the day.

During the past year we have sustained a serious loss in the death of Mr. Joseph H. Foster. A relative of one of our officers, a friend and well-wisher of our society, he was ever ready to aid us by advice on financial or other important matters, and we feel that not only our society, but the church, the Sunday school and the whole community have lost a the churches in Madison, Wisconsin, and North Platte, Nebraska; also to the church in Charleston, S. C., to help repair damages sustained by the church edifice in a cyclone. A letter was received from Miss Jennie Bell, giving an account of her work at Harker's island, where she has been teaching poor whites, twenty years. She is about extending her school, and needs more help. We have contributed to this object on former occasions, and wish to do so now, but having spent about all our income postponed her case until after the new year, when we would be in funds from subscriptions and dividends.

Beside the donation party which was contributed by individuals, our society gave fourteen dollars to the Old Ladies' Home. Assistance has been rendered several poor persons in the city in the way of paying rent, and by giving money in small sums to procure the necessaries of life. More than thirty dollars' worth of shoes have been furnished to women and children, and several suits of clothing to boys, to enable them to attend Sunday schools. Of the clothing made at our meetings and by the women whom we have employed to knit and sew, much has been distributed in the city, though friend whose place cannot soon, if ever, be filled.

The property of the society consists of 6000 dollars invested in western loans secured by mortgage on real estate at eight and seven per cent, and bonds of the cities of Portsmouth and Dover at six per cent, and 300 dollars in savings bank. These with the annual subscriptions give us an income of about 500 dollars, which has been spent this year as follows:

WIT AND HUMOR.

AT FORTY-ONE.

I miss the merry laugh, the lightsome word,
I miss the laughing lip and ready jest;
I miss the buoyant pen, so lightly stirred
By every breeze of thought, with tireless zest;
I miss the eager soul of restless twenty-five,
But, ah, I gain so many things I find
A whole ten-acre patch of mental thorns,
That I scratch in, calm a patient, tranquil mind;
I find two loose shoes full of sleeping corns—
I'd not change lots with any younger man alive.

Sweet William Morris, for he says that he's —Roxbury Advocate.

"I haven't a wrap," said she sweetly, one day,
"Never a wrap to wear;"
"And I haven't a rap to buy you one,"
Said he with a saintly air.

—Boston Budget.

Eternal Rome, seated on seven hills,
And big with conquest and ambition's lust,
Sent forth her legions thick as Egypt's frogs,
To grind oppressing nations to the dust.
And Rome still stands, immortal and sublime!
Her hamlet is there where we may not find
Her minions now as in mediæval time:
They still go forth—their mission still to grind.

German humor: "Herr Professor, how do you like my new tragedy?" "Very much, indeed. Especially the robbers—they are first rate. In fact, they are the best thieves I ever heard of; even the words they speak are stolen from other books."

"What do these letters stand for?" asked a curious wife of her husband as she looked at his Masonic seal. "Well, really, my love," he replied encouragingly, "I presume it is because they can't sit down." She postponed further questioning.

In treating of the Adirondacks the new "History of Essex County" says in an explanatory foot-note: "This Indian name is derived from Iroquois words 'Ga-ron-dah' (trees) and 'Ha-des' (they eat). Hence the word 'Ha-de-ron-dack' (wood or tree eaters)."—Saratoga Journal.

A stranger in the Capital City of Texas, who seemed to be lost, asked Gus de Smith: "Say, how do I get to the railroad depot?" "Say what?" "Say, how do I get to the railroad depot?" "How do I get to the railroad depot? Anything else you want me to say?"—Texas Siftings.

CORN, WART AND BUNION SOLVENT

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and antiquated?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis surrects the attention of capital, merlis the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

I Was A Fool.

Yes, they said I was a fool not to try Sulphur Bitters for rheumatism, from which I had suffered over two years; but I had tried so many doctors and medicines without getting relief that I was discouraged. I am now on my fourth bottle and almost cured. I was a fool that I didn't try that wonderful remedy before.—C. G. Pratt, Manchester, N. H.

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often literally poured into it for the suppositive relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism and other ailments, is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely less than that caused by disease. If they who are weak, bilious, dyspeptic, constipated or rheumatic, would oftener be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would in every instance obtain the speediest aid derivable from rational medication. This medicine is a searching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure spirits, properties as a medicinal stimulant not to be found in the fiery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptic and languid.

A free public library is to be erected in New York city at an estimated cost of $750,000. The old reservoir site on Forty-second street is mentioned as the site.

Clipped from Canada Presbyterian, under signature of C. Blackett Robinson, Prop.; I was cured of oft-recurring bilious headaches by Burdock Blood Bitters.

Charles W. Hitchcock, a Baltimore letter carrier, is charged with abstracting money from several letters.

Do not suffer from sick headache a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. All druggists sell them.

The steamer Flushing was badly burned at a wharf in St. John, N. B., and is almost a complete wreck. She is owned by parties in Grand Manan, and ran between St. John, Grand Manan and Eastport. There is an insurance of $8000 on her.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good medicine, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from biliousness, headache, constipation, and all liver troubles. These little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any other pill in use. Forty in a vial. One a dose. Price 25 cents.

Mr. Henry J. Scudder of New York has been elected president of Trinity college alumni of that city.

For more than forty year Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been successfully prescribed in cases of consumption. This medicine always affords great relief in pulmonary diseases. Ask your druggist for it.

An uprising against the Chinese has been inaugurated at Cloverdale, Cal.

A clear skin adds to the beauty of a fine face, and often lends a charm to homeliness. To beautify your complexion, you should purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. As a tonic and alterative medicine, it has no equal. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

The schooner William Irelan is five weeks out from Philadelphia for Charleston, S. C., with coal, and is given up for lost. She was a vessel of about 650 tons register, and built last year.

Of Interest to Athletes.

James Robinson, trainer of athletes at Harvard and Princeton colleges, writes from Princeton, Jan. 24th, 1885. "For cuts, bruises, strains, rheumatism and colds, I always use Allcock's Porous Plasters for myself and pupils. Never have known them to fail in over one hundred cases. They strengthen the muscles and give instant relief. They are the only external remedy used by our athletes."

—Irish & English is the name of a Buffalo, N. Y., firm; the queerest thing about it is that Mr. Irish is English and Mr. English is Irish.

All plasters are not alike. Hop Plasters afford relief and cure when other kinds are worthless.

—At the club. De Jones yawns and stretches himself. Van Brown—"Tired, dear boy?" De Jones—"Aw, beastly." "Up late, eh?" "Naw, been thinking."

Than any other combined or single remedy. The medical profession universally attest this fact and prescribe it in consumption, and all wasting conditions, with splendid results.

would end my agony, my suffering from neuralgia was so great. I had terrible spells every two or three weeks before taking ATHLOPHOROS, which was a year ago last April, and have only had two since. Words can never express my relief."—So writes Mrs. C. N. PAIGE, Bolkonville, Vt.

Many ladies suffer from headaches which are of neuralgic origin. In such cases Athlophoros is invaluable, as it will quickly remove the cause.

THOUSANDS are enduring untold agony from neuralgia who might find instant relief by using ATHLOPHOROS. ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK

A CURIOUS CAVERN.

Interesting Description of a Kentucky Cave —Adventures of an Exploring Party.

A Princeton, Ky., correspondent, writing to the Louisville Courier-Journal, says: The Courier-Journal of to-day contains an account of John Verhoeff's experience in the saltpeter cave near this place. Believing that an accurate description of the beauty of this wonder of western Kentucky would be of some interest, your correspondent has possessed himself of many facts in regard to it, and from personal observation can give an accurate description.

Situated not more than a mile from Princeton, in the remote corner of the farm of Mr. R. B. Ratcliff, is the entrance of what is generally known as "Saltpeter cave." Although the cave possesses considerable local reputation, our knowledge of it is so little in keeping with its extent and grandeur that the writer of this has deemed it but a duty to record what he conceives to be the greatest wonder of its kind in western Kentucky. Your correspondent not long ago, in company with several friends, made a day's visit in partly exploring these humid caverns. We reached the cave about 10 A. M., and found the descent easy. At the entrance of the cave there are three passages. We chose the middle one. After passing over a difficult and tortuous route of fifty yards on all fours, we found ourselves in a chamber of considerable dimensions. The floor of this was as smooth and clean as if the roller and broom had been but recently applied. At this place, however, we could find no evidence of calcarious formations. At the end of this chamber we came across what is known as the "Devil's Coal-hole." This was an entrance that looked like a dormer window propped up before us, and which could only be approached by a side-way difficult of descent, and down which few of us cared to venture but one or two, however, did look in, and, seeing no bottom, retreated in haste. We now commenced our first climbing, and, with little difficulty, reached another chamber considerably higher than the first. It was here that we encountered the first bats, which seemed not in the least disturbed. At the end of this high-domed and sparkling chamber, which dimly presented its beauties by the feeble light of our candles, the most notable object we saw during the trip unveiled itself to our gaze. This was in the shape of a huge pumpkin, with its corrugated sides, its ribs, its shape, and its color perfectly resembling the vegetable just named. There was an opening in the top, through which, by clambering on the derbies beyond, we could look. We found it to be not only hollow, but its walls to be a mere crust—not more than an inch or two thick.

We now began to appreciate that we were entering a more humid atmosphere. We could hear the tinkling of the drops of water as they fell about us, and away in the distance could faintly hear the noise of cascades and murmur of streams pent up between huge rocks, and tormented into foam, and then affecting their escape down some rocky precipice, and spreading into pools below. Our journey thence forward was to be tedious, difficult and dangerous.

We were to substitute for the smooth, dry floor precipitous and almost perpendicular banks and dark and yawning chasms. We stood on the top of a bank whose steep declivity threatened to launch into darkness and destruction the adventurous individual who should attempt to descend its glassy sides. There was no one in the party afraid, at least at nobody said so. There was a general inclination to rest and be resigned. But when we looked away below us and found an opening in the wall we commenced a descent, which, if not very creditable in the manner, was very successful in the end. Peering through this opening, which was large enough to permit the passage of a man, we could see the waters of a stream that struggled through the rugged vastness of these cavernous structures. Just within this opening, and upon a wall to the left, were some striking formations. They were upon a smooth wall and in successive rows, and represented letters similar to those of the English and other alphabets. We conjured up many things in connection with this seeming cabalistic display, and prepared to make the descent to the waters below. This all save the writer essayed to do by climbing down a bank that seemed almost perpendicular. The writer climbed around to the top of an adjacent bank, and, having carefully adjusted himself, shot like a meteor down the slippery bank, and landed twenty or thirty feet below the others of the party. We found the stream here to be six or eight feet in width and probably two feet deep. We crossed this stream and after ascending a long and steep bank, stood once more in a chamber larger and more beautiful than anything we had seen. It was here we saw the first evidence of stalactitic growth.

So far we had seen no stalagmites. Here we discovered a fountain of cool, clear water, which rested in a basin almost perfectly square. On all sides, beyond the beautiful plateau on which we stood, could be seen hideous chasms and numberless dark openings, fissures and passages; whilst above us, one after the other, like a many-storied house of granite, appeared chamber after chamber, in soft but glistering array, until they diminished from the lurid rays of light and faded away in the distance. We have saw evidence of those who had preceded us sixty years ago.

Before and during the war this cave was a rendezvous for refugee slaves, who have often been tracked through these innumerable wildernesses of passages. With our limited knowledge we endeavored to study the wonderful process going on, seeming to transform everything into stone. First there was the ordinary mud; above this was a thick, tough,

[Concluded on 4th page.]

The President's coat pocket protruded so much at the recent Florida fishing that some one asked the reason why. "Its only a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup," the handsome gentleman explained; "I never travel a mile without it."

—"Why should the soldier never lose his head in battle?" said a German captain to a private soldier. "Because if he did he would not have any place to put his cap on."

The signal corps station at Wash Woods, N. C., reports that the American two-masted schooner Jennie Beasley, Captain Dow, with one lady and five men, with cargo of guano from Clark's Cove to Wilmington, N. C., went ashore a mile north of life-saving station No. 7 on Jan. 26th, and that vessel and cargo are a total loss. All hands were saved.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

What Are They Fussing About?

The Washington correspondents, in discussing the fishery clause of the treaty of Washington, say:

There is no longer any doubt that all plans for renewing the treaty of 1873, or for re-establishing the relations of Canada and the United States upon any similar basis, will fail in the present Congress. In the senate it would be impossible to get a majority vote in favor of a new treaty.

Why the Canadians or the British government should bother their heads about negotiating a new treaty with the United States we cannot see. The secretary of state is the proper party for them to confer with. They can hardly expect that our government will pay another five millions for the privilege of admitting Canadian-caught fish to our markets free of duty for ten years; but it has been demonstrated that Mr. Bayard can "continue" for a year a treaty provision expressly abrogated by act of Congress—and if for one year, why not for ten, or fifty? Why do not the Canadians treat directly with Mr. Bayard, and let the treaty-making power provided for in the constitution go to pot?

David R. Atchison Dead.

Hon. David R. Atchison died at his residence in Clinton county, Mo., on Tuesday, Jan. 26th. He was born in Kentucky, Aug. 11th, 1807; was educated for the bar, and removed to Missouri in 1830. He was a judge, and also represented Missouri in the United States senate, and was twice president of that body. He advocated the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and was a leader of the democratic party in its conflict in Kansas. He was president of the United States for one day. Of late years he has given his attention to agricultural pursuits.

Probably very few outside of his own personal acquaintances knew whether David R. Atchison was alive or dead, so thoroughly had he outlived his fame, or rather, his infamous notoriety. Yet "Dave Atchison's" name was once familiar as that of one of the most unscrupulous leaders of the pro-slavery attempt to capture Kansas; and with Stringfellow, who is equally forgotten, he was for a time the contriver and manager of the various attempts, by fraud and force and crime of all kinds, to maintain the system of squatter sovereignty. His evil predominance, however, ended before the outbreak of the rebellion, and unlike some of his associates, he made no figure in the history of the confederacy.

Might Be Embarrassing.

A Washington correspondent writes as follows concerning "doubles" in that city:

There are several pairs of counterparts in Washington. Representative Reed and a leading photographer are often mistaken each for the other; Representative Wellborn, of Texas, has his counterpart in a capitol employe; Representative Gay, of Texas, can pass in a crowd for Senator Sherman; the president and secretary of the treasury are not always distinguished apart; Representative O'Donnell, of Michigan, and Assistant-Postmaster-General Stevenson, are forever getting mixed up; and "Objector" Holman has to carry in his hat a copy of the Sun's portrait of him in order not to mistake himself for a Pennsylvania statesman whose title to fame lies in the fact that he once traded his railroad pass for an overcoat.

Mistaking Reed for a photographer is perhaps natural enough, for he is noted for the successful manner in which he can take instantaneous views of the democracy when it is in a bad attitude and would perhaps prefer not to be photographed before the country.

The fishing schooner Hyperion, of Gloucester, has been given up for lost, with all hands. Her crew consisted of William Martin of Gloucester, master, who leaves a widow and one child; John Nelson, steward, a native of Sweden, widow and three children in Gloucester; Nicholas Brown, a native of Ireland, widow and five children in Gloucester; Patrick McQuee, a widower, with three children in Boston; John McQuee, brother to Patrick, a native of Ireland; William McGinavan of Halifax, N. S., widower, with two children in Boston; Michael Costlin of Boston, leaves a widow; Augus McDonald of Prince Edward Island, William Kelly, alias Collins, of St. Johns, N. F., Augustus Johnson of Sweden, James Towle and Patrick Murphy, all single.

The schooner Anna & Lilla, Capt. Fernald, of Portland, laden with frozen herring and bound from Grand Menan to Portland, struck on the New Harbor sunken ledges off Wiscasset about sunrise Jan. 26th. The Anna & Lilla registered seventy tons, was built at Kennebunkport in 1882, and was owned by Captain Fernald and others. The vessel and cargo were valued at $10,000, and are a total loss with no insurance.

The schooner Alice M. Strople arrived at Gloucester on Jan. 27th, with her flag at half-mast for the loss of two men, Joseph Ryan and Hugh McEachen, on the Grand banks Jan. 9th. They left the schooner in their dory to aid two of their shipmates who were in distress, and in the storm and fog were unable to regain her. The other two men took refuge on board the schooner Grace L. Fears, and saved their lives. There is no hope of the missing men having been picked up by any other vessel, as no boat could have survived the fury of the storm which raged the night after they were lost.

Further investigations will be made in the alleged poisoning case of the late Park M. Emery at Manchester, as testimony has been presented to the court to the effect that he was probably poisoned.

The house committee on military affairs has instructed Mr. Wheeler to report favorably the bill introduced by him to authorize the president to restore officers to the army in certain cases. This is the Fitz John Porter bill.

A pitched battle occurred Jan. 26th between two colored men named Charles H. Howard and Charles B. Amos at Jamaica Plain, Mass. Howard had a knife and Amos a kettle of hot water. Amos received a cut across the nose, and Howard was artistically cooked as far as the supply of boiling water would permit. Buth were attended by a physician, and afterward by the police.

John C. Kimbrel, his wife and three children, have been found near Dodge City, Kansas, frozen to death in thier team. They lost their lives in the great blizzard of the early part of January.

Holden Dick, an Indian, and Vicente Olivas, a Mexican, both convicted murderers, were taken out of jail at Susanville, California, Jan. 26th, and hanged to beams in the woodshed of the court house by a mob.

The old town hall of Easton Centre, Mass., was burned to the ground Jan. 27th. The building was used as a skating rink and church. It is thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The loss is estimated at $6000; no insurance.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

The Mississippi river is blocked by a solid mass of ice from St. Louis, Mo., as far north as the Illinois river, and as far south as St. Genevieve, a distance of sixty-five miles. The ice is sixteen inches thick, and resembles in many respects the gorge which blockaded the river in 1875, and which remained intact from Dec. 31st to March 23. This year the river closed on the 13th of January, and is expected to break-up in the latter part of February.

A singular phenomenon occured at Austin, Texas, on the afternoon of Jan. 26th. Toward four o'clock, from out of a clear sky, a shower of very fine dust began falling. There was no wind at the time. The shower increased toward nightfall and continued through half the night. The dust had peculiar effect on the lungs and throat, causing irritation and hoarseness in some instances. A similar phenomenon was witnessed there eight years ago.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. "For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

THE ICE STORM.

Never within our recollection were the trees throughout the city so completely and heavily coated with ice, from the ground to the tips of the smallest twigs, as they were on Thursday morning; not only were the upper sides of the limbs sheeted with ice, but all along the under sides, about an inch apart, were millions of tiny icicles an inch or two in length and as big around as pipestems. The aggregate weight of all this, on a large tree, was immense, and all through the day and all over the city the crashing of falling branches could be heard, dead and living limbs alike yielding to the unusual strain put upon them. If there was any difference, the more vigorous and thrifty trees suffered the most, as they presented a greater number of twigs for the ice to cling to. The street commissioner's men, with all the available teams, at an early hour commenced work at clearing the streets of the fallen limbs, and were kept at it till night; but with all their efforts there was hardly a street that was absolutely clear of obstructions for an hour during the day.

Telephone, telegraph and fire alarms were not slighted, and could say hundreds of feet away, long bars of ice. Closer examination showed that like the limbs of the trees they were sheathed with ice on top and at the sides, and underneath were ornamented with millions of little icicles about an inch apart. The wires were in many places hanging in festoons nearly to the ground, or lying flat on the ground, and the damage from this cause must have been serious.

Were we to attempt giving the names of the streets where the trees suffered badly, we should have to give a list of all the streets in the city where there are any trees to speak of. Great injury was done in the south cemetery, particularly to the trees in the vicinity of the pond. The trees at the southerly end of Richards avenue, the big and thrifty elms on Middle, South and Pleasant streets, the elms and maples on Elm and Islington streets, and elms and horse chestnuts on State, Daniel and Linden streets, were badly used, some fine ones being ruined by the tearing off of large limbs; and many fruit trees in gardens about the city were wholly destroyed or badly damaged.

Not much harm was done by the falling limbs, so far as was reported up to Thursday evening. A few telephone wires were snapped, a few windows broken, and a gas-post in front of the high schoolhouse demoralized; but no person was reported as having sustained any injury.

The walking was about as bad as it could possibly be; the sidewalks were slippery as greased glass, and the middle of the streets not much better. The "no school" signal was sounded by the fire alarm at eight o'clock and 11:30, the school board very sensibly deciding that the children would be better off at their homes than tumbling about in the streets. As the day advanced the snow in the streets became waterlogged slosh, but neither the walking nor sleighing was improved thereby.

The few persons who drove into the city from surrounding towns during the day reported the roads in some places nearly impassable, owing to trees being so borne down that their branches were close to the ground in the highway, while many broken limbs obstructed travel.

Altogether, the damage done by the storm of sleet on Wednesday night and Thursday must have amounted to many thousands of dollars in this city and its immediate vicinity; and worse than this, it will be many years before the shade and garden trees can recover the symmetrical beauty they possessed last summer.

When night arrived there was not a street in the city, in which there is a tree, that did not have piles of branches along the sides, where they had been tumbled by the city workmen so as to leave the driveway and walks as clear as possible. The street lights were by order of Mayor Eldredge kept burning all Thursday night, and several strong gangs of extra hands were kept at work through the night clearing away the wreck.

We take the following from the Times of Jan. 27th:

We have been handed by Mr. W. T. Perkins, station agent at the Boston & Maine depot in this city, a statement of the business done by the road in this city during the year 1885. From this statement it will be seen that nearly a quarter of a million dollars worth of business has been done, and over 100,000 tons of freight handled by the employes of the road, a fact which speaks well for the business of the city.

STEARNS--RICKER.

The following, which we take from the Boston Post of Jan. 28th, will be of especial interest to many of the ladies in this city, which is the native place of Boston's city collector:

"One of the social events of this season was the marriage, by Rev. C. F. Dole at the First Congregational church, Jamaica Plain, last night, of Miss Julia M. Ricker, daughter of City Collector Ricker, and Frederick M. Stearns, son of C. F. Stearns of Neponset. The church was decorated with choice flowers and tropical plants, and the rich and beautiful costumes of the ladies made a fine display. The bridesmaids were Miss Bowles and Miss Stearns, and Mr. Deshler Stearns officiated as groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Frederick Moseley, Mr. Lott Mansfield, Mr. Walter Stearns, Mr. Arthur G. Goerett, Mr. Ralph Bowles and Mr. E. W. Ricker. The organist was Mr. G. A. Burdette of Brookline. The bride was dressed entirely in white, unrelieved by any ornaments. The dress was of corded silk, trimmed with Spanish lace, and the bridesmaids were also dressed in white silk, with lace fronts. Each bridesmaid carried a basket of flowers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride on Harris avenue, from eight to ten P. M. The wedding presents were numerous. The newly-married couple start for Florida, where Mr. Stearns is in business. They pass through Washington, Baltimore and Savannah, in each of which cities they will pass a few days."

The Dover Navigation company, at the annual election Jan. 27th, elected Thomas B. Garland president, B. Frank Nealley secretary. The company owns eight schooners, with a capital stock of $114,770. Five vessels of the fleet, representing a capital stock of $81,498, have paid dividends to stockholders of $85,122 in five and one-half years.

It is thought that Phillips academy at Exeter will receive about $40,000 from the estate of the late Francis E. Parker of Boston.

The Washington Post advocates the propriety of having technical experts aid the naval committee in their deliberations. The Post advances the idea that the navy department should be requested to detail a practical and experienced naval constructor as an aide to the committees on naval affairs, and suggests that naval constructor Philip Hichborn would be the proper officer for this duty. There is not a question as to Constructor Hichborn's fitness for this position. His observations abroad and his experience in navy yards and private establishments, and his comprehensive knowledge of the requirements of his profession, would enable him to impart a wealth of knowledge to our congressmen if they could only appreciate and act upon his judicious suggestions.

A punster, who seemed to have lost his voice, being asked what ailed him, replied that he had been fighting with a cough all night and was hoarse de combat. A few doses of Red Star Cough Cure would have relieved him. Its efficacy is wonderful.

A MARVELOUS CURE.

A Pure Malt Whiskey the Only Cure For Consumption.

It has become the settled practice of all physicians, of all dispensing druggists, to administer pure, unadulterated whiskey for CONSUMPTION, and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has become the recognized and unquestioned specific for the CURE of this dreaded disease. The subjoined testimonials bear witness to its undoubted efficacy 304 Madison Ave., Baltimore, Md.

"GENTLEMEN:—I had a patient in the last stages of consumption who, when food or medicine was given, would vomit it. I had given her various remedies, but all were expelled, and she received nutriment only by enema and injection of Cod Liver Oil, which were exceedingly disagreeable to her. I had a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, I administered a teaspoonful which was not vomited. The second dose, with a little milk and juice was retained. Within a week she was able to eat heartily. All this after her family had assembled to see her die. I attribute her life to, if not only free from fusel oil, but not in any way adulterated." FLORA A. BREWSTER, M. D.

Baltimore, Md., May 2, 1884.

"GENTLEMEN:—I was suddenly stricken with a severe hemorrhage, losing about one gallon of blood at the first attack, and large quantities frequently thereafter. My case was considered hopeless, my friends arranged for my funeral. I was removed to the Hebrew Hospital, and was there ordered by my physicians to use Cod Liver Oil and Whiskey. On advice the whiskey I used was your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I discarded Cod Liver Oil, but only whiskey. I feel I owe my life to its purity, and earnestly recommend it for pulmonary complaints or hemorrhages." SOLOMON WEIL, 63 N. Central Ave., Baltimore, Md., July 25, 1885.

"GENTLEMEN:—I have been ill; my friends all thought I would die of consumption. I was so sick and weak that they had to hold me up to give me your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My doctor told them to give it, and then I began to improve. I shall use it while I live." MRS. ANNIE GRIMES, 623 Master St., Phila., Pa., Nov. 6, 1885.

"DEAR SIRS:—My daughter had been in delicate health. Her mother died of consumption. The doctor said she would not live. I used your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and consumption cure in her case. The doctor died of consumption himself; she is now stout and in strong and hearty." JO'N PFLUGFELDER.

One of the best known Sisters of Charity in the United States, writes:

Rochester, N. Y., Home of Industry, Nov. 2, 1885.

"GENTLEMEN:—It gives me great pleasure to recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I have used with great satisfaction in consumption; in the last stages of that dread disease. The patient can retain it when all other remedies fail. I recommend it to all." MOTHER SUPERIOR ZIERONYMO.

Hundreds of $

I have spent for medicine to cure my Rheumatism without finding any relief until I tried ATHLOPHOROS. I have taken six bottles of ATHLOPHOROS and I am now a well man." So writes Mr. E. PARENBURY, Woonsocket, R. I.

The Valley of Palms.

Years toiled I 'mong the reapers and worn laborers,
Earning, ah, little indeed more than life's sustenance,
Hoping far off to behold palms of peace and promise,
Rising cool above the hot fields and grain tawny.

Long slept I at night o'er the horses' heads, in the sweet hay,
Hopefully hearing the keen, chirruping call of the cricket,
The wood-worm steadily gnawing above in the heavy rafters,
Dreaming glad dreams of when toil, and pain, and life's hardships
Should bring to my tired limbs rest in the shadow of full success.

But the years went by, and gleaner staid I still in the harvest,
Nearing the far-out field where the reapers thickest are,
Stooping in the dim light above the stubble there gleaning,
Then I looked far off for the palms, afar for the fragrant coolness,
And behold a great green valley filled with low mounds grassy.

Then I heard a reaper saying, old, and toiling slowly:
"I long to lie there at rest, the rest supreme which He giveth,
To those who fail not, nor falter, there is given bliss greater and purer—
To walk where the palms are coolest, and drink the cup full of His mercy."

Then down the ripe grain passed a wind singing and fragrant,
And for a step unseen parted the ripening wheat blades,
And every worn, tired reaper that patiently reaped in the silence,
Knew to the close, soul-near, walked beside us the Master.

WEALTH IN SHEEP.

In an instructive article on the agricultural and stock-raising capabilities of the Australian islands, a correspondent of the London Telegraph writes:

The sheep, indeed, is king throughout the Australian colonies. In New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland—remember that I have not been to Tasmania yet—the nearest approach to the haughty aristocrat is the squatter, the leaseholder of a sheep-run. The number of thousands of acres over which his sheep roam may be conveniently treated as incalculable; first because it would no more interest my readers at home were I to enumerate them than it interests readers in England to be told how many pork pies, penny buns, and bottles of ginger beer are consumed at a Forester's fete at the Crystal palace; and next because were I to enter into the figures of a large squatting ovine and bovine stock there would be a considerable risk of your not believing me. I prefer, when treating of the mighty squatters' flocks and herds, to deal in generalities, just as did the American pig-breeder who, at early morn, entered the sleeping apartment of a guest whom he entertained over night, and whose attentions at supper-time to his marriageable and on-hand daughter were somewhat pronounced, flung open the window, and disclosed stretching north, east, south and west an almost illimitable prospect of complacently grunting swine. "There," he exclaimed, "the man is pleasure our Polly has half them hogs." In degree, the Australasian squatter's sheep are as innumerable. That makes him proud—and justifiably proud. His "mobs" of horned cattle may be huge; his taste in horseflesh may be pretty; he may rear race-horses or import Clydesdales; but, after all, the four corner stones of his prosperity are his sheep. Sometimes he dreams uneasily of drought; but, waking up in the morning to find parchment a drenching rain pouring down, he rubs his hands gleefully, and murmurs. "Aha! the wool's growing! the wool's growing!" If the squatter be hard pressed for ready money there are financial associations which will make him cash advances on his "dip"—that is to say, he may pawn the wool which is growing on the backs of his sheep. No wonder, then, if from King George's sound to Brisbane—farther north he talks sugar—he talks wool and thinks wool; exults when it is "up," desponds when it is "down" in the market. For the mere carcass of the animal, worth only a few shillings, the large squatter does not care much. 'Tis the fleece and not the meat which, when a long drought has been succeeded by two or three good seasons, gives him the power, not only of paying off his mortgages and getting his title-deeds out of the strong-rooms of the banks, but of becoming, within an astonishingly brief space of time, rich beyond the dreams of avarice. But in New Zealand, with its thirteen millions of sheep, the thoughts, the aspirations of the stockholder are bent, not only on wool, but on mutton. He compassionates the sad fate of his British brother at home, doomed by the tyrannical retail butcher to pay from 11 pence to 1 shilling a pound for leg of mutton. "Why, he can send his British brother frozen mutton which at the port of shipment shall cost only 3 pence a pound—mutton of prime quality, not to be distinguished in nature and excellence from the home-bred article. The New Zealand Frozen Meat and Storage company in Queen street, Auckland, whose works I recently visited, consign immense quantities of frozen mutton to the British isles. Nothing can be more scientific nor more exquisitely cleanly than the manner in which the newly-slaughtered carcasses are frozen and packed in linen sacks for storage in the refrigerating chambers of the great steamers which take the meat home. By the way, is there not a curiously prophetic vision of a meat-freezing and preserving establishment somewhere in Capt. Marryat's "Pasha of Many Tales?" The New Zealand Frozen Meat company at Auckland are also manufacturers on a very extensive scale of tinned meats and soups of all kinds, and the corned beef which they prepare is in particular excellent. Still the directors of the company, like Mr. Toole in the burlesque, "are not happy." New Zealand frozen mutton is getting a good name in England; its consumption should immensely increase every year; but the trade is overweighted, and the

We hear a great deal in these speculative days of lucky investments. The most lucky investment which a man could make would be a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil. He would never be troubled with aches or pain, and could devote his time to making money.

—One of the brethren, who had a habit of moaning out "O-h, y-e-s!" at regular intervals during the service, was rather broken up on Sunday night. He had just waked up when the preacher asked the solemn question: "Brother, do you intend to spend eternity in hell?" "O-h, y-e-s!" sang out the devoted brother.

"What is the difference between a duck with one wing and one with two? Only the difference of a pinion. We want every one to pass an opinion on Dr Bull's Cough Syrup. It needs but one trial.

During the recent blizzard two unknown families, consisting of nine persons, were frozen to death near San Bois, Choctaw Nation, and their four horses were frozen in harness. The party were caught on the praire.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

John McMahon, formerly tax collector of Hoboken, N. J., has been arrested in New York, charged with a $50,000 "shortage." He disappeared two years since.

James Pyle's Pearline is the very best assistant for washing or bleaching, no matter whether by use of cold or hot water. As a labor-saving article it deserves especial mention.

An investigation is going on in regard to the death of Zenas Nickerson of Brocton, Mass., who died Nov. 22d, 1885, as is now alleged from arsenical poisoning.

Caution.

The greatest care should be taken in preparing medicines for the sick. It has been taken in the distillation of the article known as G. O. Taylor Pure Rye, bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading Druggists and Grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

OUR NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

SPRING MATERIALS—MOURNING STYLES—MUFFS—FEBRUARY NOTES.

It is just as well, my friends, to wear out your rough dresses as to have them go out of themselves. Hasten the process of exit, then, by getting the good of them while they are "in." By next winter they will be "out," and you an outsider if wearing them. Wiseacres tell us the summer will be smooth, yet not so smooth but what at least something of a winter's roughness will ripple the surface of things. Dotingly on canvas, is the fashionable heart about to dwell, yet as an evidence of what I have said, we shall see etamine cross-barred by a rough woolen thread. Occasional like eccentricities will otherwise appear; in some few early samples of spring goods can be seen expiring traces of boucle curls, while as the last pattering of a shower, come sparse sprinklings of bourette dottings. A revulsion of feeling toward plainness is anticipated, and we may look forward to a great run upon soft wool goods, on the order of veiling, albatross, wool batiste, and the like. Our Solomons also predict a grand effort in the direction of silk, and a declaration of hostilities against wool, that has held such sway as to call forth righteous indignation on the part of Worth; to such an extent is this silk revival expected to go, that prices already begin to advance.

MOURNING.

The first choice for a mourning dress is Courtauld's crape on Priestley's silk warp Henrietta cloth, which, made of the finest silk and best Australian wool, is very durable, soft and of beautiful finish; the genuine being always rolled on a yellow varnished board showing the grain of the wood. Trimmings of crape are very heavy, and we must bear in mind that quality in black is far more important than in colors, which can be worn even when faded to a lighter shade. Unspeakable are the horrors of rusty black. One must remember, too, that black materials are much worn in colors, but for such purpose blue black shades are preferable to jet black. Silks without lustre are still the correct thing for light mourning, but here we see combinations of crape frequently adopted; the most fashionable kinds of silk being fine armure or faille. Beads, for which there is such a furore, need not be omitted in mourning, except where it is deep, and the stylish rosary beads are brought out in just those dull shades that are appropriate. Gloves can be of dressed or undressed kid. Crape fans are best for first mourning, with streaks of silver for lighter styles.

MUFFS.

What shall be said, or rather what may not be said concerning muffs? Veritable exhibitions of prettiness. Not departed wholly from their original design seems subordinate. Of course for conservative people, we have the small orthodox muff of fur, but then so many people are not orthodox, or so many are all the while running to something, and this year run to muffs. Devised in so many fancy shapes; sometimes not more than six or seven inches long, trimmed with lace, ribbon, fur, flowers or birds. Some made entirely of feathers with finishing of a bird. Lace spread over colored silk or satin shows prettily; again we see dainty catchings of lace in the centre, with addition of a bird, flowers of ribbon bow, while as the acme of fancifulness, are muffs made entirely of lace and flowers.

FEBRUARY NOTES.

There is a combination of lengths in a late, sudden revival of the box; a long time defunct, now made of long fur and in unwontedly long lengths.——Ball's corsets are coming more and more into vogue as their admirable qualities are being understood. The fit is beautiful, but as a special distinction, we notice elastic sections at the sides, made of very fine spiral wire and therefore lasting. Thus they yield with every motion and give support without compression. The bones are unbreakable.——Hoods for sleighing are very pretty and varied in shape, from the fur hood not much larger than a capote, with strings under the chin, to larger styles of lighter material with longer capes at the back. Plush, velvet, silk, satin, wool fabric, or knitted wool are all stylish; trimmings for all but the last named, being fur, feathers, or chenille, with frequent mixture of beads. Opera hoods are of lighter goods, or red to suit the present fancy for red opera cloaks.——Low corsages of silk or velvet are very popular, with light or heavy skirts, for evening.

LUCY CARTER.

Hamilton Giverson, one of the proprietors of the Union house at Groveton Junction, was brought before United States Commissioner Rolfe at Concord on Thursday, by Gen. J. N. Patterson, marshal of this district. C. E. Batchelder, Esq., appeared in behalf of the United States in the absence of District Attorney Frink. Giverson was charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes. His plan was to promise a dollar bill (counterfeit) for fifty cents in stamps. Upon receiving the stamps he pocketed them, and send nothing in return. He has been engaged in this business for some time, and has received many letters enclosing stamps. The case was skillfully worked up against Giverson by Post Office Inspector T. J. Boynton of Johnson, Vt., and a full confession obtained from William Holmes, an accomplice of the man arrested. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, waived examination, and was bound over in the sum of $800 to appear at the May term of the United States circuit court in this city.

It was reported on Friday that the new steeple of the Orthodox church at York village was overthrown by the wind of the previous night, but it was probably a canard, as there wasn't any wind the previous night. Somebody lied, that was all.

There was a wedding in the Tabernacle church at Salem, Mass., on the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 27th. The bride was Miss Kate Cowan Browne, daughter of Mr. J. H. Browne, and the groom Mr. Augustus P. Ives. Rev. De Witt S. Clarke officiated. The church was filled with a large and fashionable gathering. The bride was tastefully attired in a silk travelling dress. The ushers were Mr. Ernest Ives, Mr. Nathan Ives of Salem, Mr. Chester L. Estes of Rockland, Mr. Joseph Newhall, Mr. Fred Allen and Mr. Harry O. Proctor. Immediately after the ceremony the pair left on a bridal tour.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

How to Live and Save Money.

BOSTON, January 29th.—The cost of living and how to save money are two vital, interesting family questions which will be discussed by lots of writers in the Boston Sunday Globe to-morrow, with several examples of how and where the money goes. Order the paper to-day.

"The Tribune Almanac" for 1886 can now be procured by sending thirty cents to "The Tribune, New York city." As usual, the almanac this year contains a vast amount of reliable information, political, congressional, financial and general, condensed into the smallest possible quantities, and excellently arranged for reference. It is edited by Hon. Edward McPherson, formerly clerk of the national house, and the figures given are official. The almanac has the new postage rates, accurate lists of the senators and representatives, the principal officers of the national administration, foreign ministers to this government, etc.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

NATURE AS A SCENIC ARTIST.

Talk about "magnificent transformation scenes" and "fairy grottoes" on the stage! The most gorgeous and exquisite spectacle of the kind ever produced was but a tame and unattractive affair compared to the show along the streets of our city last Thursday night, by gaslight. Standing at any point which commanded a sight of a good stretch of well lighted street, the view presented was one of strange and magnificent beauty; even the fronts of the houses, and the fences, looked gorgeous' in their icy adornments, while every tree which was touched by the gas-light sent forth millions of diamond-like scintillations. The charm of the scene was almost enough to make the lover of the beautiful forgive nature for the havoc wrought upon the shade trees by the icy envelope during the day.

CHANCE TO GET A SLEIGH CHEAP.

Mr. J. H. Randlett of Dover, whose sleigh and carriage manufactory is the most extensive in southern New Hampshire, advertises thirty single and double sleighs of his best stock for sale at greatly reduced prices, to make room for carriages for the spring and summer trade. As it is quite possible there will be more sleighing between now and the first of April than there has been so far this winter,—there hasn't been much to boast of as yet,—a person buying a sleigh now will quite likely have a good chance to use it before the time comes for stowing it away in the barn loft.

A LAY SERMON.

The snows, hailstorms and howling gales of the past twenty years, all put together, did not sum up half the damage to the trees in and about this city that was effected by nature's gentler agencies on Thursday—a gentle rain, not especially cold, and often hardly heavy enough to be called a rain at all, acting in conjunction with a moderate degree of cold, only a few degrees below the freezing point, and no wind. Just so the rugged cliff, after withstanding for untold centuries the storm and the lightning, is tumbled in ruin to the plain below by the freezing of a little water which trickles into a crevice. Bluster does not always accompany power.

HE DESERVES PITY.

The Dover Democrat tells the following story:

A few days ago a man in the prime of health applied to the county commissioners for help. He said he could find no work, and had a family who were suffering from the cold. The commissioners sent a cord of wood to the man's house, and the following day the same man sent one of his children to the residence of one of the commissioners requesting him to send over somebody to saw the wood, as it was of no use to him until it was cut up. He did not care to saw it himself.

That poor fellow evidently belongs to the class which merits more sympathy than do those who are merely sick. The sick man may possibly get well, but there is no hope that a lazy man can ever recover from his complaint.

The boys found good skating, and safe too, Thursday and Friday, on the sidewalks.

In one of the suburban towns—we shall not give its name—the winter evenings are enjoyed by a private class in history. Indeed, history classes are regarded as quite essential to a proper social standing in the goodly town, where knowledge is sought by those who like to reproduce the pleasures of school-days. A head of a family was enquired of at one of the class meetings recently as to titles in England. "What are Knights of the Bath?" was the question which came from the teacher. The householder modestly replied, after some hesitation, "Saturday nights."

One hundred barrels of frozen herring, were received this week by E. C. Newton & Co. from Eastport, Me., by rail. Fish are scarce and high, owing to the weather; the buyers are preparing for the new school when the weather moderates. Four car loads of fish-box shooks have recently been received at Commercial wharf, from Bar Mills, Me.

Davis Brothers, photographic artists, were taking views of the frost-work about the city on Friday, and without doubt will produce some very beautiful pictures. An Eliot man who came down the river in his boat that day to subscribe for the Gazette expressed regret that the magnificent views along the banks of the river could not be photographed.

Miss A. C. Morgan, principal of the young ladies' school, proposes another vacation trip to Europe this season with a class of young ladies, leaving New York on June 17th by the White Star line steamer Germanic, and arriving back after an absence of three months in England, Scotland, Holland, France, Germany, Italy, Austria and Switzerland.

The jury in the case of Annie E. Stillings vs. the Eastern railroad company, on trial for several days in the United States circuit court in Boston, on Jan. 28th brought in a verdict awarding $9500 to the plaintiff. Mrs. Stillings, who belongs in Bath, Me., was a passenger on a train on the Saugus branch in Massachusetts in November, 1884. She was in the act of leaving the train at Saugus when the cars suddenly started, throwing her off across the platform and down an embankment. She received injuries resulting in partial paralysis, and sued for $20,000, with the above result. Allen, Hemmenway & Savage appeared for the plaintiff, and Solomon Lincoln for the defendant corporation.

The Movement in Eastern.

Boston, Jan. 28th.—Nearly 140 shares of Eastern were bought to-day, the price advancing to 80 1-2 at one time, but most of the sales were at 80 3-8. An important meeting of the directors of Eastern will be held to-morrow, and it is rumored that they will appoint a committee to consider the question of consolidation, and make arrangements with the Boston and Maine to put Eastern on a dividend paying basis. The leader of the syndicate affirms that if he can carry his plans out that Eastern will sell at 120 as soon as they are consummated, and unquestionably the Legislature will give them all the necessary power. The stock was quite active to-day, and there seemed to be very strong buying outside of the syndicate; but comparatively little stock offering, not enough to attract the attention of the leader. It is confidently asserted, and if the result of the meeting to-morrow is satisfactory, we would not be surprised to see Eastern cross 90 by Saturday night. Of course, if the Legislature grants the necessary authority for the consolidation of the Eastern and Boston and Maine, Eastern stockholders will reap a benefit largely in excess of that realized by the Worcester, Nashua and Rochester parties, as undoubtedly the consolidation of the two roads would be able to pay 8 per cent. dividends and therefore be worth 175 or 180 in the market. The evening Herald says: "The gross earnings of the Boston and Maine and Eastern are said to have increased $102,000 on the first quarter of the fiscal year ending Dec. 31." This is at the rate of $306,000 per annum. It is calculated that the two roads will save $300,000 this year in expenses, and this added to the increase in gross will enable Eastern stockholders to receive at least 6 per cent. dividends on their common stock.

profits of the shippers diminished in a corresponding degree, by too many distributors and middlemen, and by the heavy freights—something like £17 a ton—which the exporters have to pay the great steamship companies for the conveyance of their meat to England. The frozen mutton trade, in a word, pays, but does not pay the New Zealand producer so handsomely as it should do. It is consoling, however, to reflect that the trade is as yet virtually in its infancy, and is capable of enormous expansion. Henri Quartre benevolently longed for the day when every peasant in his dominion should have on Sunday la poule au pot—a fowl in his saucepan. Surely a day should arrive, as New Zealand comes more to the front with her inexhaustable supplies of frozen mutton, when every English workingman will have on Sunday his leg of mutton at the roasting-jack.

His Socks Sent by Telegraph.

One day last week a young man entered the Hartwell telegraph office with a sealed letter. He told Champion, the operator, that it was sealed and stamped and that he wanted it sent to his sweetheart at Bowersville, by telegraph, and for him not to open and read it. Champion directed him to the post office.

This reminds us of one of "Old B.'s" yarns. He says that during the war when the militia were about Savannah, an old-lady who had a 16-year-old son down there went to the depot at Greensboro with a pair of wool socks which she wanted sent to her "bobl soldier boy" by telegraph. Some men were walking about the depot. One of them told her to walk into the office and he would hang the socks on the wire and in a few minutes she would hear from Jim. The man pulled off his dirty, well-worn socks and putting on the new ones, hung the old ones on the wire, and went in and told the old lady Jim had received the socks and sent back his old ones, which were hanging on the wire. The delighted old lady raised her spectacles, saw the old socks, and requested the man to take them down, remarking in a voice full of pride and tenderness:

"Jus' like Jim—he always wuz a keer'ful, savin' boy; and he has sent his old socks back for his mammy to darn 'em—God bless him!" And in turn we say God bless all such innocent, tender-hearted mothers as Jim's.—Hartwell (Ga.) Sun.

A Soft Thing.

Two old friends met on a train between Dallas and Fort Worth. After the usual greeting one of them asked:

"Isn't Sam Sweedlepipes living in Dallas?"

"Is he a glazier?"

"Yes, he is a painter and a glazier."

"He is getting rich fast."

"Getting rich fast, is he? Running a monte bank, I suppose."

"No, he has got a better thing than that."

"City official?"

"No he belongs to a fire company, and when a fire breaks out he runs along and wakes up the people with a stick."

"I don't see how there is any money to be made in that."

"He wakes the people up by tapping at their windows with a stick, and he manages to break all the panes of glass within half a mile of the fire, and next day he is called on to put them in again at 50 cents a piece. He has got a soft thing of it. He hasn't got the social status, but he is making more money than if he was an alderman."—Texas Siftings.

A CURE IS GUARANTEED.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unirjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is taking eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $600,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly instalments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Stephen R. Green, employed in the Dunn Edge Tool Co's scythe shop at Oakland, Me., was killed Jan. 29th by the bursting of a grindstone.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventive if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

Just get up

Had pains in back, limbs and around the heart, she took two bottles of Athlophoros and was very much better right away."—W. E. MOUSLEY, Lynn, N. H.

Neuralgia, though one of the most common and most painful of diseases, has baffled all medical skill, and until other preparations were introduced the discovery of ATHLOPHOROS sickened sufferers, if not quite incurable. Athlophoros SURELY and QUICKLY cures it. This statement, though strong, is warranted by the facts. Thousands have tested its value and recommend it as the ONLY remedy that brings relief. For ladies subject to neuralgia or nervous headaches it is indispensable. Athlophoros contains no opium, morphine, or other dangerous ingredient. It is absolutely harmless and universally successful in the prompt cure of this painful disease.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

Salvation Oil cures rheumatism in from 12 to 48 hours. Swellings and bruises in a few hours. All pains and aches almost immediately upon application. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

A meeting of the creditors of Gardiner, Buffum & Co., of Bartlett, N. H., was held in Portland, Maine, Jan. 29th. The resources were reported as $37,687: liabilities, $46,715. It was voted to accept fifty cents on $1, cash.

The First Keen Twinge.

As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

Frank Risley, aged eighteen years, was run over in the East Hartford freight yard of the New England road last Friday night and had his left leg badly crushed. He was taken to the hospital in Hartford and had the leg amputated above the knee.

Naval Reorganization.

The United Service, a monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the military, naval and civil services, has in its January number, which begins Vol. 14, an article upon the reorganization of the navy department, signed by "A Civilian." The editor, in undertaking to inform his readers who the writer is, says it is "the distinguished Ex-Secretary of the Navy." Now the country has always supposed that the distinguished ex-secretary of the navy was Geo. M. Robeson. A man who could leave the department so thoroughly abused as was Ex-Secretary Robeson, and come to Congress and stand up before the country and say to the democratic investigators, "bring on your bears; we are here to be slaughtered if you are able to do it," and in his speech of vindication shew his innate strength and the utter littleness of his vilifiers,—such a man deserves the title of "the distinguished ex-secretary." But the article is not from the pen of the Jersey statesman. He never would waste time in such a production, and thus are we led to believe that the writer is the late secretary of the navy, from the glib manner in which he disposes of Secretary Whitney's statement that since 1868 seventy-five millions of dollars have been expended in the construction and repair, equipment and ordnance of the navy. The "Civilian" says this is occasse of the policy of continuing in existence wooden ships, rebuilding and repairing them in the navy yards, and delaying until Mr. Chandler closed unnecessary yards, condemned and ceased to repair old wooden ships, and began the construction of modern steel cruisers and guns!

In other words, no one has done anything except Mr. Chandler and the contractors. The writer discreetly omits offering any reasons why the government cannot economically do its work in its yards. It is the contractors' yarn,—"We have the tools, the government has none. Do not appropriate anything for these tools and means of building iron ships; the contractors can do it much better than can the government. Better pay a good round profit to the contractor and his attorneys, than have men paid more for a day's work in navy yards than it is worth." In fine, this is the review of the present secretary of the navy's report by a former secretary, himself so crude that he does not even know the rank of some of the officers mentioned in his paper.

The question of how many bureaus shall comprise the department is discussed. The ex secretary, with an absence of that dignified reserve which would become a former cabinet officer, could he possess it, assures the readers of the United Service that his successor has been hoodwinked by par-blind naval line-officers upon this subject. In other words, he endeavors to make us believe that the officers are constantly making attempts to subjugate the staff, but they have thus far, through the efforts of Chandler, who is now the staff champion, been unsuccessful.

The ex-secretary cannot tempt the staff by making such indiscreet statements as are contained in his article. If he has a quarrel with any line officer, the invitation to the entire staff backed by "the representatives of the people in Congress assembled" to help him in the contest involves too cumbersome an army.

The propriety of an ex-secretary, distinguished or notorious as the case may be, endeavoring in an article in a magazine devoted to the interests of the service to foment discord between two branches of the service where in personal relations harmony and concord is the rule, and jealousy and animosity is the exception, is not questionable. It is as undignified and unbecoming as it will be futile in its results.

Reported Mutiny at Sea.

Despatches received in Boston on Saturday intimate that the destruction of the ship Frank N. Thayer of Boston, reported recently burned on the passage from Manila to New York, was due to a mutiny of the crew, who set the vessel on fire after killing some of the officers. The ship was commanded by Capt. Robert K. Clark of Boston, who had his wife and child with him, and who is safe at Madeira. She registered about 1500 tons, and was insured for $80,000, and her freight for $20,000; and there was a large insurance on her cargo. She carried a crew of twenty-one men, besides two mates and the captain.

The secretary of the navy has received information from the Pacific Steamship company to the effect that another revolution is threatened on the isthmus of Panama, and Rear Admiral Jouett, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, has been directed to remain at Aspinwall with his squadron.

The sentence imposed by the general court-martial in the case of Paymaster-General Smith, having been approved by the secretary of the navy and confirmed by the president, was promulgated at the navy department on the 29th ultimo. The charges were "scandalous conduct, tending to the destruction of good morals," and "culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty." The court found him guilty on both charges, and sentenced him "to be dismissed from the position of chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing in the department of the navy, to be suspended from rank and duty as a pay inspector on furlough pay for three years, and to retain his present number in his grade during that period."

"My. Girls: by Lida A. Churchill." Household Library, January number. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. Price fifty cents. This well-written story deserves the place it occupies in the series, and will be read with pleasure by lovers of the better class of fiction. Its heroines are four young lady telegraph operators. At the time the story opens they are discharged from their positions on account of changes made in the management, and are discussing plans for the future. Each one has her peculiar dream, and all of them lie outside and beyond telegraphing. One, who has already written for the press, yearns for a literary life; another, who is possessed of a passion for music, dreams of fame and competence won through means of her voice; a third aspires to the platform as a public reader; while the fourth is content to trust her fate to the future, and take what comes. The result of their talk is a decision to go to New York together, and earning enough to support themselves by such means as are possible, to pursue their studies in the various directions alluded to. The history of their experiences, trials and triumphs is pleasingly told.

—"What do you think of Mr. Thompson, ma?" "He seems to be very nice, but I would not encourage him if I were you." "Why, mamma?" "He has red hair, and red red-headed men are always deceitful." "But papa has red hair." "Well, not quite red, child. It's red enough, though."

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

The general feeling among the fishermen of Gloucester, Provincetown, Portland and other New England fishing ports, in regard to the fishery treaty question, is one of more confidence. The fishermen feel sure that, now their side of the question has been so ably presented to the president and Congress, they will protect this important industry by not urging the appointment of a commission. All the fishermen are satisfied with the treaty as it now stands.

Mrs. Maud Miller Mackaye-McCormick, daughter of Joaquin Miller, has been sued for divorce by young Arthur Mackaye. She will contest the libel on the ground that the marriage ceremony was a contract by fraud, and was never consummated, since Mackaye left her immediately after the ceremony, and never contributed to her support. Her counsel says the defence is good.

The Maine Central railroad directors on Jan. 29th appointed President Sewell, John Ware, W. G. Davis and H N. Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. Wood, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. Balcom, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. Proudfoot, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

GRANITE STATE FIRE INS. CO.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Granite State Fire Ins. Co., held on the 30th ult., to consider the advisability of increasing the capital stock, a committee appointed at the annual meeting on the 27th reported as follows:

The committee appointed at the annual meeting of the Granite State Fire Insurance company held January 27th, 1886, to consider the advisability of increasing the capital stock of the company and report at the special meeting of the stockholders held January 30th, 1886, have attended to their duties, and beg leave to make the following report:

After careful consideration of the subject your committee are unanimously of the opinion that it would at this time, be unwise to increase the capital stock, for the following reasons:

1st. While an increase of fifty or one hundred thousand dollars would not enable the company to materially increase their business, the dividends accruing on the additional stock would largely reduce the net surplus, with which every company must be fortified to command business. In the judgment of your committee, it is more desirable to increase the assets of the company by adding to the surplus than by adding to the capital.

2d. The exceedingly high price at which all desirable securities are selling renders it almost impossible to safely invest money where it will yield a fair rate of interest; consequently the investment of funds received from increased capital would, at this time, be attended with great difficulties.

For these reasons we recommend that the following resolution be adopted:

Resolved, that it is inexpedient, at this time, to increase the capital stock of this company, and that the whole matter be indefinitely postponed.

JOHN HATCH,
CHARLES H. MENDUM.

The report of the committee was accepted and its recommendation adopted.

The newly-elected board of directors on the 30th ult. organized by the choice of the following officers:

President, Frank Jones;
Vice President, John W. Sanborn;
Secretary, Alfred F. Howard;
Treasurer, John Laighton;
Asst. Secretary, W. H. Smith;
Executive Committee, Frank Jones, John W. Sanborn, E. H. Rollins, Charles H. Sawyer and E. H. Winchester.

FORCING THE SEASON.

Mr. Harrison Seavey, of Rye, informs us that on Saturday morning he heard a robin singing around his place as chipper as in spring; and that on the previous morning he heard the twittering of yellowhammers, and later in the day saw a number of blue jays around his barnyard. That the jays should appear is not to be wondered at, as they are hardy, and never entirely desert this region in winter; but it seems a good deal like attempting to force the season for a robin and yellowhammers to come around at the present time. Farmers who have paid attention to the habits of birds have always maintained that a few robins, and individuals of other species the majority of whose members migrate to warmer climes in the autumn, are accustomed to winter in the depths of the swamps, where the fresh water springs do not freeze over and where the thick brush supplies effective shelter. Possibly this robin and the yellowhammers may have been driven from their swamp retreats by the ice storm; and possibly they may have found the climate of Florida too severe, and came north to pass the remainder of the cold term.

The magnificent linden tree on the old Gardner place, corner of Gardner and Mechanic streets, the finest specimen of its species in the city, and by many persons considered the most beautiful tree on the river, is reported as ruined in symmetry by the ice-storm, only a wreck of its former stately self remaining. The noble elm on the river front at Newcastle, which has for many years rivalled the Gardner linden for the honor of being called the handsomest tree along the river banks, is also said to be sadly shorn of its former glory.

Mr. Thomas E. Deane, a superior tonsorial artiste, for some time past to be found at Mr. Martin Hoyt's hair-dressing establishment on Congress street, has gone into partnership with Wm. C. Randall, in the same business over Thacher's drug store, Market square, where he will be pleased to see all his friends. Mr. George W. Hersey, for several years past with Mr. S. A. Preble, now runs a chair at Hoyt's.

Town meetings will be held throughout the state on the 2d Tuesday of March, in pursuance of the constitutional provision, to take the sense of the voters on the question of the advisability of calling a convention to revise the constitution.

Right Rev. W. W. Niles, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire, will visit St. John's church in this city on Sexagesima Sunday, Feb. 28th, to administer the rite of confirmation.

The Portsmouth Athletic club have been photographed in a group by Mr. L. V. Newell, a large majority of the members being shown; the membership of the club is now seventy-two. This (Monday) evening there will be a gymnastic display by the full company, in presence of a number of invited guests. Mr. Myers Dempsey having offered his services as director of the sports during the evening, they have been accepted by the club.

Eastman's orchestra, of Manchester, has been engaged to furnish the music for the Sons of Veteran's ball on the evening of the 17th inst. The orchestra will have ten pieces that evening, and will play nearly all new music.

The romantic and pleasing Irish drama, "Kerry Gow," will be played at Music hall on Thursday evening, the 4th inst., by J. S. Murphy and his own dramatic company.

About 1300 shares of Eastern railroad stock were sold in Boston on Saturday, commencing at 80 1-2, going up to 82 3-4, and closing at 82 3-8. Eastern in New Hampshire sold at 100 1-4; Portland, Saco & Portsmouth at 122 1-2 and 123 1-4; Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway at 66; Concord at 106 1-4.

The staff of the Rockingham house, which opens to the public to-day, is as follows: Manager, W. K. Hill; clerk, C. C. Brown; wine clerk, Thomas McCarty; steward, C. V. LEWIS E. STAPLES.

No. 7 Market Street.

The schooner Legal Tender, of Gloucester, Springham master, arrived on Saturday at this port with 5000 lbs. of fish, which E. Newton & Co. purchased at $3 per hundred lbs. The recent storm proved disastrous to the fishermen again, nets and trawls being torn to pieces, washed away or sanded up for the third time this season.

Mr. Frank Chase, a young man about nineteen years old, while crossing on the ice near the mouth of Spruce creek, below the Kittery Point bridge, during the last cold term, on his way to the home of his uncle, Mr. William Parker, fell into an airhole, and came very near being drowned. He thinks he went down three times, but finally succeeded in scrambling out, and reached home in an exhausted condition.

Diphtheria is reported by the Newmarket Advertiser to be very prevalent in that town, there being twenty-five or thirty cases, some of them very severe. From the 10th to the 28th of January there were seven deaths of children under ten years of age, six of them being of French Canadian parentage. One American child, a daughter of Joseph H. Chapman, died on the 28th; and Mr. Chapman's wife, two other children and hired man were all down with the disease. William B. Josephs and two of his children were also ill with the distomper, which it was feared would become epidemic.

—"Jersey lightning" now takes the form of a toboggan with girls in red and blue on it shooting down the slide at Orange in that state. It is altogether a pleasanter and more healthful kind of "Jersey lightning" than the article commonly known by that name.

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA?

Among the many symptoms of Dyspepsia or Indigestion the most prominent are: Variable appetite; faint, gnawing feeling at pit of the stomach, with unsatisfied craving for food; heartburn, feeling of weight and wind in the stomach, bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, low spirits, general prostration, headache, and constipation. There is no form of disease more prevalent than Dyspepsia, and none so peculiar to the high-living and rapid-eating American people. Alcohol and tobacco produce Dyspepsia; also, bad air, rapid eating, etc. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will cure the worst case, by regulating the bowels and toning up the digestive organs. Sold everywhere.

Eden. He thinks probably it was a quince, "because the apple of the present day was propagated from the crab apple, and it is not at all likely Adam would have been taken in by such a puckery little bait."

One of the largest manufacturers of gloves in England recently issued a circular to the fashionable dealers in London pointing out that the habit of attempting to wear gloves too small has grown to such an extent that it has seriously affected the reputation of the factory, and urging the dealers to exercise their influence against this expensive manifestation of vanity.

Wild fox grapes in the Allegheny Mountains in West Virginia are made into jelly and sold by the residents in those poor cabins to the keepers of the crossroads stores for 15 cents a pound, the pay to be "in trade." The jelly is of two kinds, one dark blue, the other pale green, and both are said to surpass the Scotch jams and jellies that in this country sell for 25 cents a pound.

Mr. Ruskin is certainly frank whatever else he may be. In the fifth installment of his autobiography—a chapter which he calls "Parmasus and Plynlimmon"—he tells us that he did not like his cousin Margaret, though she was clever and witty, because she had a twisted spine; and he adds: "I never liked invalids, and don't to this day; and Margaret used to wear her hair in ringlets, which I couldn't abide the sight of."

The Mobangi, a large and important tributary of the Congo, and probably the lower portion of the River Velle, has been explored by Rev. G. Grenfell in his little steamer Peace from the Congo in a mean direction of north by east for a distance of between four hundred and four hundred and fifty miles, including the turnings of the stream. It is navigable for vessels of considerable size, and its mean depth is stated to be twenty-five feet.

Forty years ago the King of Prussia, finding that Luther's house in Wittenberg had fallen into ruin, had a plan prepared for its thorough restoration. This work has just been completed, together with a colonnade that joins it to the university buildings. Some adjacent ground has been acquired by the university and made into a public garden, in which a beautiful fountain that is connected with artistic and historical memories has been erected.

A Nine-Million Book.

By this sketch I see that the Appletons have made $9,000,000 out of their Cyclopedia alone; nine millions in the gross, of course, this means; but there is a good margin for profit. Out of their "Picturesque America" they have made $4,000,000. So if they only publish those two books, they would do well. "Webster's Primer," which they still publish, sells at the rate of 1,000,000 a year regularly, sometimes a few more but never less. I said to Mr. Appleton one day that the publisher of three such books ought to be satisfied. Yes, he said, but unfortunately they published other books, the success of which, or the non-success of which, made an inroad into the profits of the other publications. However, the house of Appleton is rich enough and the most of its wealth comes through its subscription department. You can imagine that the subscription department does a big business when some of its agents make from $10,000 to $20,000 a year out of it. This is a good income for a book agent.—Philadelphia Press.

SCHLOTTERBECK'S

A CURE IS GUARANTEED.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unirjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in a monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. These Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD"

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, 22 inches in height,—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, WITH PLUSH STAND, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuette, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World fund of $100 000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

I had rheumatism in my left shoulder for two years, and in three days after using Anthophoros the pain was gone. I had the sciatica in my right leg all winter, and the medicine has driven that pain away also. Chas. Metcalf, North Adams, Mass.

The great billiard match between Maurice Vignaux, the French champion, and Jacob Schaefer, in New York, for $2500 a side, 3000 points, cushion caroms, 600 points to be played each evening for five consecutive evenings, was won by Schaefer.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for Sick Headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Hon. John Kelley, the grand sachem of Tammany, is dying.

Carter's Little Liver Pills have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick headache, billiousness, constipation, pain in the side, and all liver troubles. Try them.

Spies who have arrived at Cairo from the Soudan report that the Mahdist leader has utterly failed to persuade the Dongolese to attack the British, and that the Kabbabish tribe has resolved to abstain from fighting.

"It is worth its weight in gold," is a common expression. But, while the value of gold is easily affected, the worth of Ayer's Sarsarparilla, as a blood purifier, never depreciates. It will eradicate scrofula from the system when everything else fails.

Mr. Jesson, the German-American who was recently forcibly expelled from Norburg, Germany, returned to that town and was immediately arrested.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chutauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

Benjamin F. Geene of Central Falls, a prominent Rhode Islander and the oldest American manufacturer of thread in the country, is reported dead in Las Vegas, N. M., where he went, accompanied by members of his family, on a pleasure trip about two weeks ago. Pneumonia is supposed to have been the cause. He was a grand nephew of General Nathaniel Green of revolutionary fame. He was in his eightieth year.

Something for all the Preachers.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1883) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly." Not a liquid nor a snuff. Applied to nostrils with the finger.

The police authorities of St. Petersburg having ascertained that a Nihilist plot was being formed, made a descent upon the headquarters of the conspirators in a house in that city, the result of the raid being the arrest of twenty-three persons. On the discovery of the conspiracy the police authorities, fearing that injury to the czar was intended, advised him to return to his palace at Gatschina. The emperor, however, declined to do so.

My Head Was Fairly Rotten,

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, No. 41 Hanover street, Boston.

Harry Beecher, a nephew of Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, is one of the best football players in Yale college, and also an expert boxer. Recently he took a notion to test his ability with the college trainer, and the result was a broken nose for the latter.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites

Is Very Palatable and Agrees with the Stomach.

Dr. J. Wobring, of Newark, Ohio, says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in comparison with the plain oil and acid emulsions and find it to agree much better with the stomach, and give better results in the diseases in which Cod Liver Oil is useful."

Portland, Me., was in darkness last Thursday night, so far as its streets were concerned, the electric lights being useless on account of the breaking of the wires by ice. Trees were falling in all directions, and the soft snow made the streets almost impassible. During the night two serious fires occurred, the loss in each case being many thousands of dollars.

COMETHING FOR DYSPEPTICS.

A Deluded People.

(From the Phila. Medical Record.)

We do not mean to intimate that all the so-called remedies for dyspepsia are valueless, but human credulity is so strong, that some unscrupulous persons trade upon the fears of the weak and debilitated. Among the things which appeal so strongly to this weakness are Bitters. The very name is in their favor. The niche of life of the average American is of such a character, that he is constantly in need of a tonic. He is rushed at his business, swallows his meals hastily and without any thought as to the capacity of his stomach for digestion, takes little rest, and necessarily feels hipped; is subject to headache, and takes often a gloomy view of things generally. In such cases he resorts to bitters, under the delusion that they will act on the secretions of the stomach and give the system new strength and energy. The writer recently purchased samples of four of the most widely-advertised bitters in the market, and the simple chemical analysis to which they were subjected showed that they contained about 80 per cent. (the amount the Government allows) of the most poisonous and adulterated alcohol, and that the residuum consisted of various foreign substances, which were simply added as flavoring extracts, to disguise the taste of the original compound. The poorer the grade of the alcohol the more vicious is the compound. The value which so-called bitters are supposed to have is of a purely fictitious character. In fact, in time they irritate and injure the delicate membrane of the stomach and so vitiate the taste that the palate soon cannot distinguish between good and bad. These decoctions are consumed principally by the debilitated, the convalescent, the depressed and particularly by aged people and weak women and others to whom a stimulant is indispensable. Now, while alcohol, especially in the form of whisky, is acknowledged to be the best known stimulant, and is prescribed and used by physicians for this purpose everywhere, we can't conceive why people will insist upon taking the alcohol in the form of a decoction, the compounding of which they know nothing and which, as shown by analysis, contains fusel oil, vitriol, catechu and poisons of the most deadly kind. It would be far better for them to come out boldly and use the pure article, something made from malt in which there is no fusel oil. There may be a little difficulty in obtaining an article of this kind, as there is only one firm in the country, so far as we have discovered, who make malt whiskey, which distils it and which combines food and stimulating qualities.

VANDERBILT.

His Widow and Daughters and the Wives of the Sons.

MRS. WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT.

The death of William H. Vanderbilt naturally brings the women of his family into prominence, especially his widow and daughters and the wives of his sons, the latter of whom now inherit wealth that makes them more powerful than the majority of the crowned heads of Europe.

Mrs. W. H. Vanderbilt, the widow, while not a small woman, is still rather slight of figure, has dark hair, as yet hardly tinged with gray, dark hazel eyes, and a very sweet and refined expression. Thoroughly domestic in her tastes and devoted to her husband, children, and grandchildren, she has never cared for society and it has been only on account of her youngest daughter, Miss Leila, now Mrs. Seward Webb, that she has entertained at all during the last five years. She is exceedingly simple in her mode of life, rising early, breakfasting with her family, and then devoting several hours to her household duties, afterwards visiting her grandchildren or having them brought to see her. In the afternoon she generally drives in the park, accompanied by one of her daughters or her son George, and, after a quiet family dinner, chats with her family and then retires. She is very regular in her attendance at church and very faithful to her church duties. One beautiful trait of her character is her constancy to her friends. She has an especial affection for the friends of her early married life, and at the receptions she has held during the winter cards have been as regularly sent to her old Staten Island acquaintances, many of them farmers, as to her more fashionable city friends. She has always made it her duty to see that her husband's relatives who were in poor circumstances should be well remembered on every festal occasion. Her own immediate relatives are all in comfortable circumstances. While Mrs. Vanderbilt's name does not appear prominently in the list of managers of the leading charities, yet she contributes largely to them in a very quiet manner, always accompanying such contributions with the request that her name be not mentioned. While her circle of formal acquaintances is necessarily a large one, yet comparatively few persons know her intimately, but these speak of her in the highest terms as an exemplary wife, mother, and woman.

THE HEAD OF THE FAMILY.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who will now probably become the head of the family, was Miss Alice Gwinn, a young lady who, with her sister, occupied a prominent position in Cincinnati society previous to her marriage. Mrs. Vanderbilt is very petite, with rather pretty but not exactly handsome features. She is also exceedingly domestic in her tastes, and devoted to her family of boys, but, until she went into mourning last winter for a relative, was present at all the larger balls of the winter season. Unaffected and simple in manner, she yet has much quiet dignity. She has the best taste in dress of any of the women in the Vanderbilt family. Some of her ball costumes worn in late years were remarkably effective and handsome. She enters into all her husband's charitable work with the most hearty good-will. Her residence at the corner of Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue is one of the most artistically decorated houses in the city, largely the result of Mrs. Vanderbilt's taste and direction.

WILLIAM K.'S WIFE.

A very different type of woman from her mother-in-law and sister-in-law is Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, the wife of the second son. She was married to Mr. Vanderbilt in 1876, and was formerly Miss Alvah Smith, a daughter of Mr. Smith of Mobile, who lived with his family many years in Paris. She and her sisters, Miss Amidie, Miss Jennie, now Mrs. Fernando Yznaga, and Miss Mamie Smith, now in Paris, were prominent belles in New York society. She is tall and slight, neither blonde nor brunette, her hair slightly grayish, although still a young woman. She is gifted with very fine conversational powers, being quick in repartee and sarcastic at times, which has had rather the tendency to make her somewhat feared in society, to which she is devoted. She felt her husband's financial reverses, which made it necessary for her to retire for a time from their leading position, very keenly. Her intimacy with Lady Mandeville, formerly Miss Consuela Yznaga, has been of long standing, resulting in the latter's making her a visit of a year lately, during which time, at Lady Mandeville's suggestion, her famous fancy-dress ball was given. Mrs. Vanderbilt dresses chiefly in black, which best adorns her face and figure. She has three children, is a good hostess, and delights in entertaining. She is fond of admiration, and is in fact a thorough woman of the world in every particular.

MRS. FREDERICK W.

Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, the wife of the third son, is the youngest of the daughters-in-law. She was a Miss Anthony of Rhode Island, a relative of the late Senator Anthony. She first married a nephew of William H. Vanderbilt, Mr. William Terrence, from whom she obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion, after a brief wedded life of six months, and a year after married Mr. Frederick Vanderbilt, much against the wishes of his father and mother, who were not reconciled for some time to the match. They, however, grew to be very fond of Mrs. Vanderbilt, and three years ago, at the completion of the Fifth avenue palace, the now dead millionaire presented the young couple with his former residence at Fifth avenue and Fortieth street. Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt is fond of society, but her husband's aversion to

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often literally poured into it for the suppositive relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism and other ailments, is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely less than that caused by disease. If they who are weak, bilious, dyspeptic, constipated or rheumatic, would oftener be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would in every instance obtain the speediest aid derivable from rational medication. This medicine is a searching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure spirits, properties as a medicinal stimulant not to be found in the fiery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptic and languid.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescribible. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and tortures of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. The town of Buchanan, Mich., is in a state of excitement over the sensational suicide of a young mechanic named P. Cox, a cousin of young Charles Clower, who shot himself and his mistress recently in a notorious bagnio at Chicago.

A little girl who was asked what she meant by saying she had been baptized two times, replied that it didn't take the first time. In this it was different from Red Star Cough Cure. That medicine goes to the spot at once, and relieves permanently.

New Hampshire Insurance.

The annual report of Hon. John M. Hill, chief engineer of the Concord fire department, to be issued in a few days, contains some important statistics bearing upon the insurance question. Mr. Hill was the democratic candidate for governor at the last election, and has been for years at the head of the fire department of Concord. Under the head of "Insurance—Profits and Losses," Mr. Hill says:

The average loss for the thirteen consecutive years, from 1873 to 1886, has been $25,877.08, and the average insurance recovered, $18,959.49. In my report for the year 1883, the statement was made that the sum annually paid for premiums on insurance of property in Concord was about $70,000. This statement was reiterated and commented upon in my report for the year 1884, and has never been publicly denied or controverted. Accepting it for present purposes, the subjoined results of our insurance business are contained: Amount of annual premiums, thirteen years at $70,000 per annum, $910,000; less losses paid in same period, $246,473.41; gross profits, $663,526.59; deduct 33 1-3 per cent on premiums claimed as the average cost in the transaction of insurance business, $303,333.33; net profits, $360,193.26, or nearly forty per cent on the entire receipts.

If the insurance interests of the country have not been reasonably prosperous and remunerative of late years, as has been claimed they have not, most assuredly we have added but little to their losses, and no fault lies with us. No dwelling-house has been burned in the compact portion of this city, involving a total loss, since the introduction of water thirteen years ago; and few have been damaged to any very serious extent. In but three of four instances within my recolection has a single loss occured during this time is excess of $1,000. The sum of $2,000 per annum will unquestionably cover the losses on dwelling-houses since the erection of the alarm, and most probably for the entire term of hydrant supply.

At the session of the legislature held last summer a bill was enacted known as the "valued policy" law. The passage of this law was followed almost immediately by the withdrawal of every foreign insurance company transacting business in the state, leaving the public, which had been almost entirely dependent upon these underwriters, without apparent resource. With characteristic self-reliance and pluck the emergency was met at once. A few months sufficed to develop the formation of both stock and mutual companies abundantly able to protect all our interests, and the incoming year will find the people of New Hampshire in a position requiring no aid from abroad.

In speaking of the dwelling-house insurance in the compact part of the city, he questions whether the owners connot afford to carry part of the risk themselves; and he expresses the opinion that good results will follow from the increased care, the reduction of insurance and the providing of more ample means for the extinguishment of fires, all of which has been brought about by the enactment of the valued policy law.

Death of Mrs. Bayard.

Mrs. Bayard, wife of the secretary of state, died in Washington on Jan. 31st. She had long been an invalid, but the sudden death of her daughter a few weeks ago hastened her death. She was married to Mr Bayard in 1856, and bore him twelve children, of whom seven are living.

Reform by Telephone.

The New York World gives a three-and-a-half-column expose showing that millions of the Pan Electric telephone stock were given away to leading officers of the government for "moral" effect. Among the long list of speculative statesmen who have their pockets full of this gift stock are A. H. Garland, attorney general; Joseph E. Johnson, railroad commissioner; J. D. C. Atkins, Indian commissioner; Isham G. Harris, United States senator from Tennessee; George G. Vest, United States senator from Missouri; Zebulon G. Vance, United States senator from North Carolina. This Pan Electric Telephone Co. is the one that is fighting the Bell Co. on the ground of priority of invention, and whose suit Mr. Lamar, secretary of the interior, says the United States government should prosecute and pay for. What a howl the democratic papers would make were this reform administration republican instead of democratic.

Pay Inspector Richard Washington, Paymaster Francis H. Swan and Passed Asst. Paymaster Lawrence G. Boggs have been ordered to examination for promotion.

Asst. Naval Constructor Richard Gatewood is ordered from the navy department to duty at Chester, Pa.

Boatswain James Farrell is ordered to the gunnery training-ship Minnesota.

Lieut. W. O. Sharrar is ordered from the hydrographic office to the Swatara.

Lieut. W. W. Kimball is detached from the Tennessee, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. Fred. H. Tyler is detached from the Nipsic, South Atlantic station, and ordered home.

Lieut. J. M. Marshall is ordered to the Minnesota.

Paymaster Rufus S. McConnell and Chief Engineer G. W. Sansner have been placed on the retired list.

President Cleveland has refused to transmit to the senate the papers which concern the removal of United States District Attorney Dustin, of Alabama.

General Hazen denies recent charges of irregularity in the accounts of the signal service which have been made by Comptroller Maynard.

Rev. E. A. Whittier, the evangelist whose recent labors in Rye were attended with such signal results, is laboring with the two churches (the Congregational and the Methodist) in Peacham, Caledonia county, Vermont, with like success attending his efforts. The work is reported as a most remarkable one, over one hundred conversions having been reached. Peacham is an old, important town, having a population of much intelligence, and a widely-known academy. The pastor of the Congregational church there is Rev. S. S. Martyn, formerly of Nashua, in this state, and whom many in this city will remember as the brother of Rev. Carlos Martyn, formerly pastor of the North church here.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Mr. Christopher Killinbeck, after fishing with his fourteen-foot dory from the schooner Cosmopolitan in Ipswich bay during the day, was being towed into the harbor during the thick weather of Saturday night by the schooner Silver Dart, but lost the dory, trawls and all the fishing gear, with 700 lbs. of fish, between the bell buoy and Whalesback, through the boat being towed under. The captain of the Silver Dart said he did not understand the entrance to the harbor, being a stranger to this port.

The fine old elms on the Raynes estate sufford severely during the ice experience of last week. These trees were set out there some some years before the revolution, and it is evident that no such occurrence ever happened to them before. A cord or two of wood fell down from them, with such crashes as to keep the inmates of the house alarmed through the night. One of these trees which was cut down to make way for the new street had 137 rings, and showed no sign of decay, several charges of powder being required to blow the stump to pieces.

Mr. Albert Jenkins of the Scotland district, York, lost a valuable horse at the setting in of one of the early snow-storms, while travelling on the road to Beech ridge. The upper bone of one of the hinder legs was broken short off by a wrench, the animal's hoof passing through the ice and snow into a rut in the frozen earth. Damages have been claimed from the town, but a settlement has not yet been made.

William Hanscom of Eliot was arrested in Dover last week for disturbing the "knee drill" of the salvation army, and in the police court next morning was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $8 76.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

THE ROCKINGHAM HOUSE OPENED.

The rebuilt and enlarged Rockingham house was opened to the public on Monday, without any formal ceremonies. The clerk took his place in the office and the other employes went ahead with their duties, and at six o'clock in the evening dinner was served, for the first time since the September morning, in 1884, when the old hotel was destroyed by fire. The exterior of the building is much more attractive, and the interior more elegantly finished and furnished, than was the case with the former house; and its reopening for public business is a matter of congratulation to our citizens, its excellent and extensive accommodations having been seriously missed during all the time it has been undergoing renovation.

BEATING THE RECORD.

The two Ayrshire cows belonging to Messrs. C. H. Hayes & Son have completed the record for the month of January, and the aggregate amount is 3277 1-4 lbs. "Queen Mary" has given 1705 1-2 lbs. and "Mary 2d" 1571 3-4 lbs. The [illegible]en has given twenty-five quarts a day [illegible]ugh the month; on the first day she [illegible]e 55 1-2 lbs., and on the last day the sa[illegible] amount, which shows a very remarkable uniformity. The lowest amount was 49 1-2 lbs., and the highest 61 3-4 lbs. There has not been a day but what some one has been at the Hayes farm to see some one of the milkings. The cows have been milked three times each day—at six in the morning, half-past two in the afternoon and half-past nine in the evening. Mr. C. H. Hayes has milked them the entire month, with one or two exceptions. The Queen's record stands for the two months (December and January) 3127 1-2 lbs., and Mr. Hayes does not believe there is a cow in New England that has equalled it for the past two months. She is to be given a record as long as it is considered advisable. She is watched very closely and fed very carefully, Mr. Hayes giving her the entire care as to feed and water, the object being to beat the Ayrshire record for thirty, sixty and 100 consecutive days, and longer if circumstances permit.

HARBOR DEFENCES.

The fortifications board, in their report to the president, give a list of twenty-seven ports where "fortifications or other defences are most urgently required." New York comes first on the list, then San Francisco; Boston is third in the importance of its need of better defences, and then come the ports on the great lakes; Portsmouth is No. 22 on the list, Portland, Me., being No. 10.

For Portland are recommended barbette batteries, mortar batteries, submarine mines, and six torpedo boats. Armament for the fortifications, twenty 12-inch, 50-ton guns; ten 10-inch, 27-ton guns; ten 8-inch, 13-ton guns; forty-eight 12-inch mortars. The estimated cost of these defences is as follows: Masonry and earthwork, $2,096,000; structural metal, $200,000; guns and mortars, $1,784,000; carriages, $587,000; submarine mines, $278,500; torpedo boats, $360,000; total, $5,305,500.

For Portsmouth harbor are recommended barbette batteries, armed with four 12-inch, 50-ton guns, and four 10-inch, 27-ton guns; also submarine mines. The estimates for these defences foot up $965,350, divided as follows: Masonry and earthwork, $420,000; guns and mortars, $308,000; carriages, $103,000; submarine mines, $134,350.

PORTSMOUTH MACHINE CO.

At a meeting of the directors of the Portsmouth Machine Co., held on Monday, Jeremiah Sanborn resigned as a director, and Jeremiah A. Farrington of Conway was chosen to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Farrington was chosen treasurer of the corporation, and will have his office at the machine shop, and devote all his time to the interests of the company. He has lately been engaged as a civil engineer in superintending the construction of the Rochester water works.

Mr. Farrington is a well known business man, and has heretofore been a merchant in Great Falls and Rochester. He comes to Portsmouth by the unanimous invitation of the directors of the machine company, who deem it for the interest of the corporation to have a treasurer constantly engaged in the service of the company, as the increasing business seems to demand.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

The sidewalk on Market square, from Thacher's corner to John Laighton's, was cleared in quick time of quite a large number of pedestrians, many of them ladies, Monday afternoon, the cause of the scattering being a horse drawing a sleigh, which came down Congress street on the run and without a driver, and taking to the sidewalk at Laighton's, ran along inside the awning posts until he reached Hill's drug store, where he smashed the sleigh against a post, and leaving it behind him there, kept on without it through Ladd street into High, where he was caught. The team belonged to Stoddard. That no person was hurt was remarkable; there were some very narrow escapes, as it was.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Feb. 1st.

James Gordon and Joseph McManus, complained of under the tramp law, were held in $100 each to answer at the April term of the supreme court, until which time they will cease from travelling, and rest in jail.

MUSIC HALL.

Mr. J. S. Murphy, the favorite Irish comedian, began a week's engagement at the Academy of Music last evening, opening with the popular "Kerry Gow." The drama in his hands is, if possible, more taking than ever this season, and the Irish ballads which Murphy, as Dan O'Hara, knows how to sing so well, were thoroughly enjoyed by those present. Mr. Murphy is the best Irish comedian now on the stage. To go into details of his acting is unnecessary, so well is he known.—Buffalo Express.

At Music hall Thursday evening. Tickets at Goodrich's.

L. V. Newell & Co. succeeded in getting about sixty fine negatives for photographic views about the city and in this vicinity, during the three days' prevalence of the "ice storm." They will soon have the completed pictures on exhibition and for sale.

At the masquerade ball on the evening of the 4th inst., before the march a concert will be given by Eastman's orchestra, the programme being as follows: Overture, "Orpheus d'Enfer," Offenbach; selection from "Der Feldprediger," Millocker; piccolo solo, fantasia on Scotch airs, Fred Lay; overture medley, "The Rambler," Moses.

THE DEAD MAN'S DAUGHTERS.

The eldest of Mr. Vanderbilt's daughters is Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, formerly Miss Margaret Vanderbilt. She is tall and dark, and, while not handsome, has a very sweet face. She has a large family and inherits her mother's domestic tastes, going into society very little except to dinners, which her husband's professional position makes necessary. She dresses quietly and in good taste.

Mrs. William D. Sloane, formerly Miss Emily Vanderbilt, now the wife of one of the members of the large carpet firm, lives with her husband and family in the upper one of the two Fifth avenue palaces. She was married about twelve years ago, and is very happy in her domestic relations, having several young children, to whom she is very devoted. She is tall and frail-looking, with light hair, slightly reddish in tinge. Mrs. Sloane's chief diversion is the opera, and she may be seen in her father's box at the Metropolitan Opera-House almost every night of the season.

A brunette, and of medium hight, is Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly, formerly Miss Florence Vanderbilt, and the wife of Mr. Vanderbilt's favorite son-in-law. By many persons she is considered the handsomest of the women of the family. She was married in 1879 at St. Bartholomew's Church, and the excitement her wedding created is not yet forgotten. With her husband she occupies the house specially built for her by her father at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fourth street. A happy and devoted wife, she inherits all the domestic traits of her family.

The youngest of the daughters is Mrs. Seward Webb, formerly Miss Lelia Vanderbilt, who was married three years ago after a romantic courtship. Her husband, who was a young doctor, and a son of the late James Watson Webb, was not looked upon with favor by Mr. Vanderbilt on his first suit for the hand of his daughter, and for a time the young couple were separated, but love, as usual, conquered and Mr. Vanderbilt relented. They were soon afterward married and are living very happily together. Dr. Webb is now President of the sleeping-car company connected with the New York Central Road and has abandoned his profession. Mrs. Webb is short and dark and rather a pretty woman. She was very fond of society before her marriage, but is not now often seen at the larger entertainments of the season.

Westward-Ho!

"Oh, where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"I'm going to Bismarck, sir," she said,
"A town in Dakota."

"May I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"There are too many men there now," she said,
"I'm told for the feminine quota."

"And what will you do there, my pretty maid?"
"Oh, I'm a method long since, sir," she said,
"I shall marry a wealthy young farmer."

"Are you going alone there, my pretty maid?"
"There's a couple of thousand behind me," she said,
"But I am the charmingest charmer."

"Oh, why don't you marry here, my pretty maid?"
"Why, sir, she said,
"Are no one has asked me to, sir," she said,
"And I am a couple and twenty."

"But, why do you hurry so, my pretty maid?"
"Tis a race for a man, you know, sir," she said,
"And I must get there while they're plenty."
—Columbus Dispatch.

"From a single acre you can gather 3,000 bushels of prime oysters," said an oysterman of the lower Chesapeake Bay. "This beats wheat-raising by a large majority."

"CHLOTTERBECK'S"

A CURE IS GUARANTEED.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the same value as if fully paid.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in hight,—the Statue bronzed, Pedestal, nickel silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches High, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, Twenty inches High, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with glass stand, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuettes, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $60,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will greatly increase the desired amount.

I was subject to attacks of neuralgia sudden and without warning, destroying all hope of sleep, and making it almost impossible for me to attend to my business. Athlophoros cured me. G. G. Thomson, 278 State St., New Haven, Ct.

The state treasury at Austin, Texas, last week temporarily suspended payment on claims of all kinds. A check for $80,000 was presented by the educational department, but the treasurer was unable to meet it. A deficit of $150,000 now exists in the various state funds, especially in the school fund. The deficit is directly attributable to the last legislature, which reduced taxation to a point shown by Comptroller Swain at the time to be below the necessary expenses of an ordinary state government.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for Sick Headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Steamer Eolus was wrecked on the rocks six miles from Newport, R. I., on the night of the 30th ult., owing to a snowstorm. She had thirteen passengers, five of them ladies, all of whom were landed on Conanicut island by the steamer's lifeboat.

Something for all the Preachers.

Rev. H. H. Falvall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1883) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly." Not a liquid nor a snuff. Applied to nostrils with the finger.

At Telluride, Col., last week, a snowslide buried four cabins, containing twenty-two men, under seventeen feet of snow. Four men were killed, and two others fatally injured.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventive if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

Schooner Sophia Kranz, of Bath, with a cargo of coal, was wrecked on Nigger head, not from Race Point life saving station, on the night of Jan. 30th, in a snowstorm. Crew of nine men saved by the station men, with great difficulty.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chautauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

At Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 31st, Alfred Smith, a worthless fellow, murdered his wife and another woman with a hammer, and then cut his own throat, but not fatally.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites

Is Very Palatable and Agrees with the Stomach.

Dr. J. Wobring, of Newark, Ohio, says: "I have use Scott's Emulsion in comparison with the plain oil and acid emulsions and find it to agree much better with the stomach, and give better results in the diseases in which Cod Liver Oil is useful."

The factions of the Ohio senate have agreed to leave the investigation of the Hamilton county cases to a committee of six members, in which both parties shall be equally represented.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a well-ironed, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, wooden tracks or continuous steel rail, substantially built bridges and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of safety buffers, platforms and safe baskets, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, fine upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars in which elaborately cooked meals are served a la carte. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to reach the rich Wheat fields and pastoral lands of Interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

Fifty years ago the term neuralgia was comparatively unknown to the profession, but is now one of the most frequent and distressing diseases of our time. The best remedy for it, however, is Salvation Oil. Price twenty-five cents.

The steamer Cephalonia, from Liverpool for Boston, was spoken on the 23d of January with loss of propeller. She will be towed to Liverpool.

The combination, proportion and process in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla, are peculiar to this medicine, and unknown to others.

Morgan's carriage factory at Kingston, England, has been burned, and the loss is over $200,000.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

At Lemington, Vt., this season, 4,000,000 feet of spruce has been yarded and is being hauled to the river to float to the mills.

Henry Schoenhals, foreman Henry Krug Packing Co., St. Joseph, Mo., uses Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil with his men for sprains, cuts, bruises, chapped hands, etc. It is the best.

Indian agents on the Northwestern frontier, Canada, are charged with carrying on a traffic in Indian girls for improper purposes.

Consumtives obtain great relief by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. No other remedy is so effective.

France is to receive $2,000,000 from Madagascar in payment of all claims against that country, France to occupy Tamatave until the money is paid.

Croup, whooping cough, sore throat, sudden cold, and the lung troubles peculiar to children, are easily controlled by promptly administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy is safe to take and certain in its action.

A levee at Stockton, California, gave way on Saturday, flooding thousands of acres of wheat and causing a loss of about $600,000.

"It is worth its weight in gold," is a common expression. But, while the value of gold is easily affected, the worth of Ayer's Sararparilla, as a blood purifier, never depreciates. It will eradicate scrofula from the system when everything else fails.

Feb. 1st, while a party of men were clearing snow from the track of the Denver & South Pass railroad near Frisco, Col., a snow-slide buried three men under a hundred feet of snow and rock. Their remains have not been recovered.

Carter's Little Liver Pills have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick headache, billiousness, constipation, pain in the side, and all liver troubles. Try them.

A shooting affray is reported from Houston, Texas. Two admirers of a Miss Delaney, named Jack Hanlon and Jack Crowly, met in the lady's parlor by accident. Shots were exchanged from revolvers, and both men will die. The two lovers were "sporting men," and the young woman was engaged to Hanlon.

My Head Was Fairly Rotten,

And how much I suffered it is hard to describe. That loathsome disease, catarrh, caused the above, and the doctors said they could not relieve me. I paid hundreds of dollars, for which I received no benefit. I got more good from two bottles of Sulphur Bitters than from all the money I paid to doctors. I shall continue the Sulphur Bitters, as I have great faith that they will cure me.—S. M. Day, No. 41 Hanover street, Boston.

My Back Aches!

Two Doses

of ATHLOPHOROS cured my wife of acute neuralgia. Instead of being laid up for two or three days as usual, it was all over in three hours and she has not had an attack since."—JOHN AUGER, 15 Howe Street, New Haven, Conn.

Some times ATHLOPHOROS will not act as quickly as in the cases above, but it is sure and the more severe the pain the more quickly it will act. There is no disease more common and more intensely painful than neuralgia. Ladies particularly are subject to headaches of neuralgic origin. Neuralgia in any form can be surely cured. ATHLOPHOROS is absolutely safe and absolutely sure. Thousands who have suffered intensely with neuralgia and been cured by the use of ATHLOPHOROS prove the truth of this statement. Is it not worth a trial in your case?

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

With the Lark.

You may wrangle and argue and talk and dispute
From now till the end of the term,
But you'll find it the truth—simple, plain, absolute—
It's the early bird catches the worm.

If you answer the rising-bell back with a snore,
And under the blanket still squirm,
You may just as well sleep two or three hours more,
For the early bird's gobbled the worm.

The man who invariably misses the train
The truth of my song will confirm;
He can never sell goods on the road, it is plain,
For the early bird catches the worm.

And though you hate work, and are fonder of play,
Or though you feel weak and infirm,
Just get up and scoot round at the breaking of day,
For the joke it will be on the worm.

Street-Corner Colloquies.

A Blue Island avenue car was jogging along westward on Madison street, near La Salle, yesterday, when just before the crossing was reached a policeman raised his baton in front of a big beer-delivery wagon crawling along between the street-car track and the curbing. The sleepy German on the elevated seat started suddenly as though awakened out of a nap, and, grabbing the reins, gave them a jerk that throw his horses almost upon their haunches, while the reverse action jammed the rear end of the wagon into the front of the street-car, smashing a window-glass and frightening the passengers nearly to death. The driver whirled his brake around until it stuck fast, and then looked up at the beer driver, who seemed wholly overpowered by the gravity of the situation.

"You mutton-head," he yelled, with just a tinge of annoyance in his tones, "what are you trying to do, anyway?"

"Hey—vat—vell, I vas just——"

"Go on now, I don't want none of yer back talk. Come down 'ere and pay for this 'ere glass."

"Yah; I vill not. Auf you don't go so vast mit your keer, you don't got your vindeer broke out; aind it?"

"Well yer bet yer life yer'l pay for this winder," said the driver, as he wound his lines about the brake-handle and prepared to descend to terra firma.

"Hare now, hare now," interrupted the blue-coated guardian of the peace

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often literally poured into it for the suppositive relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism and other ailments, is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely less than that caused by disease. If they who are weak, bilious, dyspeptic, constipated or rheumatic, would oftener be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would in every instance obtain the speediest aid derivable from rational medication. This medicine is a searching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure spirits, properties as a medicinal stimulant not to be found in the fiery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptic and languid.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chautauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

That Telephone Business.

In the national house of representatives, on the 1st inst., a republican member endeavored to work in the New York World's article on the dealings of certain prominent men in Pan-Electric telephone stock, as a question of privilege, but was choked off by the speaker. He then offered the following resolution, which after a wrangle was passed, Mr. Morrison asking unanimous consent for its consideration:

Resolved, that the committee on expenditures in the department of justice be empowered to make a full inquiry into any expenditure on the part of the government relative to the rights of the Bell and Pan-Electric telephone companies, and for the purpose of this investigation and to the end that the people may be fully advised, the committee is granted the right to send for persons and papers, all expenses to be audited and accounted from approved vouchers, and when so approved to be paid out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Diabolical Conspiracy.

Advices of Jan. 24th from Panama say that one of the most diabolical plots ever planned to overthrow a government has just been discovered in Gautemala, the most thriving republic of Central America. It was a scheme to set fire to the Grand Hotel and the theatre at a given time when there might be expected to be a full house. In the panic that would certainly ensue the intention of the conspirators was to take possession of the barracks without any great risk to themselves. Then a prominent feature of the programme was to murder President Barrilas and his family, next to attack all foreigners, and finally sack the city. Fortunately the plans of the conspirators were revealed in time. The discovery of the plan led to the arrest of about fifty persons, including some colonels in the army, they are now undergoing trial for their and treasonable designs.

MATTERS IN YORK.

CAPE NEDDICK, ME., Feb. 1st.

The school in Dist. 11 closed Friday, after a very successful term, taught by Fred W. Oakes of Bates college, Lewiston. He is one of the teachers who is so fortunate as to win the love and respect of his pupils, and he gave great satisfaction to all.

Mr. George Talpey and wife arrived home last week after a prolonged wedding trip to the eastern part of the state. Long life and prosperity to the happy couple.

The ice has done much damage to the trees in this village, many of our handsomest shade trees being utterly demolished.

Miss Nellie Weare is at present visiting friends in Boston and vicinity.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle was re-organized a few evenings ago, and the following officers elected: Mrs. Wilbur Norton, president; Mrs. Theodore Weare, vice president; Mrs. Daniel Goodwin, collector; and Mrs. M. A. Marshall, treasurer. The circle is held once a fortnight, and is very popular, especially among the young people. The object of the circle is to pay the debt on the church here.

G. M. Simpson has filled his large ice house with ice for his thriving provision trade during the beach season.

The new postmaster, Albion Goodwin, is rapidly becoming a favorite with all, readiness to oblige and the skill he shows in adapting himself to the business giving great satisfaction.

Edward T. Weare, proprietor of the Cliff House, is out of town on a visit with his fiancee. Miss Lillian Moulton of York. Rumor whispers that it is a matrimonial trip.

Mr. Luther Weare has been dangerously ill with typhoid fever, but is now slowly gaining. Drs. Gordon and Hall of Ogunquit attended him. VERITAS.

It is reported that J. B. Warner, Esq., of Boston, has purchased of Mr. Mark Blake the "Hunt place," so called, on Gerrish's island, Kittery, and will erect thereon a summer cottage for his own occupancy the coming season. The Hotel Pocahontas, on Pocahontas point, presents a fine appearance, and its guests next summer will find it elegantly furnished throughout; it is understood that the proprietor, S. E. Junnison, Esq., has engaged a resident of Kittery as manager of the establishment.

The salvation army of Portsmouth visited Eliot Neck on Monday evening last, and held services at the Second Advent church there. Three young men from Portsmouth were denied admission at the door, because it was alleged that they belonged to a company of twenty who had given out word that they would break up the meeting. There was a considerable crowd present, but no evidence of any new converts. At a previous meeting, two weeks ago, sixteen dollars were collected.

The following are among the recent transfers of real estate in York county: Kittery—Albert S. Wilson to Daniel O. Seaward et al., woodland for $200. Eliot—Mary Shapleigh of Eliot to Elmer L. For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 137 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." R. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Lewis Holmes is building a boat at Commercial wharf on a model of his design, which is intended to be a fast sailer. She is to be cat rigged, with a keel; will measure nineteen feet in length over all, six feet in width, and draw about two feet of water. Her frame is of New Hampshire white oak, and is being well put together. She will be completed in time for summer operations, and will be safe enough for amateur sailors on the Piscataqua.

The fishing boats and schooners which go out early in the morning to take up the trawls in spite of the cold have an advantage over the later birds, who fly after the sun is up. A sense of honor would seem to imply that a fisherman would not interfere with another one's nets and trawls, even if he be exempt by the laws of Neptune and Jetsam.

E. Newton & Co. on the 2d inst. bought the following fares of fish at $2.75 per hundred: From Schooner Rising Star, 6,000 lbs.; Alabama, 6,500; Cora Greenwood, 8,400; Annie H. Mason, 6,000; A. C. Newhall, 6,900; George Hagan, 5,300; Abbie Snow, 7,200; Hector, 4,000; Schenck, 1,000; Amos Cutter, 10,000.

A few day ago we published an item about the coming ashore of the keel of the ship Isadore, at Wells beach, which was lost in a storm off Baldhead cliff forty-five years ago. We have since learned that the only survivor of that crew was Thomas King, who deserted just before it sailed and who arrived in town the next day after the wreck, causing quite a sensation. He now lives in this city, and earns a living by mending umbrellas.—Dover Republican.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

If you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or any disease of the blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, or kidney and liver complaints, catarrh or rheumatism, do not fail to try

CONCERT.

The announcement that Messrs. George M. Nowell, pianist, and Willis E. Nowell, violinist, assisted by other eminent talent, are shortly to give a concert in Music hall, will interest all lovers of music, and cause a large call for tickets at Preston's drug store, where reserved seat tickets can be found at fifty cents each. The desire to see and hear the two young natives of this city concerning whose progress in their musical studies in Europe such highly commendatory reports have been published during the past three years, will be an additional incentive for many to attend. The programme will not be arranged merely with a view to display the technical abilities of the performers, but the selections will be such as will be pleasing and enjoyable to all, whether educated in music or not.

[illegible]es and the Penny Post of [illegible]ning had a quite long article about [illegible] Rockingham house, giving some [illegible]ing facts regarding it from the time it was built in 1785 by Woodbury Langdon for his private residence, down to the present time, and also a very good description of the house as it now is. The article was illustrated by a picture of a hotel, which although evidently intended to represent the Rockingham did scant justice to the appearance of the building, wholly failing to convey an adequate impression as to its size and attractiveness, and making it appear as though standing very nearly on the level of the sidewalk. It was incomplete, also, in some of the minor details, showing but one of the two flagstaffs, and not one of the four big lions which have stood guard beside the two front entrances for so many years.

CORPORATION ELECTION.

The annual election of the Burton Stock Car Co. was held at Portland, Me., Feb. 2d, and officers elected as follows:

John H. Fox, president;

George D. Burton, secretary and treasurer;

Clarence Hale, assistant secretary;

Edwin F. Perkins, vice president and general manager;

Gen. B. F. Butler, counsel;

John H. Fox of Jaffrey, Ex-Gov. Person C. Cheney of Manchester, Hon. Edward Spalding, M. D., of Nashua, Edwin F. Perkins and Murry V. Livingstone of Boston, George D. Burton of New Ipswich, N. H., Josiah G. Graves, M. D., of Scituate, Mass., Josiah T. Wilson and Hon. Bainbridge Wadleigh of Boston, directors.

The report of the treasurer for the year ending Jan. 30th made a very gratifying exhibit.

The pluck, energy and inventive genius of Mr. Burton have at last triumphed over the unwise opposition of mercenary railroad managers, whose old-fashioned and ill-contrived freight cars they thought good enough to ship cattle and horses across the continent in, and that the flesh of tortured and starved animals was good enough for other people to eat. The progress of the age demands that animals shall be carried as passengers and not as dead freight.

Col. T. E. O. Marvin of this city is agent for this company.

THE THEATRE.

"Kerry Gow," in which J. S. Murphy is to appear at Music hall to-morrow evening, is a drama portraying Irish life in a realistic manner, and containing a romantic and sensational interest. It has taken fair rank on the American stage, and has achieved remarkable success. Mr. Murphy depicts the jovial, quick-witted Irishman in a natural and skillful manner, hitting off the drolleries and peculiarities of the Irish character to perfection, and throwing in occasionally a dash of pathos that brings moisture to many an eye. Mr. Murphy is supported by a good company.

The fire alarm telegraph wires were so badly disarranged by the ice storm of last week that the sounding of the bell and gong at 12:30 o'clock P. M., Cambridge time, has since been omitted from necessity. The superintendent of the alarm has been hard at work repairing the damages ever since they occurred, and expects to have everything in order to-day.

The first dance of the season at the south wardroom takes place this (Wednesday) evening, under the direction of Mr. James T. Adams. Good music will be furnished.

A flock of wild geese, estimated at over a hundred, were seen flying over the city early Tuesday morning in the direction of Great bay. What in the world they were are around here at this time of year we do not know, unless they are bound to the north pole in search of warmer weather than they have been having at the south

Mr. George W. Bartlett, for some time past roadmaster of the Delaware division of the Erie railroad, with headquarters at Port Jervis, N. Y., has been appointed superintendent of the Rochester division, with headquarters at Rochester, N. Y., and assumed the duties of his new position Feb. 1st. Mr. Bartlett has removed to Rochester with his family.

At the annual meeting of the Middle street Baptist society, held Monday evening, John H. Broughton, Lewis E. Staples, William A. Hodgdon, Frank L. Pryor and J. M. Tebbetts were elected wardens, and C. H. Clough parish clerk.

There were many invited visitors in the gymnasium of the Portsmouth Athletic club, Monday evening. So many spectators caused an evident feeling of restraint on the part of some of the young men, which undoubtedly would soon wear off should the "invitation evenings" be kept up; but the various feats of strength, skill and agility that were performed showed a good deal of proficiency on the part of some of the members, and were of much interest to the lookers-on. The gymnasium is well supplied with apparatus, and the club is evidently an institution which merits public approval.

"Mental Physiology" was the subject of Prof. Butts' last Sunday afternoon lecture at Mercantile hall, and was treated with ability. These lectures are now to be given regulary every Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and are free to the public.

Mr. Adolph Enau, foreman of Norton's extensive brick yard and farm at York river, and occupant of the fine new cottage near the easterly end of York bridge, was in this city Saturday.

The two large flags flying from the lofty poles on the ends of the Rockingham house make a good show. The one on the westerly end of the building attracted the attention of many people on Tuesday morning, on account of its being hoisted union down, in which position, however, it did not long remain, being hauled down and righted as soon as the attention of the inmates of the hotel was called to it.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, followed by a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Blood and Liver Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Skin and Scalp, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seven-en years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 38 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which the known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many kinds of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which I have sold more than all other blood and skin preparations combined.

POETIC LETTER,

To Miss E. J. Carter, Kittery, Maine, on her 78th Birthday.

Again appears your natal day;
The wheels of Time brook no delay;
The milestone surely will tell true
How many years are due to you.

Yours has been a Christian life
Amid the scenes of sin and strife;
Early your heart to God was given,
That you with Him, may live in heaven.

Christian friendship! O! how sweet
To friends beloved, who seldom meet;
God's gracious hand can always reach,
Filling with grace the heart of each.

Through the world, the year just past
Has been by sorrow overcast;
Fire, Tempest, Death in varied form,
Had each a mission to perform.

May this year propitious be,
From every ill and danger free.
At last, may we all meet above,
Sing the blest theme, Redeeming Love.

Redeeming Love! How sweet the sound
To those, who have a Savior found,—
And who, before the mercy-seat,
Can sing Redemption, so replete.

From your aged friend, MRS. PRESCOTT GROSVENOR, aged 84 years, 3 months and 20 days. Peabody, Mass., Nov. 20th, 1885.

Mr. Charles Schreiner, foreman of a large meat house in Baltimore, Md., says: "He had a sprained wrist for several weeks and began to think it was never going to get well, he was advised to try Salvation Oil, did so and it worked like magic and a few applications entirely cured him."

I wished Death

ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 WALL ST., NEW YORK.

OUIDA.

Sitting one evening in the Hotel du Nord, at Florence, with the son of a celebrated confederate general, the conversation, says a writer in the New York Mail and Express, turned upon Ouida. "Her villa is about two miles from town," said my companion, "but she lives very much in retirement since her unfortunate love affair with the Marquis of Stufa, a member of one of the oldest of the Florentine families. Ouida has always boasted that she was above the weakness of love. But she found the marquis a man of literary tastes, artistic refinement, and passionate energy, which interested her at once. Acquaintance soon ripened into friendship, and afterward, on Ouida's part, into love—her first love, and she a maiden of 40 summers! But the marquis, while he admired the writer only trifled with the woman. He not only failed to return her affection, but fell in love with a fair Italian, less brilliant, but younger and more beautiful than herself. The result of this affair was the novel of 'Friendship,' in which Ouida gave her version of this real romance, taking care to make the marquis a very weak character, like Hamlet, 'infirm of purpose,' but not possessing Hamlet's superb mental gifts. This love affair was not only a bitter disappointment to Ouida, but it made her for a time the laughing stock of Florence. For weeks she shut herself up in her villa, with her cats and dogs, and refused to see any visitors. Her evening drives to the Cacine and on the Arno were abandoned, and the places which had once seen her every day now saw her no more. Although this strict seclusion is no longer kept up, still she is much less accessible than she was before this disappointment in love. She has said of love and women that the latter are the exact antipodes of olives; the one begins in salt, and leaves us pleased with the delicious aroma; the other is nectar to commence with, but how soon they turn into very gall. Nine times out of ten a woman does not care a rush for a man who is dying at her feet, while she is crazy about some ugly brute who takes no more notice of her than he does of his dirty boots."

Notwithstanding Ouida's sentimental retirement from the world at that time, she did not refuse to see me. Her villa is situated on one of the lovely hills that overlook Florence. Her garden, though small, was in beautiful order and well guarded by two large Maremma sheep dogs. The villa is in the Italian style, and the vine-clad piazza commands a charming view of Florence and the classic Arno; the stately Duomo, which inspired Michael Angelo to rear the mighty dome of St. Peter's which raises its lofty head in the center of the city; Santa Croce, the Westminster abbey of Florence, is seen to the right, while above, the azure sky of Italy smiles perpetually upon one of the fairest scenes in the world. The Protestant cemetery, just outside of Florence, contains the remains of Mrs. Browning, Arthur Clough, and Walter Savage Landor. Swinburne addressed the following lines in memoriam of Landor:

And thou, in Florence, to thy trust
Receive and keep,
Keep safe his dedicated dust,
His sacred sleep!

There is a mystery about Ouida which piques curiosity, but which the most persistent interviewer has never been able to penetrate. She was once asked how she came to know so much about camp life, clubs, barracks, gambling-houses, and other places only frequented by men, and she is reported to have leaned her head upon her hands, and looking straight at her questioner with a provoking smile, to have saucily answered: "It is none of your business." Her real name is Louise de la Rame. Her father was a Frenchman, her mother English, and while her tastes and manners are French, her features are decidedly English. Her face is fair and oval, her eyes are deep blue in color and very large and expressive; her golden-brown hair, which formerly was worn loose and flowed down her shoulders, is no longer kept in "much admired disorder," but is discreetly braided as befits a middle-aged woman. She is about the medium height, slender and graceful. She passes much time in the open air, driving and walking, and from April to October is out all the time except when eating and sleeping. Her favorite time for driving is in the afternoon from 2 to 6. She drives herself, and always has a couple of pet dogs with her; in fact, whether walking or driving at home or abroad, eating or reading, thinking or writing, she has her canine companions by her side. She has a burying place for dogs in her garden, and they are laid to rest with a tenderness not always bestowed upon human beings. Her favorite St. Bernard dog, Isla, has a marble tomb over his remains, with an inscription quite as pathetic, but less misanthropic, than Byron's famous lines on his favorite Newfoundland, Boatswain. Ouida is an early riser; tempted by the lovely climate of Florence, she is up at 6 in winter and 5 in summer. Her literary work is done chiefly in winter, but she has no particular hours of the day for writing, taking up her pen only when she in thy the humor to write. She does not remember when she commenced her authorship, for at the age of 4 she wrote in printed letters a child's story. From her earliest girlhood she has been a student, being trained to masculine modes of thought by her father, who was a man of rare intellectual gifts, but his genius was wasted in utopian dreams of a political millennium. This love of study, begun so young, has never left her, and she has added to it an appreciation of all the arts that lend a grace and charm to life. She paints with great cleverness both in oil and water colors, and she finds her favorite subjects in her own household pets. A dog or cat always appears in her landscapes, and

A Mystery.

How the human system ever recovers from the bad effects of the nauseous medicines often literally poured into it for the suppositive relief of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, rheumatism and other ailments, is a mystery. The mischief done by bad medicines is scarcely less than that caused by disease. If they who are weak, bilious, dyspeptic, constipated or rheumatic, would oftener be guided by the experience of invalids who have thoroughly tested Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they would in every instance obtain the speediest aid derivable from rational medication. This medicine is a searching and at the same time a thoroughly safe remedy, derived from vegetable sources, and possessing, in consequence of its basis of pure spirits, properties as a medicinal stimulant not to be found in the fiery local bitters and stimulants often resorted to by the debilitated, dyspeptic and languid.

—The scarcity of dimes is probably accounted for by the recent increase of the subscriptions of New York millionaires to the Grant monument fund.

DANIEL LITTLEFIELD,

18 Green Street, Portsmouth, N. H.

The men of Paris of all ages and conditions are wild over boxing, and the many cures made by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, their national remedy.

Baron Armand Haussman is under arrest in Paris for attempting to murder Count Montauzan in the Hotel Louvre, in a fight about a woman. Hausman shot his rival twice, and smashed a clock over his head. The wounded man will probably die.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists.

Capt. David R. West died in the almshouse at New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 2d. At one time he was the wealthiest and most successful whaling master sailing out of New Bedford.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chautauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

Oliver Bros. & Phillips and Oliver & Roberts, the Pittsburg, Pa., iron manufacturers who failed a year ago and were granted an extension of three years, paid the first instalment of their indebtedness Feb. 2d. The amount was $300,000.

Athletic sports may now be said to form part of the course of education in all schools and colleges. There is a danger, however, that they may some times be indulged in to a hurtful degree, and experienced athletes always counteract the effects of severe training by thorough applications of St. Jacobs Oil. This strengthens the muscles and makes the limbs firm and elastic.

Had to Apologize.

Rev. W. W. Downs of Boston was very indignant on discovering that his name was not in a published list of the regularly ordained Baptist ministers of Massachusetts, issued by the Massachusetts Baptist association, and on investigating the matter found out that Rev. George W. Bosworth, secretary of the association, had left the name out on his own responsibility. Mr. Downs did not believe in allowing himself to be expelled by one man, so he and his legal backers made things so warm for Mr. Bosworth that he was glad to sign an explanation and apology prepared for him by the syndicate, and satisfactory to them.

The Mutiny On Ship Frank N. Thayer.

Captain Clark, of the Boston ship Frank N. Thayer, has arrived at Plymouth, England, on the Cape steamer by which he was picked up at sea. He relates that the Thayer was bound for New York with a mixed crew, including two Manila seamen. These two men stole upon deck one night, armed with knives lashed to poles, attacked the two officers, killing them instantly. Three sailors, the only ones on deck, were quickly dispatched. Captain Clark, hearing the shrieks of the crew, rushed on deck in his night shirt. The Manilamen slashed him terribly, and he barely escaped with his life. After a desperate struggle he broke away from his assailants, and rushing to his cabin, locked himself in. The Manilamen battened down the hatches, and kept the captain and crew below deck one day and night. The captain finally fired through a skylight at one of the mutineers, and wounded him in the thigh. The man rushed to the side of the vessel, and overboard. The other mutineer then went below and fired the cargo, and, returning to the deck, jumped into the sea. Terrified to madness, the crew forced their way on deck, lowered a boat and rowed away. The ship was consumed. The crew wandered at sea for a week before they were picked up.

The National Encampment.

Commander-in-Chief Burdette, of the Grand Army of the Republic, has telegraphed to Commander R. H. Warfield of San Francisco, Cal., that the national encampment of the G. A. R. will be held in San Francisco, commencing on Tuesday, Aug. 3d, 1886.

Dangerous Shoal Reported.

The hydrographic office has received reports of the existence of a dangerous shoal in latitude 41.05 north, longitude 65.02 west, directly in the track of transatlantic steamers during a part of the year, and a request is made that steamship captains take soundings whenever they are passing near the position indicated, in order to verify or refute its existence. The position given places the shoal about 400 miles nearly due east from New York, and it seems hardly possible such a shoal could escape discovery so long.

Bishop O'Reilly, of Springfield, Mass., is negotiating for a lot of 10,000 square feet of land in Holyoke, upon which to build a new Catholic church.

THE FORSAKEN FARMHOUSE.

[From "The Homestead," by JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER, in the February Atlantic.]

Against the wooded hills it stands,
Ghost of a dead home, staring through
Its broken lights on wasted lands
Where old-time harvests grew.

Unplonghed, unsown, by cattle unshorn,
The poor forsaken farm-fields lie,
Once rich and rife with golden corn
And pale green breadths of rye.

Of healthful herb and flower bereft,
The garden plot no housewife keeps;
Through weeds and tangle only left
The snake, its tenant, creeps.

A lilac spray, once blossom clad,
Sways bare before the empty rooms;
Beside the roofless porch a sad,
Pathetic red rose blooms.

His track, in mould and dust of drouth,
On floor and hearth the squirrel leaves,
And in the fireless chimney's mouth
His web the spider weaves.

The leaning barn about to fall
Resounds no more on husking eves;
No cattle low in yard or stall,
No thresher beats his sheaves.

So sad, so drear! It seems almost
Some haunting Presence makes its sign;
That down yon shadowy lane some ghost
Might drive his spectral kine!

A Crown

Is the device adopted by us in 1878 as a finish to our brand of whiskey called G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon. Crowns are worn by kings. The crown we own is made of copper, and is burnt into the head of each case we use for packing. The G. O. Taylor Whiskey, Old Bourbon or Pure Rye, may be obtained from leading grocers or druggists, or from the proprietors, Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Cold, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of

with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

James Wellman died unmarried, four years ago." It is to be hoped Rev. Mr. Wellman accepts this h arty correction in the same generous spirit in which it is tendered.

THE FIRE ALARM.

The repairs on the fire alarm having been completed, Cambridge standard time was again sounded on the North church bell and the steam gong at 12:30 o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, the 3d inst.

The regular monthly test of the working of the apparatus will be made this (Thursday) afternoon between the hours of one and four o'clock, when boxes 35, 14, 32, 19, 24 and 26 will be struck. The steam gong will blow in connection with the bell.

THE THEATRE.

This evening J. S. Murphy will appear in Music hall as the "Kerry Gow." The play and star are well known. Mr. Murphy is one of the best delineators of Irish character now upon the stage, and a brighter, prettier, or more interesting drama than the "Kerry Gow" is rarely witnessed. Tickets can be procured at Goodrich's.

The late Francis E. Parker's bequest of $36,000 to Richard H. Dana, it is understood, was to the father of the present gentleman bearing that name, and has lapsed, as has also one of $10,000, to a legatee since deceased. It is believed that Harvard college and Phillips Exeter academy will each receive about $75,000.

This evening, in Franklin hall, the masquerade ball under the management of Messrs. White, Sanderson and Philbrick will be given, with music by Eastman's orchestra, and a promenade concert preceeding the grand march.

The brick building on Penhallow street formerly belonging to the estate of the late Edmund M. Brown was purchased on Tuesday of this week by George Scott, and will be placed in repair for rent.

Newcastle has advertised a sale of Pest island, taxed to the city of Portsmouth, for non-payment of taxes. It is the same old dispute as to whether Pest island is in Newcastle or Portsmouth.

The members of the First Congregational society of Newington tendered their pastor a donation on Tuesday evening of this week in the town hall. A large number were present, and liberal donations of goods and money were made.

There were quite numerous arrivals of fishing vessels on Wednesday, the 3d inst., but with light fares. The vessels were considerably iced up.

The schooner J. H. Wainwright arrived on the 3d inst. with coal to O. F. Philbrick & Co., having been since the 7th of January making the trip from New York to this port. She got aground somewhere in Long Island sound, and it cost her $250 to get pulled afloat again. But she was luckier than the Setegawa, which left New York about the same time for an eastern port, and has not since been heard from.

The Newmarket depot was broken into on the night of the 1st inst., and a quantity of tickets and $5 in cash taken. The burglar afterward broke into the school house at Newmarket Junction, and was there captured on the morning of the 2d by the police. His name is Edward Moriarty, of Rochester, and he was held in the police court in $500 bonds for the superior court. He had five bunches of skeleton keys, a dirk knife and a revolver on his person.

The diphtheria at Newmarket is increasing. Ten new cases and several deaths were reported on the 2d inst., and the schools were ordered to be closed. Miss Smith, a primary school teacher, having been taken down with the distemper, was succeeded by Miss Tuttle, who also has been taken sick. On the Durham side all the pupils are sick but three, consequently that school had to close.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Feb. 1st.

Mr. Oliver Jenness has gone into company with Solomon Williams in the blacksmith business at the village.

Mr. John Todd continues in W. M. Walker's well establised store at the village; he is popular as a salesman, and being a good horseman gives proper attention to the teams.

The Orthodox church of the 3d parish (Brixham) had a New England supper recently in the unoccupied house of James Bragdon at Cider hill; it was largely attended, and the net receipts were $23.

Mr. Joseph Gowan of Cider hill, seventy years old, who has been a deaf mute since the age of six, is quite ill.

Mr. Frank Plaisted of Cider hill on the 16th ult. shot and trapped four foxes.

Capt. Emerson's ice pond, (the old mill-pond,) upon which he has expended much money and labor, has proved a success at last. Ice has been cut thus far as follows: E. S. Marshall, 3000 cakes; Bragdon Bros., 1200; Nath'l & David Webber, Fremont Varrell, Dr. W. L. Hawkes, 500 each; George Marshall, 300.

Varrell Bro's store at the harbor has been rearranged to accomodate the post-office since Fremont Varrell's appointment as postmaster, but is as well arranged and convenient as ever. VIATOR.

YORK CORNER, ME., Feb. 2d.

Rumor says that S. W. Junkins, Esq., is to shortly commence the building of a moderate sized hotel on the lot of land near the Corner formerly occupied by S. E. Grant, now of the Limerick house in Limerick. This we trust will add to the business of the locality, as well as improve the looks of the place.

Sweeping assertions are sometimes subject to criticism. The report of a correspondent about a post-office at the villag and the appointment of Capt. Edward Baker as postmaster there, is not true. The probabilities however look in that direction -- but it is not best to count chickens, and tell how many there are, before they are hatched.

L. V. Newell of Portsmouth, photographer, at the request of the writer came here last Saturday and took splendid views in several localities. The trees and everything else were dressed in their prettiest white garb.

A Miss Little of Massachusetts, an artist of some repute, is stopping at the Sea Cottage and doing some fine painting of scenery. There are hints that Miss Little may become a permanent resident of York, induced thereto by a young gentleman named Mitchell. P.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Feb. 2d.

The "ice storm" broke many trees in North Kittery and vicinity, and the damage done is great; it will take years of careful nursing to bring them back to their former beauty and comeliness. The view from pulpit hill, looking west, with the setting sun shining on the ice-bound trees and bushes, was magnificent late Monday afternoon.

"Let those who dance pay the fiddler," is what a rival grocery peddler says of the Globe Grocery company's entertainment last week; yet we notice he had "cheek" enough to be present in the hall through the evening.

We regret the departure from our midst of one of our most honored townsmen, Calvin L. Hayes, Esq., who leaves town Wednesday morning, the 3d inst., with his family, for Chicago via Buffalo, where he will make his residence for a season. But never mind, Cal., if democracy are now at the helm and making the woods and valleys ring with the cry of "reform;" stick to the G. O. P.; the chickens will all come home to roost in '88.

William A. Fernald, worthy chief templar of Morrill Lodge of Good Templars at North Kittery, gave a sociable at at his house Monday evening last, to the members of that lodge. It was a very pleasant social gathering, and enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served.

Mr. S. Robert Amee and wife, of North Kittery, start this week for Portland for a short visit. It being fine weather and good sleighing our friend Bob will improve it and ride the distance in his new cutter behind his black filly.

The "Kettledrum" complimentary to the patrons of the Globe Grocery Co. of Kittery, given in Trefethen hall on Fri day evening last, was a highly successful affair. The hall was packed, there were over six hundred invitations issued, each admitting a gentleman and lady, but of course all were not there. Everything on the programme was faithfully carried out. The "mystery," which proved to be a silver cake-basket, was drawn by Mrs. Corson of the village. Excellent ice cream and cake were served free to all, in the upper hall. SUB ROSA.

Read what the people say concerning the ability of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to cure asthma, catarrh, croup, colds, etc. Mrs. Dora Koch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is decidedly efficacious." [Mrs. Jacob Mellinger of Marion, Ohio, says the same thing.] S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for this medicine and pay $5 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful relieved me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y., Thomas' Eclectric Oil is also a Tried Tor external application for rheumatism, cuts, scalds, burns, bites, bruises, etc. When visiting the druggist, ask him what he knows of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; if he has been long in the drug trade, he sure he will speak highly of it.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing Itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors, of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Havana, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of Itching, Scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specdily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

sometimes a horse is added. Before her love affair with the Marquis of Stufa, Ouida held regular Friday receptions during the fashionable seasons, which were much frequented by Americans and English, with a sprinkling of French, Italian, and other foreigners, who were attracted by her literary fame. At these receptions she usually wore black velvet, and the refreshments were very simple—tea, coffee, wine, and cake, also cigarettes; but Ouida never smokes nor drinks wine. Her conversation is lively and interesting, and she expresses her opinions without reserve both in society and in her books.

I did not expect to hear from Ouida so true a description of woman's greatest charm as the following: "The greatest charm that woman wields over man is the charm of divinity—the charm of sex; and half this charm has flown when Christina of Sweden wears her Hessian boots and smacks her whip; when her imitators of to-day enter a salon with weeds in their mouths and swing through the stable yard, talking in a loud, rough voice of dogs with a good strain." Ouida has given a picture of an ideal life as an existence of mingled poetry and passion, blending every refinement of mind and sense, a life of love so precious, such as the fondest fancy, the wildest dream of earliest days of the softest romance never expected to win. The name of Ouida is an infantile corruption of her baptismal name, Louise, just as Box was of Charles the first name of Dickens. She began her literary career by writing short stories for the English magazines, and was glad to get £1 a page for them. Her first novel, "Held in Bondage," attracted the attention of Mr. J. B. Lippincott, who was struck by its vigorous style and strong characterization and republished the book. The name was not a good one, the public mistook it for a work on slavery, and only 800 copies were sold. Mr. Lippincott, however, had faith in Ouida as a strong writer, although he did not know at that time whether she was a man or woman, and when her next novel appeared he published it and it proved to be a great success, upon the strength of which he brought out a new edition of "Held in Bondage," under the better title of "Granville de Vigne." This was the beginning of Ouida's success as a novelist. Her English publishers give her $7,000 for every book she writes.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle tells the following: "Mr. Blackhall, of Raleigh, a famous hotel-keeper, was, on Senator Ransom's recommendation, appointed an internal-revenue official. He is a temperance man, but no bigot. One day recently, jogging along the road, he espied the smoke of a illicit still. Advancing toward the moonshiner with the air of Chesterfield, he said: 'My friend, I have been appointed by President Cleveland to look after you fellows, and he authorized me to tell you to go further back in the woods and not to distill bug-juice so near the highway.' The moonshiner took the hint, and the doctor is regarded as a true and practical civil-service reformer. Senator Voorhees told this story to the President, who laughed at it until the tears came to his eyes, because it was the latest North Carolina version of his pet bobby."

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unburned?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each, representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on celivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire participation should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

The last batch of securities of the defunct Townsend savings bank, which has been in litigation since 1873, were disposed of at New Haven, Conn., Feb. 1st, by auction. Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially, in the November (1885) number of his paper: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly." Not a liquid nor a snuff. A woman and several small children, who had neither stove to keep them warm, nor bed to sleep on, and nothing in the house to eat, were discovered in Boscawen on the 1st inst. Their stove had been taken from them recently by a creditor, since which time they had been without fire. Their immediate wants were supplied, and they will be sent to Fall River, Mass., where the woman claims to have friends.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a positive cure, but a sure preventive if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

The Paris, Me., Manufacturing company in 1885 did $20,000 more work than in any previous year. The company paid $39,000 for labor, and used 700,000 feet of lumber. During the year $10,000 of new stock has been taken, and it is expected that at least 1,000,000 feet of lumber will be used the coming year through the enlargement of their business.

Dr. J. Wobring, of Newark, Ohio, says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in comparison with the plain oil and acid emulsions and find it to agree much better with the stomach, and give better results in the diseases in which Cod Liver Oil is useful."

Billy Wilson's Goat.

"I never see a goat," remarked Col. Fred Martin, of the Brooklyn elevated, the other day, "but I am reminded of a beautiful animal once owned by Billy Wilson, of Billy Wilson's zouaves. I can't truthfully assert that Billy owned the goat; he didn't; it belonged to the regiment; but as Billy owned the regiment it's pretty much the same thing. The goat was a joy forever, and his peculiar talents were largely enhanced by the disinterested efforts of his numerous friends in Billy Wilson's command.

"I made his acquaintance while campaigning along the northern gulf shore. Billy's crowd was penned up as garrison in Fort Pickens, and the rebs held all the Florida coast, so that the butternut gunners at Fort Barrancas used to amuse themselves plumping shells into the sand-heap on which Pickens stood. Santa Rosa island's is its name—a real pretty name for a horrible locality. About the only thing those shells accomplished besides keeping the hands of the gunners in was to spoil the parade ground. Every time one exploded it would blow out a hole big enough to hide four cows in, and this just worried Gen. Israel Vogdez, who was commandant there, until he couldn't stand it any longer, and he set Billy's men to work with shovels filling up the holes, and as there was a fresh crop every day Billy's men got pretty tired. They weren't fond of work, anyway. You see, about five hundred of them had died or been killed off before they struck Pickens, but those left were game chickens, and didn't take kindly to shoveling.

"It was hot on Santa Rosa—just the place for Billy's men to get acclimated in. Vogdez was the best-read man in the army and he didn't take kindly to the boys' social ways, and he took pains, with the assistance of the rebel gunners, to keep down their exuberant spirits. One day, when a gang of 'em were toying with a sand pit and filling it at the rate of one shovelful in two hours, the general rushes out from his casemate, hauls the lazy detachment up in line, and goes for them baldheaded. He wasn't more a five feet tall, Israel wasn't, but as he was as thick and as wide, he made up for it. Standing on the edge of the crater, in a costume that was mostly trousers, he lectured, stooping lower with every point laid down.

"As it was, he made a lovely target, and that cussed goat, who was loafing in the parade, got on to the range, and all of a sudden, after many skips, jerks, and prances, he let himself off and hit the general like a 15-inch round shot, piling him head first into the hole.

"It was an awful moment for Billy's men. There's a time to laugh, the scripture says, and Billy's men thought it was then, but they didn't dare grasp the opportunity, and they feared for the goat, whom they loved. Vogdez was awful mad. He made Billy promise to have the goat massacred, and Billy gave the order, but it was never executed.

"It wasn't long after that when the enemy were swept from the Florida shore. Then Billy's men and the goat went to Pensacola, where they had a royal time on the fat of the land and whisky until Butler sent Neal Dow to watch over 'em. He stopped the fun and the grog and set them to hunting pianos for government purposes. Letters used to pour into headquarters at New Orleans, and the tears more'n dripped from them, all from the gallant zouaves praying to be sent to perdition or anywhere away from Dow.

"By and by they did escape and came marching home again. I was in New York when they tramped up Broadway, and there, at the head of the column, pranced Billy Wilson's goat, for all the world like a spring beer sign, cavorting and winking at the crowd, not a whit the worse for having butted his commanding officer into a sand-pit."—*N. His Wife's Queer Little Laugh.

A Lewiston (Me.) business-man's wife has been away on a visit to the old home in another city, says the Journal. He has lived during her absence ostensibly at home, but really has been living on porterhouse steaks at the hotel, and had just been elected president of a new whist club, in which he had a young, red-cheeked girl for a partner; and while, of course, he deeply regretted the enforced absence of his own dear wife, he was managing to get along without pining away rapidly. The other night he and his roseate partner had just swept the board. They had had a thirteen-trick hand, and the rest of the table was nowhere.

The Lewiston man went home at 10:30. Things looked just the same. He composed himself to write his customary letter, beginning: "It is now 8:30 o'clock. I have just come in from my work on the books. I am awfully tired, dear, and miss you so much. I don't want to hurry you home, and I want you to stay as long as you feel like it, this time, for I shall not want to let you leave me again," etc., etc.

He finished the letter, and stamped and directed it, and then took a look at the starlit evening, and thinking he would finish his cigar (he never used to smoke in the house), walked out to the corner. When he got back he heard a rustle in the dining-room and looked in. The light had been moved. There was a head bending over the light. His wife's smiling face looked up out of the radiance beneath the shade and greeted him. She was reading the letter. His heart drooped down his trousers leg. He felt like death. "I'm reading a charming letter from you," said she. "So kind of you! It sounds like those you used to write before we were married." The lady read it through, and then read it aloud.

"If she'd only a'got mad, I'd been all right," said the Lewiston man Tuesday, "but she didn't; she laughed. Every time I my yarns twisted her up and she

A Wise Reform.

The habit of administering quinine in powerful doses, as an anti dote to malarial maladies, was once dangerously common. Happily this practice has undergone a wide reform. Not only the public, but professional men have adopted, not wholly, of course, but largely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe botanic substitute for the pernicious alkaloid. The consequences of this change are most important. Now fever and ague sufferers are cured—formerly their complaints were only for the time relieved, or half cured—the remedy eventually failing to produce any appreciable effect, except the doses are increased. A course of the Bitters, persistently followed, breaks up the worst attacks and prevents their return. The evidence in favor of this sterling specific and household medicine is of no ambiguous character, but positive and satisfactory, and the sources whence it proceeds are very numerous.

SPROAT'S SYRUP OF TAR CO.—Gentlemen: I have used your SPROAT'S SYRUP OF TAR AND WILD CHERRY as a cough Remedy in my own family, and have seen its beneficial results among my neighbors and friends. I consider it a wonderful medicine for Coughs, Colds, Bronchial Troubles, Soreness of the Chest, Pains in the Lungs, &c. as I have never known it to fail in effecting a cure.

Very sincerely yours, GEORGE F. PRATT.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being [illegible] tional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The "earthquake" at Bridgeport, Conn., and from there along the sound coast to New York, on the morning of Feb. 3d, was caused by the blowing up of the magazine at shaft No. 22 of the new New York aqueduct. The jar was so heavy in Connecticut that the wooden nutmegs rattled in jars on the closet shelves.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chautauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

A Tough Job.

Discussing the new yacht Atlantic, now building in New York, and her chances in a tussle with other flyers en case and in posse, one of her sponsors is reported as saying: "We care very little about the new sloop now building at Boston, Mass., and still less about the British cutter Galatea, but we do realize that to beat the Puritan with the Atlantic is a difficult task, and one that will tax our skill in the building and sailing of yachts. Oh, yes," continued the yachtsman, "I know that the new sloop is longer than the Puritan, and also that in naval design, the feature of length is power, or potential speed; but when the element of the centreboard is introduced into the problem that old maxim needs some modification, I think, and I doubt whether a Puritan model made five feet longer than she is will sail as fast as she does, excepting, of course, when running 'down the wind.' It is very possible that the quidnuncs may find out, when General Paine's new sloop and the Puritan are sailed together in competition, just how much of a 'scratch' was the production last year of such a craft as the Puritan."

Major Abbot Resigns.

The officers of the First regiment New Hampshire National Guards assembled at their headquarters in Manchester on the evening of the 3d inst., and considered the resignation of Major J. S. Abbott of Dover. The same was regretfully accepted, and Captain P. A. Devine, commanding the Sheridan Guards of Manchester, was promoted by being elected to fill the vacancy, this action leaving the Sheridans without a captain. As a testimonial of esteem to Major Abbott his associate officers presented him with an elegant silver service of six pieces, and an album containing the names of the twenty-eight officers of the regiment enrolled within the same. Col. John B. Ball of Manchester commanding the regiment, did the honors handsomely in presenting the testimonial to the retiring major, and the latter made a feeling response. Subsequently the entire party, together with several ex-officers of the regiment, including Rev. Henry Powers, who was its chaplain for seven years, and Dr. Henry Newell, repaired to Hotel Windsor by invitation of Colonel Hall, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of.

Marine Disaster.

In New York harbor, Feb. 3d, the tugboat Blanche Kate, while towing a railroad float up the North river, ran into a rowboat attached to the Austrian corvette Donau, lying off the foot of West Twenty-sixth street. The rowboat was under the command of Midshipman Karsch, and contained eleven men. The midshipman and four of the sailors are missing. The river police arrested Captain Hubert of the Blanche Kate.

Molasses Adulteration.

The New England Grocer says it will be a matter of surprise to most readers to learn that the manufacture of what is known among wholesale grocers as "mixed" molasses is very large. This adulteration is composed largely of glucose, acids and other very deleterious substances, sometimes to the extent of seventy-five per cent, and is always sold to the consumer as pure molasses. Although this compound cocks well, the sweetening properties are very much reduced, and the consumer pays dearly in money and health for an article that is apparently cheap and deshable. The wholesome diet of childhood, "bread and molasses," seems now to be a dose fraught with harmful properties. The sale of this doctored material is very large; and even in Maine, where the law is very stringent against it, some say that three-quarters of the molasses sold is "mixed." Legal measures have been instituted in some states to have existing laws against molasses adulteration enforced; but the consumer can do much to bring about a beneficial result by demanding of his grocer pure molasses. First class grocers (of course do not deal in this "mixed" stuff; but most if not all of the "extra cheap" molasses is manufactured.

"The Royal Baker and Pastry Cook." A royal addition to the kitchen library. It contains over seven hundred receipts pertaining to every branch of the culinary department, including baking, roasting, preserving, soups, cakes, jellies, pastry, and all kinds of sweetmeats, with receipts for the most delicate candies, cordials, beverage, and all other necessary knowledge for the chef de cuisine of the most exacting epicure, as well as for the modest house, who desires to prepare a repast that shall be both wholesome and economical. With each receipt is given full and explicit directions for putting together, manipulating, shaping, baking, the kind of utensils to be used, so that a novice can go through the operation with success; while a special and important feature is made of the mode of preparing all kinds of food and delicacies for the sick. The book has been prepared under the direction of Prof. Rudmani, late chef of the New York Cooking School, and is the most valuable of the recent editions upon the subject of cookery that has come to our notice. It is gotten up in the highest style of the printer's art in illuminated covers, etc. A copy will be sent as a gift to every reader of this paper who will send their address to the Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, New York, who are the publishers of the book, stating that they saw the notice in this paper.

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

THE NORTHWESTERN PUZZLE.

Some time ago we published in our advertising columns a puzzle issued by the Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., of which C. W. Tracy of this city is general agent. The puzzle consisted of forty-one letters arranged in diamond shape, so that from top to bottom, or from left to right, the longest lines made the word "Strongest;" and the query was, how many times could the word "Strongest" be made of the letters as arranged, starting from any point and reading in any direction, but neither skipping any letter nor using any letter twice in one word. Four persons only gave the correct answer—seven hundred and twenty. A large number of incorrect answers were received, the number of ways in which it was stated that the word could be made out running from seven, the lowest, to nine hundred and twelve, the highest.

THE S. O. V. BALL.

The second annual ball of Henry L. Richards Camp, No. 12, Sons of Veterans, of this city, will be held in the Casino on Wednesday evening, Feb. 17th. The members of the camp intend to make this the best affair of the kind given in this city for this season and have procured the services of Eastman's orchestra, of Manchester, one of the best in New England, with new music for this special occasion. Between five and six hundred invitations have been sent out; it is expected that every camp in New England will be represented, and that the attendance that evening will be the largest seen in the Casino since its opening. The camp during the last year has been largely increased, and numbers in its membership some of the best young men of the city. The Casino will be decorated with flags, evergreens, flowers, pictures, etc., and two ante-rooms will be partitioned off for the occasion. As the committee on invitations have been very careful as to whom their missives were sent, there can be no doubt that the ball, like the assemblies under the management of the camp, will be conducted in the best and most orderly manner. There will be a concert by the orchestra from 7:30 to 8:45, which should not be missed; grand march at nine o'clock. Floor tickets are one dollar each, admitting a gentleman and ladies, and can be obtained of any member of the camp. Reserved seats thirty cents each, to be on sale at Goodrich's bookstore at nine o'clock A. M. on the 11th inst.; admission twenty-five cents.

A petition asking the Concord railroad management to station a flagman or erect gates at the grade crossing at the Creek, was being circulated for signatures on Thursday.

The ball in the south wardroom on the evening of the 3d inst., under the management of Mr. James T. Adams, was very largely attended, there being quite as many dancers as the floor could accommodate. Dancing was kept up until between two and three o'clock next morning.

William Cogan, twenty-two years old, was quite badly hurt at one of the breweries on the 3d inst. He was hoisting a barrel of beer when the crank slipped from his hand, and revolving, struck him heavily in the face. His nose was broken and his face badly bruised.

The free delivery system of letters will probably be inaugurated at the Portsmouth post-office in the near future. A bill is before Congress giving cities of 10,000 inhabitants a free delivery system, and it will undoubtedly become a law.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., BOSTON.

Wednesday, Feb. 3d, was the 20th anniversary of the opening of the store at the corner of Hanover and Bridge streets by John W. Stott, who with his father, Mr. George Stott, has remained there continuously ever since. When Mr. Stott took the place it was a point of but little importance in a business view, but a trade of considerable note has in the meantime grown up there; at the time he went into business he had just been honorably discharged from the United States navy, in which he had served as an assistant engineer, participating in eight naval engagements on the southern Atlantic coast. He was knocked overboard in a collision in Wynshaw bay, on the coast of North Carolina, receiving injuries in consequence of which he was invalided, and from the effects of which he has occasionally been laid up since.

Jenny Lind has been importuned by friends and admirers to appear once more in public. Her voice is said to have lost none of its sweetness. She has consented to reappear at a concert in London.

La Follette & La Follette is the name of a law firm at Madison, Wis. One member is the youngest representative in congress, and the other is his girlish-appearing wife. They are both graduates of the Wisconsin State university.

—"Oh! what a pretty mink cloak you have, Mrs. Dumley," said Mrs. Doolittle. "I'm glad you like it, dear." "Yes, indeed, I do. I believe I'll get one to do my marketing and such running about in, and keep my sealskin for social visits."

—"Mamma, what is that?" "That, my son, is the picture of a vampire." "What is a vampire?" "A vampire is a big bat." "Oh, yes; that's what you said papa had gone on the other night. Why didn't you say vampire?"

—Anglomaniacs now seek to give the true flavour and colour to their style by spelling such words with the unnecessary u. It is an error which no editour favours. An English tailour in New York is believed to be the authour of it.

—Johnny (just after Sunday school)—"Say, Jack, what is a sockdolager?" Jack — "Why, don't you know? It's what they sing in church when they get ready to go home. The minister gets up and says: 'Let us now sing the sockdolager.'"

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This research daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and nutritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seven-and-a-half years; was almost a mark except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

laughed until it made me sick. I never got such a roast, and the worst of it is I've lost all of my reputation for veracity. If I say I am going to the lodge, she lets out one of them laughs and I stay at home. If I say I have been making up a trial balance at the office and it kept me late she draws that laugh on me and I wilt. It's terrible. I feel meaner every day. If it keeps on, I'll have to fix it up with a sealskin cloak. It's my last resort, but if this thing keeps on and worst comes to worst, I'll have to stop taking degrees and ante on the sealskin."

An Arab Horse Trade.

An Arab who wishes to sell a horse will never consent to be the first to name a price. Someone comes up and says: "Sell, thou wilt gain."

The vender replies: "Buy, thou wilt gain."

"Speak thou first."

"No, speak thou."

"Was he purchased or reared?"

"Reared in my tent, like one of my own children."

"What hast thou been offered for him?"

"I have been offered 100 douros."

"Sell him to me at that price—thou wilt gain. Tell me, then, what thou asked."

"See what is written with Allah."

"Come, let us drive away the previous bidder, and do thou take 10 douros over and above his offer?"

"I accept. Take thy horse, and Allah grant thou mayst be successful upon his back as many times as he has hairs upon it."

Should the seller be desirous to avoid all risk of future annoyance on the subject of warranty, he adds, in the presence of witnesses:

Stream tin, as it is called, is found as a dark colored, almost black, stone, showing an analysis from 76 to 90 per cent of oxide of tin, combined with iron, manganese, silica, alumina, and certain acids. The specific gravity is about 6,600.

Bank President—You say you are unable to made the books balance? Cashier—Yes, sir. There is a shortage of $20,000. President—H'm, I think it will be well to call in an expert accountant. Cashier—That won't be necessary, sir. To strike a balance you have only to call in my bondsmen.—N. Y. Sun.

Deacon Bucrag had been invited to address the Sunday-school, and, as he was a poor talker, plunged at once into the story of Jonah and the whale. "Now, dear children," he concluded, "is not that a nice story?" "Yes, sir," replied one of the smallest of the dear children, "it's a nice story, but it's a chestnut."—N. Y. Times.

"Remember, Mr. Crimsonbeak, that there are older ones than you at the table," said Mrs. Shavepenny, in reply to a remark the gentleman at the head of the table made. "I am painfully well aware of the fact, ma'am," was Crimsonbeak's only reply, as he shut his teeth and made another attempt to saw the bird.—Yonkers Statesman.

An Ulster County (New York) young woman sued a young man for kissing her 100 times against her will, and lost her case. The court probably thought that a young woman who could keep such an accurate tally of the kisses given and not could have arrested proceedings before 100 were given if she had been very anxious to do so.

OAK HILL FARM. JAMES E. YEATON

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and undriven?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

WHISKEY REVOLUTIONIZED.

A Great Discovery.

[From the New York Times.]

What bids fair to revolutionize the liquor business in this country is a recent claim of a Baltimore concern, to have discovered a secret process of eliminating fusel oil from whiskey. There is probably nothing in the last century that has been the source of more investigation and experiment, among scientists and chemists, than the search after this secret, and if the firm in Baltimore possesses it—as they evidently do, judging from the statements of our most eminent men of science, and the fact that they openly submit their product to the analysis of any intelligent chemist, and challenge the finding of any trace of fusel oil or other poisonous ingredients, therein—they will indeed, not only revolutionize this trade, but will reform, in a great measure, the practice of medicine. Already, owing to the alacrity with which physicians take hold of it, it has begun to be the recognized stimulant in the treatment of diseases, such as consumption, dyspepsia, malaria and recovery from all wasting maladies. It is likely, therefore, not only to supercede all other whiskies, but brandies, wines and the like, will have to succumb. The only difference between these latter and whiskey being the percentage of alcohol they contain, this new whiskey, which is said to be absolutely free from fusel oil, will only have to be diluted, in order to make it correspond in strength with any desired stimulant. The absence in it, of this active poison fusel oil, will also make it the only stimulant, not followed by after effects, most undesirable in their character and so notable in the use of all other stimulants. The proprietors are distilling their new whiskey from malt, and combining, as it does a food and stimulant quality, it will no doubt have a tendency on account of its medicinal virtues, to wean over many of the present devotees of rye, corn and other decoctions, in which the fatal fusel oil is ever present. This whiskey is said to be very agreeable to the taste, and has become very popular with invalids and others, to whom most stimulants are objectionable.

IT WAS NOT DEAR JAMES.

I have a friend, writes a correspondent of the New York Sun, who is a commercial traveller, and on his return from a trip he always comes to see me and enlivens my existence by a recount of his experience on the road.

"Well, Charley, anything new?" said I, as Charley tilted my best chair against the freshly-papered wall and puffed vigorously at one of my stogas.

"Not much," said he. "I'm sick of the road. Too much of a dog's life. I'm going to quit and settle down."

I expected this. Charley had been going to do it during the four years I have known him; but he never quits, and, in common with many more drummers, will shake the hand of many a hotel clerk yet before he finally settles down. "What's the matter; trade dull?" I asked, as Charley mechanically looked around for the bell button. "You're not in a hotel, my dear fellow," and I drew forth a bottle and glasses from the cupboard.

"Well, here's luck," said Charley, as he held his glass to the light. "No, trade's pretty fair, but it isn't as it used to be. Why, when I first went on the road there was some fun in it. I only carried one trunk and I could generally get the trade to look at my samples. Now I carry three, and it is the hardest kind of work to get a man into a sample-room. You don't know Billy Jackson, do you? Travels for a Chicago house. Always registers with a tooth-pick."

I replied that I hadn't that pleasure.

"Pleasure! Humph! It would afford me most unbounded pleasure to get even with him for a little trick he played on me the other day over in Illinois."

"I was going to Effingham on the Vandalia. I got on at Casey, and the first fellow I saw was Billy. 'You're just the fellow I was looking for,' said he. 'There's a pretty girl in the front car, and I think you can get acquainted if you work the thing right. I've tried it myself, but I don't seem to catch on.'

"I've got quite a reputation among the boys in this direction, so I easily swallowed all Billy said and followed him into the smoker. I thought it mighty strange that a girl should be in the smoker; but there she was, sure enough, and you can bet she was a daisy. She was seated by herself when I entered, near two gentlemen. I thought they eyed me rather more than was necessary. However, I didn't say a word, but quietly seated myself opposite the dame and commenced tactics.

"After I had looked at her once or twice she began to smile. 'Great Scott,' said I to myself, 'this is easier than I thought for.' So I smiled back. This was all the girl wanted. She began to move nearer to me. Then she nodded her head and smiled several times. In all my experience I never had a girl act that way toward me in so short a time, and I saw there was something wrong, although for the life of me I couldn't imagine what it was. I wasn't going to back out, however, so I smiled at her again, and this time she came over and sat down beside me. Then she called me her dear James, and threw her arms around my neck.

"At this juncture one of the gentlemen I had noticed came up and explained. He was one of the keepers in an asylum along the road somewhere, and was in charge of the girl, who had gone crazy over a love affair. She imagined every fellow who took any notice of her to be her dear James.

"This was all I wanted to know and I started for the door, but it wasn't any use. The girl hung on and got more excited every minute.

"In the meantime one or two of the boys had gone through the train, and when they came back they brought with them quite a number of interested spectators. The keeper advised me to humor her, and I did. I humored her all I could. Every time I tried to get away she would get violent, and I didn't like to make her more than I could help as I saw I was making my audience uncomfortable. Such remarks as 'Juliet has found her Romeo' and the like were frequently passed around, and I was beginning to think it would be a great relief to meet a train going the other way on the same track when we drew up at Effingham.

"Then I made a break and got off the train. The last thing I heard as the train moved out was: 'Come back to me, dear James!' I haven't heard much else since. Where was Billy? O, he got off at Teutopolis."

An Anecdote of George Washington.

There is a story told of George Washington's boyhood—unfortunately there are not many stories—which is to the point. His father had taken a great deal of pride in his blooded horses, and his mother afterward took great pains to keep the stock pure. She had several young horses that had not yet been broken, and one of them in particular, a sorrel, was extremely spirited. No one had been able to do anything with it, and it was pronounced thoroughly vicious, as people are apt to pronounce horses which they have not yet learned to master. George was determined to ride this colt, and told his companions that if they would help him catch it, he would ride and tame it.

Early in the morning they set out for the pasture, where the boys managed to surround the sorrel and then to put a bit into its mouth. Washington sprang on its back, the boys dropped the bridle, and away flew the angry animal. Its rider at once began to command; the horse resisted, backing about the field, rearing and plunging. The boys became thoroughly alarmed, but Washington kept his seat, never once losing his self-control or his mastery of the colt. The struggle was a sharp one; when suddenly, as if determined to rid itself of its rider, the creature leaped into the air with a tremendous bound. It was

"What wound did ever heal but by degrees?" That's an easy conundrum! Why the thousand aches and pains, and bruises daily cured by Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain.

A heavy shock of earthquake was felt at Machias, Me., and vicinity, early in the morning on the 4th inst.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates, and strengthens the system.

The Mexican officer whose troops killed Captain Crawford of the United States army recently, has reported that he thought the United States troops were allies of the Indians, and in Mexico without legal right.

A Bed-Ridden Dyspeptic Cured.

G. F. Haight, of Westfield, Chautauqua county, N. Y., writes May 7th, 1885: "Six years ago I was dying of dyspepsia. My stomach and digestive organs were in a horrible state. I feared consumption of the bowels, which were dreadfully constipated. I was bed-ridden for many months; finally bought six boxes Brandreth's Pills. When I had finished taking them I was a well man. Took five the first night; ran down to one Pill, then up again to five, alternately."

In a Quandary.

The president seems to find himself in an embarrassed condition by reason of the telephone scandal which attaches to his administration. While the democratic journals are rapidly going on the record in demanding the resignation of Mr. Garland, the president sees that the resignation of his cabinet adviser while under fire is a bad admission. Mr. Garland is reckoned as a good man who has fallen among thieves, and did not see the drift of his participation in the grand democratic scheme from which it was hoped they would pan out millions. He now repents his blunder, but insists upon his honesty. The disastrous part of the blunder is that it early disposes of all chances of a re-nomination of Cleveland, and this move is the incentive of many a virtuous democrat outside the pool at this juncture.

The Boycott in Galveston.

A despatch of the 4th from Galveston, Texas, says: "The committees from the Knights of Labor continued their visits among the business houses to-day, requesting the withdrawal of their patronage from the Mallory line of steamers. They received, however, no more encouragement than they did from the wholesale houses yesterday. It is stated that the business men of the city have united in a pledge to support the Mallory line."

The Capital Fire Ins. Co.

A meeting of the subscribers to the capital stock of the Capital Fire Ins. Co. was held in Nashua on the afternoon of the 3d inst. Hon. S. D. Chandler presided, and C. V. Dearborn was secretary. A committee was appointed to nominate a board of directors, and reported the following, who were elected:

Seth D. Chandler, C. V. Dearborn, John A. Spalding, O. C. Moore, F. A. McKean, R. A. Maxfield, E. P. Brown, John H. Goodale, G. A. Wason, N. S. Whitmon, John C. Lund, M. R. Boxton, A. H. Dunlap, A. N. Shepherd, A. H. Williams, of Nashua; Frank Jones of Portsmouth; C. H. Sawyer, Dover; E. H. Rollins, Concord; Dexter Richards, Newport; W. D. Knapp, Great Falls; Walter M. Parker, Manchester; Charles Scott, Peterboro'; F. H. Rollins, Plymouth; J. B. Smith, Hillsboro'; Kimball Webster, Hudson.

It was voted that the subscriptions be called to be paid in on or before the 13th inst; also voted to instruct the secretary pro tem. to notify the directors of their election, and also of a meeting to be held in Historical hall on Monday, the 8th inst., at two o'clock P. M.

Strike at Lewiston.

The Bates mill at Lewiston, Me., has shut down in consequence of a strike of the loom-fixers, forty in number. The agent, Mr. Pratt, who was recently boycotted by the Knights of Labor, and shortly unboycotted, says the machinery is being cleaned up for a long stop. The trouble arose from the employment of a new man as loom-fixer. Mr. Pratt alleges that a loom-fixer did not keep the work up, and he put on an assistant; this was resented, and the fixer quit work on Wednesday, the 3d. On Thursday a committee waited on the agent, who offered, if on investigation his statement proved incorrect, to reinstate the man on Monday, the 8th. This was not satisfactory, and all the fixers left the mill. The fixers allege that the new man was imported with the purpose to undermine them, and that it has been the policy of the agent to work against the interest of the Knights of Labor. The operatives who left the mill have gone to their homes, and there is no excitement.

Mr. Garland Invited Out.

The Dover Democrat, in an article on the Pan-Electric telephone scandal, among other sharp things says:

"So now, here we have the attorney-general with his half million dollars" worth on paper of the Pan-Electric stock—given him for 'influence,' and so far as appears, nearly worthless—now engaged in an effort to annul the patent of an opposition concern, which, if successful, would so increase the value of the Pan-Electric as to put millions of dollars into his pockets. We submit that this is too much of a good thing for the democratic attorney-general of a 'Democratic Reform' administration to be engaged in. This is too much 'reform' for the first year of a democratic administration. Brother Garland should rise and ask to go out. And we notice that the Boston Post has screwed up its courage to say so too."

"As the Old Cock Crows," etc.

For months the papers have been filled with reports of strikes and rumors of strikes, and the submission of "final propositions" to workmen or employers; but the men are no longer to have all the fun. At one of the schools in Danvers, Mass., Feb. 4th, the boys employed recess in drawing up a petition, stating their intention of studying only a certain number of days in the week. It was also voted to have nothing to do with books outside of certain hours. The ultimatum was presented by a committee of one to the astonished head master of the school, who read it, dropped his spectacles, and with his hair standing straight up seized the boy by the ear and led him back to his seat. The incipient strike was nipped in the bud; but boycotting is talked of.

The Lime Manufacturers Strike.

The Belfast, Me., Age says it is stated that at a private meeting of the lime manufacturers of Rockland, Thomaston and Camden, on the evening of Jan. 29th, it was decided to close all kilns and quarries, also the shipyards, and suspend the lime manufacture for an indefinite period. It is intimated that this action has been caused by the recent action of the Knights of Labor.

—There is a policeman named Moon at Athens, Ga. Quite appropriately he is on the night force; and like the other one it is about half the time invisible.

—"Jim," said a real estate agent to one of his drivers, "here, we have ten of real two hundred pounds sterling. It is for a poor, deserving widow, and as she will have to carry all of it up two flights of stairs I don't want to overtax her strength."

—"Why didn't you assassinate him?" "Assassinate him?" repeated the colored, with intense disgust; "sass, he is not a gentleman, sir. You don't suppose I would lower myself by assassinating a ruffian, do you?"

—Letter from one of the Chase county (Kan.) Leader, having received a notice from a subscriber saying: "Stop my paper, and here are my money in full and I will pay it," and enclosed $1.50 in stamps, saying that he could not afford to pay and receive it for less.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEELE, Salem, Mass.

FISHING EXTRAORDINARY.

The smelt fishery on Great bay has been a very uncertain quantity this winter—even more so than in previous seasons; but on Thursday last two remarkable catches were made by Mr. John S. Mills and Mr. Joseph T. Roberts, both of Christian Shore. Mr. Mills found 'em bite lively, and at the end of the day his fare amounted to 87 1-4 pounds of very handsome, large smelts—far the best take of the season, so far. Mr. Roberts did not catch so many; in fact, his string of fish numbered exactly one,—but that one was a leviathan among smelts, being 14 5-8 inches long, and weighing eleven ounces,—the largest and heaviest smelt we ever heard of.

Mr. Mills' luck on Thursday was quite a contrast to what he had had previously in three days fishing on the bay, on the first one of which he took one smelt—a little one at that; on the second day, three; and on the third day, two. At the rate of fishing the fisherman would have to sell his catch at about ten dollars a pound in order to make laborer's wages.

THE NEW LIFE-SAVING STATION.

A life-saving station is to be built at the mouth of our harbor, but the spot selected for the location by the superintendent is held at too high a price; it has been the custom in most places to make a free gift of the land on which to erect the buildings. Universal opinion indicates Odiorne's point as the best and most desirable site.—Journal.

That the gun, lines, racks, breeches-buoys, life-car and other apparatus for saving life from wrecks by means of rope communication established between the wreck and the shore, should be kept in a building at or near the extreme end of Odiorne's point, seems to us to need no argument. Most of the wrecks which occur in that region take place on the rocks directly off the point, or to the westward of it along the Rye coast; and there is comparatively little likelihood of the shot-line being required to save crews wrecked on the beach between the end of the point and the entrance to Little harbor. Where that apparatus is most likely to be needed is at the end of the point, or westward of it; and the transportation of the gear from Jerry's point or Frost's point, over the rough and rocky way during the darkness of night and storm, would be a long, difficult and exhausting job. With the apparatus stationed on the point it would always be handy, in whichever direction it might be required for service.

But we very much doubt if the point is the best place for a boat house, as in heavy weather the numerous outlying rocks cause such a broken, boiling, cross sea there that it would be practically impossible to get through it with a boat, even at times when one could be safely pulled out from Little harbor. The boat-house at or near Frost's point, and men's quarters and the gun apparatus at Odiorne's point, we believe would be the best possible arrangement, both for patrolling the coast and rendering any possible aid to shipwrecked seamen.

On Thursday last Marcus P. Norton filed in the office of the clerk of the United States circuit court a petition that the court hear the oral testimony of some twenty witnesses as to the new evidence he claims to have discovered in the Knibbs valve cases. This testimony is mainly that of Norton's experts in relation to the construction and working of Pioneer engine, No. 13, built at Philadelphia in 1858 by Reamie, Heafie & Co.

The hearing on Norton's motion for reopening the cases against the New Hampshire cities takes place at Boston this forenoon; should the oral testimony be admitted the hearing will probably be a long one.

The remains of the late Ebenezer Haines were brought to this city from Roxbury, Mass., on Friday, for interment.

Geo. Wm. Ballou & Co. will close their Boston office on the first of March. Mr. Foster Shores of this city, who has charge of that office, will remove to New York and remain with the house in that city.

It is supposed that Ira Hall of this city, who left here last September for Colorado, lost his life in a recent slow slide in the mountains of that state. Mr. Hall has worked off and on for Charles H. Hayes of this city for the past twenty years, and leaves a wife and child in Portsmouth.

A fair audience greeted Mr. J. S. Murphy and his company at Music hall on Thursday evening, when "Kerry Gow," the best Irish drama now running, was performed. Mr. Murphy is as pleasing as ever, and his support is good.

The masquerade ball in Franklin hall on the evening of the 4th inst. was a success so far as the variety and richness of costumes, and the amusement afforded the participants and spectators, were concerned; but it could hardly have been profitable to the managers, though there were from forty to fifty couples in the grand march, as the expenses must have been heavy. A burlesque salvation army, arrested by a burlesque police force; a mug of beer, a baby elephant, and "Helen's babies," were the leading comic features of the evening. The number of spectators was large, the galleries being filled.

Mr. Shanahan having closed the subcontract with Messrs. A. B. Trefethen and Enoch J. Connor for excavating the sewer trench on Deer street, the work is now being forwarded much more expeditiously than before.

Friday was a cold day. The temperature about the city at sunrise varied from zero to twelve below, and only rose a few degress above during the day. Twenty and thirty below were the reports from some places in New England.

The ladies of the Universalist society are organizing an entertainment for the afternoon and evening of Feb. 22d, to consist of a representation of a Japanese wedding, and a fair for the sale of foreign bric-a-brac.

Miss Lizzie May Ulmer, well known to the theatre-going world, played at Pittsburg, Pa., on the 3d inst., in "Dad's Girl," and at the close of the entertainment fainted. Upon regaining conciousness she was totally blind. Miss Ulmer has appeared in this city several times, on the last occasion taking the principal female part in "The Danites."

The Portsmouth company's cotton mills at South Berwick, Me., were started up on the 4th inst. after having been idle for a year.

John Johnson, aged twenty-five years, a barber of Biddeford, was on a drunk with another young fellow on the night of the 3d inst. He was found next morning in the outskirts of the city, so severely frozen that he died in twenty minutes after being taken to the police station.

The late Ebenezer Haines, whose remains were interred in this city on Friday, will be remembered as the first street commissioner of Portsmouth after the organization of the city government, a position he filled very acceptably for many years.

The Laconia Car company has closed a contract with the Boston & Maine railroad for the building of 350 freight cars.

Three schooners from York, namely, the Rowena, Nautilus and Gurnet, arrived at Boston on the 4th inst.

Free clam chowder at Martin Garrity's, Daniel street, this evening.

—When the postoffice department undertook to expedite letters for ten cents apiece it apparently did not take into account the utter powerlessness of ten cents to expedite the ordinary small boy.

—The vicar of Masham, England, thus concluded a sermon to his flock: "And now, friends, which shall it be—Salisbury, Churchill and heaven, or Gladstone, Chamberlain and hell?"

—Apothecaries in Germany are not allowed to sell miscellaneous articles, on the ground that such sales are likely to divert the clerk's attention from the delicate duty of compounding medicines.

—"Why didn't you come when I rang?" said a Texas lady to her domestic. "Because I didn't hear the bell." "Hereafter when you don't hear the bell you must come and tell me so." "Yes, mum."

—"I have such an indulgent husband," said little Mrs. Doll. "Yes, so George says," responded Mrs. Spiteful quietly; "sometimes he indulges too much, doesn't he?" They no longer speak to each other.

—The Duluth Herald says that it strikes the average citizen that the Indian has more land than he needs or ought to have. This fact has been striking the average citizen ever since Columbus came ashore.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This renewed daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and vitalizing, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seven-or years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounce his case hopeless; perfectly cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clear and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Two boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great number of remedies and treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all other skin preparations of the kind.

the last. The violence burst a blood-vessel, and the noble horse fell dead.

Before the boys could sufficiently recover to consider how they should extricate themselves from the scrape, they were called to breakfast; and the mistress of the house knowing that they had been in the fields, began to ask after her stock.

"Pray, young gentlemen," said she, have you seen my blooded colts in your rambles? I hope they are all well taken care of. My favorite, I am told, is as large as his sire."

The boys looked at one another, and no one liked to speak. Of course the mother repeated the question.

"The sorrel is dead, madam," said her son. "I killed him!"

And then he told the whole story. They say that his mother flushed with anger, as her son often used to, and then, like him, controlled herself, and presently said, quietly:

"It is well; but while I regret the loss of my favorite, I rejoice in my son who always speaks the truth."—St. Nicholas.

A Rare Dog.

It is very rare, says the Philadelphia Call, that a raccoon falls a victim to the hunter after cold weather has set in, for it is a hibernating animal, and stows itself away on the approach of winter. The average weight of a coon is twenty pounds, and the hunter who captures one in the height of the most favorable corn-feeding season which weigh more is looked upon as having accomplished a notable feat. James Sandys, of Hunter' Range, during the fall killed thirty-nine coons, and on Saturday surprised the community by fetching in the "boss of all coons," a mammoth fellow that weighed thirty-five pounds, the largest by eight pounds ever captured in this vicinity. Sandys hunts with an unusually active and intelligent dog. On Saturday he was out after pheasants, when this coon sprang out of a stone wall and gave the dog as lively a chase, with the thermometer at zero, as any coon ever did in September. After a run of a mile the coon ran up a large tree, the trunk of which leaned at an angle of about 45 degrees. When Sandys reached the spot he found that the dog had not only treed the coon, but had also treed himself, for he had run up the leaning trunk of the tree and reached the very top, where the coon had crept out on the extremity of a branch beyond the reach of the dog. Sandys brought the coon to the ground with a charge from his gun, but had greater difficulty in recovering his dog. The animal couldn't descend the tree trunk, and the hunter had to "chin" up and bring him down. The dog was sixty feet in the air, and the lowest branch in the tree was twenty feet from the ground. When Sandys got down to that branch, with the dog's neck grasped in one hand, he found that he couldn't descend any farther without using both hands. But the dog settled the matter by squirming loose and dropping to the ground on his feet.

The mineral matter taken from the soil by a five-pound fleece of wool is only 1.6 ounces, and 5 ounces of nitrogen. Wool production can not be exhaustive in its drains upon the land.

The two great points in heating a room are useful to be remembered: It is necessary to warm the walls and windows so that they may not abstract heat by radiation, and to provide for the entrance and dispersion of fresh air without the danger of draughts. Open fires are the best means of heating and ventilating combined which has yet been discovered.

OAK HILL FARM. JAMES R. TEATON

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranches and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation, which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built rivers and bridges, retarding no near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent Platform and Link and Pin couplers, and that exacting discipline which governs the character and operation of all its trains. Its car specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars in which are elaborately cooked meals are heavily eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, sportsmen's facilities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

The "Con" Man's Story.

"The place was full of hard cases, and I hadn't been in there three days when we formed a plot to break out. Every county jail has its weak spot. This one was strong in doors and bars and walls, but weak at the bottom. It would be no job at all to go through the floor and tunnel out.

"There were six cells in the one corridor and sixteen of us in the crib. Ten of us had, therefore, to sleep on cots outside of the cells. We took the cell furthest from the door to begin operations in. There was no watch kept on us at night, and before morning we had a fine tunnel started.

"There was a jailer, a stupid boy of 18 as turnkey, and the jailer's wife. Everything was passed in to us through a wicket, and there was no call for the jailer to come among us. It was a terribly strong place, just the same, and the only weak spot, as I have said, was the chance for a tunnel. A chap named Dodging Bill, who was in for burglary, bossed the job. He pretended to know just which way to head the tunnel, and just how far to dig to come out in the alley behind the jail, and of course none of us interfered.

"At the end of three days we were all ready to go out. The idea was, of course, to go at night, but one of the prisoners was taken very ill, and we put off the escape for another twenty-four hours. About mid-afternoon of the next day there was an alarm of fire in the town, and we saw the jailer and his assistant hurry away from the jail. As this left the wife alone, and as everybody would be at the scene of the fire, we concluded to go out then.

"Dodging Bill had dug as near the surface as he dared. He now passed on ahead to break out the way, and we followed close upon his heels—that is, three or four of us. The tunnel was short, and would not hold over three or four. The others stood ready to creep in as we crept out. I was next to Bill, and as he broke the crust and daylight streamed in, I heard a scream from a woman. Next moment there was a dash of water into the tunnel, followed by another and another, and enough came in to drown us. We had to 'shin' back, and Bill was half dead when we seized his heels and drew him out.

"What had happened? Well, the tunnel was too short by fifteen feet. Instead of coming up in the alley, Bill broke ground in the back yard, and right at the feet of the jailer's wife, who was washing. As the ground gave way she saw a hand and arm, and, being a quick-witted woman, she tumbled to the tunnel plot. There were three tubs on her bench, and she poured the contents of each one into the hole, and then ran in and brought out a boiler of hot water and swished that in for good luck. That didn't satisfy her that she had driven us back, and she puts a wooden conductor under the pump, leads the other end to the hole, and she didn't let up pumping for a straight hour. Such was the grade of the tunnel that we were ankle deep in water in the corridor before she ceased operations. It was a fine display of woman's ready wit, and although we were half starved and shackled to the cell doors for the next fortnight, none of us held any grudge against the jailer's wife."—*N. Y. General Pope's Comment on the "Headquarters in the Saddle" Story.

From "The Second Battle of Bull Run," by General Pope, in January Century, we quote the following: "A good deal of cheap wit has been expended upon a fanciful story that I published an order or wrote a letter or made a remark that my headquarters would be in the saddle.' It is an expression harmless and innocent enough, but it is even stated that it furnished General Lee with a basis for the only joke of his life. It is painful, therefore, to a well constituted mind to be obliged to take away the foundation of that solitary joke; but I think it due to army tradition, and to the comfort of those who have so often repeated this ancient joke in the days long before the civil war, that these later wits should not be allowed with impunity to poach on this well-tilled manor. This venerable joke I first heard when a cadet at West Point, and it was then told of that gallant soldier and gentleman, General W. J. Worth. I presume it could be easily traced back to the Crusades and beyond; and while it may not be as old as the everlasting hills, it is certainly old enough to have been excused from active duty long years ago. Certainly I never used this expression or wrote or dictated it, nor does any such expression occur in any order of mine; and as it has perhaps served its time and effected its purpose, it ought to be retired. Let us hope that it may be permitted to sleep in peace and no longer rack the brain of those whose intellectual machinery can ill bear the strain, or be perpetuated among their natural successors."

Prim and Napoleon.

A gentleman who calls himself "Fidus" has been writing in the Figaro, a journal de dix ans, in which he tells some old stories which do not sound very true. One of the strangest of these anecdotes relates to Marshal Prim. Prince Bismarck, says this veracious chronicler, drew Prim into the business of the Hohenzollern candidature because he knew the hatred the marshal and his wife bore to Napoleon III., who, they pretended to believe, had lost them a possible throne in Mexico. For his services in the Hohenzollern affair, Prim was to receive 10,000,000 francs from Germany. The emperor knew this, and sent a financier whom he had once obliged on a mission to Prim, who was to be offered 15,000,000 francs, or if necessary, 20,000,000 francs to go over

A Wise Reform.

The habit of administering quinine in powerful doses, as an anti lote to malarial maladies, was once dangerously common. Happily this practice has undergone a wide reform. Not only the public, but professional men have adopted, not wholly, of course, but largely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe botanic substitute for the pernicious alkaloid. The consequences of this change are most important. Now fever and ague sufferers are cured—formerly their complaints were only for the time relieved, or half cured—the remedy eventually failing to produce any appreciable effect, except the doses are increased. A course of the Bitters, persistently followed, breaks up the worst attacks and prevents their return. The evidence in favor of this sterling specific and household medicine is of no ambiguous character, but positive and satisfactory, and the sources whence it proceeds are very numerous.

About 320,000 salmon eggs have been shipped in the last few days from the Penobscot river to the Plymouth, N. H., hatching house.

"Disease is very various," was Mrs. Partington's remark as she wiped her spectacles for the 999th time that day. "Some people die of hermitage of the lungs and others of brown creatures." Disease may vary, but there is only one reliable remedy for coughs and colds and that is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

For the first time since the smallpox epidemic in Montreal the authorities report a perfectly clean bill of health.

The First Keen Twinge.

As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

City Board of Health.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The following is a summary of the vital statistics of the city of Portsmouth for the year 1885:

Total number of births reported	146
Birth rate per thousand of population	14.8
Total number of deaths	175
Death rate per thousand	17.9
Deaths of children under five years of age	35

Of fatal cases of disease a partial list is here given:

From diseases of the brain and nervous system	22	deaths.
" consumption	19	"
" pneumonia	16	"
" old age	10	"
" apoplexy	9	"
" cancer	7	"
" heart disease	7	"
" cholera infantum	7	"
" croup	5	"
" Bright's disease	5	"
" diphtheria	4	"
" cerebro-spinal meningitis	3	"
" typhoid fever	1	"
" scarlet fever	0	"
" measels	0	"
" whooping cough	0	"

The returns show that but 146 births have occurred during the past year. This is evidently far short of the true number, and indicates extreme and criminal negligence on the part of non-professional attendants upon such cases, for the law provides that any one neglecting to report a birth within six days of its occurrence shall be subject to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars. That many women have been guilty of such neglect is certain, inasmuch as in other New England cities the birth rate ranges from seventeen to twenty-five per thousand, while here it is far below the minimum. It is hoped that the returns for the present year will be much more complete.

A reference to the above table will show a remarkable immunity from fatal cases of an infectious nature. All which have occurred seemed to appear without much regard to locality or season of the year. Diphtheria, however, has formed an exception to this rule, but has not existed in an epidemic form; neither has it proven unusually fatal. The number of cases observed has probably not exceeded fifty, and with but four deaths.

This exemption from contagious diseases has not been due to any unusual vigilance on the part of our citizens, but rather to the absence of those conditions governing epidemics. Though such diseases as these cannot always be prevented, it is often possible through sanitary measures to ward off a threatened outbreak. It has been truly stated that to produce infectious diseases we must have the disease germs, the conditions favorable for their growth, and a receptive soil. Two or more of these causes must be present to create or propagate the same. The latest research has consigned diphtheria as well as typhoid fever to the category of "filth diseases,"—the existance of either in an epidemic form indicating a palpable negligence on the part of some one, either as regards opportunity for contagion or sanitary surroundings. All that is often required to produce a malignant type of either affection is a low state of vitality under the influences of polluted water, vitiated air or otherwise unwholesome dwellings. Several cases of diphtheria occurring in the past year have been directly traced to foul sink-drains, defective plumbing and neglected privy vaults.

The cases of cholera infantum (which appeared with few exceptions during the latter portion of the summer) were comparatively few and of a benign type. While in a few instances the cause of the disease could be attributed to unhealthful surroundings, a large proportion of the cases were no doubt due to neglect or ignorance of the more common hygienic rules. It is probable that over one-half the cases of cholera infantum are produced by improper feeding. In this city, the action of heat alone in causing the disease is comparatively slight and infrequent.

It will prove no surprise to those familiar with the New England climate to learn of our high rate of mortality from consumption—a disease which is increasing in frequency through unhygienic surroundings and hereditary transmission. While, however, a moderate percentage of cases may be attributed to the latter influence, it is a fact not generally remembered that unsanitary conditions, such as contaminated air, damp dwellings, poor food and enervating habits are very potent factors in the production of this disease,—in fact, so great is their influence, that it is at times possible through proper hygienic precautions to overcome a strong hereditary predisposition to this affection. The inferences to be drawn from these facts are apparent to all.

Sickness among the city poor has not existed to the usual extent during the year. But a single instance of contagious disease was observed, and this was acquired elsewhere and brought hither. The same is true regarding the health of those living at the City Farm. These facts argue well for the sanitary condition of both localities.

In view of the possible advent of small pox during the fall, the city was placed in as healthful a state as limited time would allow. Several hundred persons, comprising both young people and adults, were vaccinated; in addition to this a large number of school children secured similar treatment at the expense of the city. The accommodations for prospective small-pox patients, situated on Pest Island, were thoroughly renovated and made ready for cases of emergency. While these quarters are in some respects well fitted for the purpose intended, their isolated location and the difficulties thereby attendant upon the transportation of patients render them highly unsatisfactory. The Board therefore recommends the removal of the same to some convenient and more accessible locality as soon as circumstances permit.

During the past year the city has undertaken an important duty in the endeavor to remove the objectionable features of the North mill pond. That its past condition has been wholly bad is apparent to nearly every intelligent person, and to every one familiar with sanitary laws. Whether or not it has ever been instrumental in producing an epidemic not only cannot be definitely ascertained, but affords no argument in its favor or otherwise, for it is well known that unsanitary conditions may exist for years and do no harm, but finally, under the stimulation of atmospheric or other influences, may produce the inevitable result. It is also a fact self-evident to the well informed that nearly, if not all the conditions for producing epidemics have been present in this locality for several years. The attempt, therefore, on the part of our city government, to remove the same, is both wise and timely.

During the past year it has been the intention of the board to secure the best sanitary condition of the city possible to obtain, and while there remain some objectionable localities, and places where little or no regard is paid to the requirements of health, it is proposed to remove or at least remedy these undesirable features as rapidly as possible with the means at its disposal. No Board of Health, however perfect its organization or supreme its authority, can perform its duties effectually without the co operation of the citizens over which it has supervision. It is urgently desired, therefore, that each one will render assistance by notifying this Board of any facts relating to the public health, and give immediate notice of any infringement of the "Health Regulations" of the city. In conclusion we would express our obligations to the physicians of the place for returns submitted, and also to the members of the board of mayor and aldermen for services rendered in an official capacity.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming 'smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

The State of Dakota.

The senate on the 5th inst. passed the bill for the admission of Dakota as a state, by a vote of yeas thirty-two, nays twenty-two. The nays were all cast by democrats, and only one democrat, Mr. Voorhees, voted yea. The bill divides the territory of Dakota on the line of the 46th parallel of latitude, provides for the admission of the southern portion as a state under the title of Dakota, and the organization of the northern portion into a separate territory under the name of Lincoln.

A Good Move.

The congressional ways and means committee has agreed to report favorably a bill prepared by the sub-committee, forbidding the importation of mackerel during the spawning season. This bill, if it becomes a law, will stop the southern mackerel trips early in the season, when millions of fish-bone frames, with mackerel skins stretched over them, have been taken in years past.

The largest amount of fish brought in on any one day recently was on Thursday last, when the Northern Eagle had about 13,000 lbs., the Sarah C. Wharf 9000, the Dixie 4000, the Emerald 10,000, the Martha Jane 7000, the Anna H. Mason 8000, the Legal Tender 12,000, the Cora Greenwood 10,000, the Flora Temple 12,000, the A. C. Newhall 16,000, the James Hogan 9000, the Cosmopolitan 20,000, the Flying Eagle 12,000, the Dart 9000, and others enough to bring the total up to about 150,000 lbs. E. Newton & Co. bought the larger proportion of the catch, the price paid being $3 per hundred pounds.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 20 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 35."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and lifeless. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

MR. QUINN'S GRATUITY.

The board voted, four nays to three yeas, against paying bill of James Quinn for services as police officer, the mayor stating that he was not properly authorized to serve.—Chronicle.

We are requested to say that Mr. Quinn's bill was voted to be paid, the vote standing Aldermen Cook, Hatch, Russell and McGraw in favor of paying the bill, and Littlefield, Locke and Williams against.—Penny Post.

We accept the amendment, unanimously and without debate. And while the matter of the payment of Mr. Quinn's bill is under consideration, it may not be amiss to go a little further, and explain what the disputed bill is, and why its payment was verbally opposed by the mayor and voted against by three out of seven aldermen. The facts, as near as we can get them, are as follows:

In October or early in November a number of prominent business men petitioned the city government to appoint a special fire watch, they fearing that the city was to be largely left without insurance through the "foreign" companies which had withdrawn from business in this state cancelling existing policies, etc. In conformity with this request the Board of Mayor and Aldermen empowered the committee on police, of which Ald. Cook is chairman, to appoint such an officer, and Mr. James Quinn was duly appointed.

But the companies which withdrew did not cancel their existing policies, and the new state companies rapidly got into working order; and about the middle of November, as it was evident the services of the special officer were no longer needed (if indeed they ever were needed) Mayor Eldredge directed the city marshal to notify him that his engagement and duties would terminate with November, which notification was given.

But Mr. Quinn had a soft snap and did not propose to give it up so easily; so he declined to be discharged, on the ground that he was not appointed by the mayor and city marshal, and they or either of them could not dismiss him; so he duly appeared for duty on the 1st of December. Marshal Norton again notified him that he was no longer an officer; the captain of the night watch was instructed to give him no orders, and to receive from him no reports, which instructions were of course obeyed; and from that time to the end of December he stood watch only when he wanted to, and from all accounts he didn't want to very often. At the end of that month, either because he had been discharged by Alderman Cook, or thought his bill was about as big as it would do to "ring in" on the city treasury, or for some other reason to us unknown, he turned in whatever property he had belonging to the police department, and sought fairer fields and pastures new in which to toil for a livelihood, without being again dismissed by the mayor.

At the last meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen a vote was taken on the payment of Mr. Quinn's bill of $55.18 for services as fire watch through the month of December; and though the mayor stated that he had no legal claim on the city, having acted—if he acted at all—without proper authority, Messrs. Cook, Hatch, Russell and Magraw voted that the bill be paid. If our unanimously-democratic city government, in its zeal for economy and reform, considered it necessary to present Mr. Quinn with $55.18 for services which were not required, which he was not authorized to do and which he did not perform, it would seem that the proper branch of the city government to pass upon it would be the Board of Overseers of the Poor, and not the mayor and aldermen.

The real dispute seems to be, not so much whether Mr. Quinn shall or shall not receive a gratuity, as whether Oliver H. Cook or Marcellus Eldredge is chief executive of the city. Mr. Cook came out ahead last Thursday evening, but Marcellus hasn't hauled down his colors yet, and we understand declines to sign the papers necessary to enable Mr. Quinn to get that $55.18.

WRECK AT ANDERSON'S ROCK.

Capt. David R. Grogan, keeper of White island light-station, reports the discovery about 150 yards south of Anderson's rock, the extreme outlying peril of the Isles of Shoals, of a vessel's mast, evidently attached to a sunken wreck. The mast is floating heel up, being fast to the wreck by the rigging, and shows about six feet out of water; from its size it is judged to belong to a vessel of from eighty to 100 tons. The mast-coat can be seen under water, and is painted green; there is no sign of grass or barnacles on the mast, showing that it has not long been under water.

On the morning of Jan. 26th two pine planks about twenty-five feet long, a foot wide and four inches thick, drifted ashore on White island; and Capt. Grogan thinks it likely they may have come from the unlucky vessel now sunk near Anderson's rock, and that she struck the rock during the heavy gale and thick snowstorm of the previous night, and went down almost instantly.

The fishing schooner Newsboy was wrecked on Anderson's rock, and sank not far away, some nine months since; but the mast now showing there cannot be hers, as she was a little craft of only ten or twelve tons, and very old, and must have been smashed into bits months ago by the sea.

It has been announced that the lighthouse board have decided to put a spindle on this dangerous rock as soon as spring arrives; and it will be none too soon.

A big blast was fired by Messrs. Trefethen & Connor, sub-contractors for excavating the Deer street ledge, on Saturday, and not only were many cubic yards of the ledge disloged, but the derrick used in hoisting the debris from the trench was tossed six or eight feet into the air, and in falling smashed the framework of the platform on which it had stood, and the ways on which the platform had travelled along the line of the trench. George Shackley and Charles W. Shannon were on Sunday engaged in repairing the damages to the derrick gear.

Col. William H. Hackett, clerk of the United States circuit court, started for Washington on Saturday on business with the treasury department, and will probably be absent all this week.

J. C. Carr's store, No. 34 Market street, is a good place to go to get rubber shoes, arctics and pure gum boots, at the lowest prices for which first-class articles can be sold. No "shoddy" goods are sold there.

The treasurer of the Children's Home takes pleasure in acknowledging the receipt from "A Friend" of twenty-five dollars.

A disgraceful fight occurred at the Creek on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. John W. Young last week had his place of business in the rear of the city building, formerly the central telephone exchange, remodelled in the interior, removing partitions and closets, and putting in a handsome black walnut counter and show case for the display of his large stock of shoemakers' findings, cut stock, rubber heels and patches, etc. The improvement is a very decided one.

In the United States court at Boston, before Judge Colt, there was a hearing on Saturday afternoon upon the motion for a rehearing in the case of Marcus P. Norton vs. the city of Dover, for alleged infringement of the Knibbs valve patent. Judge Colt reserved his decision.

The steamer Pinafore, Capt. Oscar Laighton, came in from the Shoals on Saturday, bringing as passenger Capt. David R. Grogan, keeper of White island light.

The schooner Maud M. Story, of Gloucester, sailed on a halibut trip to the banks Dec. 12th, and was spoken about Dec. 20th on Bank Quereau; since then she has not been heard from, and her owners have given up all hope of ever hearing from her again. She was a fine vessel of seventy-five tons, valued at $10,000, and insured (vessel and outfits) $6328; she carried fourteen men all told, one of her crew being Frederick Burke of this city, who some years ago lived on Peirce's Island. The loss of this crew brings the total up to fifty men lost in the Gloucester fisheries since Christmas. The Nova Scotia schooner Neskleetia, which sailed from Gloucester November 9th with a crew of fourteen men shipped at that port, was spoken at the same time as the Maud M. Story, and is also missing; she was a vessel of 100 tons, and nearly new.

The British schooner Lizzie K., Gayton master, from St. John, N. B., for Boston with a load of laths, was on the 5th inst, reported to be going to pieces on Folly Island, off Cape Porpoise, Me.; no report was made about the crew, so it is probable they were all saved. The schooner registered about 100 tons, and was owned by Nova Scotia parties.

A building on Seavey's island (navy yard) was burned about 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. It was formerly known, when the island was inhabited, as the "Walker house," but has been used of late years only for the storage of lime, of which there was a small quantity in the building when it was burned. Loss trifling.

Comdr. George W. Coffin is detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to command the Quinnebaug, European station.

Boatswain Thomas Savage is ordered to the naval hospital at Washington for treatment.

Gunner Samuel Cross and Acting Carpenter Joseph B. Fletcher have been ordered from the Washington navy yard to the Vandalia.

First Lieut. George F. Elliott, U. S. M. C., is detached from the marine barracks at Norfolk, Va., and ordered to the Vandalia.

Lieut. Comdr. G. W. Pigman is detached from the Tennessee, and placed on waiting orders.

Lieut. W. H. Nostrand is detached from the Tallapoosa, and granted leave of absence until June 30th.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching, scaling and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2541 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk, except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, that it completely covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could scarcely attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humor on my face, to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

to the emperor's interest. The marshal promised to consider the offer, but intimated pretty plainly that madame had the decision in her hands. When the financier called the next day for his answer he found the marshal in some excitement. "It is impossible," he exclaimed; "I have had a fearful scene with my wife. 'This man,' she said, 'has prevented my being a queen, and if you make any arrangements with him I will kill you,' and she drew a dagger, prepared to execute her threat." There was, of course, no answering such an argument as that, and when the result of the mission was announced to the emperor, says "Fidus," he accepted it as an omen of coming misfortune.—London Life.

Spiritual Preaching the Cure for Mercantilism.

The Rev. Edward Hungerford, in an essay entitled "Spiritual Preaching for our Times," in the January Century, says: "Science has grandly stimulated industry by increasing its rewards. The prizes of enterprising labor are great, often glittering. The power of wealth is fascinating. The successful producer or dealer of to-day is a prince. The industrious laborer is rich. And the result of all this is that laziness is ceasing to be fashionable; the nobility of England are learning to make themselves useful. Science sets the world astir. The goal of its motion is gain. The race is eager. Hence mammon-worship. Hence mercantilism, the inordinate estimate of wealth; the grading of all things at a value in cash; society graded on a cash basis; ideality sacrificed to material good; virtue, patriotism, heroism, manhood counting for less, money counting for more; votes, office, justice having their price. This is mercantilism, the great danger to society; greater because more subtle than nihilism. It creeps into literature, science, art, politics, the State, the church; and here arises the demand for that spiritual teaching which fell from the lips of Jesus, the antidote for inordinate worldly care and worldly striving; the lofty view of a life which is more than meat; God coming in among the elements of this world, clothing lilies, feeding birds, summoning man to the glory of an ideal kingdom and to the attainment first and foremost of character, rooted in God and God's righteousness. The cure for the mercantile spirit is not ethics, but faith. It is not a moral code but the divine Fatherhood. It is not even the golden rule, except as the golden rule is formulated out of the spirit of Christian brotherhood."

She Danced.

Al Sproule, one of Chicago's prettiest and sweetest traveling men, was up in Michigan not very long ago and was caught over night in a very little town. There was a dance on for that evening, and Al concluded that he would accept an invitation and swing the country lassies for awhile. He went to the dance and danced with every girl there except one scrawny one, who had sat all evening in the corner waiting for a partner. At took pity on her at last, and putting on his most angelic smile he "shassayed" up to her.

"Ah, mum," he said, "do you dance, Miss?"

"Yes, sir," she replied quickly.

"Yes? May I have the pleasure of dancing with you in the next set?"

"You bet you kin, young feller, for I've got and sot, till I've about tuck root."

Al did the graceful in great shape and the girl stuck to him the balance of the evening.—Merchant Traveler.

OAK HILL FARM. JAMES R. YEATON

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly instalments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in height,—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel-silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, WITH PLUME STAND, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuette, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

BLEEDING NOSTRILS.—It has done me so much good, I want you to send me two bottles immediately. I have been afflicted with catarrh for over ten years—frequently my nose would bleed and leave the nostrils in a dry, inflamed condition, with constant soreness. I experienced relief after the first trial of Ely's Cream Balm. It is the best of a great many remedies I have tried, and I can fully recommend it.—E. Gill, Madison, Ohio, Editor of the Index.

The Homestead Bessemer steel works at Pittsburg, Pa., have started up, the workmen having accepted the advance offered.

Nelson H. Baker, district attorney, Westchester county, N. Y., office at White Plains, writes June 20th, 1885: "Five years ago, I, my two sons and wife were very liable to colds. We wore the heaviest clothing, wrapping ourselves up warm; but it was colds, coughs and catarrh all the time. Finally we commenced wearing Allcock's Porous Plasters as chest protectors. The first year we got rid of our heavy flannel as well as all coughs and colds. We each wore two Plasters on the chest and pit of the stomach for three or four weeks at a time, then washed the parts with alcohol and put on fresh ones; they appeared to warm and invigorate the whole body so that we never took cold."

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which carries and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees to patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of steel, substantial rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock of super perfection as human skill can make in the safety appliances of patent buffers, platform and air brakes, and the strict discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, Good Meals, Comfortable Coaches and Luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of latest design, and Elegant Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are luxuriously eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run through the valley of the Illinois River, passing picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of interior points.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

COD LIVER OIL NO GOOD.

Physicians Discontinuing It.

(From the Buffalo, N. Y. News.)

Experience has shown that cod liver oil has no nutritive power, and, besides this negative character, the accumulation of fatty matter which follows its use, deranges the alimentary canal. Any kind of oil is trying to the stomach, even when the system is in a healthy condition, and how much more must it be when the digestive organs are weak, and are dosed with something of the most unpalatable character. The quantity of cod liver oil which is ordered to be taken daily, is always in excess of the capacity for digestion and absorption, and injurious results naturally follow. In fact we would hear of more cases in which serious harm has been caused by cod liver oil were it not that in order to swallow it, the patient mixes it with whiskey, and the alcohol thus taken neutralizes the evil done by the oil. It is a fact laid down by all chemists and scientists that nothing will restore a disordered system or promote digestion, which has been impaired, quicker or more effectively than alcohol, and as this is what medical men aim at in their treatment of the sick, it follows that they are now largely prescribing simply alpine whisky and discontinuing the use of cod liver oil entirely. None of these so-called cod liver oil emulsions pretend to have more than 50 per cent., and some of them only 20 per cent. of pure oil. Some of it is Shark Oil, which has been found to have no medicinal effects, in fact, it is found worse than the cod liver oil. Two ounces of alcohol contains more nutriment than is found in twelve ounces of lean meat. It stands to reason that the medicinal article that enters the blood direct, without any digestive effort on the part of the stomach, while cod liver oil is so indigestible as to necessitate the employment of other agents to aid its assimilation, and, as a consequence, leaves the stomach, which of a consumptive patient is always weak, in a weaker condition than ever. As stated, whiskey is now the recognized treatment for consumption, but let the patients be careful to see that the whiskey they use is absolutely pure and free from fusel oil, and made from malt, such as Duffy's pure malt whiskey, which latter is the only whiskey that combines a food quality with a stimulant.

The Farmer of Tippecanoe.

Oh! know ye the Farmer of Tippecanoe,
The gallant old Farmer of Tippecanoe?
With an arm that is strong and a heart that is true,
The man of the people is Tippecanoe.

Away in the West, the fair river beside
That waters North Bend in its beauty and pride,
And shows in its mirror the summer sky blue,
Oh! there dwells the Farmer of Tippecanoe.

When the clear eastern sky in the morning's light gleams,
And the hills of Ohio grow warm in its beams,
When the fresh-springing grass is bent down with the dew,
With his plow in the furrow stands Tippecanoe.

Hurrah! for the Farmer of Tippecanoe,
The honest old Farmer of Tippecanoe;
With an arm that is strong and a heart that is true,
The man of the people is Tippecanoe.

And when far in the west the warm sunlight goes down,
And the woods of Ohio look dusky and brown,
In his snug, quiet home he the past will review
And think of his comrades at Tippecanoe.

For warm are his feelings, and strong is his mind
To the suffering poor man he ever is kind;
With a hand that is open, a heart that is true,
The poor find a friend in Old Tippecanoe.

Hurrah! for the Farmer of Tippecanoe,
The fearless old Farmer of Tippecanoe,
With an arm that is strong and a hand that is true,
The choice of the people is Tippecanoe.

OUTSIDE THE LIMITS.

"Get out of this, you little vagabond, ain't you ashamed of yourself to be found loitering in the streets at this hour of the day? Go home now, or I'll take you to the lockup," said a sturdy guardian of the peace to a thinly-clad girl lingering in the doorway of a large office building on LaSalle street.

"I wasn't doing any harm, sir. I only wanted to get warm," she retorted, crouching back into the doorway as a gust of wind whirled the snow into her face.

"Nice place to get warm! Come along, I'll take you where it is warm enough," said he, laying his hand roughly on her arm.

With a frightened cry she jerked her arm from his hold, and ran swiftly away.

"Well, I'll be beat," he mutters, and opens the door from which he has driven the girl, and warms his hands over the register.

The girl meanwhile continues to run, occasionally looking back to see whether she is pursued. In turning a corner she comes in forcible contact with a belated pedestrian. He looks at her in astonishment as she raises her eyes to his face and murmurs an apology. He is evidently of a benevolent turn of mind, as he stops to inquire into the cause of her apparent fright.

"I was only standing in a doorway, sir, trying to get away a little from the wind, and they told me to leave. That is all, sir."

"Have you no home to which to go to?"

"Yes, sir, I have a home, but I want to earn some money before I go there to-night."

"I understand," he returns thoughtfully. "It is really too bad, too bad. But come with me. Perhaps I can help you."

They walk rapidly for about a block, when he pounces abruptly before a policeman, tramping his rounds with much vigor to keep his blood in circulation in the frosty air.

"I met this girl on LaSalle street, near Washington street. She seems to have no place to go. You had better take her to the police station for shelter. It is a pity that she should throw herself away in the streets. She seems very young. Here is my card," says the good samaritan.

The policeman looks at the card, acknowledges the introduction of the good, great (in avordupois) man with: "As long as such gentlemen as you live, sir, we will be able to dispense charity to good effect, and turning his eyes to where the girl had been standing, he stares in amazement, and, muttering an apology to the gentleman, starts in pursuit.

"As I thought; a professional beggar," murmurs the man of good intentions, and he swings himself on a passing car.

The policeman loses sight of the girl, and to warm himself steps into a brilliantly lighted saloon and imbibes freely of warming liquors, receiving with becoming resignation the commiserating comments of the customers of the place at his unfortunate position in that bitterly cold weather.

Meanwhile the girl has continued her course nothward and crossed the Wells street bridge. Exhausted she lingers in the entrance to the Northwestern Railway Depot. As no one seems to observe her she ventures into the waiting room and warms her blue, cold fingers by the register.

A lady in rich attire views her distrustfully, and gathering up her parcels walks to another part of the room. The child watches her curiously with her large, dark, sunken eyes, and a defiant tear rolls down the thin, sallow cheeks. With a swift, nervous movement she wipes it away with a handful of her dark hair, which hangs in tangled masses over her back and shoulders, giving her a strange, uncanny appearance.

A small, silk purse lying on the floor catches her eyes, and the gleam of the gold and silver within is tempting. She picks it up, and, walks to the lady, who had evidently dropped it when she changed her seat at the time the little vagrant came near the register. She looks up at the girl's approach, and, seeing the purse in her hands, arises hastily and snatches it from her.

"My purse," she says, shortly, but adds, as if somewhat ashamed of herself: "Thank you," and turns to a gentleman approaching her and bids

A Wise Reform.

The habit of administering quinine in powerful doses, as an anti-lote to malarial maladies, was once dangerously common. Happily this practice has undergone a wide reform. Not only the public, but professional men have adopted, not wholly, of course, but largely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe botanic substitute for the pernicious alkaloid. The consequences of this change are most important. Now fever and ague sufferers are cured—formerly their complaints were only for the time relieved, or half cured—the remedy eventually failing to produce any appreciable effect, except the doses are increased. A course of the Bitters, persistently followed, breaks up the worst attacks and prevents their return. The evidence in favor of this sterling specific and household medicine is of no ambiguous character, but positive and satisfactory, and the sources whence it proceeds are very numerous.

Nobody's Business.

What if Attorney-General Garland does happen to own some of the stock of the Pan-Electric company? That's no one's business but his own.—New Haven Register.

Well, some of the leading mugwump papers, and many of the most influential democratic ones, are making it their business, anyway. When James G. Blaine was proclaimed as the owner of certain railroad stock, he being then only a member of Congress, the Register was one of the papers that considered it very much the business of the whole people of the United States.

That Augustus H. Garland, of Arkansas, owes stock in the Pan-Electric Co., is not the business of the public. But that Attorney-General Garland, chief of the department of justice of the United States, holds a vast amount of that stock for which he paid nothing, and which depends for any prospective value it may have on the action of Mr. Garland's department, the machinery of which has been set in motion to give it value, is a very different affair.

The Chinese Must Go.

A despatch of Feb. 7th, from Portland, Oregon, says: "To-day, as if by a programme laid out, the Chinese are being driven out of Seattle, W. T. It is understood that the Knights of Labor are at the head of the movement. The Chinamen are marched to the steamer Queen of the Pacific, lying at her wharf, and the strikers pay a steerage passage for San Francisco for each one put on board. The steamer plies regularly between San Francisco and Puget Sound. At this hour, two P. M., about 100 Chinamen have been put on board. On an attempt being made by the rioters to force other Chinese on board without paying fare, which is $10 in each case, the captain stationed men with hose prepared to throw five streams of boiling water into the mob if such attempt was renewed. The mayor of Seattle and other prominent citizens have telegraphed to Vancouver barracks asking General Giblen, commanding the department of Columbia, for troops. General Giblen has telegraphed to the war department, but no authority has as yet come from Washington to send troops. Vancouver is 150 miles distant from Seattle, and transportation would be effected by boat and rail. The shortest time in which aid could be transported is seven hours, and even if they should start to-night they would be too late to prevent the expulsion of the Chinese. Chief Justice Green of Washington territory has telegraphed to Attorney General Garland, asking him to use his influence to have troops ordered to Seattle. As yet no bloodshed or incendiarism has occurred, but it is believed that to-night there will be serious trouble."

Parson Downs is not yet "knocked out." Last week he brought suit against Rev. George W. Bosworth, secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist convention, claiming $20,000 damages for Bosworth's action in leaving his (Downs') name off the official list of ordained Baptist ministers. Downs has also sued the Bowdoin square Baptist church for a year's salary, $3,000. Bosworth's property and the society's funds have been attached.

COMMISSIONS FOR CARPENTERS IN THE NAVY.

Senator Voorhees has introduced in the senate a bill as follows:

That the president of the United States is hereby authorized to issue commissions to all carpenters in the United States navy borne upon the Naval Register at the passage of this act, in lieu of and of the same date of the warrants now held by such officers; and hereafter all appointments to said grade shall be by nomination and confirmation, as in the case of other commissioned officers of the United States navy.

Sec. 2. That hereafter officers of the grade of carpenters in the United States navy shall be known and designated and have relative rank as follows: During the first five years from date of commission, carpenters, with the relative rank of ensign; during the second five years from date of commission, master carpenters, with the relative rank of junior lieutenant; after ten years from date of commission, chief carpenters, with the relative rank of lieutenant.

Sec. 3. That such carpenters, master carpenters and chief carpenters shall at all times be entitled to and shall receive the same consideration in all respects to which other commissioned officers of the same relative rank are entitled:

Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to change the pay to which officers of the navy of the grade of carpenters are now entitled.

John G. Webster, of the firm of Webster & Co., leather merchants, of Boston, died last Monday morning. He was born in this city April 8th, 1811, but moved to Boston over forty years ago, and has lived there ever since.

It is reported that the preliminary steps for organizing an assembly of the Knights of Labor in this city were taken on Monday.

John P. Sweetser's team, with Wm. J. Doyle as foreman of the plumbers, went to Hotel Pocahontas at Gerrish's island on Monday, to finish the plumbing work there.

The thermometer indicated from twenty to twenty-eight degrees below zero in Biddeford and Saco on Saturday, the 6th inst. At Conway Junction and North Berwick the temperature was twenty-three below, and at Lyman it is alleged was thirty-five below!

The marine guard for the U. S. S. Vandalia arrived from Boston on Monday evening, and proceeded to the navy yard.

The Nipsic, Comdr. W. S. Dana commanding, has been ordered home from the South Atlantic station, and is expected to arrive in Hampton roads about April 1st. The Tallapoosa will take the Nipsic's place on the South Atlantic station. It is reported that the Nipsic is to be ordered to this navy yard for repairs.

Secretary Whitney last week ordered Chief Constructor Wilson to report at the Brooklyn navy yard on Monday, the 8th, to inspect the Juniata, and to further investigate the necessity of so large an expenditure for repairs as had been asked for. The estimates previously made called for an expenditure of from $20,000 to $25,000, which Secretary Whitney regarded as excessive.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 20 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadmun, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

The British schooner Lizzie K., before reported wrecked near Cape Porpoise, put into Cape Porpoise harbor on the 2d inst., and remained there in safety until next day. On the 3d, in attempting to go to sea, she ran upon Goat island; her deck load of laths was washed off, part floating out to sea and part being thrown ashore on the island. She was abandoned by her crew, and afterward floated off, went ashore again on Folly Island, and went to pieces.

The schooners Gulnare, Goodwin master; John & Frank, Perkins; Karen Happuch, Philbrook, and Rockaway, Baker, all arrived at York harbor on Sunday last, and all commenced to load on Monday, one with bricks and the others with hay.

The administration has appointed S. N. Clifford as postmaster at Newfield, vice Townsend, removed; at South Eliot, J. W. Nowell, vice Staples, resigned.

—Boston Girl (boastingly)—"Old! I should say so. Why, we can trace our ancestry back 250 years, to the time when a Coverly was hanged for witchcraft." Denver Girl—"Our family goes back a good many years, too. My great-grandfather was lynched for horse stealing fifty years ago. Isn't it terrible how they used to persecute people in olden times?"

CITY LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

The following is the report of the city librarian to the board of mayor and aldermen for the year 1885:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to submit to your honorable body the annual report of the librarian of the Public Library for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1885, as follows:

Books in the library Jan. 1st, 1885	7096	vols.
Added during the year	268	"
Worn out " " "	114	"
Lost " " "	3	"
In library Jan 1st, 1886	7245	"
Cards issued during the year	344
Books loaned " " "	15,000	"

Books were presented during the year by Capt. and Mrs. Thomas Eastman, Mrs. Charles H. Rollins, Mr. Henry H. Ladd, Mr. George W. Guppy, Mr. Gignoux and Master Frank Butler.

It will be seen that a larger number of books have been reported "worn out" than is usual in one year; but the most of these books were for children, and were retained as long as each volume was intact. The large falling off of the number loaned is attributable to this lack of juvenile literature, for the boys, especially, are a large factor of the borrowers.

The Library opened on Jan. 1st, 1881, with	900	vols.
Added to Jan. 1st of the current year	6,560	"
	7,460	"
Worn out and lost in the five years	215	"
Cards issued in the five years	3,986	"
Books loaned in the five years	88,092	"

Very Respectfully,
ROBERT E. RICH, Librarian.

GREENLAND.

GREELAND, Feb. 8th.

We hear that the ladies of the Congregational society in this town are to give an oyster supper, stage entertainment, readings, etc., on Tuesday evening, Feb. 16th, in the Town hall. As the affair is in the hands of parties who are fully equal to the occasion, we anticipate a very pleasant time. Admission ten cents.

We are happy to say the church debt is entirely liquidated; but in church business, as in private affairs, there are always incidental expenses that call for money, and the driving storms of the past few weeks remind many of us that there will be need of shingles and carpenters the coming spring. Hope the parsonage will receive attention, so that our good pastor will not feel the necessity of taking an umbrella with him when he goes about his residence during the usual spring rains. H.

CITY MARSHAL'S REPORT.

From the report of City Marshal Norton to the board of mayor and aldermen, for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1885, it appears that the whole number of arrests during the year was 986, for offences as follows:

Aggravated assault, breaking and entering, common railer, cutting down fences, forgery, malicious injury to personal property, noise and tumult, public nuisance, stubborn child, putting out street light, sleeping in railroad cars, vagabondage, violating bird law, violating Sunday ordinance, one each; assault on officer, "beating" boarding house, committing nuisance, deserting from Brentwood, disorderly conduct, keeping house of ill fame, highway robbery, playing cards on Sunday, selling liquor, throwing stones, violating lobster laws, two each; malicious mischief, using profane language, stealing ride on cars, three each; keeping disorderly house, embezzlement, four each; breaking glass, common drunkards, cruelty to animals, five each; arrested for out-of-town officers, insane, vagrants, six each; on suspicion, eight; brawl and tumult, ten; tramps, fifteen; larceny, twenty-four; deserters from United States navy, truants, thirty-one each; assaults, sixty-eight; drunks, 711.

The number of persons furnished with lodgings during the year was 988, making the total number arrested and lodged 1974.

The amount of fines and costs collected was $750.06; from dog licences, $29; total, $779.06. For witness fees, etc., $197.37 was paid out, leaving a balance of $581.69, which the marshal turned in to the city treasury.

Among the incidental services rendered by the officers were the following: Stores found open, and closed by officers, twenty; fire alarms given by officers, four; persons sent out of the city by order of the mayor, eleven; persons taken to insane asylum at Concord, to insane asylum at Brentwood, and to the poor farm at Portsmouth, two each; to industrial school at Manchester, one; committed to Portsmouth jail, fifty-seven; committed to county farm at Brentwood, 165; rescued from drowning, two; found destitute, and helped, seven; lost children restored to parents, two; stolen property recovered and restored to owners, value $240.

The evening entertainment will consist of vocal and instrumental music and recitations.

Admission, ten cents.

Concert Programme.

The following is the programme to be rendered by Eastman's enlarged orchestra, on the evening of the Sons of Veterans ball, Feb, 17th. This concert will be the finest given in this city this season. One of the extra pieces which will be brought is a cello, on which a solo will be played. This instrument has been used but once or twice in Concert in this city before.

1. Overture, Zanetta, Auber.
2. Persian Shah Patrol, Giere.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known, and proves in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEBLE, Salem, Mass.

AN OLD-TIME SCOURGE.

The Newmarket Advertiser of last week says that "in view of the alarm felt at the prevalence of diphtheria, we present the following account of the ravages of what was then called 'throat distemper,' probably the same as the diphtheria of the present time, in this vicinity one hundred and fifty years ago, taken from 'Merrill's Gazetteer of New Hampshire,' and kindly handed us by Mr. J. F. Chapman: 'From July, 1736, to September, 1737, there died of throat distemper in Hampton, 55; Portsmouth, 99; Dover, 88; Exeter, 127; Newcastle, 11; Gosport, 37; Rye, 44; Greenland, 18; Newington, 21; Newmarket, 22; Stratham, 18; Kingston, 113; Durham, 100; Chester, 22; Hampton Falls, 210, of which 160 were under ten years of age, forty between ten and twenty, and ten above twenty, the population of that town being less that 600 at that time.' We think people of the present time should be thankful that no such terrible mortality from a disease can occur, as medical science can generally successfully combat the worst diseases, and although several fatal cases of diphtheria have occurred in our town, we believe it will not become epidemic."

There was a good deal of driving out on Sunday, and the sleighing was never better. It was good on Monday, too, but the horses would "ball up" somewhat on the latter day, which they did not do on Sunday.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing Itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and uninitating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2343 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk, except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face, which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

hum a smiling good evening. The girl lingers in their vicinity a moment and timidly lays her hand on the lady's arm. She turns impatiently, and says with a shiver of disgust: "Go away, you wretched little beggar." One of the depot policemen hears the remark and roughly orders the girl to leave the premises.

She hurries away, and after running some blocks turns down a side street. She looked at the sky now clear and blue and studded with innumerable stars. "You are cruel," she says, shaking her head reproachfully, and as she hears footsteps advancing, she turns abruptly and runs.

A young woman, walking just in front of the terrified child, makes a misstep and is precipitated into a snow drift at the edge of the sidewalk.

The girl extends her hands to assist the other to rise.

"Thank you, child," says a pleasant voice. "Why, you have no gloves on! How cold your hands are! A small bunch of icicles. Here, run away and buy yourself a pair of mittens if you have none," and she slips a coin into the child's hand, and continues on her way.

The little homeless one stops under the first lamp-post to examine her treasure. "A half dollar!" she exclaims, and the weary little heart gives a great bound of joy. She again runs, and this time her speed is checked in a grocery store, where she invests all but 5 cents of the 50 in tea, bread, and sugar. On regaining the street she hails a car, and curling herself up on the corner on a bench looks with wide, waking, thoughtful eyes on the frozen window opposite.

"This is as far as we go," announces the conductor, after a long, tedious ride, and the little figure again struggles in the snow, hugging the small parcels close to her breast.

Nothing but snow! Great white fields of snow, though the city behind and the heavens above are gleaming with thousands of lights.

Stiller and colder the night grows, but still that dark dot moves along through the white, vast stillness of the night.

The large, dark eyes at length spy an apparently long-sought for light ahead. She soon reaches the structure from which it gleams, and opening the door without a key, she enters and seeks her way up a dark flight of stairs. The great bright eyes of rats peeping out of their holes do not frighten her. "Go away you," she says, childingly, as if surprised at their boldness in confronting her. Rapping lightly at a door at the head of the stairs, or more properly speaking, ladder, she gains admittance.

"I've got something to eat, papa," she says cheerfully, holding her hands to a small stove emitting considerable warmth.

"Something to eat," he repeats, eagerly, and grasps the cold hands in his own and chafes them gently.

"I have been watching for you my Pearl, and I was fearful that the winds had dug your grave and the snow filled it. But you have come back, my Pearl," and the white long hair of the old man mingles with the black locks of the child, and he kisses her often and tenderly, as if they had been separated for a term of years.

"Here, Pearl! see here! I have perfected my discovery; the secret of perpetual motion is ours!" and the long white fingers pointed to a sheet of brown wrapping paper on the table, covered with angles, squares, and all manner of shapes and curves, which, in their intricacy, formed no definite outline of any kind.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has longest been affected and unirjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates cr forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and the money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

Nelson H. Baker, district attorney, Westchester county, N. Y., office at White Plains, writes June 20th, 1885: "Five years ago, I, my two sons and wife were very liable to colds. We wore the heaviest clothing, wrapping ourselves up warm; but it was colds, coughs and catarrh all the time. Finally we commenced wearing Allcock's Porous Plasters as chest protectors. The first year we got rid of our heavy flannel as well as all coughs and colds. We each wore two Plasters on the chest and pit of the stomach for three or four weeks at a time, then washed the parts with alcohol and put on fresh ones; they appeared to warm and invigorate the whole body so that we never took cold."

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY
By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important and continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between ports of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.
The Great Rock Island Route
Combines its patrons with the comfort of personal ownership afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted roadbed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air-brakes, and the renowned due which governs the functional operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.
The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.
The Famous Albert Lea Route
Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral farms of Dakota.
Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Council Bluffs, Indianapolis and Kankakee, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

The Only medicine I ever found that helped me at all is ATHLOPHOROS, and I have not had the Rheumatism since I took it."—EDWIN SEARS, Providence, Iowa.

A professor in a medical college once said to his class "put your hand in a vise, turn the screw until the pain is all you can bear, and that's rheumatism; turn the screw once more, and that's neuralgia—and gentlemen, the medical profession knows no cure for either." That was before the Crown ATHLOPHOROS which does and will cry of RHEUMATISM and quickly cure both rheumatism and neuralgia, and many physicians use it regularly—frankly admitting that they can prescribe nothing else so effective.

Many persons have tried so many so-called remedies, without benefit, that they have no faith to try more, but it is worth your while to try Athlophoros, if you have any doubts as to its value write for names of parties in your own State who have been cured by its use.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

OUTSIDE THE LIMITS.

"Yes, papa; we will talk it over after we have had something to eat," and she unclasps his arm from about her waist and prepares the tea.

"How did you earn the money?" he asks, fondly.

"I did not earn it, papa. A young lady gave it to me."

A shadow passed over her face as she replied, and the bright keen eye of the father observed it.

"Come here, my Pearl," he says, gravely, and draws the light on the table by his side nearer to him.

She laid the bread she had been cutting on a cracked plate, which she placed on a napkin in the center of the table, then turned her face to him.

He took it between his hands, and looked anxiously into the eyes of his child.

"They have been rough to you, my Pearl. Come rest your head on my breast and cry. I see the tears in your heart. My sweet flower, I have learnt on you till the slender stem is ready to break. But I may yet be able to use my limbs. So cheer up, my precious Pearl. But let us drink the tea. It smells good after we have had nothing but warm water for days and days."

"Hand me my medicine chest, my Pearl. We must both take some medicine to make us stronger and cheer our spirits."

She smiles through her tears, and places a small paper box beside him on the table.

Brushing his hair from his face, she draws the table closer to the stove, moves his chair nearer the table, and seating herself, pours out the tea.

"It tastes good, papa," she says, touching it daintily to her lips, and then takes a long draught as if to emphasize her words.

"That is right, Pearl. Drink and enjoy it."

He drained the tea in his cup at a draught, and when she refilled their cups said: "Let me put some medicine in this, my Pearl, so that we will grow stronger. Perpetual motion and perpetual life—two grand discoveries; they ought to bring me fame and fortune."

"Perhaps they will yet, papa. They have a book in the city, as you told me, in which they have all the names of the great people who live in Chicago. They call it 'Directory,' so if you could remember the names of some of the doctors and mathematicians you used to know I can find out where they live in that book and tell them all you have discovered."

"They would not believe it, my Pearl."

"But, papa, I would explain it all to them just as you do to me. I would tell them that the philosophy of perpetual motion is plainly demonstrated—"

"Do not speak of it now, my child. We will rest for a time. I was so fearful lest evil should befall you when you left me this morning that I worked without ceasing to quiet my anxiety. Later in the evening we will discuss the latest phase of our intricate labors, but now when you have had enough to eat you can move your chair close to mine and sing to me some song like you used to do when you were only a child."

"But I am a child no longer, papa. I am almost a woman. I will be 14 years old next week."

She sits down beside him and leans her head on his shoulder. He strokes her soft hair gently till it looks glossy and smooth. Her heavy eyelids quiver as she endeavors to resist the desire to sleep.

"Sleep, sleep, my Pearl. You require rest."

She puts her arm about his neck and kisses him. He draws her close to him with one arm, and with the other hand raises his second cup of tea to his lips.

"My poor, tired Pearl," he murmurs, and the lean, white fingers toy restlessly with her black hair.

The stars looked down and smiled when they saw the two asleep. "They are tired," they whispered to each other, and winked and blinked and looked wise. But when the moon came she said: "This is wrong. They used to watch me nightly and ponder on strange things. I must wake them," and she flashed her regal splendor full into the old barn upon the sleeping man and child. "Let them rest, they are weary," said the frost, and he spun a curtain of rarest design over the often-patched window-panes. When the sun saw them in the morning still asleep, he thought, "Not yet at your labors, my friends. I must despoil your home of this pretty curtain the frost has wrought across your window."

And the stars, the moon, the frost, and sunlight all did what they could for those who had loved them. But the father and child did not stir; and the rats and the mice danced about them, and ate of the bread she had brought, and tore bits of his and her hair away to build them new nests for their young, and ate of their flesh. And the vermin lived all through the cruel winter, and in the spring-time they scampered over the fields and enjoyed the sunlight, but at evening always returned to the old barn, at nightfall, and wrought new nests for their young of black and white hair and bits of old cloth, and fed their young on human flesh.

But one day a stray match got ignited, and burned full many a nest built of black and white threads, soft and warm, like the finest silk, and the old barn for half an hour was a sight of idle passers-by. The fire department was called, but it was registered as a false alarm, for it was an empty barn that had taken fire just outside of the city limits.

And the stars, the moon, the frost, and the sunlight have looked upon a few white scattered bones, and the heavens have wept upon them; and as they crumble to dust the earth absorbs them. And the stars, the moon, the frost, and sun still gaze on strange ambitions, strange misfortunes, strange sad endings.—L. E. Sommers in Inter-Ocean.

The employes of two cotton mills at Penacook, owned by the Mechanic and Contoocook companies, have been notified of an advance of ten per cent in wages beginning March 1st.

Captain Mitchell, of the bark Antoine Sela, New York and Havana trade, came home in May, entirely helpless with rheumatism. He went to the mountains, but receiving no benefit, at his wife's request began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla He immediately began to improve; in two months his rheumatism was all gone, and he sailed in command of his vessel a well man. Hood's Sarsaparilla will help you. Sold by all druggists.

The strike of the employes of the Concord Axle works, Penacook, is at an end, and as the solution of the trouble is satisfactory to the Knights of Labor, a victory may be recorded for the workmen.

The pain and misery suffered by those who are afflicted with dyspepsia are indescrible. The distress of the body is equalled or surpassed by the confusion and tortures of the mind, thus making its victims suffer double affliction. The relief which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla has caused thousands to be thankful for this great medicine. It dispels the causes of dyspepsia, and tones up the digestive organs. Another Hero Gone.

Riot at Seattle.

At Seattle, Washington territory, the anti-Chinese movement of the 7th culminated in a fight between the mob and the militia. The militia and home guards, five companies in all, were ordered out early in the evening on the 8th, and being attacked by the mob gave them a volley, killing Bernard Mullane, wounding James Murphy and another man, and fatally wounding an unknown rioter. The mob then dispensed. United States troops will go from Vancouver to Seattle.

Socialist Riot in London.

There was a big riot in London on the 8th inst., in which about fifteen thousand men participated. It originated in a public meeting called by the socialists, and the mob swep resistlessly over a valuable portion of the city, the police being utterly powerless to stay its progress. There was but little bloodshed, the men finding sufficient employment in sacking beer and gin shops, tailors' establishments, jewelry shops, etc., and in the breaking of windows. The work of destruction was kept up until about midnight.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age! Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

There was considerable excitement on Pennallow street Tuesday forenoon, in consequence of of smoke een issuing from the windows of a tenement house on that street. Officer Watkins presently appeared, and smelling the odor of burning wool soon found fire in a lot of old clothing, where a little boy had been playing with matches. The burning stuff was quickly thrown out in the snow, and all trouble ceased

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

THE THEATRE.

The Gilbert Opera Co. will present the latest craze in the comic opera line—the "Japanese" opera, "The Mikado" — at Music hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. Mr. Gilbert and his wife are well known through their frequent appearances here, as pleasing singers and superior actors; and the entire cast is said to be equally as efficient. The costuming and stage setting are claimed to be in advance of any other Mikado company that has previously been on the road.

OUR SHADE TREES.

Mr. Editor: As one now walks our streets and beholds the sad work done to our beautiful shade trees by the Ice King during the late storm, if he be a son of Portsmouth, one that loves all that makes his home so beautiful, he cannot but view with deep sorrow the sad havoc made to one of her brightest jewels. He recalls the dear memories of those now in God's Acre at the farther end of Richards avenue, who in his boyhood planted these trees and watched their daily growth, and he asks himself what can be done to preserve these monuments to their memories? No one but will say, something should be done; and I would suggest to our city fathers that when they are preparing the annual appropriation bill they do not forget our trees, but appropriate a sum sufficient to not only repair as far as possible the damages they have lately met with, but also to set out new ones where needed to take the place of those dying or dead. This can be done legally in accordance with an act approved by the legislature of the state June 25th, 1858, entitled "An Act to authorize the City of Portsmouth to set out Shade and Ornamental Trees and Shrubbery." For years nothing has been done to carry out the objects of this act, and now it seems to me is the proper time to take hold, all of us, with a will, and be about this business. Look around our streets and recall how many of our trees have died, or been cut down by the ruthless hand of trade; their numbers go up to the hundreds. On the other hand how many have been set out? You can number them on your fingers. What a beautiful duty to assign to our G. A. R. Post, on Memorial Day, as has been done in other places, to commemorate the memory of dead comrades and victories won by setting out along our streets beautiful trees to their honor. X ROADS.

MR. NORTON INVITED OUT.

The first report of the hearing in the United States circuit court at Boston, before Judge Colt, on the motions of Marcus P. Norton for a rehearing in the cases of Norton et als. vs. Dover and other New Hampshire cities, was incorrect in stating that Judge Colt reserved his decision. While Norton was arguing the motions the counsel for the defense interrupted, stating that a full and absolute release had been given to all the cities by Norton, and produced an attested copy. Judge Colt then refused to hear the motions further, saying Norton had no standing in court, and must first, if he claimed the release to be fraudulent, bring a bill in equity to cancel the release.

WILLIAM A. HANSCOM

Died in Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 7th, in the 46th year of his age. He was born in South Berwick, Me., and learned the carperter's trade, after which he was for several years employed in the pattern-makers' shop at the Portsmouth navy yard, residing during that time in this city. In 1865 he removed to Haverhill, Mass., and went into the hardware business with his brother, M. N. Hanscom, in which he continued with success up to the time of his death. Deceased was a member of Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, and Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., of this place; and in 1870 was married to Miss Fanny Locke of this city, who survives him. He leaves no children. Mr. Hanscom was a man of the highest business integrity, charitable and public spirited, and enjoyed the universal esteem of his fellow citizens.

A PRACTICAL BUSINESS MAN'S LAW BOOK.

Laws of Business; revised and enlarged edition, by Theophilus Parsons, LL. D., late professor of law at Harvard university.

The reputation of Judge Parsons is a sufficient recommendation for any book he has put before the public, and it is sufficient to say that this book covers all that is implied in the title. It is practical in the best sense of the word; full of clear and useful information on all business points, for non-professional as well as professional use, and should be in the hands of all intelligent persons. It is one of the great works that will repay any man for a careful perusal. The book has been prepared for business men, and no efforts have been spared to make it in every way qualified to meet their wants. It has about four hundred approved forms of deeds, mortgages, bills of sale, warrantys, etc., and we believe we risk nothing in saying it is the best book for the purpose yet published.

A. J. Nay is to take orders in this city for this valuable work, and his list when completed we presume will answer for a roster of the professional and business men of the place. He is an ex-newspaper man, having formerly been connected with the Rochester Courier, Dover Enquirer, and other papers, and he has a good book to canvass for.

A Big Advertisement.

A conspicuous instance of advertising on a grand scale is the price recently paid in Boston for a single insertion in one paper,—$2,000,—S. R. Niles acting as agent in the transaction. The advertisement was of a popular shoe, and occupied the cover page of the Youth's Companion, premium number, which had a circulation of over 450,000 copies. This is probably the largest sum ever paid for one insertion of an advertisement, and is a conspicuous instance of the extent to which advertising is done by those who appreciate its benefits; and we understand that the results in this instance have been such as to satisfy the advertisers that they were fully justified in the expenditure. The good judgment of Mr. Niles in the placing of advertisements where they will do the most good has long been understood in Boston and throughout New England; and his well earned reputation in this direction is also recognized in New York, London and Paris, shrewd business men in all those cities doing a good share of their advertising through the old and reliable Boston agency.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. One repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the pores free, the skin unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2342 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specifully and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

Serving a Warrant on Lost Mountain.

From Joel Chandler Harris's humorous and dramatic story, "Trouble on Lost Mountain" in the January Century, we take this characteristic incident of mountain life in northern Georgia: "On one occasion shortly after the war, Abe had gone to the little county town on business, and had been vexed into laying rough hands on one of the prominent citizens who was a trifle under the influence of liquor. A warrant was issued, and Dave McLendon, the sheriff of the county, a stumpy little man, whose boldness and prudence made him the terror of criminals, was sent to serve it. Abe, who was on the lookout for some such visitation, saw him coming, and prepared himself. He stood in the doorway, with his rifle flung carelessly across his left arm.

"'Hold on thar, Dave!' he cried, as the latter came up. The sheriff, knowing his man, halted.

"'I hate to fling away my manners, Dave,' he went on, 'but folks is gettin' to be mighty funny these days. A man's obleeged to s'arch his best frien's 'fore he kin find out thar which-aways. Dave, what sort of a dockyment is you got ag'in' me?'

"'I got a warrant, Abe,' said the sheriff pleasantly.

"'Well, Dave, hit won't fetch me,' said Abe.

"'Oh, yes!' said the sheriff. 'Yes it will, Abe. I bin a-sittin' these kind er warrants a mighty long time, an' they fetches a feller every whack.'

"'Now, I'll tell you what, Dave,' said Abe, patting his rifle, 'I got a dockyment here that'll fetch you a blamed sight quicker'n your dockyment'll fetch me; an' I tell you right now, plain an' flat, I hain't a-gwine to be drug aroun' an' slapped in jail.'

"The sheriff leaned carelessly against the rail fence in the attitude of a man who is willing to argue an interesting question.

"'Well, I tell you how I feel about it, Abe,' said the sheriff, speaking very slowly. 'You kin shoot me, but you can't shoot the law. Bang away at me, an' thar's another warrant after you. This yer one what I'm already got don't amount to shucks, so you better fling on your coat, saddle your horse, an' go right along wi' me jes' ez neighborly ez you please.'

"'Dave,' said Abe, 'if you come in at that gate you're a gonner.'

"'Well, Abe,' the sheriff replied, 'I lowed yo'd kick; I know what human natur' on these hills is, an' so I thes axed some er the boys to come along. They er right down thar in the holler. They hain't got no mo' idea what I come fer'n thar is in the moon yit they'd make a mighty peart posse. Tooby shore, a great big man like you ain't afeard fer ter face er little bit er law.'

"Abe Hightower hesitated a moment, and then went into the house. In a few minutes he issued forth and went out to the gate where the sheriff was. The faces of the two men were a study. Neither betrayed any emotion or alluded to the warrant. The sheriff asked after the 'crap,' and Abe told him it was 'middlin' peart,' and asked him to go into the house and make himself at home until the horse could be saddled. After a while the two rode away. Once during the ride Abe said:

"'I'm mighty glad it wa'n't that feller what run ag'in you last fall, Dave.'

"'Why?' asked the sheriff.

"'Reckaw I'd a' plugged him certain an' shore,' said Abe.

"'Well,' said the sheriff, laughing, 'I wuz a-wishin' mighty hard thes about that time that the t'other feller bed got 'lected.'"

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the Investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

Nelson H. Baker, district attorney, Westchester county, N. Y., office at White Plains, writes June 20th, 1885: "Five years ago, I, my two sons and wife were very liable to colds. We wore the heaviest clothing, wrapping ourselves up warm; but it was colds, coughs and catarrh all the time. Finally we commenced wearing Allcock's Porous Plasters as chest protectors. The first year we got rid of our heavy flannel as well as all coughs and colds. We each wore two Plasters on the chest and pit of the stomach for three or four weeks at a time, then washed the parts with alcohol and put on fresh ones; they appeared to warm and invigorate the whole body so that we never took cold."

A Wise Reform.

The habit of administering quinine in powerful doses, as an anti-lote to malarial maladies, was once dangerously common. Happily this practice has undergone a wide reform. Not only the public, but professional men have adopted, not wholly, of course, but largely, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a safe botanic substitute for the pernicious alkaloid. The consequences of this change are most important. Now fever and ague sufferers are cured—formerly their complaints were only for the time relieved, or half cured—the remedy eventually failing to produce any appreciable effect, except the doses are increased. A course of the Bitters, persistently followed, breaks up the worst attacks and prevents their return. The evidence in favor of this sterling specific and household medicine is of no ambiguous character, but positive and satisfactory, and the sources whence it proceeds are very numerous.

The price of cotton in New York is the lowest for thirty-seven years.

Rheumatism is primarily caused by acidity of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease.

Considerable activity is manifested among the Socialists at Chicago.

A lady wrote: "I don't have that awful sideache now. I applied a Hop Plaster." 25 cts.

Richard Robert Madden, the distinguished orator, is dead in England.

Talk is cheap. Actual results count. Use Hop Porous Plasters for pains, aches and weaknesses.

Senor Marti, the oldest Spanish merchant doing business in New York, is dead.

The best yet. Beach Soap Company's Banner picture. Call at your grocer's and see it.

The New York cigar makers' troubles will probably be adjusted soon by arbitration.

The secret art of beauty lies not in cosmetics, but is only in pure blood and a healthy performance of the vital functions, which can be obtained by using Burdock's Blood Bitters.

The Pittsfield (Mass.) Manufacturing company has adopted the fortnightly system of payments.

All sufferers from blood disorders can use Ayer's Sarsaparilla with the fullest assurance of happy results.

William H. Crane, the comedian, is so ill in Chicago that he is unable to play his part in the "Comedy of Errors."

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart-Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Workmen at Windsor Locks, Conn., propose organizing a local assembly of the Knights of Labor in a few days.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose.

The president on the 10th appointed George M. Stearns to be attorney general of Massachusetts.

A STONE FOR BREAD.

The Failure of Beef Tea.

(From the Philadelphia Press.)

One by one, in turn, like the nostrums which sicken and deplete the system, the so-called strength-giving devices fall into disuse, to be supplemented by what the common sense of the people has discovered to be simpler and better. Not long since the Chicago "News" published the following: "Chemistry has decided that the food value of beef tea is so small that it can scarcely be classed as a food. Physicians have for some time taught that to give a convalescent beef tea—even the very strength of the meat—is to give him a stone when he asks for bread. What is needed is to add malt to some of the prepared food. This fact is not sufficiently well known to nurses, and hence convalescence is often needlessly prolonged." About the same time another chemist declared that oatmeal, as a food, had about as much value as "chips." Simultaneous with these disclosures, there appeared in the Cincinnati "Times-Star," a discussion, at length, upon the merits of Beef Tea, in which appeared the results obtained by a German scientist from experiments with two dogs to ascertain its value as a food. The two animals, comparatively, were of equal strength and health, and for a stated time were given, respectively water and beef tea. The one to which beef tea was administered died, the other, sustained on water, lived. One-half the restoratives do not restore promptly, or efficaciously. Nature wants a help to get stronger. Medicine might further weaken. Physicians, without exception, now unite in prescribing pure whiskey absolutely free from fusel oil, and other noxious and poisonous adulterations which are the chief objections to ordinary whiskies. Not until recently, however, was the process discovered of eliminating the active and virulent poison. But upon the introduction of Duffy's pure malt whiskey, which scientists declare to be absolutely pure, it at once became the standard in medical practice, and combining a food and stimulant quality, it is the recognized specific, in the place of these discarded nostrums.

I wished Death

TERRIBLE BULLETS.

An American Naval Officer's Wonderful Discovery.

An Alta reporter the other day had a most interesting interview with Lieut. James W. Graydon, late of the United States Navy. The first subject broached was that of his new dynamite projectile, a discovery which promises to revolutionize even modern warfare, and render even the most destructive weapons of this advanced age insignificant by comparison. His discovery is nothing more nor less than the manufacture of missiles charged with dynamite, which can be fired from a gun, and depended upon not to explode until contact with the target is attained. The projectiles are simply shells, charged with dynamite instead of the variety of common powder that can be used to charge shells with, and depended upon not to explode with the concussion of the discharge of the gun. When the terrible execution of the present style of shell is taken into consideration and the statement is made that dynamite has fourteen times the explosive force of the best modern gunpowder the frightful capacity for destruction of such a projectile is beyond the power of imagination.

"So you want to see my destroyer, do you?" laughingly asked the lieutenant, as the reporter made known his errand. "Well, sir, I am hardly prepared to go into details as yet, as several countries remain to be covered by patents, but I will explain as far as I can."

As he spoke the inventor of bottled destruction opened a small box containing two or three score of what appeared to be ordinary rifle cartridges, with the exception that each conical bullet was tipped with a little brass cap. "This," said the lieutenant, picking up one of the cartridges, "is the idea applied to small arms. The shell is charged with ordinary gunpowder, and the cartridge can be fired from any weapon that it will fit. The ball is hollowed out sufficiently to admit of the storage of the desired quantity of dynamite, which is kept in place by this tightly-fitting detonating cap (pointing to the little brass tip). This cap, as you observe, projects slightly beyond the edge of the lead, and its contact with the target fires the dynamite. My invention consists in preserving the explosion of the contents of the projectile until it encounters its mark. It is accomplished by overcoming the initial concussion; how, of course, is my secret for the present."

"What is the result of a loaded ball of this character coming in contact with a man's body?" he finally asked, after a long inspection of the cartridge.

"Well, his family would be saved funeral expenses and there would be no danger of his lingering in a hospital or needing the attendance of surgeons."

"Have you tried it?"

"Not on a human being, but there are a few acres of rocks in the neighborhood of the Boca Tigres forts that are well fertilized with goat flesh. My first shot after I had satisfied myself of the total absence of danger was at a flock of wild goats feeding on the hights above the fort. The distance was 1,000 yards, as near as I could estimate it, but there was a considerable flock, closely bunched, and it did not require extraordinary markmanship to hit one. Three were killed by the explosion of the bullet, which was a 44-calibre, or at least we found horns enough for three goats. One, the direct recipient of the compliment, was scattered around in pieces an inch or so in size. He was a total wreck. Several similar experiments have been made with similar results, and the power of explosion is something beyond comprehension. I have used large guns—up to the size of a four-inch rifle—and I don't know what can resist a large projectile of this character. Certainly no man-of-war, no matter how heavy its armor, can withstand the shock of two or three of them, and my experiments have gone so far that every one who has seen a demonstration of the projectile's work is perfectly satisfied that any shell now in use can be loaded with dynamite instead of powder. Gun cotton and gelatine can also be used as the explosive, and I have tried both."—San Francisco Alta.

All Bets Off.

It was in the pauses of the lottery drawing. Stocks were down and he had been losing at poker. He began looking around to see what he could gamble on, and after dinner, when his wife had left the table and retired, one of his friends by a casual remark threw an entirely new idea into his head.

"I'll bet it's a girl," said he.

That started it, and before the evening was over the young husband had made a book on the baby. The time approached, and one evening late there was an unusual commotion. The telephone bell kept going for an hour or two very lively; a professional-looking gentleman and a professional-looking old woman were among those who responded to the messages. The last call brought a messenger boy.

"Take that down to the —— club," said the father.

The note was opened there. It read very simply: "All bets off. Twins."

He says that babies are as uncertain things to gamble on as cards.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Swedish chemist has invented a suitable combination of suitable substance and flame for producing light from an incandescent solid. The flame of water-gas has intense heating power. An ordinary fan-tail burner is used, the flame from which passes between two rows of vertical teeth composed of magnesia, baked and ground, and with starch, under high pressure. The teeth when heated become beautifully luminous, and the light shows colors correctly, and can be used for photography.

Athletic sports may now be said to form part of the course of education in all schools and colleges. There is a danger, however, that they may some times be indulged in to a hurtful degree, and experienced athletes always counteract the effects of severe training by thorough applications of St. Jacobs Oil. This strengthens the muscles and makes the limbs firm and elastic.

A Retrospection.

I set a high value on newspaper advertising. For more than thirty years I have as an agent disbursed many millions for advertisers throughout the press of the United States and Canada. I began as a clerk with Mr. S. M. Pettengill, who is still in business in this city, was his only partner for ten years under the style of S. M. Pettengill & Co., then formed a partnership with D. R. Locke of the Toledo, O., Blade, under the stye of Bates & Locke, and now for eight years have gone on alone.

This is a good while to be steadily in one business, and as I have succeeded fairly well in it, gaining at least a large experience, it occurred to me, as these active years of my past life came up in review, that neither publishers nor advertisers would take it amiss if I set down some conclusions I have formed at the end of so long a period of work, bearing on the whole subject of newspaper advertising. These I will place in a detached sort of way, without any pretence to orderly composition.

1. When I began, newspaper advertising was not as respectable as it is now. Respectable is, perhaps, not quite the right word to express the status of a business, looked on as rather irregular and queer, but no other so good occurs to me just now. Regular, steady-going business houses thirty years ago felt something like shame in advertising their goods in the newspapers. The feeling has pretty much worn away, although some of it still lingers among old-fashioned business men.

2. I should judge that the people of this country expend at least thirty times as much money in newspaper advertising as they did thirty years ago. The vast increase of population and newspapers explains a considerable part of this, but it mostly comes from the more general and freer use made of the advertising columns by the general public. All classes have come more and more to believe that the newspaper is the most impersonal, self-respecting and effective way of getting before the public with what anyone wants to say to it.

Thirty years ago a man who should spend $25,000 a year in the newspapers would attract attention as a large advertiser; now there are houses expending almost as much monthly, right along thro' the year, without attracting attention. Mr. Robert Bonner, whose undertakings in all directions have been characterized by breadth, boldness, precision and success, was the first to make the public familiar with large advertising applied in the most original manner, to build up the circulation of his Ledger to a point never attained before or since by any journal in this country. Although Mr. Bonner's largest newspaper advertising was done twenty-five years ago, (for he rapidly made his paper successful, and having accomplished his purpose, cut down his expenses in that channel), still no one has come up to the "splendid audacity" of an order for one insertion of an advertisement to cost over $60,000. And yet in pecuniary matters he is a very exact and careful man.

3. It agrees with my experience that newspaper advertising is profitable. As I look back over the very considerable number of those whose advertising I have done, I do not now recall a single one who judiciously, perseveringly and freely pushed good articles, of whatever kind, in the newspapers, and did not make at least a fair success, while a great many have gained ample fortunes. I will not mention names in support of this statement, as I could easily do, but the list is a large one. Indeed, it has been my observation that it is easier for large advertisers to make money than to keep it. Often it comes in so fast that the head gets turned, and lavish personal expenditures and unprofitable investments swallow up the fortunes which, had they been longer in making, would likely have been more permanent.

When business men come to look on the cost of steady newspaper advertising as an investment, sure to pay as well as any other, and not unlikely to be exceedingly profitable, they will use it more systematically than heretofore, and regard it as a necessary item of expense.

4. Ever since I have been in business there have been wide differences of opinion among advertisers as to the best mediums and methods, and never so great as now in consequence of the rivalry between advertisers and agents; and whenever any one succeeds by the use of certain mediums in a certain way, he naturally concludes his method to be the best, notwithstanding another may have made an equal success by using quite another class of newspapers in quite a different way. Twenty-five years ago large advertisers, as a rule, contented themselves with a well-written and displayed advertisement taking its run on the advertising pages, or paid something more and used a "Special Notice," in a position for a long time the only preferred one in the general run of newspapers, and having no other advantage over the ordinary advertisements than being nearer the reading matter. Now the struggle is to get preferred positions with displayed advertisements or to work in notices and reading articles so that the readers of a newspaper will think them either written or selected by its editor. Still I do not know that advertisers now make it pay them any better than those did a quarter of a century ago, who used simpler and cheaper methods, and told their stories in a plain way over their own names, and used the same advertisements year after year until the public came to look on them not unkindly as old acquaintances. Having seen success obtained by so many different methods of advertising I have learned to be modest in urging on customers this or that way as the only possible one of succeeding, and content myself with suggesting what would be a way suited to the particular case in hand, and this with a feeling that other ways might possibly be as good, if not better. Twenty years ago I thought I knew more about all this than I know now, and I leave confident and positive advice to the younger agents, who can speak with the happy and often winning assurance of a more limited experience.

5. Finally, I found my business more pleasant to carry on than the average of the trades and professions. The large newspaper advertisers in my time have been, and are, as a rule, intelligent men, comfortable to do business with, and I can certainly bear testimony to the honorable sense of obligation among them as a business class, when I say that I habitually take verbal orders amounting to many thousands of dollars, and do not now recall an instance where the giving of such informal authority was disputed. I doubt whether many in other lines of business, after thirty years' experience, can say this; and it pleases me to think that the fact speaks well for both parties. I never expect to engage in any other line of business, and am quite content with the confidence of those who deal with me, and the modest profit of my transactions. J. H. BATES.

One of Baltimore's foremost commission merchants, Mr. W. Edwin Chipchase, (of Chipchase Bros.,) writes: A few days since I sprained my left foot, the pain was so severe that I could hardly walk at all. I saw your Salvation Oil advertised, so determined to give it a square trial. A few applications relieved me entirely and my foot is now as strong as ever. For the relief and cure of sprains and inflammations I regard it as a preparation of great merit.

Captain Mitchell, of the bark Antoine Sala, New York and Havana trade, came home in May, entirely helpless with rheumatism. He went to the mountains, but receiving no benefit, at his wife's request began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Feb. 9th.

Albert Junkins, Esq., finished a fine barn last fall at a point of land just below Scotland bridge, York river, which formerly belonged to Joseph S. Grant, now of Kittery. It is a fine location for a summer residence, the fishing and hunting being good there. Mr. Junkins has been advised to put up a nice house at that point.

The ancient Moody place, facing York beach, is being renovated by Mr. Robert Rose Moody, who has hauled in since last summer nearly 200 loads of seaweed, besides a large quantity of swamp muck. The farm comprises 125 acres, of which eighty acres is tillage land, and the rest wood and pasture. He has about a dozen well-finished stalls for horses, which will be let during the coming season.

Mr. George Preble, who lately had charge of the meat store at the village, is a popular young man and skillful butcher. Since leaving the store he has had a number of calls to do butchering for various citizens, and has done it well.

Partridges are now budding, and are especially fond of the buds of the apple and birch. Since the game laws have been enforced—or partially enforced—these birds have greatly increased in numbers, as have also the rabbits. It was feared by sportsmen that the "ice storm" would kill many of the partridges, as they shelter themselves under the snow, and the icy crust it was supposed would prevent their escape; but no extensive trouble of the kind resulted. VIATOR.

YORK CORNER, ME., Feb. 9th.

Mr. Joseph Gowen of the Cider Hill district, now in his 76th year, who has been deaf and dumb since he had a fever at the age of six years, is quite ill with no possible chance of recovery. He receives the best of care from his nieces with whom he lives.

Mr. S. E. Grant of the Limerick house at Limerick made friendly calls on many of his old neighbors last week. He has many friends hereabouts, and from every appearance has gained many in his present locality. The younger Mr. Grant, postmaster at Limerick, is held in deservedly high esteem by the citizens of that town.

J. P. Norton has just returned from Baltimore, Md., and eastern Maine, whither he has been on an extended trip relative to his ice business. He predicts—fortunately for himself—a "corner" in the ice market. He has one pond clear of 150 acres, twenty inches thick, which will yield 250,000 tons. Very much of the Kennebec above his pond is rough and broken, and cannot be cut to advantage.

The best and largest stock of stationery and valentes to be found in York is at Plaisted's, where a pound of tea worth fifty cents is sold for forty-five.

Our old and valued friend Mr. William B. Roberts, now in his 76th year, is still at his bench, laboring for the good of men's soles, he being a cordwainer by trade; and to say that he has been faithful and true to that service is none too much. P.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, Feb. 9th.

The fine sleighing continues, and every one is happy; the farmers are improving the good weather, and getting out large quantities of wood and hauling logs to mill. The snow is not deep enough in the woods and fields to prevent going about them with ease.

Mr. Curtis DeLancey is cutting ice for next summer's use; it is of good quality and thickness, and very clear.

Mr. Benjamin T. Leavitt and wife and Mr. Charles Cutts and wife took advantage of the beautiful weather and fine sleighing of Tuesday, and rode to Portsmouth for the ladies to do a little shopping. Mr. Leavitt has an eye to business, and in order to keep posted on all the latest news paid a year's subscription of the Gazette, the best paper published in Rockingham county.

Miss Sophia Neal and her sister, Mrs. Jeffs, who have been living in the Col. Marston house on the Exeter road for some time past, have bought a house on the Portsmouth road, and moved into the same last week. C.

Steamer Cambridge Wrecked.

The well known steamer Cambridge, of the Boston and Bangor line, Ingraham master, struck on Old Man ledge, off George's island, Me., early in the morning on the 10th inst., and became a total wreck. All hands saved.

The Gloucester fishing schooner Lizzie H. Haskell, from Georges with 60,000 lbs. of haddock, went ashore on Plum island just before daylight on the morning of the 10th inst., the weather being thick. The whistle at Thatcher's island was heard, but was mistaken for the signal at the Highland light, Cape Cod. She was built in 1885, and valued at $10,000.

On Tuesday of this week an action of trover was brought by Charles A. Gardner, a fisherman of this city, against Capt. Charles Perkins of the schooner Lady Lincoln, charging the latter with the theft of trawls in Ipswich bay. Perkins was arrested, and furnished bail for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court. Both parties claim the trawls.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, Levi Downs master, from Eastport with a cargo of frozen herring, arrived at Boston Feb. 9th.

The schooner Mary A. Killen, ashore near the Third Cliff at Scituate, Mass., was sold on the 9th inst. for $1,000, it is said to parties in this city.

There were many arrivals of fishing vessels on Wednesday, the 10th inst., but the fares were generally very light. The prices paid averaged about $2 per hundred pounds.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

We take from the annual report of Chief Engineer Herbert A. Marden, of the fire department, to the board of mayor and aldermen, the following items of general interest:

"The department now numbers one hundred and twenty-three (123) men, viz.: Chief engineer, four assistants and clerk of fire department, three steamer companies of twenty-one men each, hook and ladder campany of seventeen men, two extinguisher companies of ten men each, supply wagon company of five men, four steam engineers, four steam firemen, and four drivers.

The apparatus of the department consists of three steam fire engines with hose carriages attached, one steamer in reserve, two extinguishers, one hook and ladder truck, one supply wagon, two horse hose carriages, and two sleighs.

Steamer No. 1 was built by the Portland company, put into service in 1864.

Steamer No. 2 was built by the Manchester Locomotive works, put into service in 1879.

Steamer No. 3 was built by the Amoskeag company, put into service in 1870.

Steamer No. 4 was built by B. S. Nichols & Co., put into service in 1876; rebuilt by Critchley & Whalley in 1879.

The steamers and extinguishers are in good condition and reliable. I would recommend buying a new hose wagon for steamer No. 4.

There are forty-seven hundred and fifty feet (4750) of American jacket or cotton hose in good and reliable condition. There are also forty-five hundred (4500) feet of leather hose, wholly unreliable and unfit for use, which I would recommend to be sold and the proceeds used toward the purchase of fifteen hundred feet of American jacket hose.

The engine houses are in fair condition, but wholly inadequate to the needs of the department, as they were built for hand engines and are not adapted to the use of steamers. I would recommend the building of one fire station, large enough to accommodate three steamers and the hook and ladder truck with their companies, with all modern improvements and attachments.

During the past year the Gamewell Fire Alarm telegraph has been introduced, and while I think the system is excellent, still there is great room for improvement. In other cities, with a little more of it, it has proved a perfect success. For further information of the working of it I will refer you to the appended report of the superintendent. I think it would materially add to the efficiency of the alarm to have an automatic whistle at Eldredge's brewery. I would also recommend the placing of a box at the corner of Daniel and Bow streets, also one at the corner of Vaughan and Deer streets and one at the corner of Market and Hanover streets.

The amount of money expended was $8059.83; $5397.91 was for salaries, and the balance, $2661.92, for the contingent expenses.

The reservoirs are fourteen in number, in fair condition. The one on Brewster street is only reliable one-half of the the time. There are two reservoirs near the Portsmouth Machine shop which might be utilized by laying a pipe from them to the front on Hanover street. I would recommend the building of a reservoir on Court place, connected with the main on State street with a four-inch pipe. The Dover street reservoir, containing an inexhaustible supply of water, is almost useless in time of fire as only one engine can play from it; this can be remedied by having a small reservoir at the corner of Islington and Cabot streets connecting with the Dover street reservoir, at which all the steamers can play."

FIRES AND ALARMS.

The list of fires and alarms for the year 1885, appended by the chief engineer to his report, shows the smallest total loss from fire of any year on record, the amount being only $797. There were but four fires where the loss was large enough to merit an estimate in the report, as follows:

March 4th, at Haven school house, loss $30; March 7th, John O'Brien's barn on Holmes court, $342; April 29th, building on Jefferson street owned by A. K. Brown, $25; August 9th, house on Mast street occupied by heirs of Thomas Quinn, $400.

There were five fires for which alarms were sounded, on which the loss amounted to but a trifle. March 10th, house of C. H. Kennison, Warren street, damage very slight; April 6th, old house of Joseph Akerman on Spinney road, destroyed; May 7th, house of Amanda Holbrook, Gates street, damage slight; all caught from chimneys. October 27th, building on Water street owned by Benjamin Russell, and containing hay, loss very small; November 4th, crate of straw in the rear of Franklin block, no loss at all.

On June 20th a false alarm was pulled in by the chief engineer, as a trial test. July 4th, some other person pulled in a false alarm from Christian Shore, having stolen a key to the box. August 27th, a false alarm was caused by a bonfire; and one on Dec. 31st by a smoking chimney on Market street.

THE MIKADO.

This evening, at Music hall, the Gilbert Opera Co. will present the reigning success, the Mikado, with the finest costumes and scenery of any company now playing the opera on the road. Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Osgood, Miss Russell, Miss Ernst and Miss Bate are known here as superior singers and actors, and the other members of the company are said to be equally as good. They have been playing in the interior of the state, and the papers of Concord, Manchester and other places seem almost extravagant in their praises of the entertainment afforded. Tickets can be secured at Goodrich's today. See advertisement for prices.

HARVARD VS. YALE.

The Dalys will appear in Music hall on Tuesday evening of next week, in the rousing "athletic comedy" entitled "Vacation; or, Harvard vs. Yale," which is endorsed by the Boston papers as being a most hilarious satire on modern college life. Tickets will go on sale Saturday, at Goodrich's.

GAS CO. ELECTION.

Pickering, Joseph W. Pierce, William W. Cotton; clerk and treasurer, Frank J. Philbrick. At a subsequent meeting of the directors C. C. Jackson was re-elected president of the corporation, and Thomas W. Martin superintendent.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2342 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad my clothes would stick to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humor on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specially and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

Burdette and the Burglars.

A story is told of how Burdette, the humorist, after marrying against the will of his sweetheart's stern father, visited that gentleman and, with his wife on one arm and a shotgun in the hollow of the other, secured peace with honor. There is another story of another exploit with a shotgun by Mr. Burdette which is authenticated by his own admission. Burglars were numerous in Burlington at one time when the clever writer was engaged on the Hawkeye; and a number of houses near his own had been raided. Naturally, under the circumstances, Mr. Burdette slept lightly, and so, when a slight noise was made one night at a window on the ground floor he was awakened. Mr and Mrs. Burdette occupied a room in the second story, and Burdette rose from his bed quietly, without disturbing his wife, stepped to a window, and discovered two men at work cutting the slats in the shudder of a window opening on a porch below. It was just the opportunity he had been awaiting. He had always wanted to kill a burglar, anyhow. He felt confident the robbers, after entering the house, would come up-stairs, and getting his shotgun he sat down placidly at the top of the stairway to await them. He would slay them with a couple of charges of buckshot just as they began the ascent. He waited long and patiently with the gun across his knees, but he could hear no further noise, and the burglars did not appear. It was a drowsy sort of night, just warm enough to make it comfortable for him where he sat with his back against the wall, and he concluded to wait until the villians came, though he half feared they might have failed to effect an entrance to the house. He leaned back contentedly, and it appeared to him only a moment later when he was shaken by the shoulder and Mrs. Burdette wanted to know what he was doing there. It was broad daylight. The watcher explained the situation, and then the two went downstairs. The door was open and the lower rooms had been plundered artistically. Whether the burglars had not intended to come up-stairs at all, or were deterred by the annoyance of stepping over a sleeping humorist, will never be known. So the affair passed into history—merely an incident in the annals of a quiet neighborhood.

Cute Boston Girls.

Arle Bates thinks that Boston girls are quick at repartee, and gives the following specimens. A gentleman who was apparently rather deeply tinged with the prevalent Anglomania was at a watering-place descanting upon the superiority of English over American scenery.

"There really is no finished scenery in this country," he was pleased to observe. "Of course the Palisades on the Hudson are very well made, but—"

"Yes," crisply and dryly interpolated the clever Boston girl whom he was favoring with his conversation, "I think they are—considering who made them."

Another Boston girl was at a New York reception. "So you are from Boston?" said a young gentleman to her.

"Oh, dear," she responded, with an accent of despair, "how did you know? I'm sure I tried hard enough to conceal it."

"To conceal it," he repeated, with a puzzled air. "Surely you are not ashamed of it?"

"Oh, no," replied she, with engaging candor, "but I thought everybody would be afraid to talk with me if they knew I was from Boston."—N. Y. Tribune.

A LIBERAL OFFER

From a Leading Firm.

One of the most generous and seasonable acts to which our attention has been called is the recent offer of Messrs. Hanson & Sproat of Taunton, Mass., calling upon all the clergy who have deserving poor in their congregations to send to them for a supply, free gratis, of their celebrated "Sproat's Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry," which is now universally conceded by the most learned medical men to be the only known sure cure for all cases of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

Their efforts for the public good have the indorsement of such well-known citizens as the Hon. George F. Pratt, Treasurer of Bristol County; Henry B. Leach, Treasurer Taunton Gas Light Company; James E. Seavey, City Marshal, Taunton; Rev. E. T. Allen, Rector East Taunton Congregational Church; Mrs. Wm. T. Hayward, Halifax; Mr. George F. Hart, engineer Home Bank Building, Brockton; Mr. Wm. R. Bowen of Bowen & Packard, Brockton, Mass.; George H. Sherman, Crescent Street, Brockton.

"Sproat's Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry" is sold by all Druggists and Grocers everywhere at only 25 and 50 cents for a bottle, and every bottle is warranted. A single trial will convince any one of its wonderful curative properties in all cases of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

"Sproat's Mandrake Pills" are also worthy of mention as being a mild and efficient remedy for all disorders of the Stomach and Liver.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and enriched?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $8,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

A Bear Slain With Dynamite.

I remember once when I was mining near Breckenridge that I met a grizzly bear—one that would tip the beam at 1,100 easily. You see, I was going up to the mine, and nothing could be further from my mind than expecting to meet one of those fellows at such a time and place. But it's like them; they always turn up when they are least expected, and when you are most illy prepared for them. I had no gun with me, nor even a knife. What was worse, or would be to a man who lacked presence of mind, I had with me a box containing dynamite cartridges, which were to be used in the mine. This would of itself have prevented me from retreating with credit and dispatch, if such a thing were possible; but it so happened that when I sighted the bear I had wandered from the regular trail, having taken a narrow ledge in the hope of finding a short cut to the mine. There was a sheer fall from this of at least 500 feet. The bear had already passed on to this when I first saw him, and, as I had never before traversed the ledge, I had no idea as to how far it might be passable.

When I saw the bear it was evident that he had not yet discovered my presence. He was shuffling along at an easy gait, apparently perfectly familiar with the path. I did not dare to run on the narrow ledge, but I got in the best licks at walking that I knew how and had soon gained a fair lead on the grizzly. I began to hope that I would come safely out of the difficulty, and was further encouraged by the fact that the ledge appeared to be slightly wider as I advanced. In rounding a sharp curve, however, you may imagine my consternation when I saw the ledge suddenly terminate not twenty feet in front of me in a cavern, unquestionably the habitation of the bear. Above the wall rose straight hundreds of feet, and below there was empty space. The bear had made a nice selection of a home, I saw at a glance, and he would find here, right at his very door, a meal in me, provided I could do nothing to avert the catastrophe.

I thought of everything I had about me, with a view of using it for my defense. I had eight pounds of candles, a jackknife, and a lead-pencil. It occurred to me that if I had sufficient candles I might feed the bear for a while until I could induce him to feel that he was in a wonderful medium for Combs, Brushes and Troubles, Screenes of the Chest, Pains in the Lungs, &c., as I have never known it to fail in effecting a cure.

Very sincerely yours, GEORGE F. PRATT.

Specimen English Voters.

A poor aged agricultural laborer residing at Birdlip, in the County of Gloucester, was canvassed a few days ago. "Will you give your vote to Mr. Yorke, John?" kindly inquired a gentleman. "No I shan't gie my vote to nos'body. Hu' be the fust voat as iver I had, and I shall kip un vor myself." "Now, John," continued the gentleman, "I am sure you will give your vote to Mr. Yorke." "No'ah, no'ah, I tells ee straight it be the fust voat as iver I ha' had gid to I, and I shan't gie un away to anybody, but I shall kip un vor mysel'." In another parish the squire has issued a little leaflet to the "hodge family" headed "Vote for your friends." The leaflet then tells them how they can discover their friends by the answer those supposed friends may give to the test questions. What with tracts, leaflets, lectures, books, and orations Hodge is perplexed, teased, and confused. A farmer said to his carter, when he brought in the keys of his stable, "Well, Bill, who bist a gwan to vote for?" "Well, mayster," replied Bill, "I ha' read the Squire's sarmont, and I be a gwan to take his advice, and to voat vor me friends." "And who be um, Bill?" Bill scratched his head, looked remarkably cute, and exclaimed: "Well, mayster, I can't exactly say, but you be one on um."—London Whitehall Review.

Chinese ideas of discipline are peculiar. A short time since the land-office at Fussu Hong was attacked by thirty bandits disguised as regular troops. The officer in charge defended the place bravely, and did not yield until one of his men had been killed and himself and five others wounded. The robbers plundered the treasury, set fire to the office, and rode off. In any other country the officer would have been commended for his courage; but the Chinese authorities looked at the matter differently, and he was pronounced severely to blame for not having taken measures to acquaint himself with the advance of the robbers, and for having failed to beat them off. He was therefore cashiered, while the officer in special charge of the treasury was adjudged to have had a larger sum deposited than he should have kept by him, and was called upon to make good the loss to the public out of his own funds.

Undigested Food

In the stomach develops an acid which stings the upper part of the throat and palate, causing "heartburn." It also evolves a gas which produces "wind on the stomach," and a feeling and appearance of distension in that organ after eating. For both this acidity and swelling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a much better remedy them alkaline salts, like hartshorn and carbonate of soda. A winoglassful of the Bitters, after or before dinner, will be found to act as a reliable carminative or preventive. This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form, also prevents and cures malarial fever, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in themselves a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.

The U. S. S. Brooklyn has sailed from Key West to Aspinwall, where she will assist the U. S. S. Tennesee, now at that port, in protecting the interests of American citizens in the event of further trouble on the isthmus. The U. S. S. Galena is now cruising in that vicinity.

Edward E. Carlton, the husband of Mrs. Etta M. Carlton, who was brutally murdered in her house at Watertown, Mass., in March, 1883, died in Texas a few weeks ago from injuries received by falling from a railroad train. Carlton hung around Boston for a year after his wife's murder, until he succeeded in collecting a $5,000 insurance on her life. He was able to prove that he had no hand in the actual killing of his wife, but there are probably not many persons who regard him as innocent of her murder.

"Reform" Financiering.

Two years ago, when the republicans went out of office in Ohio and a democratic reform administration took charge, there was a cash balance of $18,000 in the treasury. The two years' control of the state finances by the reformers has resulted in a deficiency of $1,056,-783.71, and the state must either borrow or levy new taxes to pay it off.

No Blizzard, No Snow.

A Portsmouth man now domiciled in Dakota, being aggrieved over the slanders published about the salubrious climate of that region, writes us as follows:

ELLENDALE, DAKOTA, Feb. 3d.

Mr. Editor: I want to use a little of your space in the cause of fair play. Nearly all the eastern papers, yours included, have had a deal to say with reference to the extreme cold weather and heavy snow-storms in Dakota. You are maligning our poor territory most outrageously. This town is in the very heart of the eastern portion, and we certainly ought to have experienced some of this terrible weather if it existed; but it is a fact that we have not.

There has been no snow worth mentioning. Our trains have not been delayed one hour this winter on account of it. Can you in New England say as much? To be sure the thermometer has been down to forty below zero quite frequently, but somehow one does not realize it is so cold. The air is very dry and exhilarating, and a person actually suffers less with the cold here at that degree than he does in New England at twelve below.

We have bright sunshine nearly all the time. Not a drop of rain has fallen for two months, and we have had only three falls of snow, the heaviest not being over three inches on a level. I have now been in the territory a year, and have never yet seen a blizzard. Wish we could have one, just to see what it is like. The truth is that I will take Dakota weather every time, blizzards and all, in preference to that in which I was raised.

I have just read an item in a Vermont paper which gives us fourteen feet of snow here! This is a ——a—— well, it isn't true; and the item you published in the Gazette of January (something), isn't any better. The object of this scribble is not so much to vindicate Dakota weather, as it is to deter our friends in the east from pitying us. We don't need that. Yours, N.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, of this port, Downs master, which arrived at Boston on the 9th inst. from Eastport, Me., had a cargo of 350,000 frozen herring.

The steamer Wesley A. Gove, of and from Boston for Portland with the brig Waverly in tow, and the steamer Seguin, of Bath, which came around from that port to tow the schooner Elm City, there to load ice for a southern port, were at this port on the 11th inst., making themselves comfortable at the wharves during the storm.

The fishing schooner Mattie Kenney, from Georges with 40,000 lbs. of haddock, went ashore on Salisbury beach, Mass., on the night of the 10th inst., and filled; probably a total loss.

The schooner Lizzie H. Haskell, which went ashore on Plum island on the morning of the 10th, was reported later in the day to have filled with water; the sea was increasing, and making a clean breach over her, and her position was a bad one; her fare of 60,000 lbs. of haddock was a total loss, and the vessel was likely to be.

The British schooner Lizzie K., previously reported wrecked on an island at the entrance to Cape Porpoise harbor, Me., was sold at auction on the 10th inst. Her sails and rigging, and about 480,000 laths from her cargo have been saved, and her anchors and chains will be recovered; she lost about 100,000 laths. The vessel and cargo were well insured.

The Gloucester schooners Maud M. Story and Virginia Dare, supposed to have been lost with all on board while halibuting on the banks, were both at Cape Ray, Newfoundland, Feb. 10th, with crews all well. The Maud M. Story has been absent since early in December, and the captain's wife was some days ago paid the insurance on his life; it is this vessel of which Fred Burke of this city is one of the crew.

How Captain Simmons Happened to Invest in the Louisiana State Lottery.

The man who has received more congratulations during the past few days than any other in Manchester is undoubtedly the popular Capt. Albion R. Simmons, for his good fortune in drawing so nice a prize as $5,000 in the January Drawing of The Louisana State Lottery. "How happened you to invest in a lottery ticket and what plan did you pursue?" inquired a representative of The Union of Capt. Simmons shortly after the latter had returned from a visit to a savings bank, where the officials had placed the sum of $4,992.50 to his credit on his deposit book. "I will tell you," was the response. "Knowing of friends who had drawn small amounts in the Louisana Lottery, and having seen the official reports of the drawings, I became somewhat interested, and saw that by investing $1 there was a possibility of a man drawing $15,000. I went about it with a method, investing $1 each month, which gave me one-fifth of a ticket, and this plan I followed for eight months, and the eighth time I 'caught on,' as the boys say."

"Have you received your money?"

"I drew through the bank Jan. 25th, and the money came yesterday. To-day I had $4,992.50 placed to my credit on my deposit book, the rate of exchange being $7.50, which makes the difference between the amount with which I am credited and the $5,000 which my ticket called for."

"Shall you continue to purchase tickets?"

"Oh, yes, I shall buy a one-fifth ticket each month, which I can well afford to do. I went into it in the first place more as a matter of pleasure than anything else, and I can certainly get $1 worth of amusement out of it each month. It interested me before I held a successful ticket, to know where the prizes went to, and to see how near I came to getting one."—Manchester (N. H.) Union, Feb. 4th.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dallman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

THE MIKADO.

Probably the stormy weather of Thursday evening kept some persons away from Music hall, and possibly others refrained from attending lest the entertainment offered might prove inferior. If there really were any in the latter class, their fears were entirely unfounded, for the Mikado was produced in a most pleasing manner from beginning to end —excellent singing and acting, handsome scenery and gorgeous costumes. The performers have been playing together long enough for everything to run smoothly; they know their lines, and careful attention is paid to details and "business." In short, the amusing comic opera received a charming presentation, and merited a crowded house. As it was the audience was by no means a small one.

This evening the performance will be repeated, and all who enjoy fine singing and acting can secure an evening's pleasure at a moderate cost. The Mikado is not likely to be more attractively presented on this stage.

HARVARD VS. YALE.

Of "Vacation; or, Harvard vs. Yale," the Boston Journal says it "is simply a delicious comedy; it is pure and unadulterated fun from beginning to end, and all is so natural, so wholly possible, so reasonable and so honest, that the spectator, whether man or woman, and however fastidious, yields at once without reserve to its spell, and laughs with full abandonment to the spirit of the hour, sure that the cup of pleasure will leave no apres-gout, and that no regret will follow because one's mirth had been roused and stimulated by what one's subsequent judgement could not approve. In the whole bewildering sequence and confusion of ideas and incidents there is nothing to excise or modify, if taken honestly for what it is worth and as it is meant."

The "plot" is not at all intricate. "Harry Hall of Harvard, and Yardly Yerrance, of Yale, accompanied by their two English servants, Chopps and Mitts, resolve to visit Cape May to spend their vacation. They are domiciled at the cottage of a kittenish old maid, one Priscilla Plush, whose apparent only aim in life is to captivate a somewhat susceptible Professor Smythlin, who, in the interest of his two pupils, who by the way are also his wards, has consented to follow the frisky and fun-loving students, Harry and Yardly. At the cottage of Miss Plush the two lively collegians meet a pair of Vassar girls, Virgie Vane and Viola Vincent, who have in their employ a lively maid, Della, who is decidedly 'up to snuff.' The peculiar tactics resorted to by the athletic students to win the hearts of Virgie and Viola; the laughable contretemps of the two servants, who fight a Bennett-and-May duel over the coquettish Della; the hazing of the professor; the peculiarities of Rabbit, a French butler, who has a remarkable faculty of getting everybody and everything woefully mixed; and the generally ludicrousness of the entire play is a revelation of American humor and is an oasis in the desert of so-called comedies."

At Music hall next Tuesday evening; tickets on sale at Goodrich's to-morrow. See advertisement.

THE FIRE ALARM--SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

The following is the report of Superintendent W. I. Trafton of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, submitted to the chief engineer of the fire department Jan. 1st, 1886:

"The Gamewell system of telegraphic fire alarm was introduced into this city by Mr. Edwin Rvers last May at an expense of $2860, and has never failed to respond on any occasion since it was put in.

In the construction of the line 6 3-4 miles of wire is used, upon which are eleven signal boxes, one automatic bell-striker, one indicator, one gong, and two mechanical tappers, charged with twenty-four cups of battery, all of which are in an excellent condition. The boxes are of the latest make, and equipped with all the modern improvements.

The alarm now consists of a whistle at Eldredge's brewery and a striker in the tower of the North church; a ten-inch gong has been placed at the Portsmouth brewery, and an automatic machine for blowing it has been ordered. [This machine has been placed in position since this report was made.—Ed.]

The whole apparatus is carefully inspected and tested every month, and Cambridge time is struck each day at 12:30 o'clock P. M."

Quite a large delegation of Dover people will go down to Portsmouth on the 17th, to attend the second annual military ball of the S. O. V., of that city.—Dover Democrat.

A lodge of the Knights of Labor was instituted in this city Wednesday evening, by Messrs. Cavanaugh & Morse of Manchester. There was, it is reported, a large attendance, between forty and fifty persons joining the organization. The meeting was held in Franklin (upper) hall. Oliver H. Cook was chosen master workman.—Times.

Valentine's day is close at hand. Goodrich has a large variety of valentines to select from.

A truss has been put across the opening of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad bridge between Noble's island and Freeman's point, and the central row of piles which have impeded navigation are to be removed.

District Deputy Charles F. Horton and suite, consisting of Captain W. H. Bayley, Frank W. Evans and Percy L. Dame of Newburyport, installed the officers of Sagamore Lodge, A. O. U. W., of this city, Monday evening of this week.

Mr. Editor: Will you kindly allow me to inquire through your columns what our local assembly of Knights of Labor expect to accomplish by placing at the head of their organization one of the very men they have organized to suppress? ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing and itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; was able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was speedily and permanently cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not stand to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

He Explained.

Among Peoria's recent acquisitions is a colored policeman. When it is known that even among the colored race of that city he is called "Big Foot" some idea of his enormous pedal extremities may be formed. Immediately after the recent snow-storm, which was accompanied by such intense cold, an anxious crowd gathered about a lamppost early in the morning, where the print of two human forms was plainly visible in the snow. No person could have lain down there, even for a few minutes, without perishing in an atmosphere 20 degrees below zero. While they were speculating up came the colored policeman.

"Move on, dar," said he, "don't be destructing the street corners."

"But look," said one, "where two unfortunate people have been lying."

"Whah?" said he.

"There," answered the gentleman, pointing to the spots.

"Yes, look heah, white man. Better done quit dis foolishness. Dat's de spot whar dis officer of de law was standin' a few minutes ago. You'd better be gwine, I tell you."

The crowd took one look at the mighty feet of the colored policeman, and then scrambled out of the hole and went their several ways in peace.—Chicago Tribune.

Lighting the Fire by Clockwork.

Coriolanus Hughes, of Ninth Avenue, is a boilermaker. His business is a lucrative one, and for many years he has enjoyed a sort of monopoly among the boilermakers in the vicinity of his workshop. To a natural aptitude for inventing strange contrivances he adds the advantage of being a thorough and skillful mechanic. He has often found it disagreeable to get up and light his fire on a cold winter's morning, and he has now invented a machine which saves him the trouble. This consists of an ordinary metal clock, which can be wound up and set for any hour desired. If you want your fire lighted at five o'clock you set the hand at that hour and place it before the grate. Promptly at 5 o'clock a spring moves and a short metal rod projecting from the back of the clock drops down. To the end of this rod is attached a match which rubs against a piece of sand-paper and ignites a grip of paper fastened to the clock and connected with the kindling in the grate. Thus the fire is started when you are still sleeping. But a second contrivance is added to the clock. When the fire has burned long enough to heat the room a second spring moves and a wild alarm rings out on the stillness of your chamber and makes sleep an impossibility. Thus you are awakened at any hour desired, to find your fire burning brightly and the atmosphere of your room of the right temperature.—N. Y. Tribune.

Courtesy Toward Our Own Household.

One thing do remember, to have your home, every-day table just as attractive as the one to which you invite your honored guest. It pays to exerts one's self for one's family. They never lose sight of it. Ten to one if the honored guest, tired with social courtesies, will not forget you in a day, or only remember your little affair as a debt to be paid back some time. We do not under-estimate the duty of hospitality—but we do think we are more likely to err in the lack of the courtesy toward our own household. Be hospitable to them, we pray, thereby some of you may entertain angels unawares.—Margaret Sidney, in Good Housekeeping.

A LIBERAL OFFER

From a Leading Firm.

One of the most generous and seasonable acts to which our attention has been called is the recent offer of Messrs. Hazeltine & Sproat of Taunton, Mass., calling upon all the clergy who have deserving poor in their congregation to send to them for a supply of their celebrated "Sproat's Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry," which is now universally conceded by the most learned medical men to be the only known sure cure for all cases of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

Their efforts for the public good have the indorsement of such well-known citizens as the Hon. George F. Pratt, Treasurer of Bristol County; Henry B. Leach, Treasurer Taunton Gas Light Company; James E. Seaver, City Marshal, Taunton; Rev. E. W. Allen, Pastor East Taunton Congregational Church; Mrs. Wm. T. Hayward, Halifax; Mr. George F. Hart, engineer Home Bank Building, Brockton; Mr. Wm. R. Bowen, of Bowen & Packard, Brockton, Mass.; George H. Sherman, Crescent Street, Brockton.

"Sproat's Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry" is sold by all Druggists and Grocers everywhere at only 25 and 50 cents for a bottle, and every bottle is warranted. A single trial will convince any one of its wonderful curative properties in all cases of Coughs, Colds and Consumption.

"Sproat's Hazelnuts Pills" are also worthy of mention as being a mild and efficient remedy for all disorders of the Stomach and Liver.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unimjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Hundred, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches High, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with PLUSH STAND, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuettes, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

An unknown man shot himself to death in the Washington house, Boston, Feb. 9th.

Nelson H. Baker, district attorney, Westchester county, N. Y., office at White Plains, writes June 20th, 1885: "Five years ago, I, my two sons and wife were very liable to colds. We wore the heaviest clothing, wrapping ourselves up warm; but it was colds, coughs and catarrh all the time. Finally we commenced wearing Allcock's Porous Plasters as chest protectors. The first year we got rid of our heavy flannel as well as all coughs and colds. We each wore two Plasters on the chest and pit of the stomach for three or four weeks at a time, then washed the parts with alcohol and put on fresh ones; they appeared to warm and invigorate the whole body so that we never took cold."

BLEEDING NOSTRILS.—It has done me so much good, I want you to send me two bottles immediately. I have been afflicted with catarrh for over ten years—frequently my nose would bleed and leave the nostrils in a dry, inflamed condition, with constant soreness. I experienced relief after the first trial of Ely's Cream Balm. It is the best of a great many remedies I have tried, and I can fully recommend it.—E. Gill, Madison, Ohio, Editor of the Index.

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees the patrons thereof a degree of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built culverts and bridges, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can confer, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air brakes, and that exceptional discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

Is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made with those for all points in the Territories and British Provinces. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the watering places, summer resorts, picturesque localities, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota. It is also the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of Eastern Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE, via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened, between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

QUEER ADVICE.

An Old Physician Says Drink Your Whiskey Straight.

TO THE EDITOR: In several of your recent issues, I have observed the articles of a whiskey concern in Baltimore, Md., which, while written from an interested motive, contain some very sensible statements, especially their remarks about so-called bitters, cough syrups, cod liver oil, etc. Now, while I do not agree with them in some of their claims, still, as to the three mixtures above mentioned, no truer words could have been spoken. Every day in my practice I come across people whose maladies are traceable direct to these noxious compounds. Take, for instance, the widely advertised "bitters" of to-day. In nine cases out of ten, they consist of 50 per cent. (the amount the government allows) of what is called "commercial alcohol," that is, an alcohol of the vilest and most poisonous grade. The remaining ingredients consist of various foreign substances as flavoring extracts. These decoctions are consumed principally by the consumptive, the debilitated, the convalescent and others of weak stomach. Now, while alcohol, especially in the form of whiskey, is the best known stimulant, and is prescribed daily by the profession everywhere, and while whiskey and glycerine is the best thing for coughs, I can't conceive why people will insist upon taking this alcohol in the form of a decoction or a nostrum. It would be far better if they would take it "straight," as in that form, as the articles state, it passes into the blood vessels direct, without digestive effort on the part of the stomach, and affords more nutriment than any other known substance. If the concern in Baltimore have discovered a means of distilling an article of the kind they claim, that is, whiskey, absolutely pure and free from fusel oil (which I very much doubt), they have solved one of the greatest scientific problems of the 19th century, something that has been the source of more investigation among scientists and chemists during the last half century than any other one article known to the pharmacopœia, and the fortunate discoverers will have in it a greater monopoly than the large quinine operations had a few years ago, which latter monopoly is now gradually falling, through the great inroads whiskey is making on it in the cure of malarial troubles. OLD PRACTITIONER.

(Regarding the doubt expressed by the eminent doctor as to whether Duffy's pure malt whiskey is absolutely free from fusel oil, as claimed by the proprietors, we would say to our readers that the company submits their article to analysis by any intelligent chemist or physician, and it has already been analyzed by the most eminent chemists in the country, such as Mott, Menke, Arendt, etc.

Had pains in back, limbs and around the heart, she took two bottles of Athlophoros and was very much better right away."—W. E. MOORLEY, Lyons, N. Y.

Neuralgia, though one of the most common and most painful of diseases, has baffled all medical skill, and until ATHLOPHOROS was on the discovery of a sure cure, it was considered almost, if not quite incurable. Athlophoros SURELY and QUICKLY cures it. This statement, though strong, is warranted by the facts. Thousands have tested its value and recommend it as the ONLY remedy that brings relief. For ladies subject to neuralgia or nervous headaches it is indispensable. Athlophoros contains no opium, morphine, or other dangerous ingredient. It is absolutely harmless and universally successful in the prompt cure of this painful disease.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

A Hoosier Poet.

James Whitcomb Riley is a Hoosier poet, and is known as a writer of Hoosier poet, and is known as a writer of Hoosier dialect verse, as well as a reader of that peculiar literature. He was born at Greenfield, Ind., brought up there, and, according to his own story, is still tied to the apron strings of that motherly little town. Just when he was born, I know not, but guess at his age being between thirty-six and forty, possibly a little younger, not by any possibility older, and he is still unmarried. I have never seen him, but like the boy who didn't sing, but had a cousin who played on the flute, I have known persons who have seen him.

He is described as slight, and not very tall, with long, thin hands, a pale complexion, large and brilliant gray eyes, a prominent nose, thin lips and blonde hair. He isn't strictly conventional in manner or anything else, nor has he any aversion to a man because he is rich. He is a fluent and interesting talker, and likes queer people. Was taught sign painting as a trade, but didn't encourage his parents by special proficiency in the art or great devotion to it. He was thinking about poetry and writing poetry even when hanging in his basket painting lions and unicorns on hotel signs. He draws with some skill, and is "no slouch of a fiddler."

Poetry, however, in his special talent, and the muses are brought to book with no uncertain hand when he gets after them. His poetry is always extremely rhymic, and often dramatic. He depicts humble life touchingly. He has been charged with being imitative rather than creative—not consciously so, but in this way: What he takes in is reflected back in something not similar exactly, but suggestive, like the echo of a song, embellished by new refrains and sweeter notes.

He belongs to a class of dialect poets who are well-nigh peculiar to America, those who draw their inspiration from the good, strong common soil. They belong to the western United States rather than to the eastern. Bret Harte, Will Carlton and Mr. Riley himself are the best specimens of this type.

This imitative faculty stands him in good stead on the platform, where he depicts the queer characters of his poems with extraordinary art. "The Tree Toad" is one of his best-known productions and recitations, and "Old-Fashioned Roses" another. I quote two stanzas from the "Roses."

"They ain't no style about 'em,
And they're sort o' pale and faded;
Yit the doorway here without 'em
Would be lonesomer, and shaded
With a good deal blacker shadder
Than the morning glories makes,
And the sunshine would look sadder
For their good old-fashioned sakes.

"I like 'em, 'cause they kind o'
Sort o' make a feller like 'em!
And I tell you when I find a Bunch out where the sun can strike 'em,
It allus sets me thinkin'
Of the ones 'at used to grow
And peek in through the chinkin'
Of the cabin, don't you know?"

Most of Mr. Riley's poems have been published in the Indianapolis Journal of late years. He makes his home in the Hoosier capital.

Indiana is wealthy in poets. Maurice Thompson, Benj. S. Parker, Mary H. Krout, Margaret Holmes, Ben D. House and several others have made their mark. Mr. Riley can hold his own with any of them. In dialect poetry he is ahead of them all. There is reason to believe that Mr. Riley will achieve greater renown in the future than in the past.—L. T. Ohnell.

He Held Fast to a Good Thing.

"Yes," said the conductor on the Illinois Central, "I'm married at last, boys, and am mighty glad of it. But the strangest part of the story is how I came to meet my wife. It was about a year ago. One day we stopped at one of the stations down the line where the track is doubled, when there was a freight train approaching on the track west of the station. The freight slowed up so that passengers would have time to cross, and then put on steam and came along after I had given the signal to my engineer to start. But I stood on the ground looking out for passengers who might jump off and get hurt, as I always do under similar circumstances. On this occasion it was well that I did, because a young woman came running out of one of the coaches of my train and excitedly made a jump to get off. She landed right in my arms, and if I hadn't been there she'd have fallen before the freight engine and been crushed to death. Well, boys, I just held onto her until those two trains had passed, and they weren't very short trains either. She was so excited I didn't dare put her down, and I felt quite comfortable the way I was, anyhow, with her heart beating against mine. Well, in that minute and a half I lost my heart, and we were married a week before Christmas. She says she always did like a man who had sense enough to hold fast to a good thing when he had a chance."—Chicago Herald.

A retired newspaper-man writes to the Troy Times, telling of a pleasing experience with Mr. Vanderbilt: "I went to interview Mr. V.," he says, "and the big man was smilingly silent. 'Surely you wouldn't hinder a newspaper-man making a few dollars,' I said to him facetiously. 'A talk from you is worth a great deal. I made a handsome sum out of my first interview with you.' 'Well, by George, I like a man who can make money out of me,' said the railway king. 'It takes a smart man to do it. Fire away with your questions.'"

Edward Stocum of New Richmond, Allegan county, Mich., owns the first greenback issued. It is a dollar bill, bears date Aug. 1, 1862, is marked series No. 1, and was paid out to him as a Union soldier.

Buttrick & Gregg, carpenters and builders, Derry, have been attached.

Send to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass., for a book containing statements of many remarkable cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

John Otto, who died suddenly in Newark, N. J., Feb. 9th, aged forty-nine years, was one of the four soldiers who raised the United States flag on Fort Sumter in 1861, being then a member of the First United States heavy artillery. He had a medal commemorating the event. After the war he was engaged in the jewelry business at Newark.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose.

Senator Jones of Florida has been absent from his seat in the senate chamber throughout the session thus far, and it is said he is in a western city laying desperate siege to the affections of a lady who up to the present time declines to be captured. The lady who is the object of Senator Jones' attentions is a Miss Palms, now about thirty years of age, and only daughter of Francis Palms, the richest man in Michigan, and a well-known pine baron. It is said that the senator has never met Miss Palms in private.

TO LET, IN A PL

The mortality among children the past month has been enormous. Diphtheria is now the destroying angel. Let all well-meaning parents protect their helpless little ones, and always keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Randolph, with a population of 300, had two births, two marriages and two deaths last year. The latter were o persons eighty-five and eighty-two years old.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists.

Oriental Opinion.

Professor Kanny Loll Dey, the famous medical expert of India, on whom the Empress conferred the order of "Companion of the Indian Empire," besides elevating him to the rank of Rai Bahadoor, publishes an official opinion that the new discovery,—Red Star Cough Cure—is free from opiates or poisons, that it marks a new departure in medicine, and that he prescribes it with wonderful effect. It costs only twenty-five cents.

New Hampshire Agriculture.

The fourteenth annual report of the Board of Agriculture of New Hampshire has been received from Hon. James O. Adams, the secretary, of Concord. It is a book of 437 pages, and contains, in addition to the formal record of meetings, a large amount of valuable matter relating to farming matters generally. Among the papers are those on "Drouth" by Joseph B. Walker of Concord, "Thinning and Trimming Forest Trees," by John D. Lyman; "Cattle Diseases," by L. A. Watson, M. D., of Concord; "Small Fruits," by William H. Hills of Plaistow; "Social Aspect of the Farmer," by C. C. Lord of Hopkinton; and "Farm Teams," by George K. Harvey of Surrey. There are also essays by foreign writers, and reports by the secretaries of various agricultural organizations in the state. The series thus far of these reports is highly creditable to New Hampshire, and compares very favorably with those of other states.

Important Decision.

The trial of the case of Justus W. Baldwin, administrator, vs. the Grand Trunk railway, brought to recover $10,000 for causing the death of Ira S. Waldron of Stewartstown, which was in progress before the supreme court for Coos county in Colebrook for several days, has resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for $3500. The case involved the question of the legality of ejecting a passenger in an intoxicated condition at a flag station; also of the negligence of the servants of the corporation. The case was an important one, being the first of this character tried since the passage of the act of 1874, providing that no person shall be ejected from a train for non-payment of fare, excepting at some passenger station. Judge Blodgett charged the jury that a passenger station, within the meaning of that law, was a usual stopping place with the ordinary and reasonable accommodation of such places, and left it to them to say whether the flag station in question came within the statute.

The question of building a town house is being agitated in Laconia.

Nathan Grimes of Piermont, aged seventy years, was found in his barn, Feb. 6th, with his skull fractured, probably by the kick of a horse.

Charles P. Everett of Newport, who fell on the sidewalk, Jan. 23d, has filed notice of a claim for $1,000 against the town.

The starch manufacturers of Coos have disposed of nearly all their stock, and are making preparations for next season's business.

The pail and tub industry of Keene consumes more timber than all others carried on in Cheshire county. There are forty pail and thirty tub lathes in operation in the county; each lathe turns out on average 100,000 pails a year, consuming 450 cords of sapling, which gives a product of 4,000,000 pails from 18,000 cords of pine. The twenty tub and bucket lathes use a proportionately large quantity, and as great quantities of staves are sawed and sold for use outside the county, it is probable that 40,000 cords of sapling pines are cut every year.

Wm. H. Raymond, formerly of Plymouth, N. The steamer Cambridge, wrecked on Old Man ledge near Monhegan island, Me., was valued at $140,000, and insured $50,000; her cargo was valued at about $150,000; all a total loss. Had the steamer gone thirty feet either to the right or left she would not have touched the rock.

Lieut. Martin J. Hawkins, one of the twenty-four daring men who, in 1863, under the leadership of one Andrews, a Kentuckian, attempted to destroy the bridges and telegraph lines of the Chattanooga & Atlantic road between Big Shanty and Chattanooga, died at Quincy, Ill., Feb. 10th. Deceased was about fifty-five years old.

Thomas McCabe, a moulder employed in the Manchester locomotive works, fell while carrying a ladle of molten iron on the 11th inst., striking the left side of his face and head in the burning metal. One eye and ear were badly burned, and his clothing taking fire his arms and hands were burned to a crisp as far as the elbows.

King Milan of Servia has summoned the entire Servian army to enter the field fully equipped for war, to undergo a six weeks drill.

Everett Larrabee, eighteen years old, hanged himself at Rockville, Me., Thursday.

The freight from the wrecked steamer Cambridge has been scattered along the Maine coast for miles.

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years; and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dudman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

PORTSMOUTH SHOE FACTORY.

Col. Charles A. Sinclair having bought all the stock of the Portsmouth Shoe Co., the factory has been closed during the past week in order to enable the new management to take an inventory. New machinery is being put in, and the old repaired; in fact, everything is being done that is necessary to enable the new company to do a large business. Those who have been employed in the factory will be pleased to learn that through the purchase of Col. Sinclair the Portsmouth Shoe Factory has become assured as one of the permanent industries of our city. Mr. Frost, the superintendent of the factory, states that everything will be in readiness to commence business on Tuesday, Feb. 23d.

A REVIVAL.

That was a singular union in New Hampshire, not long ago, when the paraphernalia of a peripatetic temperence revivalist was loaded on the big brewery wagons belonging to Hon. Frank Jones, and carried from Portsmouth to Dover free of charge.—Boston Post.

Twas a singular union, and no mistake; but the circumstance transpired over six years ago. The temperance revivalist was the notorious "Rev." Arthur A. Waite, and it was the "Glad Tidings" tent purchased for him by the Christian and temperance people of this city that was hauled to Dover on a carriage marked "F. Jones, brewer," Waite having appealed to Mr. Jones for transportation.

The directors of the hospital gratefully acknowledge the following donations: Two jars from Mr. F. E. H. Marden; twelve draw-sheets and twelve pillow-slips from a friend; and fifteen draw-sheets and twelve pillow-cases from Mrs. H. A. Turner, of Boston.

Arthur W. Walker and Willis G. Myers were elected members of the New Hampshire club at its recent meeting at Boston.

The "no school" signal was sounded on the fire alarm Friday morning at eight o'clock, and again at 11:30, the school committee not considering it prudent to have the children face the pouring rain and the abominable walking. This is a good use to put the fire alarm to, and we hope it won't be required for any other purpose (except the striking of Cambridge time) for a long while to come.

The Sons of Veterans are making hearty efforts to make their ball on the evening of the 17th inst., superior to any given here this winter. The decorations, etc., will be very fine.

Sheriff Kent has appointed Joseph P. Morse, Esq., deputy sheriff, vice Col. John Pender, resigned.

Mrs. Margaret Brickett died in Boston on the 12th inst., at the age of ninety-four years. She was born in this city, her father being the late Noah Sherburne.

John L. Sullivan is to be at Music hall on Fiday evening of next week, with a variety company.

The Mikado's audience Friday evening was a small one; the heavy rain and execrable walking prevented the attendance of all but the most persistent and daring theatre goers. The performance however was as pleasing as on the previous evening.

William Shaw, who died in South Berwick on the 8th inst. at the age of eighty-five years, worked in the repair shop of the Portsmouth Manufacturing Co. for over forty years.

Valentine's day is close at hand. Goodnich has a large variety of valentines to select from.

ST. VALENTINE'S PARTY.

A St. Valentine's party will be held at the Children's Home, Monday, Feb. 15th, for the benefit of the institution.

Supper served from six to eight.

The evening entertainment will consist of vocal and instrumental music and recitations.

Admission, ten cents.

The widow of Israel Kimball, Jr., of this city, late clerk of the senate committee on education and labor, has been allowed the sum of $1,095, equivalent to his salary for six months. The original resolution, introduced by Senator Blair, called for an allowance of a year's salary, or $2,190.

A Maine exchange says: "Temperance societies began to be formed in different parts of Maine as early as 1827. Buckfield had its society, as did also Norway, Paris, and other towns in Oxford county. The town of York, in York county, incorporated as a city in 1642 and said to be the first American city, passed a prohibitory liquor law in 1690, which was substantially the Maine liquor law of the present day."

George L. Goodwin of Portland says that the recent casting ashore of the wreck of the barque Isadore at Kennebunk reminds him of the near chance he had of being in that ill-fated vessel, which went down with all on board in November, 1842. He was then a lad, in whom a craze for the sea was just developing, and he had obtained a promise to be taken on board the Isadore, on this first and last trip, if his parents were willing. Fortunately for him they objected. There were several shipmasters on board the barque when she was lost, but not a single life was saved. Now, after lying over forty-three years in the depths of the sea, the hull of the vessel is thrown ashore not far from the spot where she was launched, and Mr. Goodwin feels himself to be one of the survivors of the wreck.—Biddeford Times.

The debate upon the bill for the restoration of Gen. Fitz John Porter to his former rank in the army began in the national house of representatives on Thursday, and Representative Haynes of this state made a speech in its support.

Had the admission been free at Music Hall last evening, the inducement could not have attracted a larger audience than was present to witness the performance of "Vacation" by the Daly party. The framework of the piece remains the same as last season, but the incidental music, witticisms and humorous dialogue are all new, and as lively and catchy as ever. It seems as though the company would wear out before a month's performances had been given, as an acrobatic qualification seems to be the prime necessity to every member of the company, and the expression "fast and furious," although trite and hackneyed, seems to be all that can describe the action of the piece.—Lowell Mail.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing Itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three bottles of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specially and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

Nennook.

If we did not know it to be so, it would be hard to believe that any animal could make its home in the midst of the almost perpetual snow and ice of the far north. And yet many more animals than are generally supposed to do so live in that intense cold, and have accommodated themselves to their surroundings. For example, the mosquito has been found so far north as man has ever gone.

The white bear deserves attention for the manner in which it has adapted itself to its strange mode of life.

It is not called an amphibious animal, but might probably be so called, for it is perfectly at home in the water, —indeed it has been known to pursue and capture so nimble a fish as the salmon.

The polar bear's foot is usually long and broad even for a bear's foot, and this peculiarity aids in enabling it to swim so rapidly. But the great foot is of most use in crossing the slippery ice or crusted snow. The under part of the foot is covered with long, soft fur, which answers the double purpose of keeping the foot warm in spite of constant contact with the cold ice, and of preventing the awkward slipping which would certainly occur if the sole of the foot were hard and smooth.

As a rule, the white bear avoids man and exerts all its strength and cunning in capturing its prey. It prefers some member of the seal family, probably because the seals are usually so plump and tender. Apparently a baby walrus is a choice morsel for it, for it never neglects an opportunity of pouncing on one.

In the water, the walrus would be more than a match even for the polar bear, its huge tusks and terrible strength making it the most formidable of sea mammals; but on the ice, despite the fierce courage with which both parents fight for their offspring, the battle is too unequal, and the unlucky little walrus, caught napping, usually falls a victim to the big bear. And it frequently happens that one or both of the parent-walrus are killed in the vain attempt to rescue their baby.

Nennook, as the white bear is called by the Eskimo, frequently displays great cunning in capturing the wary seal, which, fearing its enemy, takes it its nap on the ice close by the edge, ready to roll into the water at the first alarm. The bear slips quietly into the water a long distance from the sleeping seal, and then swims under water, stopping occasionally to put out his head and breathe, until he is in such a position that the seal cannot get into the water without falling into his clutches.—John R. Coryell, in the St. Nicholas.

A young man in Bath, Me., recently called on a young lady and staid so late that the indignant mother called a policeman and had the visitor sent to the lockup. He was released the next day on agreeing to leave town, and the people of Bath justify the punishment on the ground that an "example" is needed.

Mr. Howells, the novelist, tells a good story about his own writings. After he had published "The Lady of the Aroostook" he received a letter from an unknown friend, an old salt, who knew whereof he spoke, and in this letter Mr. Howells was informed that if he allowed the Aroostook to go out to sea in the rig he had given her she would be lost before she had fairly cleared the harbor. This frank nautical criticism was recognized by Mr. Howells, and in the next edition the vessel sailed forth under her proper rig.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent, upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect fac-simile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in height,—the Statue bronzed, Pedestal, nickel-silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

Nelson H. Baker, district attorney, Westchester county, N. Y., office at White Plains, writes June 20th, 1885: "Five years ago, I, my two sons and wife were very liable to colds. We wore the heaviest clothing, wrapping ourselves up warm; but it was colds, coughs and catarrh all the time. Finally we commenced wearing Allcock's Porous Plasters as chest protectors. The first year we got rid of our heavy flannel as well as all coughs and colds. We each wore two Plasters on the chest and pit of the stomach for three or four weeks at a time, then washed the parts with alcohol and put on fresh ones; they appeared to warm and invigorate the whole body so that we never took cold."

Experience vs. Inexperience.

It is a matter of regret that in introducing Hood's Sarsaparilla, its proprietors are obliged to overcome a certain distrust by some people who have unfortunately bought worthless compounds mixed by persons ignorant of pharmacy. Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co. are reliable pharmacists of long experience and they make no claims for Hood's Sarsaparilla which cannot be substantiated by the strongest proof. And we say those who lack confidence, read the unsolicited testimonials in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and then prove its merits by actual personal test. We are confident you will not be disappointed, but will find it a medicine of great value, which can be implicitly relied upon. 100 Doses $1.

Murdered.

The body of Julius Baer was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morn, in a terribly mangled condition. His head and face were smashed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the great blood medicine, Sulphur Bitters. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clew to the perpetrators.—Colorado Press.

Memories.

After Seeing the Battle of Shiloh.

Alone I sit, while the falling rain
Beats ceaselessly 'gainst my window pane;
I'm dreaming the long hours away,
For memory hides with me to-day.

My heart enshrouded by sorrow's pall,
We wander adown a dim old hall,
Whose mold'ring pictures and crumbling wall
Are teeming with life at mem'ry's call.

With shadowy hand she beckons me,
And, following sadly, I seem to see
Flowers, and birds, and children at play,
Laughing in joy on a summer day.

The fair blue sky and the sun, next day,
Shone not on those merry boys at play—
The war cry sounded—a few days sped—
Baptized by blood, there stood meth, instead.

And here, on this crumbling, stained wall,
Where many lingered and where we fall,
There hang pictured faces that are strong,
brave, true,
And silken ribbons, of blood-red hue,

My heart beats fast as I think of the hands
That fought for and won these silken bands;
The tale is of blood, carnage and woe—
Of puiseless hearts, and of heads, laid low.

Mem'ry, I faint at the tale you tell—
It is old, oft told, nor yet known well—
But I pray, again, for those hearts brave, true,
"God bless the men who wore 'army blue.'"

FATE AS FORETOLD.

Two young girls were walking arm-in-arm along a winding country road at the close of a mild October afternoon. Fair as a lily and sweet as a cherry were the epithets that would have best described their respective charms. The tallest, whose name was Alice Vincent, was a blonde, with a smooth white skin that blended the exquisite tints of the blush rose and cream lily, deep bluedreamy eyes and golden hair that revealed rather than concealed with its classic coils the contour of her shapely head, which was bare to the kisses of the late sunbeams that yet lingered like loitering schoolboys along the way.

The old house, hidden in a growth of morning-glories, a few yards behind her at the bend in the road, was her home, whence she had sauntered with her friend, who had taken tea with her and was now returning to the village where she lived.

Many a bashful youth secretly sighed for the privilege of the sunbeams to kiss sweet Alice's rounded cheek or burnished tresses, but not one of them dared to summon courage to approach in any lover-like fashion this graceful and beautiful creature, who seemed cast in a finer mould than they, and made of purer clay. The maiden at her side was neither blonde nor brunette, but that charming mixture of both that produces soft blue eyes and hair in gloss and hue the chestnut, when the shell Divides threefold, to show the fruit within.

If the rural beaux were shy of Alice Vincent, they were not all timid of Elizabeth Adams whose sunny face and sweet smile had made every unmarried man and slender stripling for miles around her bond-slaves in the golden fetters of love.

Cupid attended her at all places, and at all seasons, and sent an arrow into some rustic heart with every glance of her love-lit eyes. She smiled on all and favored all alike, and though every man she smiled on would have willingly laid down his life for her, yet not one among them could take to himself the coveted honor, and say, "I am her favored suitor."

Like the great Elizabeth of old, she still walked in "maiden meditation, fancy free," and smiled on all because she cared for none.

"I will not go any farther with you now," said Alice as they reached a curve in the road that hid her home from sight.

"Don't forget to meet me at the old mill to-morrow night at dusk, to go and have our fortunes told," said Elizabeth as she kissed her friend good-bye.

And Alice retraced her steps under the soughing branches, holding her pink-flounced skirt daintily out of the dust and wondering, girl-like, what her fortune would be.

In twenty-four hours the autumn weather changed from the mild atmosphere in which the breath of summer yet lingered to the bleak wind and chilly air of approaching winter.

The arms of the old mill went round swiftly against a thickly clouded sky, and the dark woods, which had almost up to it shook and shivered and sighed mysteriously in the gloomy dusk, as Alice, enveloped in a long cloak and ample hood that hid her golden hair, waited for her friend, fearfully eyeing the black shadows among the trees in the meantime, and starting nervously at the groaning of the branches, or the rustling of the wind over the withered grass and fallen leaves.

The snapping of dry twigs underfoot announced the approach of Elizabeth, who was likewise cloaked and hooded from the chill evening air and the rain the laden clouds might bring.

The house of the wise woman who was wont to tell the fortunes of all the maidens for miles around, stood a little over a mile from the old windmill, and on the edge of a stagnant pond, where frogs splashed in and out of the green water and croaked all night on the muddy bank.

At the back of the house was a dense wood, which sent out advance-guards of beeches, that drooped their long branches on the mossy roof and creaked dismally to and fro over the shingles on stormy nights.

A few yards away from the door stood a dead cherrytree, the skeleton rain-bleached limbs of which gleamed ghastly through the gathering gloom against the lowering heaven, and in the hollow trunk of which a venerable owl had made his home for years.

As the two girls approached the house they saw the red gleam of a blazing wood-fire through the uncurtained window, and beheld grotesque shadows waving to and fro across the floor, like witches in a wild dance for the amuse-

Undigested Food

In the stomach develops an acid which stings the upper part of the throat and palate, causing "heartburn." It also evolves a gas which produces "wind on the stomach," and a feeling and appearance of distension in that organ after eating. For both this acidity and swelling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a much better remedy them alkaline salts, like hartshorn and carbonate of soda. A wineglassful of the Bitters, after or before dinner, will be found to act as a reliable carminative or preventive. This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form, also prevents and cures malaria fever, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in themselves a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.

At Barnard, Vt., Feb. 11th, Mrs. S. Caswell was shot by her husband, who is seventy-nine years old. The charge took effect in her right lung, and will probably prove fatal. Caswell was arrested. Three weeks ago Mrs. Caswell left her home, and on her refusal to return, her husband made the attempt on her life.

Has Used Them Forty Years.

R. S. Day, of Watsonville, Santa Cruz Co., California, writes Febuary 3, 1885: "When my wife was seventy-three years old she was troubled with a very bad cough, and it looked as if she would die with consumption. She would not call in a doctor, but commenced taking Brandreth's Pills, two and three every night. In three weeks she was completely cured, and her health is now very good, and I am sure the Pills have prolonged her life as well as my own, for I have used them forty years, and am now eighty-four years old. They have been my only medicine.

At Webb City, Mo., two miners in the employ of Page & Co. had located a heavy charge of eighteen sticks of giant powder for a final blast, and were tamping it down, when the whole amount exploded. The men were literally blown to pieces, the largest fragments of their bodies that were found being a foot and a portion of a leg.

Purify Your Blood.

Among spring preparations, do not neglect that which is most important of all—your own body. During the winter the blood absorbs many impurities, which, if not expelled, are liable to break out in scrofula or other disease. The best spring medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It expels every impurity from the blood, and gives strength to every function of the body. Sold by all druggists.

It will relieve the cough, and it may make you well. Druggists and grocers sell the whiskey. Chester H. Graves & Sons bottle it, and their name is on label and over cork of each bottle.

Horatio Seymour.

Ex-Governor Horatio Seymour of New York died at the residence of his brother-in-law, Roscoe Conkling, at Utica, N. Y., at ten o'clock on the night of the 12th inst., in the 76th year of his age. He was a farmer's boy, but rose to be the "war governor" of New York, and was the democratic candidate for president of the United States in 1868 against Gen. Grant.

A Hero's Burial.

The obsequies of Gen. Hancock took place in New York on the 13th inst., and were impressive in their very simplicity. After the services the body was conveyed to Norristown, Pa., to be laid in the grave.

True Reform.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean writes that a Miss Heath, a young lady of the most aristocratic lineage and connections, is a clerk in the navy department, and also acts as a sort of adjutant for Mrs. Whitney, wife of the reform secretary of the navy. The high-born clerk spends most of her time with Mrs. Whitney, makes out her visiting lists and lists of persons to be invited to dinners and parties, and relieves her from all the drag and worry consequent on attending to the details required by her social position, so that she has only to receive and entertain her guests and enjoy herself. This is very pleasant to read about, but we fear there will be a tremendous howl from the democratic papers about the people's money being spent to pay for a private secretary for Mrs. Whitney. They refused to be comforted whenever they thought of the late secretary of the navy going from one navy yard to another in the Tallapoosa, but really it seems that the naval appropriation might just as properly be expended that way as in paying for the writing of Mrs. Whitney's notes of invitation.

Innocent Man Pardoned.

The governor and council of Massachusetts last week "pardoned" John Chiesman, who was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment in the house of correction at Worcester on a charge of larceny preferred by Charles P. Vokes of Hardwick, who now says the charge was trumped up by him and has no foundation in fact. Chiesman is a Pole, and was employed by Vokes. He had served about one month of his sentence.

Disastrous Wreck.

The Austrian barque Kraljevika struck on Barnegat shoal during a dense fog on the 11th inst. In trying to reach her the Barnegat surfboat was upset, and three of the life-saving men were drowned. A boat from the barque also capsized, drowning the two mates and six seamen; the captain and five sailors swam ashore.

The warm rain of the 12th inst., which was simply a nuisance in this region, was a serious affair in Massachusetts, immense damage being done in Boston, Lynn, Brocton and scores of other places; also Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and other states. No great disasters are reported as caused by the rain in New Hampshire, Vermont or Maine.

The latest official scandal in New York is the revelation of the fact that the city officers have allowed $500,000 worth of taxes of the street railroads to become outlawed, and that nearly $1,000,000 more are now staved off, in the hope of "compromise." The city government of New York is not republican.

A despatch of Feb. 13th from Vienna to the London Times says that official information has reached there from Belgrade to the effect that King Milan has resolved to sign a treaty of peace with Bulgaria, no matter what action the Greek government may decide to take. Servia will hereafter enter into a stronger agreement with Austro-Hungary.

A dastardly attempt was made to blow up the office of the New Haven Union one night last week. An entrance to the building was forced from the rear, after which the feed-pump was taken to pieces, the bolts in the boiler were unscrewed, and the engine so tampered with that when a fire was started as usual in the morning there would be an explosion. Fortunately the mischief was discovered in time to prevent great damage and possible loss of life. The affair is supposed to have been the work of a pressman discharged recently for drunkenness, and the police are after him.

By a collision between two trains on the Boston & Lowell railroad at Woburn Junction, Mass., on the evening of the 12th inst., an unknown tramp was killed; Dr. E. M. Nelson, a passenger, and one fireman, had each a leg broken, and the rolling stock was badly damaged.

The house committee on postoffices has acted on the postmaster general's suggestion, by agreeing to a bill re-enacting the law reported by last congress, requiring American vessels to carry the United States mails at rates prescribed by the postmaster general.

The Crawford divorce suit in London ended on the 12th inst., in a divorce being granted to the complainant. Evidence as to Mrs. Crawford's gross and shameless immoralities was introduced, but none was offered against Sir Charles Dilke, the co-respondent.

The secretary of the interior and the attorney general have replied to the house committee on expenditures that only $35 have been expended by the government thus far in connection with the telephone suits.

It is reported that an otter has been traversing the range of streams and ponds in the upper part of the town of York for months past, and that many good hunters and experienced trappers have endeavored to compass the animal's capture, but without success.

Brakeman Sanborn, son of D. W. Sanborn, master of transportation on the eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, was injured on a freight train on the Maine Central road near Woodfords, on the night of the 11th inst. One of his legs was caught between a car and some lumber which ran out beyond another car, and was shockingly jammed.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

The annual meeting of the Rockingham Country Temperance association, held at Hampton Falls the 11th inst., adjourned to meet at the Methodist church in Exeter on Thursday, February 18th. It is expected that Rev. C. M. Dinsmore of South Newmarket, J. A. Merrill, Esq., of Nashua, and others, will make addresses.

I had spells of neuralgia, and suffered so that many times I have wished death would end my agony. I employed doctors but could get no benefit from them. Since taking Athlophoros I have had only two spells in over a year. Mrs. C. N. Paige, Boltonville, Vt.

The diphtheria epidemic now troubling Newmarket broke out in a French family comprising sixteen persons, who arrived from Sherbrooke, Quebec, about six weeks ago. Ten days after their arrival several of the children were taken sick, and six members of the family have died since then. Of the nineteen deaths from diphtheria which occurred in Newmarket during the twenty-one days preceding the 12th inst., sixteen were of French Canadian children under ten years old.

Fifty cents spent on a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, the great cure for rheumatism, and twenty-five cents for a bottle of the new discovery,—Red Star Cough Cure, which removes throat and lung troubles, is as good an investment as a life insurance policy.

Capt. Joseph W. Brewer, master of a small fishing schooner, was before the court in Portland, Me., on the 13th inst., charged with having in his possession fifty-nine short lobsters. Capt. Brewer was fined $59 and costs, and will retire from the short-lobster trade.

In the national senate, on the 11th inst., Mr. Blair's bill for national expenditure for education was debated. Mr. Morgan of Alabama had the floor, and spoke against it.

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

MARINE DISASTER.

There was a marine disaster at the navy yard landing, foot of Daniel street, at about seven o'clock last Friday evening. One of Uncle Sam's sea soldiers got on board a wherry belonging to Mr. George Crosby of Badger's island, a compositor in the Chronicle office, presumably intending to steal her for a trip across the river. The boat is a little one, and not only "pulls easy" but rolls mighty easily under some circumstances; and the predatory disciple of Mars and Neptune (not to mention Bacchus) not having his sea legs on, suddenly went plump over the side of the boat into the frigid waters of the deep blue Piscataqua. The half-seas-over and wholly-river-submerged marauder caught hold of the boat's gunwale, but his vain attempts to climb in only resulted in his swamping the boat, and letting her oars float out and away on the swift running tide. The fellow was shortly fished out of the water by Mr. Robert Anderson, who has had years of experience at that kind of work, and who sent him off up street.

In the meantime the disciple of Guttenberg and Faust, blissfully unaware of the liberties which had been taken with his floating property, attended the evening entertainment at Music hall, and about midnight proceeded through the pelting rain to the spot where he had left his boat, only to find that his means of propelling her across the river were gone, and be obliged to return to the scene of his daily and nightly labors. What became of the son of Mars is not known, but the disciple of Guttenberg passed the remainder of the night on the soft side of a board.

FIRE IN FRANKLIN BLOCK.

About quarter before nine o'clock, Sunday evening, an explosion was heard in the saloon kept by Angus McMillan, on the Fleet street side of Franklin block, and an alarm was pulled in from the police station. The door of the saloon was burst open, and several persons commenced working at the fire with buckets, when a second explosion caused them to retreat. On the arrival of the chief engineer a second alarm was sounded, the fire having a threatening look, but it was soon extinguished after the streams from the steamers were put on. The saloon was pretty much burned out inside, but the stock and fixtures were of no great value; the damage to the building is small.

A SINGULAR BURGLARY.

Under the heading of "A singular burglary" the Times of Saturday evening says: "The office of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co. in this city was entered, probably by means of false keys, some time between ten P. M. Thursday and seven A. M. Friday, and the window shades and fixtures taken away. A small amount of money which was in the drawer was overlooked by the thief, or thieves. The manager of the office feels very badly about the loss, as the curtains did not belong to the company but were hired with the office. The affair was immediately reported to the city marshal, and the case is being investigated. It is to be hoped that Portsmouth is not to be subjected to the system of burglarizing from which some of our sister cities are suffering."

HARVARD VS. YALE.

Of "Vacation," which is to be presented at Music hall to-morrow evening, the Boston Post says: "One special feature of the play, and one that cannot be too highly commended in these days, is the absence of all coarseness. In its entirety it is neat and clean. It has much good wit, some humor and a considerable innocent nonsense. Two more graceful men than William and Thomas Daly are seldom seen upon the stage. Whatever they do is not only done neatly, but bears marks of refinement and gentle bearing. Robert and Daniel Daly were very funny, but the first prize in this direction must be given to Miss Lizzie Daly. She was simply immense. Miss Bartine and Miss Batchelder looked finely, and did well all that was required of them. Altogether the entertainment was one highly to be commended, giving pure and healthy enjoyment, free from coarse and base alloy."

Tickets at Goodrich's; see advertisement.

The Casino will be open at the usual hours this evening, for skating.

Reserved seat tickets for the S. O. V. ball in the Casino on Wednesday evening, will go on sale at Goodrich's this afternoon; price thirty cents.

The British schooner Lizzie K., wrecked at Cape Porpoise, Me., was sold at auction for $55; the anchors and chains brought $95, and the rigging, blocks, etc., $95. The cargo of laths was sold at private sale.

The barge Maggie Quinn was loaded on Saturday with sawdust for the Isles of Shoals. The sawdust is to be used in packing ice for the use of the hotels during the summer.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itchings and burnings, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, followed by application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2543 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs, for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three bottles of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many remedies of treatment without success, and which was specifully and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

ment of the old fortune-teller, who sat in a high-backed chair by the fire, with a great grey cat curled up in her lap.

She was between fifty and sixty years old and dressed in many gay colors. A bright blue ruffled skirt was short enough to reveal her scarlet stockings and curious, sharply-pointed shoes. Her bodice was crimson, and a deep white lace collar, that reached to the dimensions of a cape, spread in many starched and crimped ruffles on her shoulders. Her iron-gray hair was knotted tightly at the back of her head, and three long curls touched the collar on either side her face. Long earrings of antique fashion depended from her ears; around her neck were many strings of colored glass beads, and on her breast and head and from every puff and flounce upon her skirt floated long ribbon bows, of purple and azure, yellow and green, so that as she rose to welcome the two girls she moved in a flutter of ribbon streamers, and, whenever she neared the fire put Alice in a tremor of terror lest they ignite.

She closed the door behind them to the chill wind that was bringing a few drops of rain with it, and lit the tall tallow candle in the ancient candlestick on the shelf, where it stood with quaint cups and jars, and long pine-cones, and curious twisted shells that, in the day of her youth, some sailor lover had brought her from a far country.

The lighting of the candle broke up the shadowy dance of witches, and made the weird little room, with its smoke-blacked walls, a little more cheerful, and the fortune-teller herself a little less like a ghost of the garret that had arrayed itself in the contents of the rag-bag.

"So you have come to have your fortunes told?" she said as she drew up the old spindle-legged table to the fire and prepared to brew the inevitable cup of tea.

For she did not trace the tangled threads of fate by the creases and crosses in the palm, but by the crude pictures formed by tea-leaves in the cup of the person desiring to know what the future held in store for them.

She poured the tea and joined them in the drinking of it, and when the moment came to turn the cup and let the mystic leaves take on the strange shapes and symbols she read, she removed the brass candlestick from the shelf to the table, partly turned her back to it, so that the light would fall over her shoulder into the cup, and became suddenly transformed from a garrulous old woman to a solemn sorceress who held the keys of futurity in her skinny hands.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unirjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such an installment, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the purchaser has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect fac-simile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, six inches in height—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel-silvered—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with name stamped, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuettes, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important mid-continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between sides of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a well, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantially built cars and locomotives, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of Patent Buffers, Patent Car Couplers, and that exacting discipline which governs the practical operation of all its trains. Other specialties of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, finely upholstered Day Coaches, Magnificent Pullman Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and magnificent Dining Cars, in which elaborately cooked meals are leisurely eaten. SOMETHING FOR LEAN PEOPLE.

How To Get Fat.

(The Palls Medical Bulletin.)

Leanness of the body is a thing to be avoided on the ground that any departure from conditions which are natural must certainly predispose the body to disease. One of the first positive evidences of the development of the conditions which lead to consumption, is the knowledge that the body is throwing off in an undigested form, the fat that is taken into the stomach. This is followed by a loss in quantity and quality of the blood and corresponding loss in flesh. In these cases, there as truly exists consumption (though there may not be necessarily consumption of the lungs at the beginning) as in any case that ever existed.

Lean persons are the only ones who furnish material for the quick development of many ailments. Susceptibility to changes in the weather, feeble digestion, limited strength and energy, nervousness and disturbed sleep, soon lead to some serious disease. Another popular fallacy with lean persons is, that they must necessarily always remain lean because their parents have perhaps shown a tendency of this kind.

These lean persons doubtless inherit a tendency to imperfect action of the digestive functions. For the cure of this difficulty, many medical authorities have agreed that a pure stimulant is the best thing. A stimulant which can be quaffed with all of the best things which enter into an ordinary diet may well be considered a desirable one. This is secured in a pure malt whiskey, as it can be used with milk, eggs and with food at meal time. It is however not only desirable but absolutely necessary to get the best results, that a whiskey known to be free from fusel oil and all other adulterations should be used. The chief difference in stimulants of all kinds is the percentage of alcohol and, by diluting whiskey, which contains the greatest per cent. any percentage can be obtained to suit any taste. The special properties of a pure malt whiskey are not destroyed by being diluted and sweetened, and in this way many persons who cannot use alcohol in any other form, can use Duffy's pure malt whiskey, the discoverers of which are the sole proprietors of an absolutely pure malt whiskey free from fusel oil and all adulterations. The company is furnishing constantly an abundance of testimony that by the use of their whiskey taken three times a day at meals, a marked, constant and permanent increase in weight has been obtained by parties suffering from leanness, supposed to be unsuscptible to any other agency.

FATE AS FORETOLD.

Elizabeth was first to hear her future. Carefully placing the cup upside down on the table that it might be drained of all "tears," and turning it three times' round as she made the wish which she would have come true above all other things, she passed the cup to the fortune-teller.

Although the wish was a secret one, yet it brought a vivid blush of maiden shame to Elizabeth's lovely cheeks, for it concerned the handsome surveyor, Spencer Graves, who boarded at her mother's and who had taken her for moonlight drives and walked home with her from church every Sunday evening since he came at midsummer, much to the discomfiture of the rustic swains.

An ominous silence fell upon the circle as the old woman peered into the cup.

The candle at her side sputtered and flared, the fire crackled and smoked, and the fire-dogs thrust their hideous faces out of the flames and grinned like her familiar demons, while the wind howled in the wood without, and the rain splashed and pattered against the tiny window panes and flashed into fretwork of diamonds against the darkness of the starless night.

So prolonged and profound was the silence that the girls started and repressed little cries of terror when the fortune teller began.

"I see a tall man whom you love and who loves you in return. I see many flowers, and a minister with an open book, and a lonely place where two roads meet, and the willows grow, where you will go before a year has passed away, and you will be very happy there, for there is no trouble around you. This means that you will be married in less than a year."

Elizabeth blushed, and dimpled, and smiled, for this meant she would marry the young surveyor for whom she had wished.

Alice passed her fateful cup, and the wise woman peered into it, frowned, shook her head, and said slowly:

"I see death, the skeleton at the top of the cup, and below him ground thick with headstones, and a long dark procession bearing a coffin in their midst. You will not live the year out, Alice Vincent."

Naturally of a timid and sensitive disposition, Alice grew faint and sick at the picture thus revealed to her of her young life blighted in its bloom, and was glad to pay the old woman as quickly as possible and find herself standing upon the threshold with her cloak folded about her, prepared, with Elizabeth, to brave the darkness and the warring elements of the cold autumn night.

No friendly star shone between the black clouds to guide them, the rain fell steadily, and the roads were ankle-deep in mud. Through the wild rush of wind and rain they stumbled on, clinging to each other's hands, guessing the way and hardly daring to breathe, less some spectral shape should suddenly rise up in the darkness before them.

The night journey held greater terrors for Alice than for her companion, for, perhaps, the promised death lurked in the undergrowth along the way, or followed with noiseless steps behind her, and would leap upon her at any minute, freezing the blood in her young heart forever.

But at last they reached her home, and, frightened, wet, and weary, were glad to hurry off to bed, and lose, if possible, the memory of the night's adventures in the oblivion of sleep. Elizabeth was soon wrapped in sweet slumber on the soft pillows and dreaming of a happy future of wedded bliss, but, though aching in every limb, Alice lay awake with sleepless, starring eyes until the grey light of the rainy morning stole in between the curtains.

From that ill-omened evening in the fortune teller's hut, Alice saw, sleeping or waking, the coffin and the open grave, for never for an instant did she doubt the old woman's vision.

Even when a gallant lover came to woo, she turned a deaf ear to his impassioned pleading, saying only that she was to be the bride of death, and must devote her few remaining days on earth to fitting herself for heaven.

Meantime Elizabeth, also putting all her faith in the magic cup, gave full rein to her dreams and hopes, built her castles in Spain and allowed herself to love the young surveyor with all the strength of her tender woman's heart.

As for him, it lightened the monotony of chaffs and figures to walk and talk with the village beauty and whisper soft nothings in her shell-like ear in the long autumn twilights and steal an occasional kiss from her rosebud lips.

But all things must end, and with the first snowfall Spencer departed, promising to write and come again at Christmas-tide.

But he never wrote or came.

In his own heart, if he possessed any, which his best friends doubted, he really loved the sweet maiden, who had the hand and foot of a fairy and the delicate bloom of his favorite wild roses, and was so frankly fond of him; but in a great city miles away there was a haughty beauty, who wore his ring and held his troth and counted her money by hundreds.

Elizabeth began to droop as the winter passed and brought no news of her lover, until her cheek was pale as the snow-drift.

Snowflakes melted and snowdrops came instead, and the April rain dripped from the leaves with a musical sound, as if calling for the flowers to waken and burst the dark mould asunder and bloom again.

And as the spring advanced Elizabeth faded slowly out of life, pining and pining from day to day, as if the sorrow at

Has Used Them Forty Years.

R. S. Day, of Watsonville, Santa Cruz Co., California, writes February 3, 1885: "When my wife was seventy-three years old she was troubled with a very bad cough, and it looked as if she would die with consumption. She would not call in a doctor, but commenced taking Brandreth's Pills, two and three every night. In three weeks she was completely cured, and her health is now very good, and am sure the Pills have prolonged her life as well as my own, for I have used them forty years, and am now eighty-four years old. They have been my only medicine.

The London Missionary society has received advices from Zanzibar to the effect that two men who have returned to that place from Usegna report that they saw Bishop Hannington, with fifty men of his expedition, taken out for execution.

The Root of all Evil.

To thoroughly cure scrofula it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid. Thousands who have been cured of scrofula by Hood's Sarsaparilla, testify to its wonderful blood-purifying qualities. Sold by all druggists.

Mr. Samuel C. Hoey, president of the Pennsylvania Mutual Life Insurance company, is dead.

Titwillow--a la the Mikado.

On a bed, racked with pain, a weary man lay
Singing willow, titwillow, titwillow!
No ease or relief could he find any day,
O, willow, titwillow, titwillow!
His pains are now gone, he is hearty and well,
St. Jacob's Oil made him as sound as a bell,
And the story so good to each one he doth tell,
Singing willow, titwillow, titwillow!

Publisher's Note.—A Chicago paper says that the actor who plays "Koko" in the "Mikado," at a theatre there, had such a bad cough that he could not have sung "Titwillow," had he not recovered his voice by a dose of Red Star Cough Cure.

A Different Matter Entirely.

The New York Sun has an elaborate article showing what Gen. Jackson would have done with Mr. Garland were Jackson now the president of these United States. The difference appears to be, however, that Mr. Cleveland was elected not by the democrats but by the mugwumps, and Geo. Ticknor Curtis, an eminent authority upon all that pertains to the lex mugwumpia, holds in an able opinion upon this question that Mr. Garland is entirely blameless in this Pan-Electric affair which just now seems to make the administration so inodorous with the honest democrats. This being the conclusion of so eminent a jurist as is Mr. Curtis, the question as to the right of Mr. Dana to assume to state from a democratic standpoint what President Jackson would have done under certain circumstances of course becomes entirely immaterial, and the Sun must find a new indictment against the administration.

Great Strike in Manchester.

A strike of the weavers in the Amoskeag mills at Manchester, Monday morning, led to the stoppage of all the wheels in the yard at 8.30 o'clock, and over 5,000 operatives left the mills and passed out of the gates; this strike and lockout involves the stoppage of 171,096 spindles and 6,246 looms, and is the first serious strike in any of the Manchester mills since 1855.

The Great Flood.

The rainfall in Boston for the twenty-four hours ending at eleven o'clock last Friday night was by actual measurement at the signal office 5.05 inches—the heaviest rainfall for that number of hours ever officially recorded in the United States.

The rainfall was probably less heavy in many localities, but was still very great, and the consequent floods and freshets are said to be unprecedented in New England's history.

In Roxbury the flood incommoded at least 1000 families, driving many of them from their homes, and doing damage estimated at from quarter to half a million dollars. Many buildings were so undermined as to be unsafe, and were ordered to be vacated by the inspector of buildings.

In Medford, Malden, Dedham, Randolph, Weymouth and East Weymouth, Taunton, Worcester, New Bedford and scores of other Massachusetts cities and towns, the damage done and the suffering caused is incalculable. Railroad bridges were destroyed and embankments washed away, and travel greatly impeded or wholly stopped.

From Connecticut and Rhode Island come similar stories. The loss in the vicinity of Norwich, Conn., foots up over quarter of a million dollars. At Natick, R. I., one mill was damaged $100,000.

The rivers in the interior of New Hampshire and Vermont were greatly swollen by the rains, and some damage was done to bridges, railroads, and buildings on the river banks or near them; but nothing to rival the havoc in Massachusetts is reported.

British "Upper-Class" Morality.

A despatch of the 13th inst. from London says that "Sir Charles Dilke's next appeal to the Chelsea electors for his return to parliament will probably be made upon the ground that he was completely exonerated by the verdict in the Crawford case, which dismissed the charges against him. His appearance as an aspirant to honors at the hands of the British public at this time would surpass in effrontery the scandalous and dangerous assertion of Attorney General Russell that the offences with which Dilke was charged were merely indiscretions common among gentlemen occupying a similar social position, their enormity being very much exaggerated and their consideration trivial."

A Disgusted Evangelist.

Sam P. Jones, the great colored evangelist, who closed a long and successful series of meetings in Cincinnati last Saturday evening, has published a card announcing the publication by a firm in that city of his sermons. In it he says: "Rhodes & McClure, of Chicago, (the latter a preacher I understand) have perpetrated the boldest robbery (on my wife and children) and burnished their deed with the most audacious impudence on record. They have copy-righted my own sermons against my-self. I hope all honest booksellers will refuse to deal in stolen goods."

One million white-fish eggs en route to New Zealand, from Northville, Mich., have arrived at San Francisco and been repacked for shipment in the steamer Alameda.

Says the Providence, R. I., Journal: "The organization of the Knights of Labor, so far as it endorses the scheme for the settlement of Oklahoma, endorses a fraud and a robbery, which has been repeatedly pronounced such by the United States courts, and discredits its own claim of help to the laboring classes by endeavoring to aid in plundering the aboriginal owners of the soil. It may be hoped that those who signed the petitions are not fully aware of the nature and origin of the scheme of land piracy, but in any case their action is a misfortune. Those who profess to resist tyranny should not begin by practicing it upon others weaker and more helpless than they."

George Q. Cannon, a leading apostle of the Mormon church, who has been in hiding from the United States officers for over a year, was arrested in Winnemucca, Nevada, Feb. 13th. He is regarded as the chief man of the Mormon church in its defiance of the national law.

The Knights of Labor in San Antonio, Texas, have actively espoused the cause of the boycott against the Mallory Steamship company, and Stetson, manufacturer of hats, at Galveston, and received many promises to stop patronizing the Mallory line and to cease ordering Stetson's goods.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

A despatch of Feb 13th, from St. Louis, Mo., says: "Great interest has been revived in the most bloody vendetta ever fought in this country, which resulted in the almost complete extermination of four powerful families, by the arrest in Carbondale, Jackson county, Ill., of one Tom Russell, who is now held on two indictments for murder in the first degree, which have been pending ten years."

The entire business portion of Flagstaff, Arizona, was destroyed by fire Feb. 14th.

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUNBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

The Chicago Times says: "All the other papers have given lengthy notices of Lester & Allen's Minstrels, and in a few words it can be said that as a minstrel company it is far above the average, and is one of the best that has visited Chicago. All the specialties are up to the standard, and the singing part would be a credit to any opera company. Mr. John L. Sullivan is truly a model of a man, and in his statuary last night he showed it. He is perfect in his new role, and deserves credit for the manner in which he masters the art."

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Passed Assistant Surgeon A. C. Heffenger has been ordered to continue on duty at the Portsmouth navy yard until July 1st.

Eighty-seven seamen and three marines arrived in this city on Monday afternoon, and immediately proceeded across the river to the U. S. S. Vandalia, which was put in commission as soon as they were on board. It is reported that the Vandalia will make a trial trip to Hampton roads, and be there inspected, instead of being visited here by the board of inspectors.

MARITINE NOTES.

Schooner Lizzie H. Haskell, before reported ashore at Plum island, near Newburyport, has broken up. Her keel and ballast remained where she struck, while the upper part of her hull was split fore and aft and was forced high up on the beach, which is strewn with wreckage. The Lizzie H. Haskell was owned by T. Langford and others of Gloucester, Mass., and insured in the Gloucester Mutual Fishing Ins. Co. for $7,290, with nothing on her outfits; she was built in 1885, and registered ninety-eight tons.

Reserved seats at the S. O. V. ball, tomorrow evening, are twenty-five cents each, instead of thirty cents as before announced. The initial march of the S. O. V. will be gone through with on the evening of the ball.

The New York mail which was due here at five o'clock Saturday afternoon, arrived here at three o'clock Monday afternoon, having been detained on the way by the breaking down of bridges and culverts and washing away of embankments on the railroads between New York and Boston by the great flood.

Advertise—it is the life of trade. A lady who last week lost a pair of gold-bowed eyeglasses advertised them in the Chronicle, and after only two insertions of the "ad" found them down cellar in the apple barrel.

Of the members of the 27th Congress of the United States there are said to be four survivors—two in Virginia, one in Massachusetts and one in New Hampshire. The latter could have been seen after any of the storms this winter—often during the storms—clearing off the snow from the sidewalk in front of his residence on State street in this city. He gets in his coal, saws and splits his wood, and makes his own fires; he says he can work just as fast as ever, but from some unaccountable reason seems to become tired more quickly than he used to do. On Monday last he was engaged in chopping off the ice from his brick sidewalk, and did the job in good shape, too.

Mr. Geo. F. Thompson, formerly manager of the Rockingham and Wentworth houses, has been engaged by Mr. C. M. Gignoux to represent the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York in Manchester and vicinity. Mr. Thompson will commence business in that city in the course of a month.

The Sunday school connected with the Middle street Baptist church, at the session of the school last Sunday presented Wilbur L. Davis with a valuable book. Mr. Davis has for some time been connected with the school as its secretary and treasurer, and has recently resigned, being about to leave the city for the west. Mr. Fred F. Church was elected to take his place as secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school.

It is rumored that the Casino is shortly to be converted into a staple for H. R. Stoddard. However this may be, it is certain that the roller-skating craze in this city is pretty effectually gone by.

The juvenile element in the vestibule of the post-office, at times on Monday, was of such continuing boisterousness that it was with difficulty ordinary conversation could be heard. These unruly small children should be taken in hand by the proper persons in charge of the place.

Samuel W. Woodman of Kingston, deputy sheriff of Rockingham county, was found dead in bed Monday morning, probably from heart disease. He had held various town offices, and was one of the leading citizens.

Capt. Edwin Donnell, of the schooner Sharon, now laid up at Cape Neddick, York, for the winter, spent several days in this city last week as the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Meshach Bell. The Sharon will commence her trips again between York and Boston about the last of March.

Apropos of a visit of a gentleman of this city to Washington on important treasury business, a good, because it is a characteristic story is going the rounds, as many other good stories have gone this long time. Two or three years ago, this same personage was in Washington and visited the office of Judge Lawrence, one of the officials of the treasury department, to settle some disputed accounts. After considerable haggling, every item in the account was settled except one of ten cents. Long and verbosely our townsman argued with Judge Lawrence, but it was of no avail. He could not bring the judge to his way of thinking. After spending nearly an hour in this way, our fellow citizen said, taking out his watch: "I can't spend any more time bothering with you fellows here, I have an important engagement with Secretary Chandler. Secretary Chandler himself will see you in regard to this matter." When the secretary of the navy heard that he, a man who was expending hundreds of millions of dollars a year, was expected to visit the treasury department and have a long argument with Judge Lawrence over the paltry sum of ten cents, he was at first inclined to be angry, but on reflecting a moment he saw the extreme comicality of the whole matter, and, having previously satirized the same traits of character as he and every one else thought sufficiently, took no further notice of the effrontery displayed in the suggestion.—Portsmouth Journal.

Eels, of which York river was depleted about two years ago by the crew of a vessel from eastern Maine, have again appeared there in good numbers, probably coming from the fresh water streams that empty into the salt water. Previous to the closing of the river by ice this winter, a schooner, believed to be the invader of two years ago, appeared at Marshall's wharf and made fast, with the announced intention of making another onslaught on the eels of the upper river, but the menacing remarks of the dwellers along the river banks caused her skipper to give up the scheme, and seek some other field (or river) of operations.

Dyspepsia.

GENTS:—I feel it my duty to say respecting Burdock Blood Bitters, that it is the best medicine I ever took. I suffered two or three years from stomach troubles and dyspepsia as well as from liver and kidney complaint. I was not able to attend to my business. My wife was afflicted in much the same way. We read of your Bitters in the papers and made up our minds that we would try them. The result is my wife and I began to improve at once, and I am now able to do more hard work than before in ten years. It relieved my kidney troubles as well. We both wish you, the makers of it, Godspeed.

Will McDonald, 2342 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seven or six years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 23 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

her heart drained the blood from her lip and quenched the light in her beautiful eyes, until one showery afternoon, when the sunlight played hide-and-seek with the raindrops, she unfolded the wings of her white soul and vanished away beyond the sunshine and the rain.

Sorrowing friends and the bereaved mother laid the beautiful clay to rest in the old graveyard, and she slept in a lonely place, where the willows waved and two roads met, and sorrow touched her mournfully, for she had found peace.

Alice, seeing from that sad fate of her friend how little of wisdom was contained in the reputed wise woman's words, put away from her the thought of death and married her faithful suitor, and lived to tell her grandchildren of the night she went to have her fortune told.

Whether fate mixed the fortune of those two girls that wild autumn night is more than I can tell, being only a chronicler of the material and not the spiritual; but it is safe to say that it is not well to seek to lift the curtain that hides to-morrow from to-day, for it is a merciful and wise Providence that wells futurity from our eyes.

Love and Smoke.

Parents with marriageable daughters wonder why it is that their Angeline and Seraphina are wasting their sweetness on the desert air, when those horrid Scroggin girls (and such a crowd as there is of them) have all been happily mated. Ah, sharp old Scroggins; he knows why it is. He has made it a point all his life to live in a house where the chimneys and fireplaces worked in harmony, and the consequence has been that the available young man who dropped in for the evening found the fire so cheerful that he called again and again, until at last he concluded that he must have a fire of his own just like it, and of course must have Miss Scroggins to share it with him. But poor Angelina, though she has had beaux without number, she has also had a smoky fireplace to contend with, and the invariable result has been to scare the young man off after one evening's experience. Let anxious parents examine the fireplaces, and the chances are ten to one that there will be found the secret of their daughter's dangerous proximity to spinsterdom.

A Socorro (N. M.) newspaper invites girls who are working in the states at $1.50 a week to come to New Mexico and get $35 and $30 a month.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect facsimile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, 25 inches in height,—the Statue bronzed, Pedestal, nickel-delivered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, WITH PLUSH STAND, at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuette, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World fund of $100,000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $250,000 yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Liberal subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY

By reason of its central position and close relation to all principal lines East and West, at initial and terminal points, constitutes the most important and continental link in that system of through transportation which invites and facilitates travel and traffic between cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. It is also the favorite and best route to and from points East, Northeast and Southeast, and corresponding points West, Northwest and Southwest.

The Great Rock Island Route

Guarantees its patrons that sense of personal security afforded by a solid, thoroughly ballasted road-bed, smooth tracks of continuous steel rail, substantial bridges and trestles, rolling stock as near perfection as human skill can make it, the safety appliances of patent buffers, platforms and air brakes, and that exacting discipline which governs the movement of all its trains. Other specialities of this route are Transfers at all connecting points in Union Depots, and the unsurpassed comforts and luxuries of its Passenger Equipment.

The Fast Express Trains between Chicago and Peoria, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Leavenworth and Atchison are composed of well ventilated, elegant Day Coaches, Magnificent Palace Sleepers of the latest design, and sumptuous Dining Cars, in which absolutely nothing is left to be desired. Between Chicago and Kansas City and Atchison are also run the Celebrated Reclining Chair Cars.

The Famous Albert Lea Route

is the direct and favorite line between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, where connections are made in Union Depots for all points in the Territories and Northern Pacific Points. Over this route Fast Express Trains are run to the wagering resorts, summer resorts, pleasure locations, and hunting and fishing grounds of Iowa and Minnesota, and the most desirable route to the rich wheat fields and pastoral lands of Interior Dakota.

Still another DIRECT LINE is via Seneca and Kankakee, has been opened between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

The Only

medicine I ever found that helped me at all is ATHLOPHOROS, and I have not had the Rheumatism since I took it."—EDWIN SEARS, Provincetown, Mass.

A professor in a medical college once said to his class "put your hand in a vice, turn the screw until the pain is all you can bear, and that's rheumatism; turn the screw once more, and that's neuralgia—and gentlemen, the medical profession knows no cure for either." That was before the discovery of ATHLOPHOROS which does and will cure ATHLOPHOROS quickly cure both rheumatism and neuralgia, and many physicians use it regularly—frankly admitting that they can prescribe nothing else so effective.

Many persons have tried so many so-called remedies, without benefit, that they have no faith to try more, but it is worth your while to try Athlophoros, if you have any doubts as to its value write for names of parties in your own State who have been cured by its use.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed,

RICH, RICHER, RICHEST.

Men Who Have a Great Deal More Money than They can Use.

For many years the richest individual in all Russia was Herr Steigliatz. When he retired from affairs in 1860 he held property to the value of $9,000,000. But the richest men in the land of the Czars at the present time are the two Nobel brothers. They are of Swiss origin. While traveling in interior Russia they saw thousands of acres of land aglow with the light of oil-gas. They at once purchased an entire district of the apparently worthless fields, sunk oil-wells, and now control more petroleum than any concern in the world. Their wealth is really beyond calculation, though the London Times correspondent thinks that $400,000,000 is not an extravagant estimate.

It is to the Rothschilds, however, that belongs the honor of being the richest among men. Their united properties—and their properties must be considered as united from their peculiar family and business relations—pass even beyond the millions. In the last twelve years they have loaned to certain European Governments nearly $475,000,000. Their lordly power is shown in a modern instance. In 1866 the Prussian Government demanded an indemnity of $25,000,000 from the City of Frankfort. The head of the Rothschild house in that city sent word to Count Bismarck that if an attempt was made to force the levy he would break every bank in Berlin. And Bismarck was compelled to give way. Of course, it would have been different if it had been a question of hogs, when Bismarck would have felt himself right at home. The enormous wealth of the Rothschilds is doubly remarkable from the fact that the family was totally unknown a century ago.

Inferior only to the Rothschilds are the Baring brothers, who have "at instantaneous command" $300,000,000. It is noteworthy that the Barings owe their commercial rise to an American, Mr. William Bingham of Philadelphia, who, many years ago, had the house appointed the American agency in London.

Claus Spreckels, "the Sugar-King of the New World," as he likes to call himself, is said to derive an income of $5,000,000 from his sugar-plantations in the Sandwich Islands. In his domain he wields the most autocratic power of any monopolist in the world. His home at Honolulu is like the dream of a sybarite. His wants are served by an army of negroes.

Among the richest of moderns is the Czar of Russia, who enjoys from his personal estate an income of $10,000,000. The Sultan of Turkey is allowed for the support of his court $6,000,000; in addition to this he has a private income of $4,000,000. The Emperor of Austria is granted a yearly allowance of $12,000,000, and, as Wiener-wurst and beer are not expensive, he contrives to save a few dollars for his children.

Queen Victoria's personal estate is estimated at $30,000,000 and her lands and estates are worth fully $15,000,000 more.

But there are several noblemen in England with wealth much greater than that of their sovereign. The Dukes of Bucclecuch, Devonshire, and Norfolk, and the Marquis of Bute have each of them rent-rolls of $2,000,000 per annum. The Duke of Portland, who died recently, left unentailed property of over $10,000,000, and this, too, after a long life of the wildest extravagance. The greater part of his palace was constructed underground. His banquet-hall, ball-room, riding-gallery, and a number of superb guest-rooms are veritable tunnels, decorated in a fashion so splendid as to seem when described like a story of the Magi. If the Duke had been an American his loving family would have had him confined in an insane asylum.

Richer even than any of these titled millionaires is the Duke of Westminster, who, undoubtedly, has the largest income of any individual in the world. His fortune lies largely in the diametrically opposite regions of London known as the West End and Seven Dials. He owns acre upon acre of the most aristocratic domain in London, and his tenements cover miles in the worst slums in the world. His income quite passes the limit of the credible and is said by some to amount to $30 a minute.

Among the richest American estates ever gathered in the shape of the dollar, Efforts are made to conceal the enormous figure that would express the worth of the property, but it is probable that $80,00000,00 is not an extravagant estimate. The estate of William H. Vanderbilt was $300,000,000. A. T. Stewart was worth at the time of his death fully $60,000,000, a large part of which has gone one way or the other—but mostly the former. Jay Gould may be credited with $100,000,000 and just as much more as he pleases to make. Armour, the Chicago hog-packer, is worth $15,000,000. Mackay, whose step-daughter, the child of a California camp-barber, married a Prince of the ancient house of Colonna, is worth at least $20,000,000, and Fair, his former partner, has fully that amount. D. O. Mills is worth at least $7,000,000, and Edwin D. Morgan, the heir of the ex-Governor, has $30,000,000. James Gordon Bennett, one of the richest of the younger men of America, has a fortune of $15,000,000, Miss Catherine Wolfe, the wealthiest spinster in the country, has nearly $15,000,000 and is the last of her line.—N. Y. World.

Wagner's Views on Art.

In the Italian and French operas, which, until Wagner's day, had been played throughout Germany, the whole stress is laid on the arias which the various artists are to sing. People go to such an opera to be amused, and, after hearing it, give no thought to the libretto nor to the composer, but talk

Undigested Food

In the stomach develops an acid which stings the upper part of the throat and palate, causing "heartburn." It also evolves a gas which produces "wind on the stomach," and a feeling and appearance of distension in that organ after eating. For both this acidity and swelling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a much better remedy them alkaline salts, like hartshorn and carbonate of soda. A wineglassful of the Bitters, after or before dinner, will be found to act as a reliable carminative or preventive. This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form, also prevents and cures malarial fever, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in themselves a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.

Has Used Them Forty Years.

R. S. Day, of Watsonville, Santa Cruz Co., California, writes Febuary 3, 1885: "When my wife was seventy-three years old she was troubled with a very bad cough, and it looked as if she would die with consumption. She would not call in a doctor, but commenced taking Brandreth's Pills, two and three every night. In three weeks she was completely cured, and her health is now very good, and am sure the Pills have prolonged her life as well as my own, for I have used them forty years, and am now eighty-four years old. They have been my only medicine.

Presidential Appointments.

One advantage growing out of the dead-lock between the president and the senate, concerning appointments the confirmation of which is pending, is seen in the lessening of the number of changes in office. The president has apparently called a halt, and is pausing to consider the situation. In the meantime, appointments where vacancies exist are of a much better order. The selection of Mr. Walker of New York and Mr. Stearns of Massachusetts as United States attorneys for their respective districts, are, like the appointment of Mr. Frink to a similar position in New Hampshire, eminently creditable to the good sense of the executive. The president apparently has made up his mind not to be deceived into making appointments of bad men, when he knows their record, notwithstanding the endorsements of their democracy. He finds that more than this is required, to achieve a senatorial confirmation.

State Encampment, G. A. R.

Social card parties are becoming popular as a means of amusement among the residents of Bride hill; last week quite a company met at the house of Mr. Charles Cutts, and passed a very pleasant evening. This week (Monday evening) they met at Mr. Ephriam C. Cook's, and had a very social time. C.

During an auction sale of carpenters' tools, etc., belonging to the estate of the late Wm. Nobody was killed, but many were hurt. Moses E. Clark of Berwick having a rib broken, and a Mr. Spencer of Berwick had his head badly gashed. There was no fire in the stove, or a shocking disaster would probably have resulted.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less." I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

MAN MISSING.

Joseph Kelley, of No. 54 Bow street, left his home at eight o'clock in the morning on Monday, Feb. 15th, and was seen in Greenland at ten o'clock that forenoon, walking on the track of the Concord railroad, since which time his relatives have heard nothing of him. He is about forty years old, of medium size, rather thin face, light moustache, and partially bald; had on when he left a brown overcoat, stiff hat of same color, black trowsers, white shirt, and blue undershirt. He has not been a drinking man, and had no cause for leaving his home; and his family fear that his mind is affected, he having had a bad fall on the morning of the 13th inst., by which his head was hurt. They earnestly request that he may be kindly cared for and returned by any one who may find him, who will be gladly and gratefully reimbursed for any trouble and expense incurred.

SECRETARY WHITNEY'S POLICY.

Secretary Whitney asserts that the new navy cannot be built at the old navy yards. His statement before the house naval committee is explicit on this point. While he thinks that one or two of the navy yards should be equipped for building armored ships, he recommends adherance to the contract system as the only one that is practicable. "The government," he says, "will get better ships year by year out of private ship-yards than it will by building them itself." He favors very decidedly the system of contracts with firms or individuals.

We had all along supposed it would not take much time for the contractors to the capture the new secretary. An energetic body of men whose well remunerated retainers abound in Washington, go before congressional committees and tell their story. The recital may be supplemented by an invitation to individual members of a committee to permit a further discussion of a subject of so much consequence, after a little banquet where choice spirits may flow. But who represents the navy yards? Are the vigorous managers of the democratic party on either side of the Piscataqua achieving anything in behalf of their political constituency? or is the navy yard, as soon as the Vandalia departs, to become for the season a place of quiet repose? What is being done to have one of the homeward-bound ships sent to the Portsmouth navy yard? or is any effort being exerted to have any work done the approaching summer?

We fear that the contractors will have it all their own way. There was a rumor in Washington last week that a railway corporation was desirous of purchasing the navy yard to be used as a grain-shipping point. The many advantages of this point over every sea-port on the coast are well known to the railroad magnates, but capital always prefers to develope, even at great expense, the facilities for shipments at the large cities. We had hoped that when Mr. Whitney sat upon Mr. Roach in the way he did he would incline to test the experiment of doing work in the yards. The hue and cry about the expense is raised by the contractors. A well-built vessel of course must cost money. A cheap craft can be built at less cost than can a thoroughly-constructed man-of-war, but the head of the navy has been "Cramped" in his ideas by this contractor element which constantly is dinning in his ears the cry that work done in the navy yards results in nothing but a prodigal waste of the public money. The experiment will be tried by the present secretary as it was by his predecessor, and unless Congress in its wisdom provides for plant at the navy yards for the construction and repair of our iron ships of war, we soon shall see our diminished navy at the mercy of a possible foreign foe on the one hand and a set of sharp contractors on the other, while the country will be powerless to successfully contend with such enemies.

The Vandalia in Commission.

The United States ship Vandalia went into commission at the navy yard at about four o'clock Monday afternoon, the following being her roster:

Capt. Henry L. Howison, commanding;

Lieut. Comdr. Joseph E. Craig, executive officer;

Lieutenants John Garvin, John C. Wilson, Whitmuf P. Ray, Samuel C. Lemly;

Ensigns, Horace M. Witzel, Thomas M. Brumby, William E. Safford;

Surgeon, Hosea J. Babin;

Passed Asst. Surgeon, Robert Whiting;

Paymaster, John R. Carmody;

Chief Engineer, George J. Burnap;

Passed Asst. Engr., Alex B. Bates;

Asst. Engr., James M. Pickrell;

Second Lieut. U. S. M. C., Geo. F. Elliott;

Gunner, Robert H. Cross;

Acting Carpenter, Joseph B. Fletcher;

Paymaster's Clerk.—Roche;

Paymaster's Yeoman.—Downing.

The Vandalia is a second-rate screw steamer of 981 tons, (2900 tons displacement,) and having received new boilers while here is now good for a number of years' cruising. She is rated as an eight-gun ship in the navy list, her battery being as follows: One 8-inch muzzle loading rifle; six 9-inch smooth bores; one 60-pounder and two 20-pounder breech loading rifles; one 3-inch breech loading rifle; one 12-pounder light howitzer; one short and two long Gattling guns.

The cellar of the Kennard mansion, No. 10 Austin street, was so flooded by water during the recent rains that the furnace fires were extinguished, and descent into the basement of the house was found to be impossible. Mr. Dennis Shea, in the belief that the old drain was filled or has fallen in, has been engaged in digging a trench and laying a new drain from the house to the corner of Summer street. This is not a very common kind of a job in this region, in February.

The death of Miss Annie G. Delaney at Rye on the 15th inst. was caused by diphtheria, contracted probably from a relative who had been in Newmarket, nursing friends sick with the disease there. It is said there is not another case of the distemper in the town, yet considerable anxiety is very naturally felt by many of the citizens.

The Sons of Veterans' ball at the Casino comes off to-night, and reserved seat tickets at twenty-five cents each can be procured at Goodrich's to-day. Eastman's orchestra of Manchester, ten pieces, will give a concert from 7:30 to 9:00; and a view of the elaborate decorations will be worth the price of a ticket. Mr. D. Webster Barnabee, whose exquisite task as a decorator is unsurpassed, having had direction of the work. The sale of tickets has already been very large.

The St. Valentine's party at the Children's Home, Monday evening, was attended by a great company, over $20 being taken at the door in ten-cent admissions. Everything passed off pleasantly, and the managers are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts, as over $100 were cleared for the benefit of the institution.

We acknowledge the receipt of courtesies from the committee of arrangements of the Boston & Maine Railroad Relief Association's first annual ball, in Odd Fellows' hall, Boston, Wednesday evening, Feb. 17th.

[Mrs. Jacob Mellinor of Marion, Ohio, says the same thing.] S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had among the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would pick five miles for this medicine and pay $1 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "Cured an inveterate throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful RELIEVED me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment with out success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

only of the singers' voices; the opera itself is of little consequence; the people are only concerned with the singers. The artists themselves look upon the operas simply as opportunities to show their voices to the best possible advantage. Wagner believed that an opera should have a noble aim. So in everything he has given us, there is some divine struggle going on between the characters of right and wrong, in which the right triumphs. As the contest progresses, we ourselves are lost in the characters before us, our noblest feelings are aroused and strengthened. Wagner believed, furthermore, that the subject and words of an opera were not less important than the music; and he has expended as much of his own spirit in writing the librettos of his operas as he has poured into his music. No note of the music is for show; every one interprets some word or idea that is in the words; and every thought and act of the character is interpreted in the music, even if it be so insignificant a circumstance as jumping up a bank or running down a flight of steps. The performers, too, are expected to love their work, and to sink themselves in their parts; they must cease to be themselves and be the characters they represent. So that in one of Wagner's operas, every one, down to the smallest person connected with it, is necessary to its production; poet, musician, artists, orchestra,—all are great, for each can say, "but for me this could not be!"—St. Nicholas.

One of our American sojourners in a German university town was startled the other day to hear the question seriously put and hotly debated by a party of students: "Was Shakspeare drunk when he made his will?"

"No, George," she said, pushing her empty dish away, "no more to-night, thanks." "Just one dish more," pleaded the generous George. "No," she replied, firmly; "no more. Remember, George, we are to be married shortly, and it behooves us to practice economy. Besides, four dishes of ice-cream at this season of the year are enough."

Mr. Jobblewizzle came in to supper, morose and sullen, and when Mrs. J. twitted him on some of his shortcomings he snapped out: "If there's anything in this world I do like to see it's a fool." "Ah, love," she answered tenderly, "do you? My hand-glass is right on my dressing-case and you have my permission to use it just as you wish. I do so love to have my husband enjoy himself."—Merchant Traveler.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unjurjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on celivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

STATUE OF "LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD."

More Money Needed.

The Committee in charge of the construction of the pedestal and the erection of the Statue, in order to raise funds for its completion, have prepared, from model furnished by the artist, a perfect fac-simile Miniature Statuette, which they are delivering to subscribers throughout the United States at the following prices:

No. 1 Statuette, nine inches in height,—the Statue bronzed; Pedestal, nickel-silvered,—at One Dollar each, delivered.

No. 2 Statuette, in same metal, twelve inches high, beautifully bronzed and nickeled, at Five Dollars each, delivered.

No. 3 Statuette, twelve inches high, finely chased, Statue bronzed, Pedestal, Heavily Silver-Plated, with name, etc., at Ten Dollars each, delivered.

Much time and money have been spent in perfecting the Statuette, and they are much improved over the first sent out. The Committee have received from subscribers many letters of commendation.

The New York World Fund of $100 000 completes the Pedestal, but it is estimated that $40,000 is yet needed to pay for the iron fastenings and the erection of the Statue.

Lib rl subscriptions for the Miniature Statuettes will produce the desired amount.

OLD AGE.

The Means of Prolonging Life After Middle Age.

(From the Wilmington, Del., "News.")

An eminent London physician, John Gardner, M. D., whose specialty is diseases of the aged, has written a work on his favorite topic, and the result of his research is, that the only sure and abiding strength which old age receives is a medical treatment, with pure whisky. Quoting from his work, the doctor says: "Elderly persons who in winter suffer from cold feet, and find artificial heat, applied externally fails to afford relief, may with undoubted propriety and advantage take whisky and hot water on going to bed. If a headache or foul tongue follows, the inference is, the spirit was impure, probably containing fusel oil. A very slight trace of this noxious ingredient, in spirits, will, in some constitutions, produce headache—as accurate a test of impurity as chemistry can employ. On the subject of stimulants and their medicinal use when pure, Dr. Gardner further says: "The advocates of total abstinence equally fail to produce evidence in support of their opinion, that all stimulants are inimical to health and longevity. Science, common sense, Holy Scriptures and all experience, testify to the benefits to be derived. "The Every Saturday" of Baltimore, Md., publishes an interview, with the few remaining veterans, who were the defenders of the city in 1812, and who, though they have advanced far into the vale of years, enjoy good health, for which, each in turn, gave a potent reason. This little band of heroes, comprised of Mr. John C. Morford, aged 89 years, George Boss, 92; Samuel Jennings, 89; John Peddecord, 90; Nathaniel Watts 90, were visited at their separate homes, and for the many ills and infirmities to which age is subjected, each had used Duffy's pure malt whiskey medicinally, and each acknowledged its superior merits and the benefits they had derived from its use. From these evidences the reporter moralizes thus: "that the proof was positive that they had prolonged their lives by proper attention to nature's laws, and that the claim of the prohibitionists that stimulants are not conducive to longevity, had fallen to the ground."

CHESTNUTS.

Where the Popular Fruit is Gathered.

The sad-eyed Italian with his chestnut-stand, who ornaments every street corner, excites in the mind of the average citizen not so much the memory of the army of decrepit jokes that have come limping down the vistas of ages past, as of the days when he used to roam the woods in search of the best chestnut tree, with a cart-wheel spoke or a hickory stick in his hand as a weapon of offense and an old salt-bag slung over his back in which to carry off the booty. Every fall after the first October frost the same procession wends its way through the New England woods after school is out. Away goes the troop over stone walls and across closely-cropped meadows in search of the most desirable tree, for the characteristics of each are known.

This tree is tall and venerable, and its fruit is big, brown, and of the sweetest flavor, but its branches are so high that the most aspiring club can not reach them, and only after a strong wind has shaken the limbs and scattered the nuts on the ground, will it pay to visit the tree. Other trees have fruit that is less sweet and juicy, but their branches are lower, and they can be easily "clubbed" and compelled to yield up their abundance. Under one of these the chattering group gathers. The girls and the smaller boys pick up, while the more sturdy lads wield the club. There is a warning cry of "Heads," and up goes a club end over end. It circles through the air in the majestic manner of an eagle whose steering apparatus is out of order, descends in the tip-top of the tree, and bangs its way downward from branch to branch, while a perfect rain of chestnuts and burrs falls alike on the just and unjust. The capacious salt-bag gaps wide, but the spoils collected by many busy hands soon inflate it to the condition of a city official, and it is borne home in triumph, to have its contents poured into countless shallow milk-pans, if it doesn't burst on the way there.

Whether the youngster who at this moment may be twisting his shoulder out of joint and nearly snapping his head off in the attempt to throw a particularly big club to the top of the highest tree in some Connecticut woodland will ever walk down Broadway and hold open his pockets to receive a certain minute and high-priced portion of the wares of the sad-eyed Italian of the future it is impossible to say. But if such should be the case he will wonder from what sources—besides the almanacs and funny papers—all the chestnuts come. And unless the condition of the trade changes his loyalty to his New England home he will be shocked at the knowledge that none of them come from the eastern states. Baltimore, Pennsylvania, New York, and northern New Jersey are the sources of supply for the chestnut trade of this city. Hundreds of bushels come here to be consumed or shipped to Albany and other cities.

Chestnuts are rarely cultivated systematically, even in these regions, but they are more rigidly guarded from depredations, as they are not considered common property, as in New England. Sometimes chestnut trees are set out, but it is for the timber primarily, and the nuts are an incidental advantage. In Pennsylvania, especially, a chestnuting party is apt to meet with discouragements in the shape of Teutonic expletives, bulldogs, and shot-guns, which mar the beauty of the rural picture as seen in the Connecticut groves.

"All the chestnuts go through Washington market," said a dealer, as he shook a sieve full of the article under discussion yesterday. The shaking sent the dirt through the meshes of the sieve, and brought the light, worthy nuts to the top, where they were picked out and thrown away. "In a plentiful season," he continued, "like this they bring from $2.50 to $3.50 a bushel of sixty pounds. Some have to be picked over carefully, and others don't, according to where they come from and who gathered them."

"I suppose that worminess is contagious," said the reporter, as he picked out a particularly fat and thriving specimen. "One worm in a chestnut would corrupt a whole barrelful in time, wouldn't it?"

"Every chestnut you are eating has a worm in it," replied the dealer, with a reassuring grin. "You take the fairest, soundest one you ever saw and keep it in a warm place, like an incubator, and it'll hatch out a worm. Arrangements are perfected for the future appearance of that worm by a little insect while the tree is yet in blossom. Then, to help the thing out, the chestnuts get up heat themselves by a sort of spontaneous combustion. If I let the barrel stand all night you couldn't bear to run your hand down into it in the morning it would be so hot. They must be kept in a cold place."

"How many bushels of chestnuts pass through the market in a year?"

"I don't know, and I can't guess. We handle hundreds of bushels ourselves, and there are a good many others in the business."—New York Tribune.

A recent lesson in the Sabbath-School was on the death of Elisha; and when one of the scholars came to the clause, "They buried him," the teacher asked "Why did they not cremate him? Do you think there is any encouragement in the Bible for cremation?" "No encouragement whatever," was the reply. "They tried it on the three that were cast into the fiery furnace, and didn't make it work."—New Orleans Picayune.

Undigested Food

In the stomach develops an acid which stings the upper part of the throat and palate, causing "heartburn." It also evolves a gas which produces "wind on the stomach," and a feeling and appearance of distension in that organ after eating. For both this acidity and swelling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a much better remedy them alkaline salts, like bartshorn and carbonate of soda. A wineglassful of the Bitters, after or before dinner, will be found to act as a reliable carminative or preventive. This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form, also prevents and cures malarial fever, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in themselves a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.

John B. Gough, the great apostle of temperance, was reported on the 17th inst. as being still unconscious, and with no improvement in his condition. He was stricken with apoplexy while lecturing in Philadelphia on the evening of the 15th inst.

Murdered.

The body of Julius Baer was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morn, in a terribly mangled condition. His head and face were smashed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the great blood medicine, Sulphur Bitters. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clew to the perpetrators.—Colorado Press.

It has finally been decided to hold a national exhibition in Berlin, Germany, in 1888.

Three Reasons

Why every one needs, and should take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

A piece of a meat out of doors in Douglass county, Col., it will cure itself in a few days. If you have weak lungs, that's a good place to live. If you can't arrange to go just yet, buy a bottle of G. O. Taylor Pure Rye, put into it six or eight ounces rock candy, and when dissolved use it as medicine. It will relieve the cough, and it may make you well. Druggists and grocers sell the whiskey. Chester H. Graves & Sons bottle it, and their name is on label and over cork of each bottle.

"Good Salaries Made at Home."

Mrs. Abby Morton Diaz, president of the Women's Educational & Industrial Union of Boston, says the union is constantly in receipt of letters from women inquiring about the reliability of the various parties who fill the papers with advertisements offering to furnish women with remunerative work at their homes; in many instances, letters sent to the addresses advertised, and containing small remittances, have brought no answer whatever. The Boston Traveller remarks:

"All over the country are women who wish to earn money at home. Advertisements promising instruction in various kinds of work are often misleading. One reason that no answer is sent the applicant is made plain by the bulky mails of the advertising parties. One of these having been ejected from his hired rooms, could not at once secure others, and in less than one month his mail accumulated at the post office in suspicious quantities, and, being opened, was found to contain in small sums nearly $800. These swindlers so manage as to keep beyond the reach of law, but they dislike to be questioned, and are often hard to find. A gentleman doing business near one of their offices says heavy mails are left there daily, but that seldom is anybody seen within. Inquirers at such places bring us reports of "short answers," "piles of letters," "fortunes being scooped in," etc.

Hoping to be able to in some measure protect needy women from being plundered by heartless swindlers, Mrs. Diaz makes the following announcement:

The Women's Educational and Industrial Union, 74 Boylston street, Boston, will gladly investigate, free of charge, advertisements offering to supply women with work at home.

This advertisement will be inserted one week in the Boston papers, free of charge; and the country papers are earnestly requested to aid the good work by copying it.

No. 336,292. Frank M. Clark, Tilton, boiler-tube cleaner.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending Feb. 16th was 445.

Naval Intelligence.

Assistant Surgeon C. W. Rush has been detached from the New Hampshire, and ordered to the receiving ship Franklin.

Assistant Engineer W. M. McFarland has been detached from the Morgan iron works, and ordered to the Vandalia.

The Yantic arrived at St. Thomas Feb. 14th.

The court of claims has decided that a naval officer on duty on board a training vessel which remains in port, is entitled to sea pay. In 1882 the secretary of the navy issued an order that such officers were entitled to shore pay.

It is expected that a naval order will be issued soon directing the fleet drill of the North Atlantic squadron to be held in the spring in the vicinity of Pensacola, Fla., instead of in Tampa bay, as was at first intended. Satisfactory representations of the advisability of the change have been made to Secretary Whitney.

OLD, YET NEW.

God has been pleased to make known to me, through his word, about the year when his Son will have the kingdoms of this world for his own, by the following rule:

The last ruler in the pagan Roman empire, Justinian, made over all the civil and religious power into the hands of the head of the Roman Catholic church, in the year 554.

Daniel's horn with eyes, 1260 years,
John, Rev. 17, leopard beast, 1260 yrs.,
John, Rev. 17, woman on the beast,
The abomination of desolation,
Paul's man of sin,
Daniel's 1290 years,
Daniel's 1335 years.

These symbols and numbers all commenced at the same time, in the same year, 554. These facts give us two tables, viz.:

554	554
1814	1889

The crowned heads of Europe in convention, took all civil and religious power out of Roman Catholic hands in the year 1814, by granting free toleration of all religionists. In 1870 King Victor Emanuel took from the Roman church the city of Rome and the States of the church.

WM. S. WILLEY, Portsmouth, N. H.

It is reported in London that the Greek fleet is to be attacked and disabled by the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

An exhibition building in Liverpool, Eng., in course of construction, collapsed Feb. 16th, burying many workmen, eighteen of whom had arms or legs broken, while several were killed, the exact number not being stated.

Owing to the renewal of armaments by the Bulgarians, King Milan has ordered the second class of reserves of Servia to be mobilized. A Hungarian legion is being organized in Servia to aid King Milan, and it has already enrolled 400 men.

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

"The Southern Bivouac" for March will contain a fac simile reproduction of a letter from Thomas Jefferson relating to the Kentucky Resolutions of '98. In the same article will be given an exact reproduction of the official copy of these resolutions as adopted by the Kentucky legislature, which copy differs in many particulars from the usually accepted version. Paul H. Hayne has prepared for the same number an account of the defense of Fort Wagner, in Charleston harbor. His description of the desperate assault made by the Federal troops under Col. Shaw, and its repulse, is said to be very graphic. Published at Louisville, Kentucky.

MARITIME NOTES.

The barge (late schooner) Maggie Quinn was towed from the Eastern railroad wharf to the Isles of Shoals on the 17th inst. with a cargo of ice, by the steamer Clara Batemen.

Capt. Samuel Pray, master of the barque Harvard, left this city on the 16th inst. for New York to join the vessel, which has been loaded there for Iloilo, Phillippine islands. He was accompanied by Mrs. Pray, who will make the voyage with him. Mr. Frank S. Preston joins the barque later in the week, for a trip to Iloilo, where he will probably leave her and take a run across to China and Japan.

Capt. Littlefield, of the schooner Estella, now laid up at Commercial wharf, has been in town looking after the interests of the vessel in anticipation of the opening of the upper waters of the Piscataqua. Within the next two weeks the brickers generally will begin to get in readiness for operations, and presumably will commence running about the last of March.

It is not often that a rain storm on land interferes seriously with the ocean fishermen, but the rain, thaw and flood of the 12th and 13th insts. did. On Friday, the 12th, over 300,000 lbs. of fish, mostly of fine quality, arrived at this port, but there was no sale for the catch, the Boston market having been glutted by the sudden arrival of over 2,000,000 lbs. of cod and halibut, and there being no railroad transportation from Boston to New York. The high temperature tended to still further depress prices, and one local dealer bought heavily of extra fine steak cod at $1.25 per hundred lbs.,—and sold in Boston on the 15th at seventy-five cents a hundred! A number of schooners after lying at this port for several days, ran across to Rockport, Mass., on Monday, and sold their fares at $1 per hundred lbs., for splitting.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, Feb. 16th.

The pastor of the Congregational church has been suffering from a bronchial cold, and Rev. Randolph A. DeLancy, D. D., preached for him last Sunday. On the previous Sabbath seven persons were admitted to church membership, and two baptisms at the communion service.

Samuel Lamprey, Esq., of Portsmouth, gave an interesting impromtu lecture on Wednesday evening, in the free course before the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The preceding lecture by Mrs. Washington of Minnesota, on the current aspects of the temperance reformation, was delivered without notes, in most excellent manner, taste and spirit, and from a moral, social and Christian standpoint was one of the best we have ever heard. She is lecturing through this state under the auspices of the Woman's State Board, and her influence must be a blessing to every community where her gentle persuasive voice is heard.

The presiding elder of this district preached some able and impressive sermons last week in the Methodist church, full of the marrow of the Gospel, with the true ring of earlier Methodism, and sounded as fresh and good as the voices of the itinerancy half a century ago.

Our citizens are suffering considerable trouble and losses by deep water in their cellars, from the recent heavy rains and melting snows, following the sad havoc among shade and fruit trees by the wonderful glacial visitation.

It is currently reported that a young family were turned out of a miserable old and comfortless cottage, in the pitiless weather of ten days ago, for lack of five or six dollars back rent, (owing to being out of work,) but they were kindly sheltered by neighbors and on Sunday morning seemed cheerfully happy in the advent of a little stranger—a son. So trouble and comfort alternate in the evolutions of human events!

Hon. Wm. G. Cole has sold the handsome property on High street, near the cemetery, to Mr. Simon Dow of Little Boar's head, for a private residence. Mrs. Bogart, who is residing in it apprecent, will receive, it is reported, some fifteen thousand dollars on a life insurance policy of the late Capt. Bogart. **

Large numbers of piles for the extension of the Concord railroad wharf are being brought by rail from the interior of the state, and tumbled on the beach at Noble's island, on the easterly side of the short bridge.

Four seals were frisking about in the north pond on Wednesday forenoon of this week. The appearance of seals in the pond is something we do not remember to have ever heard of before, though the creatures have often been seen in the river outside the bridge, and ingress to the pond was as free when the gates were there as it is now. Perhaps they have noticed that the gates are gone, and realize that they can not only get in, but out again, whenever they like. A school of twenty or more "puffing pigs," the smallest of the porpoise species, were also gambolling about in the pond on Wednesday morning,—so we are informed by several persons, though we have always supposed that the puffing pig especially affected deep, pure water and a warm climate, appearing in numbers on this coast only in the summer.

Potatoes of good quality are being brought in by farmers in large quantities, and find ready sale at sixty cents per bushel.

Rev. C. J. Staples of Reading, Mass., will preach in the South Parish church on Sunday night.

ONE OF THE VETERANS.

The Laconia Saturday Review, in a biographical sketch of Philbrick R. Lovett, now living in Laconia at the age of ninety years, says:

His military history dates back to August 10th, 1814, when he enlisted under Capt. Hardy, and served three months in the 1st Reg't, under Col. Walbach. He was stationed at Fort Constitution, Portsmouth harbor, and remembers when the English fleet was lying off that point, menacing the garrison, and threatening devastation of the town. The vessels of light draught ventured inside the Isles of Shoals and it was feared they would attempt to destroy the light-house contiguous to the fort, and consequently it was stripped of everything but the frame and awaited its fate. Deeming "discretion the better part of valor," they kept away from the reach of the boys behind the works, and our aged hero of to-day was spared to recite from memory the eventful transactions of that exciting period. "Honor to whom honor is due" is universally given by each and all in Mr. Lovett's honorable military record, and as we con his pages of history we give him a generous share for his worth in military service and merit as a citizen. He is pensioned by the government he served.

The annual encampment of the G. A. R., department of New Hampshire, commenced at Dover on the 17th inst.

Thomas Jameson, son of a wealthy Montreal mechanic, was the man killed in the disaster on the Lowell railroad at Woburn junction, Mass.

It is currently reported that Mr. Jennison, proprietor of the Hotel Pocahontas at Gerrish island, intends to build a steamboat landing near Pocahontas point, and put on a steamer to run during the summer between the point and this city, to touch at Kittery Point and Newcastle.

The ice crop at Kittery Point is completed, Messrs. Clarkson & Hoyt having cut 500 tons and Lafayette Frisbee, who recently built an ice-house near the landing of the steamer James Sampson, 400 tons. The ice dealers at the Point find a good sale for it during the summer, to fishing vessels, yachts and coasters.

Mr. Blaisdell, whose house (the Elder Rowell place) at Kittery Point was recently destroyed by fire, has commenced to rebuild, the neighbors hauling the timber free and otherwise aiding him to repair his damage.

Deacon Hill of Eliot is temporarily supplying the pulpit of the Congregational church at Kittery Point, which is now without a pastor.

Miss Carrie Shaw, only daughter of Mr. Benjamin F. Shaw of Birch hill, York, died on the 8th inst. after an illness of only a few days, in the 23d year of her age. She had for some time been organist of the 2d Congregational church; the very large attendance at her funeral was an indication of the universal esteem in which she was held.

Mr. Joseph Gowen of Cider hill, York, previously reported as being nearing his end, died on Sunday, the 14th inst., at the age of seventy-five years. In his infancy he possessed the usual complement of faculties, but at the age of six years he had a fever which made him deaf and dumb for the remainder of his life.

The school at the Scotland district, York, taught by Miss Lizzie Rogers, an experienced teacher, was closed last month until spring. The schoolhouse, which is a new one, is an honor to the town; and the teacher gave general satisfaction to the patrons.

CONSTIPATION!

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by Constipation, and there is no other ill flesh is heir to more apt to be neglected, from the fact material inconvenience may not be immediately felt from irregular action of the bowels. When there is not regular action the retention of decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing piles, fistula, headache, impure blood and many other serious affections. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will immediately relieve, and one bottle positively cure or relieve any case of Constipation.

"Was troubled for a year with torpid liver and indigestion, and after trying everything imaginable used BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. The first bottle revived me and the second cured me entirely."—J. S. Williamson. Rochester, N. Y.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, followed by single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs, for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (Blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 22 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. I used your CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment with out success, and which was specially and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

pared this fact should be chronicled: A family wishing to do the sea-coast cheaply furnished the kitchen with a bit of a stove which had four tiny griddles. The freshly-captured servant-girl stood still when she came to inspect the stove and saw four openings only in the top. A look of disdain crept over her classic face, and then she said scornfully: "I never cooks with less than seven holes!" —Boston Record.

Mr. Spurgeon is said to be thriving on his vegetarian diet. He is not the first prophet who has adopted it with success. Daniel and three of his companions lived on pulse and water, "and at the end of ten days their countenance appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the King's meat." There has been some discussion as to what kind of seed or vegetable is represented by the term "pulse"; but, no Bostonian at his Sunday breakfast has any doubt on the subject.—Christian Register (Boston.)

A terrible disappointment:
When the organ-grinders leave the street,
And gales blow hard, and snow and sleet
Are falling fast, and wet the feet;
Then street musicians must use
'Gainst taking cold, and then we know
The time for searching high and low
Has come, and right to work we go
To find our last year's overshoes.
We hunt the closet through and through,
The pantry and the attics, too—
For hours the anxious search pursue,
But all in vain, and when 'tis o'er
It makes us rather mad to find
That three nice rubbers—flannel-lined—
Our wife (of course with motive kind)
Has giv'n to feed the coal next door.
—Boston Courier.

Doing good to her neighbors:
Said a Dallas (Tex.) woman to a female friend:

"You should make your husband quit chewing tobacco. If you tell him to quit it he will give it up, I suppose."

"Yes, if I ask him to; but I am not going to ask him to quit chewing tobacco."

"When he kisses you, don't the taste of tobacco make you sick?"

"Yes, but I want him to keep on chewing. He kisses three or four other women, and the tobacco makes them sicker than it does me, for I've got used to it already."—Texas Siftings.

For a Western town, rapidly filling up by immigration, the percentage of native born population in Omaha is surprisingly large, 13,849 in a total of 72,656. Of foreigners, the Germans and Irish predominate. Of those from other states the largest number is credited to New York, with Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania following closely in the order named. The colored population numbers 1,444 and the Chinese 76.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25c cents a bottle.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000; and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

THE BATTLES OF THE DEAD.

It is midnight in the brick farmhouse at Chancellorsville—the new building on the site of the one partially destroyed when Hooker marched his troops into the wilderness to get in the rear of Lee at Fredericksburg. In the yard are the rotting wheels of gun carriages; in the south wall are a dozen cannon balls firmly imbedded; half a mile below is the stone marking the spot where Stonewall Jackson received his mortal wound; here is the same dark forest which sheltered friend and foe.

"Are you asleep?"

"No."

The last stroke of 12 had scarcely died away when the farmer opened my bedroom door to ask the question.

"Then maybe you'd like to see it?"

"What?"

"The battle of Chancellorsville. The Federal troops are now in sight on the Ely's Ford road."

I hastily dressed and passed out into the yard with him. I noticed that he had on a Confederate uniform, dusty and worn. I looked at my own garments; they were blue. He pointed his finger down the road, and I saw through the mist of the summer night a great army approaching. There was cavalry, infantry and artillery—there were flags and banners and ambulances. In two minutes more the head of the column had reached the Chancellorsville plank road. Some turned to the right, some to the left, some plunged into the gloomy pine thickets beyond.

"But I hear no noise—not the footstep of a horse nor the clank of a saber," I protested.

"Hush! 'Tis a battle of the dead! The spirits of the thousands who fell here have come to fight the battle once again!"

I looked at him more closely and I saw the light of battle in his eyes. His form grew erect, his feet seemed impatient and he scented the air as if eager to join in the fray.

Now the highways and byways—the cleared fields—the open woods—the lonely thickets well full of blue uniforms. Couriers and aides galloped here and there—staff officers turned heads of columns to the right or left. It was so strange to witness those thousands moving with such order and yet giving out no sound.

"Look—see!" whispered my companion as he pointed down the plank road.

There was a cloud of smoke rolling up out of the pine woods and blotching the starlit sky like a stain of blood. It spread and grew until half the stars of heaven were hidden. Meanwhile the face of every man in blue was turned that way. We saw battery after battery, regiment after regiment, brigade after brigade, move down to the scene of conflict. Tongues of flame flashed through the smoke-cloud and lighted up thicket and field, but there was no sound. The stillness of night was almost painful.

"Here are the results!" whispered the Confederate, and I looked to the right and left to behold the dead and wounded. I could see them in the fields, under the pines, on the highway. Some faces showed fear and horror—others expressed vindictiveness. There were horses lying dead—others hobbling about and seeming to appeal for mercy.

"It is horrible!" I whispered.

"Aye! but it is over."

I looked again and the vision had faded. The highways were barren of life—the fields and forests at peace. The smoke cloud had disappeared, and the dead and wounded had been spirited away.

"And so the dead of the armies fight their battles o'ers?" I asked.

"As you have seen," he solemnly replied. "Until the hate and rancor of men is no more—until all men are at peace—the spirits of those who fell in battle cannot rest. They must plan campaigns and fight their battles as of old. The vision you have seen here is repeated at Antietam, Gettysburg, Vicksburg, Franklin—on a hundred battlefields of America. Let us go in."—Detroit Free Press.

Got the Best.

A man, after eating a very poor dinner in a third-class restaurant, leaned back and asked of the negro waiter how much money was due.

"Sebenty-fi' cents, sah."

"What, for the wing of a chicken and a piece of corn bread?"

"Yes, sah."

"It's outrageous! I never heard of anything like it before!"

"Boss, lemme tell yer. Yer looked like a man dat wanted de bes' an' I giv' it ter yer."

"The best?"

"Yes, sah, fur dat wuz de wing o' de games' chicken in dis country. If yer wanted common chicken w'yn't say so?"—Arkansaw Traveller.

Our Critics.

The critics—and in speaking of them one always leaves one's self out of the count for some reason—when they are not elders ossified in tradition, are apt to be young people, and young people are necessarily conservative in their tastes and theories. They have the tastes and theories of their instructors, who perhaps caught the truth of their day, but whose routine life has been alien to any other truth. There is probably no chair of literature in this country from which the principles now shaping the literary expression of every civilized people are not denounced and confounded with certain objectionable French novels, or which teaches young men anything of the universal impulse which has given us the books, not only of Zola, but of Tourgueneff and Tolstoi in Russia, of Bjornsen in Norway, of Valera in Spain, of Verga in Italy, of the unknown Englishman who wrote "Mark Rutherford." Till these younger critics have Only Half Alive.

There are hosts of men and women who, to coin a phrase, are only half alive. That is to say, they have seldom if ever any appetite, are nervous, weak, fidgetty and troubled by numberless small pains and aches. In the presence of vigorous, exuberent vitality they seem mere pigmies. Such persons are usually fond of frequently dosing themselves, swallowing in the course of the year enough drugs to stock any apothecary's shop of average dimensions. This, of course defeats instead of furthering the end in view, viz., the recovery of health and vigor. Were they to seek it from an unfailing source of vitality, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, how different would be their case. Then vigor would return to their debilitated frames, the glow of health to their wan cheeks, their trembling, uncertain gait would grow firm and elastic, apppetite, that grandest of all sauces, would give a relish for the daily food, were it over so coarse, and refreshing sleep would crown the tasks of the day.

A despatch was received by the London police authorities on the 12th inst. that a mutiny had broken out on board the British naval training ship Arethusa, lying in the Thames off Greenwich, and asking for assistance. A detachment of police was immediately sent on board the ship to quell the mutiny.

Murdered.

The body of Julius Baer was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morn, in a terribly mangled condition. His head and face were smashed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the great blood medicine, Sulphur Bitters. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clew to the perpetrators.—Colorado Press.

During a recent municipal election in Philadelphia a gang of democratic roughs, armed with knives and revolvers, demanded the surrender of the ballot boxes in one ward, but the boxes were saved by be assistance of the police.

The best reason yet advanced for having Monday washing day, the next day after Sunday, is because "cleanliness is next to godliness." The reason why every body uses Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is because it is a safe, pleasant, and positive cure for coughs and colds.

Thomas M. Jackson, colored, who was found in his hut on the hills of Union township, Pa., some days ago, badly frozen, died at the hospital. There is undoubted evidence that Jackson was 124 years of age. Over seventy years ago he was in the employ of Gen. Jackson on the latter's plantation in Tennessee.

The Lewiston Strike.

Treasurer Edwards, of the Bates mill at Lewiston, Me., having instructed Agent Pratt not to re-instate Dalton, the discharged loom-fixer, but to announce the advance of ten per cent in wages, the employes voted unanimously not to return unless Dalton was also taken back. The dispute appears to be about the competency of the discharged loom-fixer. The agent says he was discharged for his poor workmanship; the strikers say he knew his business well. Both sides seem determined,—each to have their own way. A little less of such determination on both side would very probably result in the 1800 idle employes again being in the receipt of the wages they must need, and the corporation moving on toward a share in the revival of business prosperity foreshadowed by the proffered increase of wages.

The Revenue Marine Service.

A bill has been introduced in the national house of representatives providing "That whenever any officer in the revenue marine has been forty-five years in service, or is sixty-five years of age, he shall be retired by the president from active service. The officers in the revenue marine to be retired in accordance with the laws governing the retiring of officers in the navy; and with the same pay that officers of relative rank in the navy receive, viz.: Captains, with lieutenant-commanders; 1st lieutenants and chief engineers, with lieutenants; 2d lieutenants and 1st assistant engineers, with junior grade lieutenants; 3d lieutenants and 2d assistant engineers, with ensigns. Captains in the revenue marine, after twenty years' service from date of captain's commission, to rank with commanders in the navy, and to receive the same pay that commanders in the navy receive. 1st lieutenants and chief engineers, after ten years' service as such, to receive the same pay as lieutenants in the navy receive. 2d lieutenants and 1st assistant engineers, after eight years from date of commission as such, to receive the same pay as junior grade lieutenants in the navy receive. 3d lieutenants and 2d assistant engineers, after six years' service from date of commission, to receive the same pay as ensigns in the navy receive after five years' service, and one navy ration per day when on duty on board seagoing vessels.

THE NEW INSURANCE LAW.

The ridiculous prediction that the valued policy law would tend to increase incendiarism in New Hampshire seems to have been entitled to no weight whatever. The number of fires in the state has decreased in a very large percentage since the law was passed. The state is ridden of the peripatetic drummer for insurance who issued policies for foreign companies without considering the risk or amount of indemnity promised, and to-day insurance business is done on a sound basis. The Granite State Insurance company of this city is to yield to the request of a large number of New Hampshire people who have insurable property in Massachusetts, and will place itself in condition to write policies on risks in that state. If the New Hampshire holders of mortgages on real estate in Massachusetts, would send a tithe of their business to the Granite State Co., it would amount to enough to pay a large dividend on the capital, and yet the foreign insurance men said that the new law would bankrupt the state. "Go along!"

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

At the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of New Hampshire, at Dover on the 17th inst., Portsmouth was represented by Past Department Commander Daniel J. Vaughan, (1869,) Department Commander Marcus M. Collis, Asst. Adjt. Gen. George E. Hodgdon, Asst. Quar. Gen. Charles W. Tracy, Commander Charles H. Bessellevre of Storer Post, Representatives J. Horace Kent, Joseph R. Curtis, B. Stowe Laskey, Henry S. Paul and Charles L. Hoyt of Storer Post, and Alternates Augustin Caswell and George B. Caswell.

George W. Farr of Littleton was elected department commander for the ensuing year, O. C. Wyatt of Tilton senior vice commander, John M. Mears of Manchester junior vice commander, Josiah G. Eastman of Hampstead medical director, and E. R. Wilkins of Concord chaplain.

The trade in valentines this year has been very light, and fewer of the missives have passed through the mails than for many years before. Probably the long continued abuse of sending insulting caricatures on St. Valentine's day has had much to do with the disrepute into which the observance of the day has fallen, and possibly the extension of the custom of sending Christmas, new years and Easter cards may have something to do with it.

A detachment of twenty-seven seamen, in charge of an ensign, arrived from Boston on Thursday forenoon, and were taken across the river to the Vandalia by the steamer Emerald.

The Direct United States Cable Co.'s telegraph cable, which was broken on Brown's bank some weeks ago, was repaired by the cable steamer Minia, Capt. Trott, at 2:15 o'clock A. M. on the 18th inst., and the entire line is now in good working order from Rye beach to Europe. During the existence of the break there has been no interruption in the sending of cable messages, the alternate land line between New York and Torbay being used.

The Biddeford Journal reports that Solon S. Andrews of that city has returned from Boston, having finished his contract of wrecking the schooner Juliet, which went down in Broad sound, outside Boston harbor. He was at work upon her four days, and raised all of the stone, but did not succeed in finding the dead bodies of the three men who went down with her. One day he went under water at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, and did not come out until 4:30 in the afternoon.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Laudon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

Present the full board, except Alderman Coffin, absent through sickness.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

New England Telephone Co. asked permission to erect a pole on Vaughan street, and one on Chestnut street near the Kearsarge house; referred to the mayor, with power.

Petition of H. F. Eldredge and others for the placing of gates at the dangerous Creek crossing of the Concord railroad, was presented and accepted; and an ordinance presented by Ald. Magraw providing for such gates, was passed under suspension of the rules, and sent to the common council for concurrence.

Mayor reported that he had settled the claim of the Fire Alarm Co. for $490.

Cornelius Carey made a personal statement as to injuries received by his wife through falling on a Washington street sidewalk, and the matter was referred to the committee on claims with the mayor added, to report.

Adjourned for two weeks.

THE S. O. V. BALL.

The ball given in the Casino on Wednesday evening, the 17th inst., was the most decided success of the season. The reserved seat tickets were all sold early in the evening, and many persons were obliged to accept "standing room only." There were eighty-four couples in the grand march, and at least forty couples more took prrt in the subsequent dances. The decorations of the hall surpassed anything of the kind seen here of late years; and the music by Eastman's orchestra, including the concert before dancing commenced, was excellent. A novel feature for a dance ball was the presence of many easy chairs, sofas, etc., at one side of the dancing floor, these articles being furnished by Sheldon Bros. Mr. Michael Crowley and Miss Lizzie Moran led the grand march.

AN OLD RECEIPT.

Among the ancient documents in the possession of Mr. Samuel Langdon, Lafayette road, is a receipt for taxes, bearing date 1780, paid by his grandfather. It is printed upon a piece of paper five inches by four, and reads as follows:—

Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

To Capt Samuel Langdon.

Your State and County tax is	£1053
Your Town tax is	£1054 10
	£2107 10

The selectmen and assessors sit at Union Hall in Portsmouth aforesaid every Monday in November and December and the first Monday in January next from three to eight o'clock P. M. to whom any person agrieved may apply for ease.

Thomas Seavey, Collector.

October, 1780.

Upon the back payments are made as follows:—

Mr. Libbey	order	£1073 17
Major Hale	"	150
Major Hale	"	300
Major Glancy	"	20
Bounty		90
Abatements		300
		£1933 17

Received the above

THOMAS SEAVEY.

Received of Samuel Langdon July 2, 1781 five hundred and ten dollars in full for this bill. THOMAS SEAVEY.

This bill was paid toward the close of the revolutionary war, in that genuine "fiat" money, the Continental currency, and though Capt. Langdon's tax looks very big on paper, being between ten and eleven thousand dollars, a very small basketful of gold, or even buzzard dollars, would have paid it.

The ladies of the Universalist Social Circle will hold a sale of aprons, fancy work and Japanese wares in their vestry on Tuesday, Feb. 23d, doors opening at three o'clock, and sale to continue to eight. Coffee, ice-cream and cake, served to order. At eight o'clock an interesting and unique stage entertainment will be given, the principal feature of which will be a Japanese Wedding in costume, and showing exactly how the marriage ceremony is performed in Japan. The attractions are well worth liberal patronage. Admission fifteen cents.

The tide-way of the north millbridge was a very attractive spot for the youngsters of the vicinity at ebb tide on Thursday. The water, owing to the high tide and the large amount of fresh water coming down "Turtle gutter," was rushing out with great volume and force, and it was rare sport for the youngsters to watch the big cakes of ice as they came floating slowly down the current, steadily accelerating their pace as they neared the outlet, and finally dashing to fragments against the bridge and passing out through the sluiceway, to return no more. Three seals, probably some of those noticed playing about in the pond the previous day, were seen to go out with the current on Thursday, swimming a few feet below the surface of the water.

The first annual ball of the Portsmouth Athletic club will be given in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, March 2d.

It was reported on Thursday last that Dr. F. E. Potter had sued Mr. Michael Crowley for damages, for waxing the floor of the Casino the previous evening on the occasion of the S. O. V. ball.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and nutritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail!

Will McDonald, 2541 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 98 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. I have tried every CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

learned to think as well as to write for themselves they will persist in heaving a sigh, more and more perfunctory, for the truth as it was in Sir Walter, and as it was in Dickens, and in Hawthorne. Presently all will have been changed; they will have seen the new truth in larger and larger degree, and when it shall have become the old truth, they will perhaps see it all.

In the meanwhile they are not such bad fellows with us, and though one might perhaps count our critical authorities upon rather less than the thumbs of one hand, we believe there is no country in the world where an author finds complete recognition at least. Our critics must still make each his manners, more or less comical, to the awful form of precedent; but when this is once done, they do collectively find out what is good in a piece of literature. In a thousand newspapers, scattered all over the whole country, they utter so vast an amount of fresh and independent impression that every part of the author's work is touched, nothing of its intention or performance is lost. It will often be deplored as mistaken and of wrong direction or slighter value, but it will have been felt to the last, lightest insinuation.

This is another advantage of a literary centre distributed almost as widely as the Presidential patronage. There is no critical leadership among us. Chicago frankly differs from Boston about a book, and St. Louis can not do less than differ from Chicago; San Francisco has no superstition about the opinions of New York; Buffalo and New Orleans have each its point of view. Comment is almost co-extensive with reading in our country; and from the newspapers the author may learn fairly well what this vast, sympathetic, eager people are saying and thinking of his book. This will always, however, be far less than he would have imagined.—W. D. Howell's, in Harper's Magazine for February.

A well-known writer tell of seeing thousands of small fish migrating across land from one lagoon to another in tropical America. He says they moved as deliberately and unconcernedly as though they had been accustomed to the overland route all their lives.

One of the best of Louisville's magazine poets does not put his name to any of his verses, because he thinks the reputation of a poet would injure him in his business.—Courier-Journal.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The wheat country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unimpaired?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates cr forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on celivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectus and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

Has Used Them Forty Years.

R. S. Day, of Watsonville, Santa Cruz Co., California, writes February 3, 1885: "When my wife was seventy-three years old she was troubled with a very bad cough, and it looked as if she would die with consumption. She would not call in a doctor, but commenced taking Brandreth's Pills, two and three every night. In three weeks she was completely cured, and her health is now very good, and am sure the Pills have prolonged her life as well as my own, for I have used them forty years, and am now eighty-four years old. They have been my only medicine.

A New Formula for Consumption.

(From the Balto., Md. American.)

We are in receipt of a number of communications on a topic which just now seems to be receiving the attention of a great many persons. It is the question of the treatment of consumption, and all kindred of diseases, without drugs. Many years ago, in France, it was decided by the leading physicians that nothing was equal to beef as an article of diet in consumption and all ailments which tend to the delinquent. This is now a generally-admitted fact. Much difficulty, however, has been experienced in the promulgation of this truth, from the fact that many stomachs cannot digest it. The indigestible quality of all cod-liver oil having led to its being abandoned in medical treatment, it was found that blood taken from an animal just killed, if swallowed, produced marvelous beneficial effects. This found favor with few, however, but the idea has been put into practice, and there are in all parts of the world to-day hospitals devoted to the cure of consumption and kindred diseases, where beef combined with alcohol, in some form, is the chief article of food. Efforts have been made by those interested to keep this simple remedy from the masses, partly from selfish motives, but quite as much from the fact that the wonderful benefits to be received would be doubted by many if they knew in advance what constituted the cure. Another reason was, that its efficacy depends on the presence of spirits free from adulterations and fusel oil. In the past such an article has been difficult to procure. Now, however, it can be obtained, and the communications we have referred to are from parties who are using a formula of this kind received from the Duffy Malt Whiskey Co. of Baltimore, Md. The formula, which was prepared specially for them by an eminent German scientist, consists principally of raw beef-steak and ingredients, which any housekeeper can get and mix, combined with their pure malt whiskey, which will, if regularly used, add on an average from 6 to 8 pounds in a month to the weight. On the receipt of a two-cent stamp, the formula will be sent, to all parties using their whiskey, under the seal of the company. From the abundance of testimony there can be no question as to its value. This method of treatment is in accordance with the views of the two recognized leading medical authorities of this country, Professor Austin Flint and Professor H. C. Wood. The company has received so many inquires concerning this formula, that they have found it necessary to add a medical department to their other business facilities.

Had pains in back, limbs and around the heart, she took two bottles of Athlophoros and was very much better right away."—W. E. MOWLEY, Lynn, N. H.

Neuralgia, though one of the most common and most painful of diseases, has baffled all medical skill, and until ATHLOPHOROS was on the discovery of Athlophoros it offered almost, if not quite incurable. Athlophoros STRILY and QUICKLY cures it. This statement, though strong, is warranted by the facts. Thousands have tested its value and recommend it as the ONLY remedy that brings relief. For ladies subject to neuralgia or nervous headaches it is indispensable. Athlophoros contains no opium, morphine, or other dangerous ingredient. It is absolutely harmless and universally successful in the prompt cure of this painful disease.

Ask your druggist for Athlophoros. If you cannot get it of him we will send it express paid on receipt of regular price—$1.00 per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.

Condition of the British Navy.

The British navy, having very diversified services to perform during both peace and war, requires ships of various kinds and sizes. Its first and greatest requirement of all is that of line-of-battle ships in sufficient numbers to enable England to stand up successfully against any European naval force or forces that may threaten her or her empire. If any one should be disposed to ask why this requirement—which is obviously an extreme one, and an impossible one for more than a single power—is more necessary for England than for any other country, the answer must be, Circumspice! To look round over England's empire is to see why her failure on the sea would be her failure altogether. France, Germany, Italy, and even Holland, might each get along fairly well, losing nothing that is absolutely essential to their existence, even if every port belonging to them were sealed by an enemy's squadron. But were Great Britain to be cut off from her colonies and dependencies, were her ships to be swept from the seas and her ports closed by hostile squadrons, she would either be deprived of the very elements of life itself, or would have to seek from the compassion of her foes the bare means of existence. It is this consideration, and the strong parental care which she feels for her colonies, that make her sons indignant at any hazardous reduction of her naval strength. There are even in England itself men who can not or will not see this danger, and who impute to those who strive to avert it ambitious, selfish, and even sordid motives. But it is to no unworthy cause that England's naval anxieties are due. We have no desire for war; we do not hunger for further naval fame; we cherish no mean rivalry of other powers who seek to colonize or to otherwise improve their trade; we do not want the mastery of the seas for any commercial objects that are exclusively our own. What we desire to do is to keep the seas open thoroughfares to our vast possessions and dependences, and free to that commercial communication which has become indispensable to our existence as an empire. To accomplish that object we must, at any cost, be strong, supremely strong, in European waters; and it is for this reason that England's line-of-battle ships ought to be always above suspicion both in number and in quality.

It is not a pleasant assertion for an Englishman to make when he has to say that this is very far from being the case at present. A few months ago this statement, from whomsoever it emanated, would have been received with distrust by the general public, for the truth was only known to the navy itself and to comparatively few outsiders. But the official communications made to both Houses of Parliament early in December last have prepared the world for the truth, the First Lord of the Admiralty in the Chamber of Peers and Sir Thomas Brassey in the House of Commons having then proposed to Parliament a programme of additional ship-building which provided for a considerable increase in the number of its first-class ships and cruisers, and which also provided, on the demand of the present writer, that the cruisers should be protected with belts of armor—an element of safety previously denied to them. It need hardly be repeated, after this wholesale admission of weakness by the Admiralty, that Great Britain is at present in far from a satisfactory condition as regards both the number and the character of its ships. Were that not so, no public agitation could have moved the government to reverse in several respects a policy by which it had for so long abided.—Sir Edward Reed, in Harper's Magazine for February.

Robert Toombs' Wife.

Mr. Toombs' married life was a beautiful one. Mrs. Toombs was always his tender and faithful friend, his relief in sickness, his joy in health, his partner in his good fortune, and his comfort under all circumstances. She never had cause but for the most unshaken confidence in his virtue. Her heart was never chilled by the least indifference, receiving nothing from him but his tenderest love. He ever kept alive the flame kindled in youth, constantly fed by gentleness of affection, kindliness of manner and depth of regard, and thus cherished a holy light, that cheered and gladdened his hearth and home until the last hours of his life. As she became feeble from age and disease he could see that her cheek was paler, that her smile had a fainter play, and that her footsteps flagged with a weaker ring, yet he found on her cheek a bloom of affection, a richer damask than the bloom of health. His smile irradiated his home, threw beauty upon the features of the chosen one of his youth, and kindled light upon the forehead of his children. Many great men are retired and distant in domestic life; many are absorbed in business or their studies, and are unwilling to be disturbed by the ordinary occurrences of life, and are seldom communicative and pleasant at home. General Toombs ever showed the tenderness and solicitude of a man who seemed to have no cares for others on his mind outside his family.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Proud Celestial.

A Chinese baby, the first ever born in Philadelphia, has been added to the Chinese colony of this city, says the Times. It all happened on Sunday night, and Jeo James, the prosperous Chinese merchant on Eleventh street, near Walnut, is the happy father. The baby is in many ways just like the usual every-day baby that intendes its presence in almost every household. It cries and kicks and scratches with vig-

Murdered.

The body of Julius Baer was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morn, in a terribly mangled condition. His head and face were smashed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the great blood medicine, Sulphur Bitters. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clew to the perpetrators.—Colorado Press.

A Montreal despatch of Feb. 17th said: "Judge Yates of Peoria, Ill., who acted as curator to a rich widow of that place, and who, after having squandered her fortune of over $1,000,000, absconded and deserted his wife and family, has, together with a young woman named Cameron, whom it is alleged he has ruined, and who fled with him, been traced to this city. The woman is still here, but Yates disappeared a few days ago, having, it is thought, discovered the presence of several American detectives in the city."

The best reason yet advanced for having Monday washing day, the next day after Sunday, is because "cleanliness is next to godliness." The reason why every body uses Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is because it is a safe, pleasant, and positive cure for coughs and colds.

It has been ascertained that 45,000 people died in Montreal from smallpox during the recent scourge.

It gets there all the same.

If You Hang

A piece of a meat out of doors in Douglass county, Col., it will cure itself in a few days. If you have weak lungs, that's a good place to live. If you can't arrange to go just yet, buy a bottle of G. O. Taylor Pure Rye, put into it six or eight ounces rock candy, and when dissolved use it as medicine. It will relieve the cough, and it may make you well. Druggists and grocers sell the whiskey. Chester H. Graves & Sons bottle it, and their name is on label and over cork of each bottle.

The Manchester Strike.

The city government of Manchester on the evening of the 18th adopted resolutions promising protection to all operatives who desired to return to work, and also insuring the safety of the Amoskeag Co.'s property. The corporation managers decided to open the mills on Monday morning, for all operatives who were willing to turn to.

The Edmunds Resolutions.

In the senate on the 18th inst., Mr. Edmunds, from the committee on judiciary, reported the following resolutions, which under the rules went over to be printed:

"Resolved, That the senate hereby expresses its condemnation of the refusal of the attorney-general under whatever influence, to send to the senate copies of papers called for by its resolution of the 25th of January, and set forth in the reports of the committee on the judiciary, as in violation of his official duty, and subversive of the fundamental principles of the government and of a good administration thereof.

Resolved, That it is under these circumstances the duty of the senate to refuse its advice and consent to proposed removals of officers the documents and papers in reference to the supposed official or personal misconduct of whom are withheld by the executive or any other head of a department when deemed necessary by the senate and called for in considering the matter.

Resolved. That the provision of section 1754 of the revised statues declaring 'that persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty shall be preferred for appointments to civil offices, providing they are found to possess the business capacity necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of such office,' ought to be faithfully and fully put in execution, and that to remove or to propose to remove any such soldier whose faithfulness, competence and character are above reproach, and to give place to another who has not rendered such service, is a violation of the spirit of the law and of the practical gratitude the people and government of the United States owe to the defenders of constitutional liberty, and the integrity of the government. All of which is respectfully submitted."

These resolutions were signed by Senators Edmunds, Ingalls, McMillan, Hoar, Wilson and Evarts, the six republican members of the committee. Senator Pugh of Alabama gave notice that the democratic minority of the committee would make another report.

Death of the Great Apostle of Temperance.

John B. Gough died in Philadelphia at 4:40 o'clock P. M., Feb. 18th, from the paralytic stroke he received when delivering a lecture in the Frankford Presbyterian church on Monday night, the 15th, never having recovered consciousness after the attack.

He was born in Sandgate, county of Kent, England, Aug. 22d, 1817, his father being a private soldier in the British army, and very poor. He was sent to this country at the age of twelve, and worked on a farm in New York several years. In 1833 his mother and sister came to New York city and joined him, and such was their poverty that when his mother died he ran behind the pauper hearse which conveyed her body to the potter's field.

He learned the trade of a bookbinder, but early became a drunkard and semi-vagabond. Then he settled in Newburyport, and went on several fishing trips, alternating them with drunken sprees on shore. In October, 1842, through the influence of Joel Stratton, a shoemaker of Worcester, Mass., he was induced to sign the pledge. In November, 1843, he married Miss Mary Whitcomb of Worcester, who up to the moment of his death was his faithful and loving friend and supporter.

From 1843 his history is interwoven with the history of temperance reform, which he probably did as much to forward as any one man ever did.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 153 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. E. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanent cure; by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all the usual methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three bottles of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs. Isaac Phelps, Ravenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was specially and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have nothing but the highest praise for the results obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.

or. It weighs seven pounds and the neighbors say has strong lungs. Its little toes have already begun to work their way through its shoes of Southdown wool in the fashion of a healthy American child. It is a girl. This fact was a little disappointing to Mr. James at first, but he became reconciled and then happy, and now it is thought that he is the proudest father in Philadelphia. He had an extra strut last night and his smile was childlike and bland as he stood in his store door enjoying the fragrance of a fine cigar, to which he had treated himself in honor of the event. Overhead, in the elegantly-furnished-second story front room, were the mother and child, with a well-trained nurse in attendance.

The baby was dressed in a slip of the softest silk, decorated with hand-painted roses of the most delicate tint and laces of the finest hand-work. The robe had been finished and laid away by Mrs. James many weeks before it was needed, as was a whole bureau full of little things for the expected arrival. The little one is of rich olive complexion, with bright little almond-shaped eyes, which peep out from the heavy lace with which its dainty pillow is trimmed. Yesterday Mr. James was the recipient of many congratulations from his fellow countrymen and the presents which were sent to the little heir were numerous, unique, and many of them costly. The news of the baby's arrival got out early yesterday among the Chinamen in the city, and little else was talked of.

Mr. James is very popular among his countrymen, and it is expected that the rejoicing over the birth of his child will be kept up for many days, as is the custom among the people of his nationality. As this is a girl, there was no feasting, as there would have been if the child had been a boy, but as it is the first Chinese baby born in this city the Chinamen think the occasion of sufficient importance for a general rejoicing. The name of the baby has not yet been decided on. Several names have been suggested, among which are Yum Yum and Rose Cleveland.

Experiments on an extensive scale have been made in Germany to ascertain the relative strength of iron and steel girders. The soft steel girders proved to be 22 per cent and the hard steel girders 66 per cent stronger than the iron girders, and it was remarked that it seemed pretty well established that the strength of steel girders is about the same for the two flanges if made alike in section.

A Novel Feature in Investments.

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and unlejured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranche and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost among the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6 per cent 10-Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6 per cent interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The Bond commences to draw interest on delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the Company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds outright for cash can do so at 10 per cent discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 30 per cent upon the stock after paying 6 per cent on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospect-uses and full information to The United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—"The N. Y. Financier."

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

Before the supreme court in Dover, Feb. 19th, W. McGee, the young man who in a drunken squabble killed M. Crannan, between Rochester and Gonic in November last, waived the reading of the writ and pleaded nolo contendere to murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to five years in state prison.

Everybody needs a spring medicine. By using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the blood is thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the appetite stimulated, and the system prepared to resist the diseases peculiar to the summer months. Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Take no other.

DO NOT BLAME HER.

Mark saw it before I did. I have wondered to-day, looking back, if I could have controlled myself sufficiently to prepare him for the shock, if I had read the newspaper first this morning.

I was passing Mark's cup of coffee to Jane, the waiter-girl, when I caught sight of his face. It was as white and rigid as it can ever be in his coffin, and his eyes were dilated in a stare horrible to see.

"Mark!" I cried in terror, "what is it, dear. Are you ill?"

I was beside him as I spoke, and saw that his eyes were fixed upon a certain place in the paper he had been reading. Then I, too, read the fatal paragraph, only a few lines, but full of horror for Mark.

"Do not blame her!" he said in a whisper, shuddering as he spoke. "Oh, Bessie! Bessie! My heart is broken!"

I put my arms around him and drew his head down upon my breast, where it had so often lain in childhood, when my orphaned brother came to sister Bessie to be comforted in boyish woes. He was my only brother, though I was sixteen years the elder.

Little graves in the cemetery marked the sorrows of my childhood, as one after another my brothers and sisters had drooped and died, until only Mark was left. And he was but four years old when our parents both died.

We were not poor, owing to our own handsome home, and a comfortable income; so Mark had every advantage of education, studied law, and gradually won his way to a position in his profession. And I had married, lost my husband, and returned, after an absence of only three short months, to resume my place as my brother's housekeeper, only my widow's dress to tell strangers I had ever been away.

It was just after Mark had finished his studies and been admitted to the bar that he met Alice Arnold.

She had come to Claymont to visit her aunt, a near neighbor and old friend of ours, and we called to welcome her amongst us.

She was about eighteen years old then, and her beauty won its way to my heart as surely as it did to Mark's. She was the most timid, gentle creature I ever saw, her color flitting if you spoke to her, her shy blue eyes drooping, and her voice low and almost plaintive in its timidity.

Miss Arnold, a strong, energetic old maid, seemed to actually terrify her by her short, brusque manner, but she clung to me from the first hour of our friendship.

Children generally like me, and she was little more than a child. Yet, when she became more intimate, and came often to pass whole days with me, I found that below the frightened, timid manner there was a clear brain, an intellect that had been carefully cultivated and a sweet womanly nature.

She was an enthusiastic musician and a fine pianist, but could not sing. Nothing delighted her more than to play for Mark and myself to sing duets, or if I was tired or busy, to hear Mark sing in his rich baritone voice the music he loved.

I asked myself, after she had ended her summer visit, if she was a coquette, a cruel, heartless flirt, who would win a man's heart only to cast it aside. And, in my bitterness then, I thought she was.

In later years I acquitted her of the crime. I believe she had no suspicion that Mark loved her.

He was always grave and reserved, and, although he was but twenty-three at that time, had the air and bearing of a much older man. And I being really so much her senior, I think Alice looked upon us both as rather elderly people, and was far more free and confidential than she would have been if she had looked upon Mark as a young man and lover.

But Mark, who had never cared before for any of our girl-friends, gave to Alice Arnold all the story of love his heart could ever offer.

I knew it, for Mark had made me his confidential friend all his life, and seeing her shy pleasure in his presence, the interest she took in all his pursuits, her gentle acceptance of his grave attentions, I thought his love was returned, and was happy in the expectation of a nearer, closer tie between the sweet, loving girl and myself.

But just before she left Claymont, Mark, telling her his love, was answered by the tidings that she was engaged to be married.

She was dreadfully distressed, coming to me to sob out her regret that Mark loved her, but loyally asserting her own love for her betrothed.

After she left us Miss Arnold took me into confidence.

She told me that her niece was an heiress, and her mother was a fool. I am quoting Miss Arnold. She said that Henry Parker, the man who had won Alice's childish love, was a showy, handsome fellow, of whom the family knew nothing, but who was distrusted by all of them excepting the mother, who should have been the girl's protector, but who was completely fascinated by the lover's attentions to herself.

Mark said but little to me, but I know that he suffered keenly. He made some enquiries in the city about Henry Parker and was convinced that he was an adventurer.

I think my brother could have borne his own burden better if Alice had chosen a man worthy of her love, but he feared for her future happiness, thinking her betrothed had dazzled her imagination rather than won her heart.

When we received cards for the wedding I thought of refusing to attend, but Mark decided to go, and we sent our wedding-gift, and went up to the city to be at the ceremony in the church and the dress reception afterwards.

I could not wonder when I saw Henry Parker that he had won Alice's love. He was superbly handsome, and had the winning manner calculated to change her timidity into a trusting love.

And he took the love and the trust to betray both, to change the love to a shuddering horror, the trust to a shrinking fear.

Little by little the poor girl roused to the fact that her husband despised the very gentleness he had so often praised, and that the charm of a full purse was the one that had attracted him to his wife.

Probably a father or a guardian would have protected Alice's fortune after marriage, but it was under her own control, her mother being her only guardian.

And Henry Parker spent it freely; at first in a profuse style of living, in luxuries his wife could share, but later in gambling and low vice, travelling the downward path with fearful rapidity.

Six years after his marriage he deserted his wife, who returned to her mother, and a year later the newspapers gave the account of his death in a bar-room, where he was shot in a scuffle.

It was after a year of widowhood that Alice came once more to Claymont, her sweet face pale and sad, and her blue eyes often dreamily mournful.

She was but little changed, though older and graver than in her girlhood for her timidity was, if changed at all only increased by the trials of her married life. She was so nervous that an unexpected sound made her start in positive terror, and where the pretty flitting color had been in her cheeks there was only an added pallor when she was startled.

The free country life, the pure air and quiet, seemed to help her in regaining something of her cheerfulness, and Miss Arnold astonished us all by her tenderness.

She treated her niece like a sick baby anticipating her wants, coaxing her appetite, and bringing her curt sentences, that were usually like pistol-shots, down to tones of cooing gentleness.

"The poor darling!" she said to me, with tears in her hard eyes. "How could anyone have the heart to say a rough word to her? I could as soon strike an infant as trouble her, the pretty dove!"

But what was the best medicine for Alice was loon apparent to me. She had learned to value such love as Mark's and she understood at last what his attentions meant.

For seven years he had kept her image in his heart, and when once more he could honorably woo her he made no secret of his devotion.

She brightened visibly, the shy, blue eyes looking more frankly into Mark's than they had ever done, the sweet musical voice losing its quiver when she spoke to him.

Very gladly did I hear that my brother had won the heart he coveted, and very sure was I that it was all his own, with a fur truer, more womanly love than Alice had given in her girlish infatuation to Henry Parker.

And I, who knew Mark so well, knew that each year would but add to his affection, and that Alice need never know again what it was to fear her husband.

The long, bright summer passed happily, and in September Alice was to return to her mother to prepare for a quiet wedding and an extended tour.

It was the evening before she was to leave us that Miss Arnold invited Mark and myself to tea. We were all in the parlor, early in the evening when a gentleman asked for Mrs. Parker, and Alice turned very white as she introduced Mr. George Parker.

"My husband's brother," she said aside to me. "He was always very kind to me."

For a few moments after this introduction Mr. Parker sat in embarrassed silence. Then he said very suddenly:

"I do not know whether my news will be good news or bad news to you, Alice. I came to tell you, as soon as possible after hearing it myself, that Harry is not dead."

Alice did not faint or scream. White as death, she said, steadily:

"Why did he conceal it from me?"

"He did not intentionally. He was left for dead and so reported, after the trouble in St. Louis, but he was only horribly wounded. Somebody took him to a hospital, but he got better in other ways, the doctors found his brain was weakened. He was sent to an insane asylum, and it was only two weeks ago that he recovered his sanity enough to send for me. I went to him at once and brought him to my house. He asks every hour for you, but I ought to warn you that he is still very queer. The doctors say he is harmless, and as he wanted very much to come to me I took him out. I should not have left him in a pauper asylum any time, but I very much fear he will have to go to a private insane hospital before long. He is strong and well and may live for years."

"Yes. I shall go to my mother's to-morrow," Alice said. "Will you bring him to me?"

There seemed no question of her duty in her pure heart, but the hopeless misery of her fair face was heart-breaking to witness. Mr. Parker left in time for an early return train to the city, and Miss Arnold took me to her own room to look at some lace.

"Let them be alone," she said to me. "It is for the last time. I know Alice. Under that shrinking, gentle manner there is a strong martyr spirit, and she will do her duty at any cost. Oh, the poor child! the poor child!"

And we broke into bitter weeping together, for as deeply as she grieved for Alice, did I grieve for my brother.

I did not see Alice again. Mark met me in the hall, and saying to Miss Arnold: "Go to her! Comfort her if you can!" he drew my hand through his arm and led me out of the house.

That was just one week ago. To-day we read in the city papers this paragraph:

"Mrs. Henry Parker, residing at 232 —— street, was found dead in her room from the effects of an overdose of chloral. The dose was probably taken accidentally, as Mrs. Parker has been suffering from insomnia, and using chloral to produce sleep."

Mark is locked in his room, and even I dare not intrude upon him, or ask the question that haunts me. Was the overdose taken by accident, or in a moment of utter despair?

Those whose eyes are nice to discover typographical errors have no conception of the mistakes which the painstaking proof-reader corrects before they reach the press. Among the examples of last week we noticed that on the first proof "them asses" was corrected to "the masses," and "intercessory jimjams" to "intercessory prayers."—New York Independent.

A Taunton woman ordered a costly floral design from Boston on the occasion of her husband's funeral, and before the exercises were over the flowers were removed and returned to Boston, and the Taunton Gazette says "a liberal discount was made by the florist." Well, he ought to have made a discount, ought he not? Why should the Gazette kick?—Boston Herald.

Our Navy Captures Something.

The secretary of the navy on the 19th inst. received a telegram from Rear Admiral Jouett, at Aspinwall, stating that the United States steamship Galena had sailed for Key West, Fla., with the steamship City of Mexico as a prize. The seized vessel is alleged to have been fitted out at New York for a filibustering expedition against Honduras.

Reform is Necessary.

The president has sent to the senate the name of J. W. Renfoe as postmaster of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Renfoe is the candidate of Senator Hill, and his nomination causes great surprise, because he was impeached for malfeasance when he was state treasurer, and only two votes were needed to make the two-thirds necessary to convict him. A suit was brought against his sureties to recover $27,000, which it is alleged that he has confessed that he corruptly received while in office. Owing to a technicality in the proceedings the suit failed.

Mr. Miller, chairman of the Cincinnati Committee of One Hundred, and a life-long democrat, testified before the investigating committee of the Ohio legislature on Tuesday of last week that is his opinion not a democrat was elected in Cincinnati at the last election, the highest man lacking some thousands of votes, though the entire democratic ticket was declared elected.

The Fighting Editor.

The Denver (Col.) Tribune says that recently at Albuquerque, N. M., the editor of the local paper, who was expecting a gang of lynchers, about midnight descended to the cellar, leaving a pet grizzly bear in his place in bed. The lynchers didn't bring any lights, but made a plucky attempt to get the bear out and lynch it, but gave it up after three of them had lost an eye apiece, two had suffered the loss of thumbs chewed off, and the other six were more or less deprived of skin. That man now has a tremendous reputation as a fighter, and the regulators will never attempt to lynch him any more; the bear didn't mind the work one bit.

Naval Intelligence.

Rear Admiral Earl English was placed on the retired list of the navy Feb. 18th.

Passed Asst. Engr. W. A. Mintzner has been detached from the Marion, Asiatic station, and ordered home, a court martial having sentenced him to suspension on furlough pay for two years.

Lieut. Clinton H. Lyeth is detached from the Marion, and ordered to medical treatment at the naval hospital at Yokohama, Japan.

Naval Constructor George M. Bousk is detached from special duty at New York, and ordered to the navy yard at Mare Island.

A bill has been reported to congress to give Mrs. General Grant the franking privilege. The cost of passing, engrossing and printing the act would be far more than the amount of postage Mrs. Grant would be likely to pay to the government. Under the present low rate of postage, the act, which follows an ancient custom, seems to be a small affair in its results.

Two of the salvation army warriors, named Priest and White, were arrested, and fined $5 each in the Great Falls police court, some months ago, for parading and beating a drum in a compact part of the town. They appealed to the supreme court. Last week at Dover they came into court and admitted the offense, but under the bill of rights claimed that they had a right to worship God according to their own belief and methods, and believed the law unconstitutional. The court declined to reverse the police court sentence. The respondents will bring the case before the full bench at the law term, as they say the result is of vast importance to the salvationists of the country.

Fish were plentiful and cheap on Saturday and Sunday, some very heavy fares being brought in, the schooner Hagan landing 30,000 lbs.,—the largest fare this winter,—the Abbie Snow 5000 lbs., and the Metropolitan 16,000 lbs.; the price paid averaged about eighty cents a hundred pounds. Elvin Newton & Co. and Ed. Jameson have formed a combination for buying fish and shipping them west as far as St. Paul, Minnesota; the eastern markets are glutted with fresh fish, so that buyers have no use for them without reaching out for other markets. The fish buyers on Commercial wharf have during the past two months shipped about 3000 boxes, averaging 500 lbs. to the box, a total of over 700 tons, some ventures paying richly, and others resulting in heavy losses.

George W. Butler of Gloucester, Mass., last Thursday bought of E. Newton & Co. 2000 gallons of cod-liver oil. Mr. Daniel Clark has this winter tried out nearly fifty barrels of cod-liver oil, of which he still has on hand twenty barrels.

Smallpox has been declared epidemic at Fort Worth, Texas. On Friday last the city of Dallas, by proclamation of the mayor, laid quarantine against Fort Worth, and nearly every town in northern Texas did the same on Saturday. Fort Worth is the station of Capt. George F. Towle, 19th United States Infantry, formerly of this city.

Elvin S. Newton was in this city on Saturday, making purchases for his fish market at Manchester.

GREENLAND, Feb. 19th.

The entertainment given at the town hall on the evening of the 16th, notwithstanding the rough travelling, was very well attended. We anticipated a very pleasant time, and were not disappointed. Music by Mrs. Haven, singing by Mrs. Leverett, were in their usual fine taste. The stage performance was appreciated by the audience. The oysters could not be beaten, as the quick disappearance of them proved; sorry that some did not speak quick enough; next time people must remember that good things are apt to vanish quickly. H.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Lambon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cures." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

NEW STEAMBOAT SERVICE.

A steamer three years old, with a double engine, has been purchased by George Scott and Edward S. Fay of Portsmouth, Stephen Decatur of Kittery, and E. S. Jennison of Gerrish's island, proprietor of Hotel Pocahontas, and will run the coming summer between this city and Pocahontas point, under command of Capt. John E. Lawrie, who was formerly keeper of the United States quarantine station at Wood island, and knows by heart every rock and every foot of water in that vicinity. Mr. Warren Keen of this city has contracted to build a steamboat landing, to run out 150 feet in a southwesterly direction from the point, ending in ten feet of water, and with piers twenty feet by forty.

TWO-LEGGED BRUTES.

A despatch of Feb. 18th from Exeter was as follows: "Sunday, the 7th inst., a dog fight occurred at Stratham between two bull-dogs owned in this town. About ten persons were present. Word was sent to T. E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth, agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. To-day warrants were issued against eight of the parties, five of whom were brought before the police court and fined $5 and costs each. Other warrants are to be served."

A MOONLIGHT SCENE.

A scene of rare and fascinating beauty was spread out on our river shortly after midnight on the night of Thursday last. The light of the full moon, though subdued by clouds, was sufficient to make objects nearly as distinct to the vision as by day; the tide was at high water slack, and with a dead calm prevailing, the surface of the river was smooth as a lake. Between the wharves and the narrows were seven outward-bound fishing schooners, their sails hanging idle and useless, and each having from five to eight dories ahead, towing; and the intense silence of the hour was emphasised rather than broken by the measured rullocking of the oars, the occasional creaking of a block, or the sound of a human voice conveying some information or order. The artist who could transfer to canvas the weird beauty of that moonlight scene might safely rest his hope of fame upon the picture.

ANOTHER VETERAN MARCHES ON.

William Cutter Hodgdon, who served in the war of 1812 in Capt. Jacob Dearborn's company of New Hampshire militia, died at Newington last week. He was a pensioner, and for many years had resided at Miss Nancy Drew's. Capt. Dearborn was from Hampton, but there were several Newington men in his company, among them the late Otis B. Downing; Joseph Coleman, late of Portsmouth; and Hopley Peavey. Mr. Hodgdon was named for Dr. Wm. Cutter, who was surgeon of the third regiment of detached militia, in which Hodgdon served. In consequence of his name we infer it was that Hodgdon always among his acquaintances was known and called "Doctor" Hodgdon.

FROM THE ISLAND TOWN.

NEWCASTLE, Feb. 19th.

Mr. George F. Thompson and wife left their cottage residence on Tuesday, and bid adieu to their seaside home. Mr. Thompson is to go into camp with some friends in eastern Maine for a season, in pursuit of game, and later will establish his business relations with the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York, at Manchester. While at Newcastle very many of our residents have had occasion to appreciate the gentlemanly manner in which Mr. Thompson has represented the great interests committed to his charge, and his removal from the town is regretted by every one. Mr. Thompson was especially interested in the preparation and publication of Mr. Albee's "Newcastle Historic and Picturesque." He has always shown a keen appreciation of the natural beauties and attractions of the island, and in his intercourse with our citizens has had large influence and pleasant relations. He has the best wishes of all for his future success. Every one appreciates that the great Life Assurance Company of the world, which secures the services of a gentleman of Mr. Thompson's ability, easy address and record as a business man, has made a wise selection.

The fine elm in front of the Bartlett cottage, in common with other trees of its kind, suffered severely from the grasp of the Ice King, as did the ancient elms on Mr. Albee's place.

As we look across to Pocahontas point, the subdued color of the paint on the new hotel is in striking contrast with the bright and shining look of the building when first put up and boarded. Townspeople and summer sojourners will be gratified if the promised steamboat service to the Point the coming season will be so arranged as to accomodate Newcastle. There are no more comfortable and enjoyable spots in a hot summer's afternoon than can be found on Gerrish's island and Newcastle, and under the right management a steamboat would, it would seem, have a profitable business between Pocahontas and Portsmouth. Already, as the days begin to lengthen, we are anticipating the preparations for an influx of summer guests. BOATSWAIN'S HILL.

JAPANESE WEDDING.

The ladies of the Universalist Social Circle will hold a sale of aprons, fancy work and Japanese wares in their vestry on Tuesday, Feb. 23d, doors opening at three o'clock, and sale to continue to eight. Coffee, ice-cream and cake, served to order. At eight o'clock an interesting and unique stage entertainment will be given, the principal feature of which will be a Japanese Wedding in costume, and showing exactly how the marriage ceremony is performed in Japan. The attractions are well worth liberal patronage. Admission fifteen cents.

To-day being a legal holiday, we shall issue no paper from this office to-morrow.

No business will be transacted at the custom-house to-day. The post-office hours, for general delivery, will be from 8:00 to 10:30 A. M. and from 6:00 to 6:30 P. M. The weary laborers on the navy yard will have a season of rest today, as there will be no muster.

At Music hall, this evening, the comedy sunbeam Mora, supported by Fred Williams' Birds of a Feather, in "Firefly, or a leaf from nature." Admission, ten and twenty cents; reserved seats ten cents extra. Seats on sale at Goodrich's.

The variety entertainment by Lester & Allen's Big Minstrels, assisted by John L. Sullivan, in Music hall last Friday evening, drew a very large audience. The performance lasted less than two hours, but there was all of it that the audience wanted, the musical part being very poor, and the show consisting principally of Sullivan, whose posings were really very fine.

The appointments of Collector of Customs Hanscom and United States Attorney Frink having been confirmed by the senate, these officers have filed new oaths of office under their confirmed appointments.

Joseph P. Morse, Esq., has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Col. John Pender. As a deputy sheriff for the county of Rockingham.

Wentworth Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Newcastle, drew a rubber door-mat at the Knights of Pythias fair at Manchester last week.

The sewer is progressing quite rapidly. Near the entrance to Railroad avenue a bed of gravel has been struck, where ledge was expected. The pieces of rock from the easterly end of the trench have of late been hauled to the city yard, rear of the court house, to be crushed for use on the streets.

Check-List Notice.

THE Board of Inspection of Check-Lists give notice that they have posted copies of all the check-lists of the city in the corridor of the city building, and also have posted a list of Ward One at the store of Cox & Newman on North street, and a list of Ward Three at the store of John Mitchell on Islington street, and a list of Ward Four at the store of John J. Laskey on Pleasant street, for the inspection of the voters of the city.

They also give notice that they will be in session at the city building on Friday the 26th day of February, on Wednesday the 3d day of March, and on Friday the 5th day of March, 1886, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 6 P. M., on each of said days, for the purpose of revising and correcting the list of voters.

They will also be in session at the same place from 8 to 10 A. M. and from 1 to 2 P. M., on the day of election, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons whose names may have been omitted and who the Board are satisfied have resided in the ward one year next preceding said election. By Order of the Board.

febr23tw BENJ. M. PARKER, Clerk.

Owing to an accident the Wallace Musical Comedy Co. will not appear in the Franklin theatre on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week, as at one time intended, but will play there on the 4th and 5th of March.

Mr. Samuel K. Batchelder fell on the ice, Saturday evening, splitting one of his knee-pans.

It is reported that Mrs. Butler, widow of Major George Butler, U. S. M. C., has bought the Colcord house, corner of State and Atkinson streets.

It is announced that Ex-Rev. W. H. H. Murray will lecture in Music hall two evenings early in March, and that Stetson's No. 1 Mikado company will sing there one night the latter part of that month.

Timothy Dame, Esq., of Eliot, has prepared a duplicate plan of Evanston, a proposed sea-side city near Cape Neddick harbor, and east of Ocean Bluff. The lots of land surveyed are seventy-two in number. The plat contains wide avenues, a large space being reserved for a proposed hotel. This plan is to be placed in the registry of deeds office at Alfred, for reference in future conveyances of the lots which will soon be taken up for summer cottages.

President Cleveland on the 19th inst. nominated for United States marshal of Maine Mr. Charles B. Harmon of Biddeford, a lawyer by education, not over thirty-five years old, and now and for some time past city marshal of Biddeford.

The following appointments of postmasters in York county were made last week: Shapleigh, Salem I. Carpenter; Parsonsfield, Lyman A. Brooks; Bay View, Mrs. Emma Manson.

The marriage of Miss Frank Conner English, daughter of Rear Admiral Earl English of the navy, to Mr. S. Russell Smith of Culpeper, Virginia, is announced to take place at St. John's church in Washington on the third of March.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE McKAPER.

ECZEMA

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Cured by Cuticura.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen, Pruritus, Scald Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn St., Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or salt Rheum, on his head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to walk except on hands and knees for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless; permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Eczema under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. John Thiel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., writes: "I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA and four bottles RESOLVENT have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease."

Mrs Isaac Phelps, Havenna, O., writes: "For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly, and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily and entirely cured by CUTICURA."

Physicians Prescribe Them.—I have adhered to the highest order for the weeks obtained from your CUTICURA REMEDIES, of which have sold more than of all others of the kind.
